Community supports family during its time of need

(Continued from Page 1) another 13 days. "If I don't have to go to the hospital for a long time, I'll be happy," he said.

His family will be happy, too. He and Deb have three kids, Mariah, 12; Carly, 8; and Blaize, 6.

Learning a daughter has Factor V Leiden

"After all this, we had all of our kids tested," Brian said. Doctors found that Carly has Factor V Leiden. Once she reaches age 18, her parents will have her tested for Protein S deficiency. As people age, they establish more of the protein, Brian noted as to why Carly will be tested at a later date for that deficiency.

Many people have lived symptom-free with both or one of the disorders. Brian was symptom-free until the lung clots this year. One of his sisters has since discovered she has Factor V Leiden. Being pregnant and having the disorder, she had the potential to have miscarriages. However, she hasn't had any symptoms of Factor V Leiden. Carly may be like her aunt.

Carly's aunt and dad aren't the only family members to have Factor V Leiden. Their family learned Brian's dad had Factor V Leiden after his dad had a stroke. Once Brian was diagnosed with Factor V Leiden and Protein S deficiency, his mother was tested if she had one or both of the disorders. A breast cancer patient, she was tested prior to beginning chemotherapy. Doctors found that she has Protein S deficiency.

In Carly's case, her parents need to be aware of the symptoms of Factor V Leiden. They also have to keep her active since complications may result from the combination of the disorder and a sedentary lifestyle, Brian noted.

As for Brian, his prognosis is not known. He and his Thief River Falls doctor take his illnesses on a month-to-month basis.

Brian's illnesses have, of course, led to changes in the family's routine. "You used to be my backup for everything in the house that I didn't do," Deb said to Brian.

Brian used to play basketball with Mariah. At least for now, he isn't able to do that. "I have no energy," said Brian. "I just get drained so quick. The pain, like I said, takes it out of you."

The pain and lack of energy have meant that Brian hasn't been able to work. Since March, he has done some part-time work. He had worked full-time for one full week before he suffered from the collapsed lung.

Never-ending support

"UND has just been amazing," said Brian. "We've had over 700 hours of leave from staff and faculty there. To this day, we haven't had to lose a paycheck yet."

In October, all of those donated hours will be gone. That's why a benefit was organized at the family's church, the Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls. The dinner will be held Oct. 9 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the church, 211 Arnold Ave. N. A silent auction will also be held. Donations may also be sent to the church.

At one point, Brian worried that his family would lose its home. The benefit has calmed that fear.

Brian is also eligible for the Family and Medical Leave Act, which enables eligible employees to take up to 12 workweeks of unpaid leave if they have serious medical conditions. Since he is eligible for that provision, Brian will still have insurance through his employer.

And he knows he has the support of his boss, staff and co-workers. "This last time, [my boss] just said, 'Don't come back until you're healthy,'" Brian said.

Brian's family has also received support from family members as well as friends. "It just never ends," said Brian. "It's just overwhelming at times. We just sit here, and you know, it just touches us. We've cried a few times that people are so good. It just means a lot to us."

Coping with the disorders

What also means a lot to them is their faith. Brian and Deb have left their worries to God. "I myself can't do anything about this," said Brian. "We tell ourselves we can't do anything."

They also read the Bible, have a few favorite Bible verses and quoted one of those favorite verses, Jeremiah 29:11. That verse states, "'For I know the plans I have for you,' declares the Lord, 'plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.'"

Brian also recalled what he's told fellow church members when he provides an update on his health. "I've given this to God, and God's going to take care of me," he said.

With all that he's gone through, Brian said he could be angry, but he noted that would be futile. He has found at least one other way – a sense of humor – to deal with his disorders. After all, one has to laugh about a superhero called "Clot Man."

Dalton Hessel, 3-1/2, hugged his dad Tuesday before approximately 45 National Guard members left Thief River Falls for Camp Shelby, Miss. His dad, Sgt. Chad Hessel of Gary, and the other soldiers will spend up to six months training in Mississippi before leaving for Iraq. Chad Hessel also has a son Damian, who is Dalton's twin. His deployment is expected to last 18 months. Even though he and other soldiers will be training in Mississippi this holiday season, they expect that they will be allowed to return home for Christmas. The soldiers are members of Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechenized Infantry Battalion, which is based in Thief River Falls.

Railroad crossing renewals will disrupt traffic flow at two intersections in Thief River Falls during the next couple of weeks.

A spokesperson for crews working on the Canadian Pacific Railroad crossings in Thief River Falls, said that the work involves replacing old existing tracks and putting in a new track. When all of the work is completed, which is expected at the end of October, the improvements will allow trains to pass through Thief River Falls at a faster speed. Currently, trains are limited to 10 miles per hour when traveling through Thief River Falls. When this work is completed, trains will be able to travel up to 20 miles per hour as they pass through Thief River Falls. In addition, the new track will result in fewer and shorter periods of time during which trains will block the Eighth Street crossing.

Some of the work on crossings has already begun, but on Monday, Oct. 10, crews will be working on the Thief River Golf Club crossing. Work will necessitate closing that crossing from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 10 and 11.

During the week of Oct. 17 traffic will be detoured around the Eighth Street railroad crossing while work on that crossing is completed. Detour signs will direct traffic away from the intersection. Work at that crossing is expected to be completed on Thursday, Oct. 20.

Agri-Women's conference set for October 28

For their contributions to family farm operations and communities, nine women from throughout the region were chosen to represent their counties at the 23rd annual Harvest of Knowledge Agri-Women's Conference Oct. 28 at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks, N.D.

Representing Minnesota counties are ReMar Voxland, McIntosh; Shelley Chaput, Red Lake Falls; Sally Durham, Baudette; Connie Quaal, Underwood; and Genora Schjelthop Felton.

From among the county winners, a Red River Valley Farm Woman of the Year and two runners-up will be announced at the banquet at the conclusion of the daylong conference. The winners will be given trips to the American Agri-Women convention in 2006 in Miami.

Get involved in government

Secretary of state encourages citizens to be active participants

by David Hill
Editor

Minnesota Secretary of State Mary Kiffmeyer visited Thief River Falls Wednesday, Oct. 12, while on a three-day tour of northwestern Minnesota. During her tour, she spread the word about voting changes, services her office offers, and encouraged citizens to do what they can to promote the nation and encourage young people to become involved.

"If you spoke negatively all the time about the Lions Club," said Kiffmeyer, "you wouldn't be able to attract many new members."

In visiting with members of the Lions Club, which along with the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce sponsored the event, Kiffmeyer encouraged those in attendance to encourage youth through what they say and do, to get involved in their government.

Kiffmeyer, who was elected to the office in 1998, related that she grew up in a large family, which has a long history of service to the country. Service to home and country was simply expected and the children were expected to learn by example. If, for example, something was spilled or dropped, and someone complained about it rather than take care of it, they received a long lecture from their father, said Kiffmeyer.

"What we say or do in front of young people," said Kiffmeyer, "will encourage or discourage them."

Kiffmeyer noted that of all the states, Minnesota has had the top voter turnout for the last three years in a row. Minnesota needs to continue to lead by its example and that takes effort on everyone's part.

Kiffmeyer also encouraged them to keep the message positive.

Some are discouraged when things don't go the way they think it should and talk negatively about this country. Sometimes they complain that there vote doesn't mean anything. There's no guarantee, she said, that elected representatives will always do exactly as every voter who voted for them wishes. "The very act of voting is worth it," she said.

WHS grad murdered in Hawaii

Warroad - A 2002 Warroad High School graduate was found murdered Oct. 8 in Hawaii, where she was stationed with the military.

Military police discovered the body of Felicia LaDuke, 22, Saturday afternoon. Honolulu police detectives were later called to the scene. LaDuke had been beaten, strangled and run over by a car, sources said.

Military police arrested Jeffery White, 21, on Saturday. White is stationed at Schofield Barracks, where LaDuke was also stationed. Honolulu police took White into custody. He was charged Monday with murder.

LaDuke had been in a custody battle over her child with White, her ex-boyfriend, according to official reports. Police said White is now married to another woman.

White allegedly told friends he was going to kill LaDuke. Then on Saturday, he allegedly told witnesses he strangled LaDuke, then pushed her out of a car and ran over her body. - Warroad Pioneer, Oct. 12, 2005, by Julie Nordine

Council to consider water feature for Kankel Addition

Red Lake Falls - With the purchase and annexation of the property known as the Kankel Addition in Red Lake Falls came some land that is not suited for housing development.

The area, known as "the swamp," along Hwy. 32 has been surveyed by an engineering firm at the city's request.

The city council reviewed a proposal drafted by City Engineer Tim Korby on July 11 and decided to table discussion for one month or until funding could be found. At its Oct. 13 meeting, the council was scheduled to continue discussions on the matter.

The engineer's proposal details a combination roadway and pond project that would result in the extension of Stevens Avenue from Highway 32 into a new housing development area extending to First Street Northeast.

The proposed project is estimated to cost $256,000, which includes all construction, wetland mitigation, engineering, legal/administration work and a 10 percent contingency.

The proposal indicates the "deep pond" would be designed to extend south from Highway 32 to a point where Third Street would extend east into the addition. A landscaped pathway that surrounds the pond and leads to a dock is also proposed. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Oct. 12, 2005

Hallock Public Library temporarily moves

Hallock - Bakken Construction of Hallock will soon start renovating the existing library building next to Hallock City Hall. It will begin with cement work outside and move inside for remodeling during the first part of November.

The existing library space will be remodeled to include all new lighting and wiring, an east entrance, the addition of square footage from using the police department's current space, a new handicapped-accessible bathroom, a new checkout/circulation desk, a research area, a teen area and a children's area.

In the meantime, the library will remain open at a different address, 215 Second St. S.E. in Hallock. This is the former Otter Tail Power Company building. - Kittson County Enterprise, Oct. 12, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Mental Illness

Residents raise money for hurricane victims

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Living with a mental illness is difficult enough without having to cope with the effects of a hurricane. Two Thief River Falls residents are trying to help those who have endured both mental illness and Hurricane Katrina.

Gary Hanway and Vera Jansen, who both suffer from mental illness, started a donation jar at Northern Lights Bookstore in Thief River Falls. So far, they have raised about $300. They began collecting donations a week after the hurricane and will continue to collect donations until the end of October.

"Gary and I both thought we were going to do something [to help]," Jansen said.

"They can use everything they can get their hands on," said Hanway, who noted that if individuals don't donate to Hanway and Jansen's fundraiser, they could donate to the Salvation Army or Red Cross.

Money raised from the fundraiser at Northern Lights will go to the National Alliance for Mental Illness. "They have a fund specifically for Hurricane Katrina relief, and 100 percent is going to people with mental illness and their families," said Sarah Engelsrud, work therapy specialist at Northern Lights.

Hurricane Katrina hit the state of Louisiana especially hard in terms of destruction and death. It is also estimated that Louisiana is home to nearly 650,000 adults and 245,000 children with diagnosable mental disorders, according to the Louisiana Department of Health and Hospitals. And a crisis, such as Hurricane Katrina, can intensify a person's mental illness.

Even though Hanway and Jansen don't have any family or friends in the region affected by Hurricane Katrina, they decided they needed to help those who have suffered from the wrath of the hurricane and mental illness.

Jansen and Hanway may help in other ways. Many people believe that those with mental illness are self-centered and preoccupied with their illness. This fundraiser may change that belief. "It totally throws away that stigma that people with mental illness only think of themselves," Engelsrud said.

To make a donation, go to Northern Lights Bookstore, 208 LaBree Ave. N., or mail a donation to Northern Lights at the above address.

Thief River Falls residents Gary Hanway and Vera Jensen, who both suffer from mental illness, have set up a donation jar at Northern Lights Bookstore in Thief River Falls to help those effected by both Hurricane Katrina and mental illness. So far, they have raised about $300. The fundraiser will continue until the end of October. To donate, stop in at the bookstore at 208 LaBree Ave. N., or send a donation to the above address.

Facts about Mental Illness

- Mental illnesses are biologically based brain disorders. They cannot be overcome through "will power" and are not related to a person's "character" or intelligence.
- Mental disorders fall along a continuum of severity. The most serious and disabling conditions affect five to 10 million adults and three to five million children ages 5 to 17 in the United States.
- Suicide is the third leading cause of death among young people, ages 15 to 24.
- Mental disorders are the leading cause of disability in the North America, Europe and, increasingly, in the world.
- The best treatments for serious mental illnesses today are highly effective; between 70 and 90 percent of individuals have significant reduction of symptoms and improved quality of life with a combination of pharmacological and psychosocial treatments and supports.
- Without treatment the consequences of mental illness for the individual and society are staggering: unnecessary disability, unemployment, substance abuse, homelessness, inappropriate incarceration, suicide and wasted lives. The economic cost of untreated mental illness is more than $100 billion each year in the United States.
- Stigma erodes confidence that mental disorders are real, treatable health conditions. We have allowed stigma and a now unwarranted sense of hopelessness to erect attitudinal, structural and financial barriers to effective treatment and recovery. It is time to take these barriers down.

Problem gambling workshop planned

"Everybody Has a Story: Problem Gambling's Impact on Family and Others" scheduled for November 4 in Thief River Falls

When it comes to gambling, everyone, it seems, knows someone who has a story to tell. "Everybody Has a Story: Problem Gambling's Impact on Family and Others" is the title of a training conference that will be offered on Nov. 4 at the Swenson House of Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

During the conference, well known and knowledgeable experts on the subject of problem gambling's impact on family and others will address a variety of issues. The conference moderator will be T. Lance Holthusen, executive director of Northstar Problem Gambling Alliance, Inc.

There will be several other presenters, as well. The presenters and their topics include:

- The topic of a presentation by Nancy Dahlin-Teich, BSW, social service supervisor, will be "One Family's Saga."
- "How Problem Gambling Impacts Families" will be presented by Lisa Vig, LAV and NCGC, Dawn Cronin, LSW and NCGC of Gambler's Choice, a program of LSS of North Dakota.
- "Treatment and Recovery Services for Families and Others" will be addressed by Maxine Boswell, addiction counselor with White Earth Band of Chippewa Indians, Mike Johnson of Montevideo, and Marti Paulson, RN, supervisor of Vanguard, Granite Falls.
- Marjorie Rupp, attorney, Bridgeport Family Law, St. Paul and Mantorville, will address "A Systems Approach to helping Families With Legal Issues Related to Problem Gambling and Other Addictions."
- Randy Stinchfield, Ph.D. Dept. of psychiatry, University of Minnesota Medical School, will address "Outcomes of Minnesota Gambling Treatment and An Update on the Gambling Treatment Outcome Monitoring System."
- Don Feeney, director of research and planning for Minnesota State Lottery, will be the moderator for a panel discussion on "Evaluating treatment and Counseling Effectiveness."

The training conference is sponsored and produced by the Northstar Problem Gambling Alliance, Inc. and the Thief River Falls Area Problem Gambling Advisory Council.

Turbulence at TRF Airport

TRF loses Saturday flight

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

One less flight of passengers will be traveling to Thief River Falls on Saturdays. Starting Oct. 29, Mesaba Airlines will no longer have any inbound flights Saturdays at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg announced Mesaba's new flight schedule Tuesday at the Thief River Falls City Council meeting. "Basically, we'll have 13 flights per week," said Lindberg. "We were having 14 flights per week up to this point."

City leaders have also learned that Mesaba Airlines filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy Thursday. In a press release, the company noted it will continue its regular operations.

Mesaba does not determine the flight schedule or number of flights traveling to and from the airport. Neither does the city of Thief River Falls. Mesaba's affiliate, Northwest Airlines, determines the schedule and number of flights.

A Northwest spokesperson noted a change in Saturday flights was due to the demand for inbound flights on that day. "Saturday was selected because Saturday is the weakest demand on a general systemwide basis," said Kurt Ebenhoch, who noted that is true for many airports served by Northwest and Mesaba, not just the airport here.

Northwest's affiliate, Mesaba, has been providing passenger air service to the airport for many years. It is able to continue to provide that service as a result of a subsidy the city receives from the federal government through the Essential Air Service (EAS) program. Under the current EAS contract, Mesaba is required to provide 12 weekly, subsidized round-trip flights.

With the decrease in flights at the end of this month, Mesaba will still be providing more flights than it is required to provide. It will provide 13 weekly, round-trip flights until at least mid-December, according to Ebenhoch. He added that flight schedules beyond December are still under review.

When asked during the council meeting whether the airport will

Mesaba declares bankruptcy

Mesaba Aviation, doing business as Mesaba Airlines, announced Thursday that it has filed a voluntary petition for Chapter 11 bankruptcy.

The company emphasized that it will continue its regular operations to serve customers, honor tickets and operate its schedule as a Northwest Airlink partner.

"This was difficult but necessary step. Northwest's actions since filing bankruptcy along with the continuing distress affecting the entire industry requires us to change and to do so quickly," said John Spanjers, Mesaba Airlines president and chief operating officer. "The changes imposed on us by Northwest since its filing in September have left us with insufficient revenues to support our cost structure."

He continued, "This work will be invisible to our passengers. As we go through this process, we will remain focused on delivering the highest levels of safety, reliability and service that our passengers have come to expect from us."

Prior to its filing, Northwest failed to make a semi-monthly payment of approximately $18.5 million due to Mesaba under the Airlines Security Agreement (ASA) for services rendered in the last half of August, according to Mesaba. On the following payment due dates of Sept. 26 and Oct. 11, Northwest made partial payments of $1.6 million and $15.7 million, respectively. As a result, Mesaba has a net unsecured claim of approximately $30 million in the Northwest Chapter 11 case.

In addition, Northwest has advised Mesaba that it intends to reduce the number of Avro and Saab aircraft in Mesaba's fleet and that Mesaba should count on receiving

Roseau Fire Dept. gets $146,220 grant

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) recently announced 145 grants to fire departments throughout the United States in the eighth round of the Fiscal Year 2005 Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program (AFGP). Roseau Fire Department received a $146,220 grant for operations and safety.

"We recognize the importance of the Fire Act Grants to our nation's fire departments, and we will continue to work closely with the fire service community to meet their needs," said Matt Mayer, acting executive director of the Office for State and Local Government Coordination and Preparedness.

AFGP will issue approximately 5,500 awards worth $600 million in direct assistance to firefighters and first responders throughout the country. This eighth round of grants provides more than $14,474,088 to help local fire departments and emergency medical services organizations purchase or receive training, first responder health and safety programs, equipment and response vehicles.

"As we continue to support firefighters across the nation through the Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program, we commend those on the frontlines responding to Hurricane Katrina. With these funds, we ensure our nation's firefighters have the basic capabilities to save lives and protect communities across America," said Charlie Dickinson, deputy administrator of DHS' United States Fire Administration.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Today, we'll have some sweet treats, some of which can be handed out to little trick-or-treaters, if you like. Otherwise you can surprise family and friends with a holiday treat.

Here's a wonderful creamy rice that would make a great dessert on a cold day:

CREAMY GOLDEN RICE PUDDING

3/4 cup uncooked white rice
2 cups milk (divided)
1/3 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
2/3 cup golden raisins
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In medium saucepan, bring 1 1/2 cups water to a boil. Add rice and stir. Reduce heat, cover and simmer for 20 minutes.

In another saucepan, combine the cooked rice (should be 1 1/2 cups), 1-1/2 cups milk, sugar and salt. Cook over medium heat until thickened and creamy, 15 to 20 minutes. Stir in remaining 1/2 cup milk, beaten egg and raisins. Cook 2 minutes more, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in butter and vanilla. Serve warm (good with cinnamon and white or brown sugar on top and a little cream poured over).

Here's another pudding for you. Serve warm with lemon sauce or whipped cream. You may use dates instead of raisins, too.

GRAHAM CRACKER PUDDING

1/4 cup shortening
1/3 cup white sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg (separated)
1/2 cup raisins
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup milk
1 egg white

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease six (6 ounce) custard cups.

Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg yolk. Stir in raisins and walnuts.

In separate bowl, combine graham cracker crumbs, baking powder and salt. Add to first batter alternately with milk, stirring until smooth.

Whip egg white stiff and fold into batter. Place batter in prepared custard cups or other small bake-proof dishes and bake in preheated oven 25-30 minutes, until set.

Fudge is always a welcome treat - try this one if you like peanut butter. Be sure to save the recipe for Christmas, too:

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

3/4 cup evaporated milk (not condensed)
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1-1/8 cups peanut butter
2 cups marshmallow crème
1 teaspoon vanilla

Grease an 8x8 inch pan.

In medium saucepan, combine milk, sugar and butter. Bring to rolling boil over medium heat and let boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter, marshmallow crème and vanilla. Spread in prepared dish. Let cool completely before cutting.

Candy or dessert, these are delicious:

CRISPY MARSHMALLOW BALLS

4 cups crisp rice cereal
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup butter or margarine
30 caramels, unwrapped
1 (16 ounce) package large marshmallows

Line trays with waxed paper. Pour rice cereal into shallow dish or bowl.

In double boiler, combine condensed milk, butter and caramels. Cook, stirring, over simmering water, until melted and smooth.

Using tongs or two forks, dip whole marshmallows, one at a time, into caramel mixture. Immediately roll in rice cereal and place on waxed paper to set.

Here's another non-chocolate fudge that you will like. Use peanuts or walnuts in place of the pecans if you want. My mother always told me about the penuche my great-uncle Ole Rhodegaard would make for them during the holidays when she was little. He owned creameries in Langdon, N.D., and Newfolden, and always brought plenty of cream and butter to make it good. I always make mine with peanuts:

PENUCHE SUGAR FUDGE

4 cups brown sugar
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2/3 cups finely chopped pecans

Butter a 9x9 inch square pan.

In medium saucepan, combine brown sugar, cream and butter. Stir until dissolved. Heat to between 234 and 240 degrees on candy thermometer, or until a small amount of syrup dropped into cold water forms a soft ball.

Remove from heat and stir vigorously until mixture loses its gloss, or process in a food processor for 30 seconds. Quickly stir in vanilla and nuts and spread in prepared dish. Chill before cutting.

One more sweet treat - this one is very easy to make, but delicious:

TIGER BUTTER

1 pound white chocolate, chopped
1/4 cup semisweet chocolate chips
1/3 cup crunchy peanut butter
1/2 cup crisp rice cereal

Line a 9x9 inch baking pan with waxed paper.

Combine white chocolate, chocolate chips and peanut butter in 2 quart micro safe dish and microwave on low for 1 minute. Stir smooth, leaving a little striped if you like. Stir in cereal and spread in prepared pan. Let cool completely before cutting.

Red Lake awarded EDA funding for sewer and water

U.S. Rep. Collin Peterson (D-Minn) has announced that the Red Lake Nation has been awarded $1.5 million from the U.S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration.

The investment will help to fund the construction of the first phase of sewer treatment improvements on the lands of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa, meeting community needs and assuring the continued operation of tribal businesses, as well as enabling a new greenhouse and nursery business with 75 new jobs.

"Red Lake's current infrastructure is very outdated and they're not able to add more business without these upgrades," Peterson said. "I congratulate the tribe on their hard work to make this project happen because this is extremely important for their future economic development."

Harvest truck drivers reminded to stay clear of electrical lines

Otter Tail Power Company reminds harvest truck drivers to stay clear of utility poles and electrical lines. In particular, the company warns against raising truck boxes under or near overhead electrical lines because contact with energized lines can result in personal injury or death.

Even when no injuries occur, contact with electrical lines can interrupt electrical service and damage farm equipment.

The company is especially concerned at this time of year when the sugar beet and corn harvests are in full swing. "A little planning can help keep everyone safe and productive," said Steve Wevley, Otter Tail Power Company safety services manager. "Think about the routes you take in and out of fields and near grain bins. Look up before you raise the truck box. Stay clear of utility lines and other electrical equipment."

If accidental contact occurs with any of Otter Tail Power Company's lines or equipment, call 1-800-257-4044 to report it as soon as possible.

The company also reminds property owners to keep ditch fires away from utility poles. Every year, uncontrolled ditch and field burns damage or destroy electric utility poles.

"You pay for the repairs if you're responsible for the fire," said Wevley. "An average charge is $3,500 a pole, and that doesn't make up for the power outage or safety hazard that a burned pole creates."

Wevley reminds property owners that most areas require ditch-burning permits. "Check with your town fire station or township fire warden to learn about the requirements in your area," he said.

Electrical outages, adds Wevley, also can occur when smoke reduces the insulating value of air and causes a temporary line fault. "Please take all necessary precautions when you burn ditches and fields," said Wevley. "Make sure you have enough people to monitor the fire. Build fire walls by starting small controlled fires around poles, pedestals and other electrical facilities. Trench wherever necessary, and take time to work safely."

Grace Evangelical Church to host harvest festival

A harvest festival is scheduled at the Grace Evangelical Church in Strathcona on Sunday, Oct. 16, beginning at 7 p.m. The Overtones Quartet will be presenting the program. Lunch will be served after the concert. Everyone is invited to attend.

TRF police seek owner of dog who bit a man Wednesday

Thief River Falls police are looking for the owner of a dog who bit a man Wednesday morning.

Eric Melcher of Thief River Falls was bitten in the left hand by a large, light-colored Husky as he was walking along Edgewood Drive at about 7:50 a.m. Wednesday. At the time, the dog was being walked by another man, who left with the dog after Melcher was bitten. The police department indicated Melcher suffered puncture wounds and was treated at a Thief River Falls clinic.

If readers have any information about this incident or the dog's owner, they are asked to call the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

GMR Drama Department prepares for dinner theatre

The Greenbush/Middle River High School Drama Department is preparing for its ninth annual Dinner Theatre to be held Nov. 10, 11 and 12. Tammie Malwitz

Malwitz hired as nutrition education assistant for area

Tammie Malwitz from Red Lake Falls has been hired to serve both Pennington and Red Lake counties as the University of Minnesota nutrition education assistant. This position was formerly held by Barbara Klopp.

As the nutrition education assistant, Malwitz will provide nutrition education to citizens in both counties but will be housed in the Pennington County Extension Office in Thief River Falls.

The Minnesota Nutrition Education program began in 1968 and is funded by a federal grant through the United States Department of Agriculture and managed by the University of Minnesota Extension Service. The mission of the program is to provide nutrition and food resource management education to Food Stamp participants and Food Stamp eligible persons, so they can increase their ability to make wise use of food related resources. General topics addressed are: diet quality, food resource management, food security and food safety. The nutrition education assistant works with a wide variety of audiences including youth, adults and seniors.

For more information about the University of Minnesota Nutrition Education program contact DeeAnn Leines, regional extension educator – health and nutrition, at 218-281-8699. To inquire about specific nutrition education programming and scheduling in Pennington and Red Lake counties, contact Tammie Malwitz at 218-683-7030.

Minnesotans reminded about "Cold Weather Rule"

With winter on the way and home heating costs expected to dramatically increase, Gov. Tim Pawlenty recently reminded Minnesotans that the state's "Cold Weather Rule" took effect Oct. 15 and lasts through the home heating season.

The rule protects consumers from having their utility service shut off during the winter months. This and other programs are available to Minnesotans who need their heat reconnected or may have trouble paying their heating bills this winter.

"Minnesotans who cannot afford to pay the sometimes high price of heating their homes should know that there is help available," said Pawlenty. "We live in a state that gets very cold in the winter, and we need to make sure that homes are properly heated."

The rule is administered by the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) through local utility companies, which are required to offer shut-off protection to households. Households with income less than 50 percent of the state median income ($38,364 for a family of four) have the greatest number of payment options. Customers must apply to the utility company that provides their heat. There are special payment plans for households who need to reconnect their heat at the beginning of the heating season. Under the rule, customers must make and keep regular payment plans with their energy providers in exchange for keeping the heat on until April 15, 2006.

"Consumers who think they may qualify for Cold Weather Rule protection should contact their utility before their heat is shut off," said Deborah Motz of the PUC's Consumer Affairs Office.

Most utilities offer bill payment options, including budget plans that help even out the amount of each month's energy bill. Customers receiving energy assistance do not have to show proof of income since they already meet the income qualifications. They simply need to contact the utility to sign up for a payment plan. Contact your utility company for more information.

There are other energy assistance programs as well. The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program is federally funded through the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and administered by the Minnesota Department of Commerce through 38 local service providers around the state. This program helps low-income customers pay their heating bills through grant money paid directly to the utility company on behalf of the customer.

The average grant per household is about $500. Customers with less than 50 percent of the state median income ($38,364 for a family of four) may qualify. Households with seniors, disabled individuals and/or children are especially encouraged to apply.

"If you think you qualify and have not yet applied, do so today," said John Harvanko, Energy Assistance Program director. "Funding is always limited and demand for assistance is expected to increase with the rise in heating prices this winter."

The Weatherization Assistance Program is funded through the U.S. Department of Energy and administered by the Minnesota Department of Commerce. This program provides home energy conservation audits, safety inspections and assessments of furnaces and indoor air quality for low-income households. People signing up for Energy Assistance are automatically eligible for the Weatherization Program as well. Minnesota homeowners or renters may apply.

For more information, contact the Minnesota Department of Commerce Energy Info Center at 1-800-657-3710, online at www.commerce.state.mn.us and then click on Energy Info Center, or e-mail energy.info@state.mn.us.

Other forms of assistance may be available through county social service programs, community based organizations and nonprofit agencies, such as HeatShare administered by the Salvation Army.

Detour scheduled for Eighth Street railroad crossing in TRF

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is notifying the public of a detour that will be put in place next week in Thief River Falls to accommodate a railroad crossing resurfacing project on Highway 1, also known as Eighth Street.

The resurfacing project, conducted by Canadian Pacific Rail, is scheduled to start Monday, Oct. 17 at 8 a.m. and is expected to be complete on Thursday, Oct. 20.

According to Monty Eidem, Mn/DOT District 2 traffic engineer, the detour route will move traffic from Highway 1, south on to Atlantic Avenue to Highway 59, then east on Highway 59 and north on Davis Avenue back to Highway 1.

A temporary three-way stop will be in place at Highway 59 and Davis Avenue. Motorists are asked to exercise extreme caution at the three-way stop area.

Alma Free Lutheran Church to host AFLC annual meeting

Alma Free Lutheran Church of rural Argyle, will host the Association of Free Lutheran Churches District annual meting on Sunday, Oct. 23, at 3 p.m. Rev. Kenneth Hart of Greenbush will bring the message. After a short break, a business meeting will be held at 4:30 p.m. followed by a message from Rev. Richard Gunderson, former missionary to Bolivia.

Breast cancer screening saves lives, increases treatment options

This year in Minnesota, more than 3,200 women are expected to be diagnosed with breast cancer, and more than 620 women are expected to die from the disease.

Significant progress has been made in mammography technology to assist physicians in diagnosing the disease at an early stage, usually before physical symptoms develop. When breast cancer is diagnosed at an early stage, before it has spread to lymph nodes or other locations in the body, the five-year survival rate is 98 percent. As a result of improved early detection, breast cancer survivors make up the largest group of cancer survivors.

October 2005 marks more than 20 years of educating women about breast cancer early detection, diagnosis and treatment during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Throughout the month, the American Cancer Society (ACS) encourages women age 40 and older to make an appointment for an annual mammogram. Mammography screening is the most effective method of early detection and has been proven to increase treatment options and save lives.

In addition to promoting early detection of breast cancer, ACS has a variety of local and national programs and services available to assist women who have received a breast cancer diagnosis, are undergoing treatment or are post-treatment. A local ACS navigator is serving every community in Minnesota and can connect those facing breast cancer with local programs and services to meet their individual needs. For more information about breast cancer diagnosis, screening or treatment options, or to speak to your local Navigator, call ACS at 1.800.ACS.2345 or visit www.cancer.org.

Coleman bill combats spread of Asian carp

Senator Norm Coleman has announced he is co-sponsoring the bipartisan Asian Carp Prevention and Control Act (S. 1402). This legislation adds three species of carp to the federal list of injurious species that are prohibited from being shipped or imported. Minnesota ranks first nationally in fishing licenses sold per capita, and more than $1.5 billion is spent on sport fishing in Minnesota each year. Asian Carp could threaten Minnesota's nearly 5,500 fishable lakes by displacing indigenous species.

"Minnesota is synonymous with beautiful and bountiful lakes," said Coleman. "We must ensure that we take the necessary steps to prevent the northward movement of Asian Carp to our Great Lakes as these species have the ability to negatively impact our fishing economy and threaten the fragile ecosystems of our lakes. This bill addresses that concern by proactively prohibiting the transportation of these fish."

The common carp, introduced by immigrants as a fish food, has been widespread throughout the U.S. since the 1800's. But in the past few decades several other species of Asian carp have been imported into the U.S. as a management tool for aquatic vegetation in ponds. Due to Minnesota's interconnected waterways and the size of these species of carp, officials believe that potential migration of the species into Minnesota's lakes and rivers could dominate water systems and eliminate native species.

The spread of Asian carp into rivers and lakes is a key concern of state and federal conservation authorities, including the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Senator Coleman has supported the Minnesota DNR's efforts to gain federal funding for the Army Corps of Engineers to build a bio-acoustic fish fence on the Mississippi River in Iowa to prevent the Asian carp from traveling upstream to Minnesota, though no funding has become available to date.

The Asian Carp Prevention and Control Act was introduced by Senators Mike DeWine (R-Ohio) and Carl Levin (D-Mich.), and is also cosponsored by Evan Bayh (D-Ind.), Russell Feingold (D-Wisc.), Richard Durbin (D-Ill.), Debbie Stabenow (D-Mich.), Mark Dayton (D-MN), and George Voinovich (R-Ohio).

Supporting our National Guard

Among the more than 2,600 Minnesota National Guard members who are being deployed to Iraq - Minnesota Guard's largest overseas deployment since World War II - will be several soldiers from this region.

At the departure ceremony in Thief River Falls, Gov. Tim Pawlenty said we would not have the country we have without soldiers like these. "They're amazing people."

True enough, but for families, their departure is still difficult to accept, let alone comprehend.

For families, the deployment to Bosnia was tough. As families attending the departure ceremony in Thief River Falls noted, this deployment to Iraq will be tough, maybe even more difficult than the deployment to Bosnia.

What can we say or do? The only thing we can offer in situations like these is to look to our faith, our families and our community.

The soldiers themselves offered us some solace when they stated that they are only doing what they have been trained to do.

Yes, they have been superbly trained, and we know they believe they're doing important work.

We can also wish them a safe journey, and like so many friends and family, we look forward to the day they return.

While they are still "in-country," we look forward to hearing from them about the work that they will be doing, and we also look forward to sharing those stories with you. That may bring all of us another measure of comfort, and understanding for this war, which from media accounts, seems so far away and only filled with extremism, death and destruction.

Individuals interested in providing more support for families of these soldiers can contact two local groups: Thief River Falls Family Readiness Group, call Julie Bolduc at (218) 686-1877, or access www.bravofrg.com; or, Guard Family Help at Home, contact Shannon Olson at the Heritage Community Center at (218) 681-2793.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Dayton proposes additional funds for Guard families

U.S. Senator Mark Dayton recently offered an amendment to the FY 2006 defense spending bill (H.R. 2863), which would add $100 million to child care for families of the Armed Forces, military Family Assistance Centers, and the National Guard Counterdrug Program. The measure was adopted unanimously by the Senate.

Dayton's amendment would provide: $50 million in additional funds for child care for families of Armed Forces members; $10 million for military Family Assistance Centers, which help military families with financial, legal, and other problems arising from deployment; and $40 million for the National Guard Counterdrug Support Program, which assigns members of the Guard to U.S. border patrol and other activities to stop the flow of illegal drugs, including methamphetamine.

Speaking from the Senate floor, Dayton said, "My amendment would add another $50 million to child care, because the office of the Secretary of Defense currently estimates that 38,000 children of active duty military families are not able to access military child care, due to the lack of spaces and facilities. This is especially critical because so many of these family members are being deployed for 12 or 18 months, leaving their spouses as single parents, financially strapped, needing to work and, therefore, needing quality child care more than ever before."

Families in Minnesota pay some of the highest child care costs in the nation, up to $12,000 per year. This is a significant burden for families of military personnel, namely Guard members and Reservists who often take a significant pay cut when they are deployed. Family assistance centers are a crucial resource, particularly for the National Guard and Reserve, whose members are sometimes given only a few days notice to prepare for deployment.

Dayton later added, "Other than international terrorism, there is no greater threat to the safety, the health, and the well-being of our citizens than the increasing flow of illegal drugs into our country, into our neighborhoods, into our schools, and into our homes. As I listen to local law enforcement officials throughout Minnesota, they say we are losing the war against these narcotics terrorists. We're losing because our resources are being overwhelmed by their resources. My amendment would provide more money for the good guys to win this terribly destructive battle."

Methamphetamine is the most rapidly spreading, illegal drug in Minnesota. In 2003, more than 500 meth labs or dumping sites were discovered in the state – nearly three times the number found in 2000. In 2004, the number of meth lab busts fell to 317, which law enforcement and public health officials attribute to smaller, harder-to-find meth labs and smarter meth cooks. Last year, in Minnesota, meth use resulted in 18 accidental overdose deaths and 705 visits to Twin Cities-area emergency rooms.

Former resident honored at Minnesota Jaycees convention

Scott Tum, a 1991 graduate of Warren High School, has been named one of Minnesota's "Ten Outstanding Men for 2005." He was recently honored in Rochester, at the Minnesota Jaycees TDYM convention.

Tum is vice president/manager of Citizens Bank-Midwest in Bemidji. He began his banking career at the age of 16 at the Bremer bank in Warren. He attended the University of North Dakota and also the North Dakota School of Banking. From 1991 to 2002, he worked as a credit analyst at Alerus Financial in Grand Forks, N.D.

In 2002, Tum moved to the Bemidji Bank. It was a brand new bank within Bemidji and had no customer base at the time. It now has over 1,000 customers and continue to experience exceptional growth every year. This spring, it completed an addition to its 3-year-old bank.

Tum has remained busy, with his volunteer activities within the community. He has been part of the Junior Achievement organization for the last seven years. He is chairman of the local effort and volunteers his time in the classroom teaching Junior Achievement's success skills to juniors and seniors at Bemidji High School.

Tum has been a member of the Bemidji Rotary Club for three years, where he currently is the president-elect. He has been very active with the playhouse fundraising project with the profits going back to the community programs.

For the past two years, Tum has served on the Allocation Comittee of the United Way of Bemidji. He serves as a board member/treasurer of the Upper Mississippi Mental Health Center. He also serves on the advisory board of the Small Business Development Center and represents the bank as a member of the Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce and Beaver Pride.

Lori Paris, Bemidji Area Chamber of Commerce executive director and fellow member of the Bemidji Rotary Club, said, "Scott has taken over the Rotary Playhouse fundraising project. He has dedicated hundreds of hours in the last two years to the project. He steps up to the plate to get the job done. Whenever you ask him to help, he always says yes."

Tum and his wife, Christie, have two children, Mackenzie, 7, Mariah, 3, and they are expecting their third child in December. Tum is the son of Ed and Linda Tum of Thief River Falls.

Public input sought for public library

What should libraries look like in the future? Do they have a role in the future of this community? How will they best meet our needs? What part should the state play in providing library services? How should library services be funded?

Minnesota is looking forward as it develops a state plan for libraries, and State Librarian Suzanne Miller and her staff want input from the public.

Miller will be in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, Oct. 18. Library board members and library customers are invited to attend this public meeting, which will be from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Swenson House, 1020 Centennial Drive, Thief River Falls.

Miller and her staff have scheduled numerous meetings around the state to talk with citizens and librarians about priorities for effective library service. The eventual plan for Minnesota's libraries of the future will address the common mission and goals of all types of libraries, academic, school, public and special.

"This is a wonderful opportunity to make sure that the library of the future is a vibrant, important part of our communities," said Miller. "I hope to listen to the ideas of as many interested Minnesota library users as possible in the next two months. I encourage all types of users to offer their thoughts, including teenagers, collegiane, academics, teachers, parents, boomers and the retired."

For those who cannot make a town meeting, there will be a survey linked to the Minnesota Department of Education Web site, www.education.mn.state.us Click on "Library Services and School Technology" and then "State Plan for Minnesota Libraries." The survey may also be printed out and mailed. For those without Internet access, contact the closest public library for a copy of the survey. All surveys should be completed by Dec. 10.

Champion goose and duck caller at Arctic Cat

World goose and duck calling champion Jeff Foiles will present a free duck and goose calling workshop at Arctic Cat in Thief River Falls at 5:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 17.

Foiles grew up among the bluffs and hills of Calhoun County, Ill., nestled between the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. He first experience hunting at the early age of 6 started a life-long love for waterfowling.

Foiles' career as a union ironworker began in 1977. He started guiding hunters at an early age, traveling across the United States and Canada doing what he loved and keeping his family fed. He started the calling circuit in early 1990, winning many championships along the way. Some of Foiles' most coveted titles include 2003 World All Amund Duck and Goose Champion, and 2004 WCA World Championship Goose.

In 1991, Foiles began making his first call by putting together several pieces and turning out barrels. This was the beginning of the championship line of "Strait Meat" Duck and Goose Calls. In 1993, after suffering heat stroke at work, Foiles decided to get more serious about the waterfowl industry. By 1999, after attending and working at waterfowl seminars and shows across the country, and meeting some of the best waterfowlers in the world, Foiles decided to make the "Strait Meat Honker" and "Strait Meat Mallard" calls. With the realistic tones of both patented calls, they were an instant success in the field and on the stage.

In 2003, the Foiles Migrators line of "Strait Meat" calls won the crown, which no other call maker has obtained, won two World Goose Calling Championships and two World Duck calling championships in one year.

Kelli Rutherford (2) of Northland tied to get the upper hand on a Central Lakes opponent as they battled for the ball above the net during Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference volleyball match in Thief River Falls. The Raiders beat the Pioneers 3-0.

Losses continue to mount for Northland volleyball team...

Central Lakes adds to streak

Missy Majerus refuses to give up. The second-year Northland Community and Technical College volleyball coach will not wave the white flag as an 0-for-2005 season heads into its final week.

The only winless team in the Minnesota Community College Conference, the Pioneers saw their record slide to 0-17 Wednesday with a 30-12, 30-22, 30-15 loss to visiting Central Lakes.

Despite a record that includes an 0-12 figure in the MCCC Northern Division and 11-straight 3-0 losses, the Pioneers remain competitive, insisted Majerus. "We have not been beaten yet," she said. "We beat ourselves. The difference between us and teams like Central Lakes are the mistakes. If we can stay away from the mistakes, we can play with anybody."

It was Northland's Game 2 play against the 21-1 Raiders that gave Majerus an opportunity to put a positive spin on things. At mid-game, the Pioneers were within two points on five occasions at 14-12, 15-13, 17-15, 18-16 and 19-17. Central Lakes finally shook free on back-to-back aces by Andrea Almsted that opened up a 22-17 gap. An ace by Melissa Otremba finished it.

"We showed a little bit of spark in the second game," confirmed Majerus.

Maybe the biggest difference between the Pioneers and Raiders was the passing game. Central Lakes setters didn't have to run down errant passes. The playmakers got the ball in proper position and immediately set up their hitters.

"They (Raiders) have a very quick offense because they do a good job getting the ball to their setter," explained Majerus.

Those quick strikes gave the Pioneers' blockers little time to set up. On the other side of the net, the Northland offense didn't run as smooth as often, consequently the Pioneers ran into well-positioned double-blocks on most of their attacks.

Northland will close out its home schedule Tuesday, Oct. 18, with a 6 p.m. match against Canadian foe Providence College of Otterburne, Man. The season will end two days later with the Thursday Crossover Tournament at Central Lakes, where the Pioneers will play Rochester at 10:30 a.m.; Fergus Falls at noon; Vermilion at 1:30 p.m.; and Rainy River at 4 p.m.

The Pioneers will be an observer, not a participant, when the 2005 MCCC state tournament is played Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 29-30, in the Northland gym. The field will include the top four finishers in the regular season Northern and Southern Division standings.

TRF advances in 8AA tennis

Wednesday North Sub-Section 8AA wins over Brainerd and Fergus Falls advanced Thief River Falls to the 2005 Section 8AA girls high school tennis team tournament semifinals, scheduled to be played Tuesday in St. Cloud.

The No. 3-seeded Prowlers shut out No. 6 Brainerd 7-0 in the quarterfinals and pulled off a mild surprise with a 5-2 semifinal victory over No. 2 Fergus Falls – a team that beat them twice by 4-3 margins during the regular season – in matches played at the Center Court Fitness Club in Grand Forks, N.D.

Top-seeded Bemidji received a first round bye and handled No. 5 Moorhead 6-1 in the semifinals to join the Prowlers as a sectional qualifier.

Tournament officials elected this year eliminate the sub-section championship match. Instead, they formatted a tournament that advanced the top two teams from the North and South brackets to the Section 8AA semifinals.

Top-seeded St. Cloud Tech and No. 2 Willmar are the South qualifiers.

The Prowlers improved their dual meet record to 9-5 with the two post-season wins.

Prowlers named Rapids champion

There was a delay in naming a winner as officials double-checked the scoring, but when word was finally received this week, Thief River Falls was declared the team champion in the Oct. 6 Grand Rapids Invitational girls high school swim meet.

"There was some confusion as to what the final scores were, and who won the meet," explained Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott. "I had us winning by a point, and Grand Rapids had us losing by two."

When the numbers were finally released, Thief River Falls had 422.5 points, Grand Rapids Orange 421, Proctor/Hermantown 362, Grand Rapids Black 275, Chisholm 254, Duluth Central 229, Grand Rapids Green 179 and Fosston/Bagley 20.

"The girls had a great meet, regardless of the final outcome," said Knott.

Thief River Falls' lone first place swim came from April Peterson in the 100-yard backstroke.

Peterson had a one-second drop in the event. Knott was also excited about times turned in by Janessa Hansen, who had a 4-second drop in the 200 freestyle to finish fourth, and by Kailey Bakken/Casey Engelstad in the 100 breaststroke, where they both dropped over a second and finished 2-3, respectively.

The Prowlers faced a strong field at the University of North Dakota Invitational Saturday (Oct. 8) in Grand Forks. The meet was won by Dakotaville with 408.5 points, followed by Minot with 272, West Fargo 182.5, Bismarck Century 175, Fargo North 163, Mandan 163, Marshall 144, Grand Forks Central 116, Jamestown 104, Bismarck 101, Fargo South 89, Grand Forks Red River 85, Thief River Falls 83, Wahpeton 69, Fargo Shanley 69, Crookston 49, Warroad 26, Moorhead 12, Kenora 9, Roseau 2.

"The girls had some good swims and some not-so-good swims," mentioned Knott. "It got to be a very long day."

Thief River Falls individual results at UND were not available.

Jim Sims, who is currently in his 11th year as Director of Student Activities for School District 564, has been selected as 2005-06 Region 8AA Athletic Director of the Year.

Jim Sims is named 8AA Athletic Director of Year

Jim Sims, Director of Student Activities for School District 564, has been selected the 2005-06 Region 8AA Athletic Director of the Year, it was announced this week.

Sims' name will now be submitted to the Minnesota Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association for consideration for the Class AA Athletic Director of the Year Award.

That announcement will be made at the group's annual convention March 30.

Sims is currently in his 11th year directing the Thief River Falls activities programs. The Mahnomen High School and Moorhead State graduate coached at Eagle Bend before coming to Thief River Falls in the fall of 1965 to coach football and track.

He led the Prowlers for 10 years before accepting a position as head football coach at the University of Minnesota-Crookston, where he stayed for 19 years. He left coaching and returned to Thief River Falls for the opportunity to be in administration.

"I'm just extremely humbled to even be considered for an honor like this from my peers," said Sims following the award announcement, "especially when you consider that 8AA stretches from Elk River to Thief River Falls."

Top-ranked Bears 3-0 winner over Prowlers

Lake of the Woods' top-ranked Class AA high school volleyball team took care of Class AAA Thief River Falls 25-10, 25-10, 25-13 Tuesday at Baudette.

Another tough night on offense dropped the Prowlers' overall record to 7-17.

It was a clean sweep for the Bears, who won the junior varsity contest 25-23, 25-17 and also took the freshman match in two games.

Gators' first quarter leads to a 43-12 win over RLCC

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River built a 28-0 halftime lead en route to a 43-12 win over Red Lake County Central in an Oct. 7 Top of the State Conference Nine-Man high school football game at Oklee.

"A rough night," reported Mustangs coach Ethan Marquis. "We were unable to stop the Gators' rushing attack. Their size and strength allowed them to maintain a strong run game throughout the night."

Cody Brazier (2), Cody Langaas and Don Stengrim had first half touchdown runs for the Gators.

The two teams swapped second half touchdowns. Andrew Vettleson put Red Lake County Central on the board in the third quarter, with a Langaas matching score making it 35-6. Mikel Magnell picked up the Mustangs' second touchdown in the final quarter that was followed by a Trent Sovde score.

"Mistakes on our part were quite costly," mentioned Marquis. "More than one turnover led to a score for them."

Magnell carried 19 times for 91 yards. He also led the Mustangs' defense with 10 tackles. Teammate Matthew Johnsrud had six tackles and a fumble recovery.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River went to 4-2 with the win. Red Lake County Central fell to 1-5.

TRF swimmers handle Roseau in a 103-67 win

April Peterson and Ashley Meunier both won two individual events and were part of two first place relay teams Tuesday as Thief River Falls overwhelmed host Roseau 103-67 in high school swimming.

Peterson's wins came in the 200-yard individual medley and 100 butterfly. Meunier headed the field in the 50 and 100 freestyle.

It was a Peterson-Casey Engelstad, Allyson Helling-Kailey Bakken victory in the 200 medley relay; a Peterson-Meunier-Bakken-Helling win in the 200 freestyle relay; and a Meunier-Janessa Hansen-Katie Pribula-Helling first place combination in the 400 freestyle relay.

Helling tacked on a first place swim in the 100 backstroke as the Prowlers improved their dual meet record to 4-2.

Thief River Falls won the junior varsity portion of the event 90-54.

Prowlers challenge Fosston

You would have been hard-pressed to find two losing coaches with bigger smiles than those worn by Tammy Sparby and Lynette Derouin Thursday following Thief River Falls' 3-1 high school volleyball setback at the hands of Fosston.

As their 7-18 record indicates, the Prowlers have struggled this fall, especially on offense. But there was nothing wrong with their attack – or the rest of their game, for that matter – as they challenged the defending Class A state champions from start to finish before the visiting Greyhounds emerged a 25-16, 21-25, 25-19, 25-22 winner.

"That's the best match we've played all year," said Sparby, the Thief River Falls head coach. "They finally started hitting the ball. They fought both offensively and defensively."

"We've been waiting for them to do that all year," added Derouin, a member of Sparby's coaching staff.

It was a loss, but volleyball enthusiasm returned to the Lincoln High School gym in a big way as the crowd responded to the Prowlers' efforts to knock off a team that was 14-2 and ranked No. 6 in the latest Class A state polls.

"Fosston has a very strong team, and we played right with them," noted Sparby. "It was great to see the crowd in it like that."

The tone of the match was set near the midway mark of Game 1 when an extraordinarily-long volley that featured spikes and digs galore left both teams exhausted and brought the fans to their feet on a point that put Fosston up 12-10.

Fosston went on to build a 17-10 lead. Thief River Falls chopped the difference to 19-16, but then surrendered the final six points.

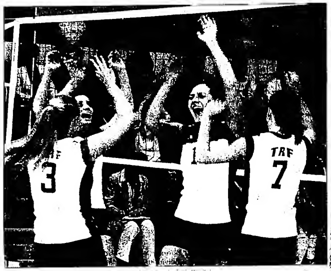
However, the Prowlers didn't hang their heads. They played high-intensity volleyball to take a 20-13 lead in Game 2 and held off a Fosston rally that made it a 23-20 to even the match at 1-1.

Roles were reversed in Game 3 when Fosston built a 20-13 lead and watched Thief River Falls pull within 22-19 before the Greyhounds put a finishing touch on it.

It was another back-and-forth battle in Game 4. Fosston was clinging to a 22-21 lead when Angie Curfman scored off a tip and Leigha Curfman followed with a kill for a 24-21 advantage.

A kill-block by Lauren Daniels kept Thief River Falls in it, 24-22, but Angie Curfman's spike just inside the back line closed out the hard-earned Fosston win.

"If we could have won the fourth game, I think we would have won the match," said Sparby. "We would have had the momentum going into the fifth game."



A 25-22, 25-19 win pushed the Thief River Falls junior varsity record to 11-2. Fosston was a 2-0 winner in the C squad match.

Scoring

Kills - (Fosston) Kristi Lucken 12, Cassie Bagaason 12, Leigha Curfman 12, (TRF) Becca Larsen 9, Shawna Rogalla 7, Sara Michaels 7.

Assists - (Fosston) Kelly Landsvork 34; (TRF) Beth Marben 10, Haeli Stokke 9.

Early antlerless youth deer hunt

■ Special hunt in northwest Minnesota Oct. 22-23

Any hunter, age 12 to 14, who has their firearms safety certificate and a Minnesota firearms deer license, is eligible to participate in the northwestern Minnesota special youth antlerless deer season Oct. 22-23. The hunt will be held in Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington and Roseau counties.

There is no application or lottery for the season. Participating youth must get a northwestern Minnesota youth season license endorsement at a Department of Natural Resources electronic license agent. The license endorsement is license type 632, and there is no fee.

Participating youth must have the endorsement with their firearms deer license when hunting. The DNR requires this endorsement so that they can estimate the number of participants each year.

Participating youth must be accompanied a parent, guardian, or another adult who is authorized by a parent or guardian to take the child hunting. The adult may not shoot or carry a firearm during the hunt, and has to remain with the child at all times while hunting.

While the area of the hunt is located in Zones 1 and 2, youth with any 2005 Minnesota firearms license may participate, including youth with Zone 3A, 3B, 4A, 4B and multiple zone licenses. Harvested deer must be tagged by the individual who took them, since party-hunting is not allowed during this special season. Only one antlerless deer may be taken per hunter during this season. A bonus permit may be used, and is recommended so the youth's regular firearms license is still available during the regular firearms deer season.

A youth who participates in the special youth season may still participate in the regular firearms deer season, however any tag used during the special season counts against their annual bag limit.

Minnesota Quality Deer Management organization has created a bulletin board for finding private landowners willing to allow access to their property during the hunt. Go to http://www.mnqdm.com/forum/ for more information.

The northwestern Minnesota special youth antlerless season was created in 2004 by the State Legislature. In 2004, approximately 600 youth harvested more than 100 antlerless deer.

Cross country season winds down

A Tuesday race at Bemidji will close out the 2005 Thief River Falls regular season high school cross country schedule.

The Prowlers, who ran at the Hawley/Ulen-Hitterdal Invitational Thursday, will compete in the Section 8AA meet Thursday, Oct. 27, at Moorhead.

"Hilly terrain scattered the course for a good, challenging run," said Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak. "We still stuck pretty close to what our paces should be, even with all the hills and turns."

Results of the Bemidji meet will help Karboviak determine his post-season line-up. "It's a close race for both boys and girls," he explained, "so the Bemidji races should be a great shoot-out to watch our runners fight for those spots. As a coach, it's a good problem to have in deciding who is going to run at sectionals."

lose any more flights, Lindberg said. "I think it's too soon to answer that."

Besides losing an inbound Saturday flight, the airport will lose a morning flight on Sundays as a result of the new schedule. However, Lindberg said, it gains a 3 p.m. flight on Sundays.

Starting Oct. 29, the new flight schedule includes:

• On Saturdays, an outbound flight at 6 a.m.

• On Sundays, an inbound flight at 3:17 p.m., an outbound flight at 3:55 p.m., and an inbound flight at 11:20 p.m.

• Mondays through Fridays, an outbound flight at 6 a.m., an inbound flight at 3:17 p.m., an outbound flight at 3:55 p.m., and an inbound flight at 11:20 p.m.

"Our schedules change three, four times a year," said Lindberg, who noted other airports had encountered similar schedule changes with Mesaba.

Mesaba declares bankruptcy

only two of the 15 new CRJ aircraft committed under the ASA. Furthermore, Northwest also has notified Mesaba of Northwest's intent to terminate the sub-leases on all 35 of the Avros.

"The combination of the loss of $30 million of revenue and the reduction in our fleet size by at least 28 percent has left us with no choice but to take this difficult step," said Sanjers. "We view bankruptcy as a last resort, but a necessary one because no other alternatives would allow us to change as rapidly as we need to."

Sanjers added, "We worked hard to avoid Chapter 11, but we firmly believe this action affords us the best opportunity to restructure our finances and to be successful over the long run. We have valuable assets, including our dedicated employees who continue to focus on operating a safe, reliable airline. We plan to emerge from this Chapter 11 case as a lean and competitive regional carrier flying for Northwest or other major airlines."

Lincoln High School (LHS) students raised $1,854.38 for victims of Hurricane Katrina. The funds will be given to the American Red Cross. Mr. Loe's sophomore 3B social studies class (pictured) raised the most money for the project. After watching news reports of the devastation caused by the hurricane and flooding, the student body was challenged to give up a bottle of pop or water a day and contribute $1 a day ($5 for the week) to assist Americans devastated by Hurricane Katrina. Seven social studies classes met or exceeded their goal of averaging $5 per student. The largest single donation from a student was an impressive $75 - money the sophomore earned at her after-school job. LHS Student Senate also supported the effort. Pictured with the symbolic check and Mr. Loe's class are Sarah Mattison (second row, far left), and Ashley Leister (second row, far right). In addition to raising money, Loe said the class studied other nearby disasters, including the Armistice Day Blizzard and the Hinkley Fire, events which students had very little knowledge of or realized had taken place.

Aquila sells four utility assets

Aquila Inc. (NYSE:ILA) announced Sept. 21 that it has signed definitive agreements to sell four utility businesses identified for potential sale on Mar. 14, 2005, for a total of $896.7 million. Proceeds from the transactions will be used to reduce debt and other liabilities.

The sale agreements mark a significant advance in Aquila's previously announced repositioning plan. The plan seeks to strengthen Aquila's balance sheet, improve its credit profile, and position the company to invest in utility infrastructure to provide safe and reliable service to customers as an integrated natural gas and electric utility.

The transactions include:

• WPS Resources Corporation, a publicly-traded holding company for a number of energy-related subsidiaries based in Green Bay, Wis., will purchase the assets and liabilities of Aquila's natural gas operations in Michigan and Minnesota for a base purchase price of $269.5 million and $288 million, respectively, plus working capital and subject to net plant adjustments.

• The Empire District Electric Company, a publicly-traded electric utility based in Joplin, Mo., will purchase the assets and liabilities of Aquila's natural gas operations in Missouri for a base purchase price of $84 million, plus working capital and subject to net plant adjustments.

• Mid-Kansas Electric Company (MKEC), a coalition of six consumer-owned cooperatives that also own Sunflower Electric Power Corporation, a regional generation and transmission service provider, will purchase the assets and liabilities of Aquila's electric operations in Kansas for a base purchase price of $255.2 million, plus working capital and subject to net plant adjustments.

Following the completion of these sales, Aquila will operate in five states, with natural gas operations in Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and Iowa and electric operations in Missouri and Colorado. Of the utilities identified for potential sale on March 14, Aquila will retain ownership of its St. Joseph Light and Power electric operations in Missouri as well as its electric operations in Colorado as part of its ongoing business. Aquila continues to consider the sale of its three merchant peaking plants and Everest Connections, as well as a settlement of its Elwood toll contracts.

"The execution of these agreements marks a major milestone in our program to reposition Aquila, strengthen the company's financial condition and improve the financial performance of our regulated utility business," said Richard C. Green, Aquila chairman and chief executive officer. "Upon completion of these sales, Aquila should be stronger financially than it has been in recent years. The proceeds are expected to allow us to significantly reduce our debt, improve our credit profile and put Aquila on a path to reaching an annual EBIT growth rate of 3 percent to 5 percent on our post-divestiture rate base."

Green said the key elements of Aquila's strategy remain to:

• Maintain its focus on operating an integrated, multi-state utility.

• Significantly reduce Aquila's debt levels and strengthen its credit profile.

• Gain access to the capital markets on improved terms, allowing the company to cost-effectively fund investments in its rate base to meet customer needs.

• Continue to improve operational efficiency and lower earnings variability.

• Actively work with regulators and legislators to address rate and fuel cost issues.

Completion of each of these transactions is subject to certain closing conditions, including the non-occurrence of a material adverse event, the approval of relevant state utility commissions, the expiration or early termination of any waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Act, and other closing conditions set forth in each asset purchase agreement. The closing of the Kansas electric operations transaction is also subject to the approval of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the receipt of third-party financing by the acquirer.

Aquila anticipates receiving timely regulatory approvals for these transactions within approximately 12 months.

Green said, "We maintained a disciplined strategic sales approach that resulted in strong interest from a wide range of potential buyers. This allowed us to select offers from financially sound buyers with strong utility experience and a commitment to customer service and reliability. We are confident that the quality and commitment of these buyers will set the stage for a timely and orderly regulatory review and approval process."

The Blackstone Group and Lehman Brothers Inc. served as advisors to Aquila.

Based in Kansas City, Mo., Aquila (NYSE:ILA) provides electricity and natural gas service to 1.3 million customers in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and Nebraska. More information about the company is available at www.aquila.com.

About the Buyers

Based in Joplin, Mo., The Empire District Electric Company (NYSE:EDE) is an investor-owned utility providing electric service to approximately 157,000 customers in southwest Missouri, southeast Kansas, northeast Oklahoma, and northwest Arkansas. The company also provides optic and Internet services, customer information software services, and has an investment in close-tolerance, customer manufacturing. Empire provides water service in three incorporated Missouri communities.

Mid-Kansas Electric Company, LLC, is a coalition of six rural electric cooperatives serving in 34 western Kansas counties who organized themselves for the purpose of acquiring the assets of Aquila's Kansas electric network. The cooperatives also own Sunflower Electric Power Corporation, a generation and transmission service provider, as well as other businesses that provide a wide range of services including water supplies, satellite TV and Internet access, wireless broadband Internet access, cellular telephone service, commercial electrical services and propane delivery services.

WPS Resources Corporation (NYSE:WPS), based in Green Bay, Wisconsin, is a holding company with four major subsidiaries providing electric and natural gas energy and related services in both regulated and nonregulated energy markets. Its principal subsidiary is Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, a regulated electric and natural gas utility serving northeastern Wisconsin and a portion of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Wisconsin Public Service serves more than 421,000 electric customers and 305,000 natural gas customers. Another subsidiary, Upper Peninsula Power Company, is a regulated electric utility serving Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Upper Peninsula Power serves approximately 52,000 electric customers. WPS Resources' major non-regulated subsidiaries consist of WPS Energy Services, Inc. and WPS Power Development, LLC. WPS Energy Services is a diversified non-regulated energy supply and services company serving commercial, industrial and wholesale customers and aggregated groups of residential customers. Its principal market is the northeast quadrant of the United States and adjacent portions of Canada. Its principal operations in the United States are in Illinois, Maine, Michigan, Ohio, Virginia and Wisconsin. Its principal operations in Canada are in Alberta, Ontario, and Quebec. WPS Power Development owns and/or operates non-regulated electric generation facilities in Wisconsin, Maine, Pennsylvania, New York and New Brunswick, Canada; steam production facilities in Arkansas and Oregon; a partial interest in a synthetic fuel processing facility in Kentucky; and steam production facilities located in Arkansas and Oregon.

Secretary of state encourages citizens to be active participants

"Yes, it's tough times, but we'll get through it," said Kiffmeyer. Kiffmeyer added, it's important to promote the well-being of our country so that others will be encouraged to get involved.

The Secretary of State

Minnesota is a big state, said Kiffmeyer, that's why when she took office she said she was pleased to be able to provide many services online.

The Secretary of State files and certifies the authenticity of a wide variety of official documents. The Secretary of State also registers a variety of business organizations including corporations, assumed business names, banks, insurance companies, limited liability companies, limited liability partnerships, and limited partnerships. Other business-related filings include trade and service marks, auctioneer's licenses, legal newspaper registrations, among others. The Secretary of State also accepts service of process on businesses under certain specific circumstances.

Many of those services are provided and can be completed online. Kiffmeyer said she realizes "your time is valuable."

HAVA

Kiffmeyer also briefly discussed the Help America Vote Act (HAVA), which affects all voters. Changes brought about by HAVA have resulted in changes that include new voting equipment, new federal requirements, and federal moneys.

A question and answer document about HAVA can be found on the Secretary of States Web site at www.sos.state.mn.us

Kiffmeyer mentioned that as a result of its efforts to encourage voting, Minnesota has become very progressive. In fact, it is able to provide voting results down to the precinct level. Kiffmeyer gives credit for that ability not only to her staff, but volunteers and officials at all levels of government.

Despite the state's progressive nature, Kiffmeyer said she wants to keep paper ballots. She noted that it boosts public confidence and provides another level of assurance in case something goes wrong.

Visiting Rural Minnesota

Kiffmeyer has been to Thief River Falls on several occasions. Having grown up in a rural area, Kiffmeyer said she believes it's important to get out to rural minnesota and give those residents some time and consideration for the thoughts and the issues they face. She thanked those in the audience for listening and urged them to get involved in their government.

Senate Capital Investment Committee visits NCTC

by David Hill
Editor

The Senate Capital Investment Committee visited the Northland Community and Technical College campus in Thief River Falls Tuesday night. The purpose of the visit was to tour areas affected by a $962,000 bonding proposal from the college. That proposal calls for improvements to the theatre and welding classrooms on the main campus and improvements to several classrooms at the airport campus.

Some of the improvements focus on health issues.

The request for improvements at the theater involves making the theater accessible to all students, even students with physical disabilities, upgrading the heating and ventilation system, and providing air conditioning.

Linda Samuelson, music director at the college, noted that the theatre is a very visual part of the college. Because it is used by so many college and community groups, it's an important recruitment tool.

The welding program proposal calls for the updating and re-engineering of 5,294 square feet of underutilized and obsolete space constructed in 1969.

Joel Ziegler, welding instructor at the college, noted that with some exceptions, the original exhaust system was still in place. The system has begun failing and needs to be replaced.

Ziegler said students who complete the program don't have any trouble finding jobs, but it's difficult to recruit students when the facilities are in need of improvements.

Some of the improvements would focus on underutilized space and make those classes more accommodating to other programs.

The proposal to renovate classrooms for electronics and avionics programs would affect 3,745 square feet. Basically, it would remodel or upgrade underutilized space at the airport site for a new Manufacturing Process Technology degree program.

The future of the avionics program at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls is not in jeopardy. Dr. James Davis, interim president at the college, said however, that it's difficult to recruit students in an atmosphere in which the media highlights include news that major airlines are in financial difficulty. Smaller airlines, he said, continue to need and hire students who have completed the program. Davis also said he is exploring whether the college should find a new major partner. Specifically, Davis said he has approached Japan Airlines (JAL).

Somehow, said Davis, we have to overcome the bad press and

Joel Ziegler, welding instructor at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls, visits with delegates from the Senate Capital Investment Committee. Committee members visited a number of sites in Minnesota, including Thief River Falls, on Tuesday to listen to presenters making bonding requests. The bonding proposal for NCTC - Thief River Falls amounts to about $1 million and includes many health and safety issues and some renovations and improvements to classrooms on the airport campus and main campus. The welding classroom is one of the classrooms that needs improvements.

County looks to state for possible disaster aid

Hallock - Kittson County has exhausted almost all possible funding options when it comes to being reimbursed for disastrous weather this summer.

The July 3 storm event, which dumped over 13 inches of rain in some parts of Kittson County, and included numerous tornado sightings. Along with disastrous weather earlier in the summer, it did nearly $1 million in damages in the county.

Since the state of Minnesota did not meet its threshold of $5.8 million in damage, Gov. Tim Pawlenty did not make the request for presidential assistance. This also means a Federal Emergency Management Agency declaration is not going to happen either.

One other option available to the county is a state appropriation, said Gary Rice, emergency manager for the county. He said Otter Tail county received one earlier this year for weather-related events.

If it works, this grant will come from the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development. Rice anticipates it will not be for the full amount, but maybe a 50/50 or 75/25 cost-share grant. - Kittson County Enterprise, Oct. 19, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Warren singer writes ballad to honor Hurricane Katrina survivors

Warren - Warren's Micah Hamm has written and recorded a song he hopes will honor victims and survivors of Hurricane Katrina, generate funds to help provide relief for people in the devastated Gulf Coast area and, as a personal bonus, increase public interest in his music.

Hamm, a 1995 Warren/Alvarado/Oslo High School graduate and son of Gerald Hamm and Judy Munger of Warren, is the lead singer for his band, Full Tilt, which plays at many venues in the immediate area. Over the past couple of years, he has written 22 songs, which have seen their first public performances in Full Tilt appearances.

After the devastation of Hurricane Katrina had sunk in for a few days, Hamm's mother got the idea he should write a song acknowledging the great suffering and losses of people caught in Katrina's path of destruction.

Hamm then wrote both the lyrics and music of "She Takes Everything," which he has subtitled "Katrina's Song," about two weeks after Katrina struck Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama at the end of August. He wrote it before Hurricane Rita struck that same general area of the Gulf Coast.

To purchase the CD single, e-mail Hamm at Micahhamm@wiktel.com. It costs $10. Up to $5 per copy sold, depending on shipping costs, will benefit agencies helping the needy left in the wake of Katrina. For interested buyers in the Warren area, contact Judy Munger at (218) 745-8871. - Warren Sheaf, Oct. 19, 2005

John Borg was contacted by officials from the Physically Challenged Bowhunters Association (PCBA) earlier this year about the possibility of his business, Snake River Outfitters, donating a guided hunt to a physically challenged hunter. He agreed on one condition, that the hunter be a youth or first time hunter. Dylan Connors, a PCBA youth member, was later awarded the guided hunt in a PCBA member drawing.

Dylan, 14, Willmington, Ohio, was born with Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy, a rapidly progressing form of muscular dystrophy that often leaves a patient incapacitated by adolescence. Because of the disease, he is confined to a powered wheel chair and during hunting, was forced to use a crossbow. He didn't plan on that keeping him from bagging a deer.

Snake River Outfitters' preparations

Snake River Outfitters, a guided hunting outfitter based in rural Viking, made several modifications from its typical operations to prepare for Dylan's hunt. Wheelchair access ramps were constructed for entrances to both the Borg's main house and the Snake River Outfitters' bunkhouse. Ground blinds were needed in place of traditional tree stands and accessible ground blind locations would need to be scouted in advance.

"There was a little more work than I had foreseen," Borg said. "We had to scout locations where we could drive right up to the blind."

Other preparations involved making sure doors would be wide enough to allow wheelchair passage. Dylan's wheelchair dimensions were sent in advance to Borg by Dylan's father, Dale Connors. Borg admitted that he did not take into consideration the height of the wheelchair when choosing a ground blind. Most ground blinds intend for the hunter to sit low to the ground, something Dylan was unable to do. Two ground blinds were donated for the hunt by Trophy Advantage Hybrids and Tony Hoglo.

"Luckily the ground blind donated by Trophy Advantage Hybrids was designated for wheel chair participants," Borg said.

Borg also admitted that he wasn't prepared for the severity of Dylan's disability. Dylan's arm movement is extremely limited, he has minimal movement below the elbow and he lacks the strength to even raise an eating utensil to his mouth. But Dylan planned to hunt.

A northern Minnesota hunt

Dale and Dylan arrived at Snake River Outfitters on

> "When they left, they considered the hunt a success," Borg said. "I have so much respect for that young man."

Saturday, Oct. 1 and along with their guide and host, John Borg and Cindy Borg, began preparations for Dylan's first official hunt. Preparations for the hunt continued on Sunday (Oct. 2), but some time was taken to celebrate Dylan's 14th birthday.

Dylan's 14th birthday had a bit of a hunting theme to it. Some of the hunting themed birthday gifts included a deer call from Hardware Hank/Newfolden, a Snake River Outfitters embroidered jacket from Universal Screenprint, Thief River Falls sweatshirts from Thrifty White, camouflage gear from Talltales Taxidermy, fleece headgear from Dave and Betty Conley of Warren and a camo vest from Devon and Maggie McLendon. To top it off, Dylan's birthday cake was decorated by Annette Kostrzewski in a camouflage pattern.

According to Dale, Dylan targeted several deer during the week and had a few opportunities to let loose an arrow. Both knew it would be difficult for Dylan to target and successfully harvest a deer with limited hand movement. To aid his son's efforts, Dale installed a shooting rail on Dylan's wheelchair.

"We did get three shots off and missed all three, which I guess is better than a bad hit," Borg said.

Dylan's hunt was filmed by Adventure Bound Outdoors. Footage will air in one of the show's broadcasts in 2006. Staffer Tammy Koenig filmed nearly every aspect of Dylan's hunt, including a behind the scenes look at one of Thief River Falls' most recognizable businesses.

Winter weather disrupts the hunt

It appeared that mother nature had decided to skip the fall season all together on Wednesday (Oct. 5). Temperatures that were in the low 80s just two days prior, dropped into the low 30s with windchill in the teens. Freezing rain, which eventually turned to snow also fell, effectively cancelling any hunting activity for that day.

Instead of suffering through freezing temperatures or sitting in the Snake River Outfitters bunkhouse, Dylan was given the chance to see behind the scenes production of snowmobiles and ATVs at Arctic Cat.

"The Arctic Cat tour was the best for him, he really enjoyed that," Dale said. "That tour was a big highlight."

At Arctic Cat, Dylan had the opportunity to see production of the company's newest models, including an in depth look at the new Prowler ATV. Prior to the tour, Dylan had an opportunity to meet Arctic Cat CEO, Chris Twomey.

"We didn't want to ruin your hunt, but we like the snow," Twomey told Dylan. He also told Dylan to let him know if he thinks they should change anything with the Arctic Cat line.

Following the tour, Dylan was given Arctic Cat memorabilia, including Arctic Cat posters, stickers, a couple of T-shirts and product brochures.

Grant opens door to training at Marvin Windows

Employees of Marvin Windows and Doors, a manufacturer of wood windows and doors headquartered in Warroad, will receive training in wood processing with a boost from a public-private training package.

The Minnesota Job Skills Partnership (MJSP) – in a workforce-development partnership – has awarded Minnesota State Community and Technical College (MSCTC) a $350,082 grant to provide entry-level and advanced training and retraining for 289 handlers, operators, coordinators and specialists. In addition, Marvin Windows will contribute $670,862 to fund the three-year project.

MSCTC will train employees in workforce recruitment and analysis; technical and leadership knowledge; and succession planning to ensure production knowledge is passed down from Marvin's wood processing experts to apprentice candidates. Employee-trainees will have the opportunity to earn a certificate of completion.

"The training this grant supports will ensure that the Marvin Windows workforce has access to formalized skill development to meet future production demands as well as career advancement opportunities within the company," said Matt Kramer, Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) commissioner and MJSP Board chairperson. "Also, the addition of a new wood processing certificate to Minnesota State Community and Technical College's curriculum should increase demand for training from northern Minnesota companies."

Greenbush girl teaches community about Down syndrome

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Shanoah Mooney doesn't believe her mom when she says Shanoah will be 8 fingers old on her next birthday. Shanoah, who is quick to point out she is 7 fingers old, apparently thinks she will still be 7.

Shanoah is like many kids her age. With a chorus of "Daddy's home," she runs with her younger sister to greet their dad when he arrives home from work. When she knows a visitor is coming over to her house, she's part of the welcoming committee that is ready to escort the visitor into her family's Greenbush home. Shanoah likes school, and she refers to her grandpa as "my grandpa" even though she shares him with her sisters and cousins.

Shanoah has Down syndrome. "She can do everything," said her mom, Joni. "It just takes her longer."

Down syndrome is a genetic disorder in which someone has 47 chromosomes instead of 46, according to the National Association for Down Syndrome. One in 800 children is born with Down syndrome, which "causes delays in physical and intellectual development." Children who have the disorder are also more likely to suffer from thyroid and other medical conditions. They are also more likely to have infections, and hearing, respiratory and vision problems.

Like some kids with Down syndrome, Shanoah suffers from seizures and a thyroid condition. She takes medications for both. Shanoah also has a heart murmur for which she does not need to take medication. Any little thing could have led to a hospital visit when Shanoah was younger, Joni said.

Besides taking medications to cope with her medical conditions,

Like any youngster, Shanoah Mooney (right) enjoys having her picture taken. Shanoah has Down syndrome. Along with her younger sister, Sierrah, Shanoah and other family members will participate in Shanoah's Angels "Down" on Earth Buddy Walk with other walkers. The event will be held Oct. 30 at Shanoah Park in Greenbush.

Confirmed cases of whooping cough in Roseau County

Roseau - Roseau County Home Health Care, a department of Roseau Area Hospital & Homes, has reported, in conjunction with the Minnesota Department of Health, that there have been two confirmed cases of pertussis (whooping cough) in Roseau County.

Minnesota and the U.S. have seen a dramatic increase in pertussis cases. Minnesota reported more than 1,300 cases last year, the most on record since the 1950s. Symptoms include a persistent cough that occurs in sudden, uncontrollable bursts, some will be accompanied by a high-pitched whooping sound. Following a coughing spell, the person may vomit. The cough often worsens at night, and the person seems well between coughing episodes. - Roseau Times-Region, Oct. 15, 2005, submitted by Deb Haugen

Sherry LaCoursiere – email: lacoursi@mncable.net

Cooler fall days make for heartier meals, and here are some for you to try.

This one-dish meal can be put together in minutes, with no pre-cooking of the spaghetti. Great served with garlic bread, a salad and maybe a lemony dessert like the one below:

ONE-DISH SPAGHETTI

1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, chopped
1-2 cloves garlic, minced
2 (8 ounces each) cans tomato sauce
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
4 ounces uncooked spaghetti, broken into thirds
Grated Parmesan cheese

In a 2 1/2 quart microwave-safe dish, combine beef, onion and garlic. Cover and microwave on high for 2 1/2 minutes. Stir to crumble meat. Cook 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes longer or until meat is no longer pink. Drain. Add tomato sauce, water, salt and oregano and mix well. Cover and microwave on high for 4 minutes.

Add spaghetti and mix well. Cover and cook on high for 14-16 minutes, stirring twice. Let stand 5-10 minutes. Serve with Parmesan.

Just in case somebody gets a deer this year, here's a recipe for venison roast:

VENISON ROAST AND GRAVY

1 venison roast (3-4 pounds)
10 whole garlic cloves, peeled
2 teaspoons dried rosemary, crushed
1 1/2 teaspoons onion powder, divided
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon dried thyme
7 medium carrots, quartered
5 small onions, quartered
1 tablespoon beef bouillon granules (or 1 cube)
1 teaspoon browning sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons cold water

Cut 10 deep slits in roast and place a garlic clove in each slit. Pierce roast in several places with a meat fork.

Combine rosemary, 1 teaspoon onion powder, garlic powder and thyme and rub over entire roast. Cover (or place in plastic bag) and refrigerate for 2 hours.

Add 1/2 inch of water to roasting pan. Place roast, carrots and onions in pan. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until meat thermometer reads 160 degrees (no more). Remove meat and vegetables to platter, cover with foil and keep warm.

To make gravy, strain drippings into a measuring cup. In saucepan, combine 3 cups drippings, bouillon, browning sauce and remaining onion powder. Combine cornstarch and cold water until smooth and stir into drippings. Bring to a boil, then cook and stir for 2 minutes or until thickened.

This will warm you up on a cold fall day, whether you are watching your diet or not. Kids love it because it's uncomplicated and tastes great with crackers in it:

CHICKEN RICE SOUP

3 quarts water
4 bone-in chicken breast halves (about 3 pounds) with skin
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules (or 1 cube)
3 medium carrots, chopped
2 celery ribs, chopped
1/2 cup uncooked long grain rice
1 small onion, chopped

In soup kettle or Dutch oven, place water, chicken, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat, cover and simmer for 25-30 minutes or until chicken is tender and cooked through.

With a slotted spoon, remove chicken from broth. When able to handle, remove meat from bones, discarding skin and bones. Cut chicken into bite-sized pieces.

Skim fat from broth and add chicken and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer 25-30 minutes more or until vegetables and rice are very tender. Recipes make 10 servings, or 2 1/2 quarts.

Nutritional information: One (1 cup) serving equals 128 calories, 1 g fat, 51 mg chol, 543 mg sodium, 7 g carb, 1 g fiber, 21 g protein. Diabetic exchange is 2 1/2 very lean meat and 1/2 starch.

I can't resist an easy bean soup recipe and here it is:

NAVY BEAN SOUP

1 pound dried navy beans
2 quarts chicken broth
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
2 bay leaves
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 medium onion, chopped
1 medium carrot, chopped
1 celery rib, chopped
6 bacon strips, cooked and crumbled

Place beans in Dutch oven or soup kettle. Add water to cover plus 2 inches, bring to a boil and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat, cover and let stand 1 hour. Drain and rinse beans, discarding liquid.

In large saucepan, combine chicken broth, beans, parsley, bay leaves and pepper. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer 1 hour. Add onion, carrot and celery. Cover and simmer 20-25 minutes or until veggies and beans are very tender. Stir in bacon. Discard bay leaves. Recipe serves 8-10 people.

Lovely lemon pie will taste great with any of the above recipes - you'll be surprised at the velvety texture of this pie:

LEMON PIE

1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs (about 20 squares)
2 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup butter, melted (no substitutes)

Filling:

2 (14 ounces each) cans sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2-3 drops yellow food coloring, if desired

In a bowl, combine cracker crumbs, sugar and butter. Press onto bottom and sides of ungreased 9 inch pie plate. Refrigerate for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, to make filling, whisk milk and lemon juice until smooth. Add lemon peel and food coloring. Pour into crust and refrigerate 3-4 hours. Garnish with whipped cream.

2004 - 2005 Thief River Falls Independent School District #564
Curriculum, Instruction and Student Performance
ANNUAL REPORT

NOTE TO ALL RESIDENTS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT #564

On Page 8 of the Annual Report distributed in the October 15 Northern Watch, the numbers were missing from the charts for the Minnesota Comprehensive Assessment Results. Below is Page 8 in its entirety.

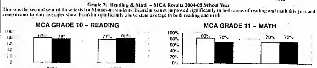
Given Spring, 2005

The Minnesota Comprehensive Assessments are given to all 3rd, 5th, 7th, 10th and 11th grade students. Third grade is tested in the areas of reading and math, 5th grade - reading, math, and writing, 7th grade - math and reading, 10th grade - reading, and 11th grade - math. Results of these tests determine if schools have made AYP, Adequate Yearly Progress, to meet the federal mandates of NCLB, No Child Left Behind. Test results help schools evaluate the effectiveness of their programs and the results are used as a tool to make decisions that will improve our programs for students.

A word of caution when looking at test results.....the results are based on a different group of students testing at each of these grade levels each year. There will be up and down movement of the scores depending on the group of students testing at that grade level. Looking at the results over several years is most helpful to determine the effectiveness of the district's programs.

MCA Results - Students Performing at Grade Level and Above

Grade 3 Reading & Math - MCA Results 2004-05 School Year
Significant gains in reading and 1% decrease in math. Comparison to state averages show Challenger significantly above the state average in reading and also above the state average in math.



Grade 5: Reading, Math, & Writing
MCA Results 2004-05 School Year
Scores improved significantly in the areas of reading, math and writing. Comparison to state averages show Challenger's 5th grade above state average in reading and math and below state average in writing.

Grade 7: Reading & Math - MCA Results 2004-05 School Year
This was the second year of these tests for Minnesota students. Franklin scores improved significantly in both areas of reading and math this year and comparisons to state averages show Franklin significantly above state average in both reading and math.

Grade 10: Reading - MCA Results 2004-05 School Year
This was the second year these tests were used to determine AYP status. Lincoln showed a drop from the previous year. The district's average score was below the state average as well.

Grade 11: Math - MCA Results 2004-05 School Year
This was the second year these tests were used to determine AYP status. Lincoln shows a drop from the previous year and comparison to the state indicates that Lincoln is slightly below the state average.

Arctic Cat reports 2006 second-quarter sales

Arctic Cat reported Thursday that net sales grew 15 percent to a record $276.3 million for the fiscal 2006 second quarter ended Sept. 30, 2005, compared to $240.7 million in the same period last year. Net earnings for the quarter were $19.2 million, or $0.96 per diluted share, versus $19.7 million, or $0.94 per diluted share, in the prior-year period.

For the six-month period, net sales rose 12 percent to $384.2 million compared to $343.3 million in the first half of last year. Net earnings were $19.7 million, or $0.98 per diluted share, versus $19.8 million, or $0.94 per diluted share, in the prior-year first half.

"We are pleased to report strong revenue gains for the quarter, led by demand for our best-in-class ATV products," said Chris Twomey, chairman and chief executive officer. "As anticipated, earnings were constrained by lower margins; however, we continue to aggressively pursue initiatives designed to reduce costs and enhance the company's operational efficiency. Chief among these initiatives is our effort to build more of our own ATV engines, which we expect will strengthen our long-term profit margins."

During the quarter, Arctic Cat announced it will build a new ATV engine manufacturing facility in St. Cloud in order to meet growing demand for its products. The company introduced its first-ever designed and built ATV engine, the 650 H1, in the spring of 2005. It plans to significantly boost production of the H1 engine this fiscal year. Construction of the ATV manufacturing facility is slated to begin in calendar year 2006 with the plant operational by 2007.

"We expect this new state-of-the-art facility to enhance our competitiveness by increasing our manufacturing efficiency and reducing our ATV engine costs," said Twomey. "In addition, it will provide us with greater flexibility and control over the ATVs we produce to better meet changing customer needs."

During its fiscal 2006 second quarter, Arctic Cat repurchased 401,500 shares of its common stock as part of its $20 million share repurchase program.

Product line results

Sales of Arctic Cat's ATVs grew to $135.8 million, up 35 percent from $100.6 million in the prior-year second quarter. Year-to-date ATV sales increased 27 percent to $177.3 million versus $139.7 million in the first six months of last year.

"We are pleased with the progress to-date of our ATV growth strategy to compete in all ATV market segments and to continue to build our international presence in the on-road European market," said Twomey. "As an example of our successful efforts, our innovative new Prowler UTV marked our first entry into the growing utility vehicle category and was a strong contributor to our ATV sales gains during the quarter."

Introduced to Arctic Cat's dealers in June 2005, the Prowler features side-by-side bucket seats and a functional, rear cargo bed. The company also expanded its presence in the sport performance ATV category with the introduction in June of the 250 DVX.

As anticipated, sales of Arctic Cat snowmobiles were virtually flat at $111.4 million in the 2006 second quarter versus sales of $112 million in the same period last year. Year-to-date snowmobile sales were $163.5 million compared to $162.7 million in the prior-year period.

Parts, garments and accessories (PG & A) sales totaled $29 million, up 3 percent compared to $28.1 million in the prior-year second quarter. Six-month PG & A sales totaled $43.5 million, an increase of 6 percent versus $40.9 million in the year-ago period.

Outlook

Arctic Cat currently anticipates fiscal 2006 third-quarter net sales for the period ending Dec. 31, 2005, to range between $189 million and $199 million compared to $188.9 million for the same period last year. Net earnings for the quarter are estimated to be between $0.19 and $0.24 per diluted share versus earnings of $0.28 per diluted share in the prior-year quarter.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, 2006, Arctic Cat anticipates record net sales in the range of $710 million to $725 million. The company is continuing to forecast lower margins in fiscal 2006 due to increased raw material costs, lower snowmobile sales and a less favorable yen/dollar exchange rate, resulting in estimated full-year diluted earnings per share in the range of $1.31 to $1.36. Fiscal 2005 earnings per diluted share totaled $1.36.

Conference call

Arctic Cat hosted a conference call Thursday to discuss the second-quarter results. A telephone replay will be available until 6 p.m. CT Thursday, Oct. 27. To access the telephone replay, dial 1-800-405-2236 and enter conference call ID 11041732.

Hospital extends emergency room hours

Northwest Medical Center (NWMC) in collaboration with Dakota Clinic is extending emergency room coverage. Coverage by a Dakota mid-level practitioner will be provided Monday through Friday at NWMC. Emergencies involving life-threatening conditions will receive both doctor and mid-level practitioner treatment as needed. All patients going to the emergency room will be seen in a timely manner.

NWMC will continue to utilize contracted emergency room doctors for evenings, night, weekends and holidays.

NWMC is dedicated to professional quality care for all patients, residents, families, and communities.

Konnie Christensen's kindergarten class was in awe of the water that streamed out of a Thief River Falls Fire Department truck Oct. 12. During National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, the class from Challenger Elementary School was among several Thief River Falls kindergarten classes that learned about fire prevention and how firefighters fight fires. Thief River Falls firefighters also talked about fire prevention with kids from Challenger Preschool and Discovery Place that week.

Morgan Espe, a kindergartner at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls, tried on Firefighter Rick Beier's gear Oct. 12 during a visit to the Thief River Falls Fire Department. Beier held onto the oxygen tank Espe was wearing as she tried on his gear. Espe is a student in Konnie Christensen's class. During this year's observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, her class and other kindergarten classes from Challenger, St. Bernard's Catholic School and St. John Lutheran School learned about fire prevention as well as how firefighters fight fires. Thief River Falls firefighters also talked about fire prevention with kids from Challenger Preschool and Discovery Place during that week.

NCTC to host vocal performances Oct. 25

On October 25, at 6 p.m., in the Northland College Auditorium in Thief River Falls, more than 100 vocal performers from the area will take the stage to entertain with a variety of music. The performing groups slated for the evening's entertainment are: the Masterworks Chorale, a community based vocal group, the Northland High School Honor Choir, made up of over 90 top choral students from the area, led by Vanessa Martell; and the Northland Chamber Choir led by Linda Samuelson.

The schools attending this year's high school festival, and their directors, are: Badger Public School, Kathy Englund; Clearbrook-Gonvick HS, Linda Lindom; Fisher HS, Mary Jane Kurpius-Brock; Goodridge School, Kathryn Nordine; Grygla-Gatzke HS, Gene Lunsetter; Heritage Christian School, Leslie Widner; Stephen/Argyle Central, Renee Jensen; Tri-County HS, Kathy Englund, Red Lake County Central, John Horgersheimer; Lancaster HS, Evan Hanson; Greenbush/Middle River, Deland Elseth; and Win-E-Mac HS, Charity Salmonson.

Preceding this concert is a day of rehearsal for the HS Honor Choir. The students participating in the Honor Choir were nominated by their directors and have been preparing the music for some time. Their full day of rehearsing will culminate at the Choral Works Concert. Catherine Hagen is the Northland ensemble accompanist and will be accompanying the Honor Choir as well.

The Masterworks Chorale and Chamber Choir have been rehearsing since August. Both groups are non-auditioned groups taking their membership from college students and community members. The Chamber Choir is offered every semester at Northland and rehearses three times during the week on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from noon until 12:50 p.m. The Masterworks Chorale rehearses only once a week for eight weeks in preparation for this final concert.

The Chorale is offered only occasionally by the college. Anyone who has an interest in being part of this group in the future, or becoming a member of the Northland Chamber Choir, should contact Linda Samuelson or Vanessa Martell. Admission for the Choral Works Concert to be held at Northland College on Oct. 25 at 6 p.m., is $4. For more information contact Vanessa Martell at the Northland Music Department, (218) 681-0732.

Crafters may still sign up for the craft show. Booths are $30 each, and crafters will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis as space is limited. For more information, call Barb Housey at (218) 681-6917.

Crop marketing seminar scheduled for October 25

by Howard Person
U of M Extension Agent
Pennington/Marshall counties

To store or not to store this year's crop is always the big question that drives post-harvest marketing, but you don't need a crystal ball to make informed marketing decisions.

The University of Minnesota Extension Service will be conducting a "The Post-harvest Marketing Challenge" seminar on Tuesday, October 25 from noon to 4 p.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

This half-day session will cover the seasonality of post-harvest prices. Participants will take a critical look at current grain storage opportunities versus risks and learn what a carry charge is and why it's so important to marketing decisions. Plus, participants will have an opportunity to practice what they learn right at the session using a fast-paced marketing game that simulates a complete year of grain marketing, then compares participants' results against 15 years of actual market prices.

The program is sponsored by Farm Credit Services and begins with a noon lunch. Preregistration is encouraged because space is limited. To register, call Farm Credit Services at (218) 681-2304.

Post-mortem on a stadium for the Vikings?

Last Friday, Gov. Tim Pawlenty announced that he will not be calling a special session. There was no mention in the press release about the antics of the Vikings, just those of the Senate DFL caucus, which he said was unwilling to commit to a special session to deal with a few "timely and worthwhile issues." The scandalous behavior of some members of the Vikings, however, must give every fan, including the governor, a Valhalla-sized headache.

As if Viking fans needed one more thing to groan about, the "Good-ship Viking" scandal continues to be rehashed in the media. A Sports Illustrated article, for example, aptly titled the affair "Adrift on Lake Woebegone." Least the media be blamed for their woes, we feel it is important to remind readers that the Viking players involved in the incident brought this upon themselves.

For Vikings players and fans, it has been a season already packed with turmoil - on the field, off the field and in the locker room. To add to the turmoil, it was announced Wednesday that suspended running back Onterrio Smith has been sued for sexual assault. Where will it end?

It's enough to make one wonder whether this is being done for our entertainment. Hey, if your skill on the playing field isn't enough to attract viewers, and bring fans to the stadium, why not spice it up with a little off-field entertainment?

Is this what being a professional football player means? Is more of this type of behavior to be expected in the future?

Unfortunately, all of this is taking place just as political leaders seemed ready to begin talking about building a new stadium, and after politicians had gone to bat, so to speak, for sports teams by reminding taxpayers of their immense value to the state.

No one likes egg on their face, least of all the governor and other politicians. The events that transpired recently are unlikely to convince anyone that the state and its taxpayers should support construction of a new stadium. If proponents of a new stadium want the support of taxpayers, Zygi Wilf, the team's new owner, will have to clean up the team's image swiftly and decisively.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively: letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Zak to receive UMC Torch and Shield Award

On Wednesday, October 26, the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) will recognize the contributions of seven individuals by awarding the University's highest honor, the Torch and Shield Award.

This year's recipients of the Torch and Shield Award are Liz Quam, Albert Peterson, Harold Peterson, Deborah M. Zak, Charles Hiller, Harlene Hagen, and Doug Sandstrom. These honorees have provided leadership and aided in the development of UMC. Donors will also be recognized in conjunction with the Torch and Shield recipients in the Bede Ballroom of the new student center at UMC.

One of the honorees is a former Thief River Falls resident - Deb Zak. Zak works as campus regional director for the University of Minnesota Extension Service, a job she has held since 2004. She has spent her career working in Extension beginning with her work for Pennington County in Thief River Falls. She has worked with UMC faculty to deliver educational programs to youth on the White Earth Reservation since 1999. She is the principle investigator on a project, Healthy Kids, Local Foods, and Sustainable Communities that is a partnership with Extension, UMC, Northwest Sustainable Development Partnership and the White Earth Tribal and Community College that promotes the use of local foods in public schools to improve the nutritional status of students while providing a market for locally produced foods. Zak served on the UMC Faculty Seminar Series committee and on the planning committee for the Center for Sustainable Development at UMC.

The evening begins with a social and program in Bede Ballroom followed by a banquet in Brown dining hall. There have been 196 community leaders recognized since 1966 when the Torch and Shield Recognition was initiated by UMC Founding Provost Stanley Sahlstrom.

Auditions set for Christmas Dinner Theater

Auditions will be held Thursday, Oct. 27 for a Christmas dinner theater show planned Dec. 8-10 at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. The auditions are scheduled from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Northland Community and Technical College auditorium.

The Thief River Falls Community Arts Council is making plans for the production, which is an original adaptation of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol." The play is "Scrooge's Ghosts," written, produced and directed by local theater artist Ben Schmitz. Actors and actresses ages 10 to mature adults are being sought for the production. No prior theater experience is necessary.

Those who cannot come to the Oct. 27 auditions should call Schmitz at (218) 681-6786 to make special arrangements to audition earlier.

Ticket sales for the production will soon be scheduled.

A little hair of the dog

I read an article the other day that discussed the use of dogs as shark bait. Of course, it was a credible article, it was on the Internet. It's not like it was in a newspaper or on TV or any dubious source like that. Plus, it was written by Patti Davis, Ronald and Nancy Reagan's daughter, so I'm not only sure it was accurate, but it was probably morally correct, as well. Needless to say, Patti was not impressed with this canine angling thing. Anyway, the practice takes place in the Reunion Island area of the Indian Ocean. Fishermen allegedly put dogs on the far end of a fishing line and let them splash around until "Whoosh!" a Tiger or Mako shark boils to the surface and gulps down his breakfast. Or maybe it's lunch, I'm never quite sure about mealtimes here in the Midwest, seeing as how they tend to run together and overlap so frequently and how that would translate into eating patterns elsewhere in the world. Perhaps, since the dog would "bark" at the point of impact and then "crunch" as the jaws closed and he was swallowed by the leviathan, it's actually "brunch" that we're discussing.

OK, all joking aside, it does seem a cruel and unpalatable practice for those of us up here who spend so many idyllic and pleasant hours fishing. How could such barbarism arise from the genteel angling process Minnesotans employ? However, if the truth were known, there are few die-hard fishermen who have not considered these poochy options. Honestly, how many out there have not looked covetously at thy neighbor's Toy Poodle and thought evil thoughts about it splashing across a local Muskie hotspot tethered to a spool of 30-lb Dacron? What hard-core angler, when confronted with the years-old tale of the paddling Pomeranian who was wolfed down by a large Wisconsin Northern Pike, did not first wonder, 'What color was the dog?' No show of hands is necessary here. This isn't a witch hunt, simply a test of your angling integrity.

So, having established that your sport-fishing mindset is little different than your commercially inspired comrades a half a globe away, let's pursue the possibilities and ponderings. For instance, fishing terminology would undergo necessary changes. Would a box containing bait still be a "bait box" or is it now considered a kennel? And, assuming we're fishing for the entire day and have packed a good amount of "bait," is it appropriate to throw sticks off the port side of the boat for them while they're waiting their turn in the Muskie harness on the starboard side? Are the "dog-days" of summer, a notoriously tough time to fish, now a stretch that we would look forward to? And are concerns about "rough" water going to get mixed up with the inevitable excitement that "ruff" water would bring?

Initially, smaller lap dogs would dominate the demand. Yet, would different species of dog affect different fishing results? Does the old adage "big bait, big fish" suggest that Great Danes would gain popularity with those seeking world-record catches? Would a Basset hound necessarily catch bass while the bullheaded nature of a Newfoundland would make it unusable for walleyes? Would the name have to be changed to a golden cast and retriever? Do we even want to fish with something called a shitzu? Would we have to change from a bait-casting reel back to the cane-pole system because saying "I've got a black lab backlash" more than once a day would require a glibber tongue than most humans possess.

And, of course, there'd be an artificials market. Like the now popular Robo-Duck, we'd see a Robo-Rex or a Bionic Bowser. Or maybe, in an effort to duplicate a winning fishing system, there'd be a place for cloning in all of this. The Rapala boys, inevitably, would come out with something to troll the weed lines with. A long-haired species, perhaps, with a catchy name. Shed-Rap?

And even if nothing comes of this shark-baiting brouhaha in the Indian Ocean, it seems appropriate that the hub of discussion centers around a place called Reunion Island. For hasn't it brought us Minnesota anglers closer to the rest of the world? An angling reunion, so to speak. We're similar in what we do, enjoying the water, creatively figuring ways to lure creatures out of it. Even in language, we are partners, celebrating our catches with wild shouts of incoherent, exuberant joy. And when things don't go well and the fish manages to slip away into the depths, the hollow refrain is the same on Lake of the Woods as it is on the Indian Ocean. "Doggone."

Passerby notices small fire; larger fire averted

A larger fire was averted Tuesday morning after a passerby noticed a small fire at Thygeson Construction. No injuries were reported.

A burning barrel had been tipped over by the wind, and started half a dozen old tires and some grass on fire, according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department. Damage was limited to the grass and old tires. If firefighters had arrived five to 10 minutes later, a nearby shop where oil and fuel are stored would have gone up in flames.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. They were on the scene for about 30 minutes.

Sheriff's department receives preliminary autopsy results

A preliminary autopsy has determined a Goodridge man died by suicide last weekend, according to Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby. Preliminary autopsy results are still not available for a Thief River Falls man who was found dead in a separate incident.

Roger Daniel Wold, 35, was found dead with a gunshot wound to the chest Oct. 14 at a residence in the city of Goodridge. The block and street of the residence were not listed in the sheriff's department report.

Hruby said the department has not yet received preliminary autopsy results for James Thomas Stoltman, 42. In a separate incident, Stoltman was found dead Oct. 15 at a residence in the 14000 block of 158th St. N.E. in Thief River Falls.

Goal line stands carry Hunters past Prowlers 27-26...

Denfeld ends TRF conference title run

Thief River Falls' bid for a third straight North Country Conference high school football title was denied Wednesday when Duluth Denfeld left Lowell T. Swenson Field with a 27-26 regular season-ending victory.

Despite racking up 21 first downs and 565 yards, the Prowlers' offense shouldered much of the responsibility for the setback by failing to score on a pair of opening half first-and-goal situations.

Trailing 14-6, Thief River Falls put together an 18-play first quarter drive that reached the Denfeld 7-yard line before ending on a fourth down interception.

After forcing the Hunters to punt, the Prowlers came right back with a 16-play march that stalled inches from the goal line just before the half when Denfeld stuffed third and fourth down dives from inside the one.

Those back-to-back drives totaled 34 plays and 150 yards, but no points.

"We've had trouble finishing this year," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "To work that hard and come away with nothing really hurts."

The Prowlers also paid the price for missing three extra-point kicks and kick-off coverage that gave up yards to the point where Mumm conceded field position by ordering short, bouncing squib kicks in hopes of preventing a longer Denfeld return.

"Our special teams are really hurting us right now," admitted Mumm. "We work on those things every single day in practice. It's a matter of the kids getting it done in a game situation."

That doesn't leave the Thief River Falls defense faultless. After recovering from a 20-6 deficit to tie the game at 20-20 on an 18-yard keeper by quarterback Michael Forney and a Forney-to-Alex Carlson conversion pass with 2:33 remaining in the third quarter, the Prowlers couldn't come up with the needed stop when the ball exchanged hands. Denfeld scored in eight plays as Ian Semour went 15 yards with carry up the middle for a 27-20 lead on the first snap of the final period.

"The physical part on defense just isn't there," said Mumm. "The kids need to be more physical, more intense. They have to go out there and get after it when we need a stop."

Both teams scored right out of the chute. Thief River Falls' Lucas Genereux stepped out of the arms of tacklers and broke into the open for an 87-yard touchdown run on the game's first snap from scrimmage.

Less than two minutes later, Denfeld was in the books on a 4-yard Semour run.

The Hunters followed a Thief River Falls fumble with a one-play strike as Ben Blomdahl ran past a defender and underneath a pass lofted down the left side by Peter Hannegraf for a 54-yard touchdown that made it 14-6 with just 4:15 played.

There was no more scoring in the first half, but the fireworks kicked in again right after the second half kickoff as the Hannegraf-to-Blomdahl combination came up with its second 54-yard touchdown play just three plays into the third quarter.

Thief River Falls responded with a first-snap 67-yard touchdown run by Michael Benedict, who got to the outside on a sweep to the right for a 20-12 game 1:50 into the second half.

Down 27-20, the Prowlers went 49 yards in nine plays to score on an 11-yard Forney swing pass to Genereux, who dived over defenders at the goal line with 4:30 remaining.

Mumm passed on a two-point conversion attempt to take the lead and went for the kick and a tie. The attempt fell short.

"With 4 1/2 minutes left, I thought there was plenty of time to go for the win," explained Mumm. "At that point, I wasn't even thinking of missing the kick. I figured we would make it, tie the game and then play the clock."

Benedict (187) and Genereux (122) combined for 309 rushing yards. Forney passed for 184 yards and Genereux caught five passes for 70 yards. Hannegraf had a 177-yard passing game and Blomdahl had 117 yards of receptions for the Hunters.

Both teams finished 4-2 in conference play and 4-4 overall. The league title went to 5-1 Duluth East, a 40-0 Wednesday winner over Cloquet.

St. Cloud Tech tops Prowlers 4-3 in 8AA

■ Team tennis tournament semifinals

St. Cloud Tech beat Thief River Falls 4-3 Tuesday in the Section 8AA girls high school tennis tournament team semifinals.

The Tigers registered match-clinching wins at No. 2 and 3 singles, along with No. 1 and 2 doubles, before handing over a decision at No. 1 singles.

Thief River Falls' Amanda Hoard-Kelly Hanson and Mauri Gonsorowski-Kristine Sletten were winners at No. 2 and 3 doubles, respectively.

With the semifinal win in hand and a championship match yet to play, the Tigers' Aaryn Anderson retired with a two-set lead against Ashley Leister at No. 1 singles.

The tournament was played at Gold's Gym in Sartell.

Tech was the No. 1 seed from the South Sub-Section 8AA tournament; Thief River Falls as the No. 2 seed from North Sub-Section 8AA.

Bemidji race ends schedule

Final regular season race of the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls boys and girls high school cross country teams was the Tuesday running of the Bemidji Invitational at the Maple Ridge Golf Club.

"Chilly conditions hit some of our team hard this race," reported Thief River Falls coach Rick Karhoviak. "The temps really seemed to drop once the boys 5K got underway. But everyone had to run through it, and they fought it out."

While varsity candidates competed for spots in the Prowlers' sectional line-up, the younger runners put the finishing touches to their fall campaign.

"Our girls ran strong today," mentioned Karboviak. "The junior high teams had a nice race to cap off the season. I was really proud of their efforts, and they have a lot to be proud of. There's a lot of young talent in our junior high division – one of our shining points this season."

Section 8AA meet will be held Thursday, Oct. 27, at M.B. Johnson Park in Moorhead.

The Prowlers' post-season girls roster is expected to include Kirsten Melvie, Jade Kilen, Brooke Rundell, Chelsea Sorteberg, Toni Sorteberg, Chelsey Knutson and Emily Robson, with Austyn Anderson listed as an alternate.

"This is a tight-knit bunch that really runs well as a pack," offered Karhoviak. "They are usually within 30 to 60 seconds of each other, and many times closer than that. We can use this to our advantage and score very well at sectionals."

Boys who will line up for the Prowlers in the 8AA race will include Evan Jones, Mark Campbell, Trent Nelson, Brett Hanson, Jacoby Bergeron, Jordan Engen and Brendan Skime. Matt Olson and Tim Sayler will be the alternates.

Karboviak has used a variety of roster combinations at different levels for the boys this fall. "I've been trying to find out what everyone's edge is, and how we can use that to place well and have our best race of the season at sectionals," he explained. "There's a lot of young, fresh talent, and experience, in this line-up. I'm looking forward to see what we turn out at sectionals."

Deer Hunters group meets

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association will meet Thursday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagles Club.

There will be a discussion on the upcoming rifle season, new laws and zoning changes. Door prizes will be presented at the end of the meeting.

Clearbrook-Gonvick tops Red Lake Co. Central 3-1

Service line errors cost Red Lake County Central Monday in a 3-1 high school volleyball loss at Clearbrook-Gonvick.

The Bears won 25-16, 20-25, 25-19, 25-22.

"Our serving hurt us," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "It's hard to win a match when you only serve 85 percent."

It was just the third loss in 13 non-tournament starts for the Mustangs.

Red Lake County Central will close out the regular season with a Monday, Oct. 24, match against Stephen-Argyle at Plummer.

RLCC Scoring

■ Kills - Courtney Halvorson 16, Brittany Gustafson 10, BriAnna Doterman 7.

Thief River Falls has 7-1 freshman football finish

Two touchdowns scored by the defense helped Thief River Falls beat Bemidji 32-22 Tuesday in freshman football.

The victory finished off a 7-1 season for the Prowlers.

A 90-yard second quarter interception return for a touchdown by Tyler Olson was part of a 18-14 Thief River Falls halftime edge.

Protecting a late-game 26-22 led, the Thief River Falls defense sealed the victory when Jessie Castle recovered a Bemidji fumble in the end zone.

Zach Sorenson scored on runs of 1 and 50 yards for the winners, and Myles Keefe returned a kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown.

The winners were 1-for-5 in the conversion department, adding a PAT on a Cody Conners run in the third quarter.

Freshman coaches Kurt Reynolds, Travis Jansen and Jeff Loe issued a joint thank-you to the players for a "great season," saying it was a great group of kids to work with.

TRF JV swimmers take on area varsity squads

Girls who normally swim junior varsity races represented Thief River Falls at the Pirate Invitational high school swim meet Tuesday in Crookston.

Roseau won the event with 128 points, followed by Crookston with 112, Thief River Falls 68 and Lake of the Woods 14.

"The junior varsity girls swam very well, with every swimmer having at least one personal-best time," reported Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott.

Gracie Daniels had an 11-second drop in winning the 500 freestyle. Mariah Steenerson, Maddy Aandal, Bailey Sorvig and Madison Sorvig had two personal-best swims each.

"All these times were swam after many of the girls completed a 10,000-yard practice yesterday (Monday)," pointed out Knott.

Wolverines notch 3-2 win vs. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo

Volleyball is fun again for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. The Wolverines, who started the 2005 season with nine straight losses, have regained a bit of confidence, according to head coach Jean Schulz following a 3-2 Tuesday win over Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in a match played at Goodridge.

Coming off a third place finish in a Saturday tournament in Newfolden hosted by the Northern Freeze, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke got by the Ponies 25-21, 10-25, 19-25, 25-23, 18-16.

"It was nerve-wracking," said Schulz. "But the girls kept their composure and found a way to win."

Jessika Forsberg (14) and Sara Rindahl (12) combined for 26 Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke kills.

Schulz also gave plenty of credit to the contributions from players off the bench – a group led by Amber Klamar.

"We're playing better," noted Schulz. "They're working hard, and improving each night. That's nice to see."

Scoring

Providence is 3-0 winner

It was a short Thief River Falls visit for Canada's Providence College volleyball team Tuesday as the Otterburne, Man., squad completed a three-game sweep over Northland Community and Technical College.

Providence won 30-16, 30-19, 30-17.

It was the final home appearance of the 2005 season for the Pioneers, whose 0-18 record includes 12 straight 3-0 losses.

Final date on the Northland schedule was a Thursday appearance at the Central Lakes-hosted Crossover Tournament.

The Pioneers will not be part of the field when Northland plays host to the Oct. 29-30 Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament.

A successful hunt doesn't require game in the bag

have felt slighted by the inclement weather and subsequent loss of hunting, the Connors felt it added to an already great experience.

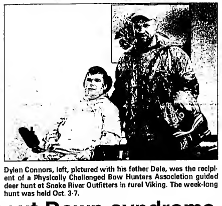
"It was great getting a chance to see the snow on the ground, the following day," Dale said. "[Dylan] was just as happy, even though he didn't get a deer."

Temperatures remained low on Thursday morning and Borg recalls that Dylan was noticeably cold.

"I asked a few times if he wanted to go," Borg said. "He kept saying he was fine."

Shortly after one of these exchanges, a doe walked by the blind, less than 15 yards away. It was likely Dylan's best chance to get a deer, one that unfortunately failed.

After his closest encounter with a deer, Dylan admitted that he was freezing, "but when that deer came, I warmed right up."



Dale was also pleased with the Physically Challenged Bow Hunters Association's choice to award a Snake River Outfitters hunt as a contest prize.

"They're all around great people," Dale said of the Borgs and everyone else associated with Snake River Outfitters. "Of all the places they could've went, I'm glad they went to Snake River Outfitters."

Dylan said he learned a lot hunting from the same blind as John Borg. He especially learned how deer's senses work and the benefit of being downwind and disadvantage of being upwind. During the week-long hunt, Dylan, Borg and photographer Tammy Koenig estimated that they saw 120 deer.

By week's end, the Connors had a thank you list more than 20 names long.

"When they left, they considered the hunt a success," Borg said. "I have so much respect for that young man." "I was a bit hesitant about the whole thing when I was first contacted by the PCBA and after it was over, I'd do it again in a heartbeat. I'm glad that we specifically requested the hunt he for a youth or first-time hunter. That was awesome to be a part of bringing it into [Dylan's] life."

Dylan Connors, left, pictured with his father Dale, was the recipient of a Physically Challenged Bow Hunters Association guided deer hunt at Snake River Outfitters in rural Viking. The week-long hunt was held Oct. 3-7.

Greenbush girl teaches town about Down syndrome

Shanoah has occupational, physical and speech therapies.

Shanoah's story

It was somewhat of surprise when Shanoah was diagnosed with Down syndrome. To the best of her parents' knowledge, no one else in their family has had the disability.

Shanoah was sick basically since the day she was born, Joni said. When she was a month old, Shanoah was taken to the doctor because she was ill. A doctor who hadn't delivered Shanoah examined her.

"When he came into the exam room, he said, 'She has Down syndrome,'" said Joni. "I remember getting mad and saying, 'No, she doesn't.'"

While that was the first time someone had ever mentioned the possibility that Shanoah had Down syndrome, Joni had wondered about some of Shanoah's physical features prior to that time. Since Shanoah had hardly any hair, Joni recalled noticing that Shanoah's ears were lower on her head than her other kids' ears were. There is also a space between Shanoah's big toe and the toe next to it. It looks like there is room for another toe, Joni said.

After the doctor visit when Shanoah was a month old, it was determined she had pneumonia. While she was hospitalized, a blood sample was taken to determine if she had Down syndrome. About a week later, Joni and her husband, Danny, received a phone call and were told to go to the clinic.

"We knew without them even saying," said Joni. "At the clinic, [the doctor] sat us down in a chair and said the results were positive."

Once they heard the news, Joni and Danny had the task of telling other family members. Joni talked to her sister after Shanoah's diagnosis.

"I remember me telling her I was sorry," Joni said. Before the diagnosis, Joni and Danny had asked her sister's kids to be Shanoah's godparents. Their niece and nephew, now 21 and 20 respectively, still agreed to be Shanoah's godparents. They spoil her, Joni noted.

Danny and Joni also had to find a way to tell their other children about Shanoah's disorder. Shanoah's older sisters, 13-year-old Alisha and 10-year-old Alexis, were about 6 and 3, respectively, when their sister was diagnosed. Their parents read them the books "My Sister is Special" and "Where is Chimpy?" to explain Down syndrome to them.

Shanoah now has a younger sister, 5-year-old Sierrah. Having a child with Down syndrome prior to Sierrah's birth led to worries that Sierrah would also have it. "It felt like I was pregnant forever," Joni said.

Joni and Danny were told the chances were "pretty slim" that they would have more than one child with Down syndrome, Joni said. Sierrah doesn't have Down syndrome.

Like Alisha and Alexis, Sierrah has learned more about Shanoah's disorder through books. "They're all very protective, very watchful [of Shanoah]," Joni said.

Shanoah's angels

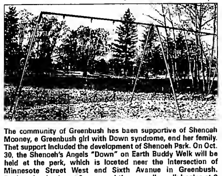
The community of Greenbush has been supportive of Danny, Joni and their family. That support will be even more noticeable Oct. 30 during Shanoah's Angels "Down" on Earth Buddy Walk. Shanoah and her family, friends, neighbors and fellow northwest Minnesota residents will participate in the walk to aid kids with Down syndrome and increase awareness about the disability.

Registration starts at 2 p.m. at Shanoah Park, located near the intersection of Minnesota Street West and Sixth Avenue in Greenbush. The one-mile walk will start at the park at 3 p.m, continue in the city and end at the park. Activities, such as games and the basketball game Lightning, are planned. Snacks will also be served. If weather conditions don't permit the walk to be held outside, it will be held at Greenbush/Middle River School, Greenbush campus. Proceeds will go toward the National Down Syndrome Society; the Count Me In program for local schools; videos and books about other disabilities; and equipment for Shanoah Park.

The walk is being organized by Joni and her friend Becky Yeager. It is sponsored by the Greenbush Women of Today of which both Joni and Becky are members. To get a pledge form, call Joni at (218) 782-3156.

While community support will be apparent at the walk, Greenbush residents have supported Shanoah and her family in other ways. That support included the creation of Shanoah Park. Before the park was developed, some kids had to walk across Highway 11 or two busy streets to get to a playground. Now, they're able to enjoy Shanoah Park, which is located across the street from Shanoah's house. The park has a slide, swing set, basketball hoop and teeter-totter.

Joey and Jeanne Novacek, who live a block away from Danny and Joni's home, offered to sell land to the city for the playground. Jeanne used to be Joni's choir teacher.



Former Greenbush Mayor Dwight Hasson and the Greenbush City Council were also instrumental in creating the park. In December 2003, the city purchased Joey and Jeanne's land for the park named after Shanoah, whose mom formerly baby-sat for one of Dwight's sons.

Community support for the park continued after the land was purchased. The city received grants for playground equipment at the park. Residents have also donated money toward the project. It is hoped that the city can get more grants for additional playground equipment, Joni noted.

The community's support has also included a proclamation signed by Scott Waage, the current mayor of Greenbush. The proclamation declares October as Down Syndrome Awareness Month in the community.

"It just helps to live in a small community," said Joni. "I don't know if we were living in the Cities we'd have this response."

That response will probably extend to the buddy walk Oct. 30. If walkers are lucky, Shanoah may even show them she's 7 fingers old.

The community of Greenbush has been supportive of Shanoah Mooney, a Greenbush girl with Down syndrome, and her family. That support included the development of Shanoah Park. On Oct. 30, the Shanoah's Angels "Down" on Earth Buddy Walk will be held at the park, which is located near the intersection of Minnesota Street West and Sixth Avenue in Greenbush. Registration begins at 2 p.m., end the one-mile walk begins at 3 p.m. Activities are also planned after the walk. Committee visits NCTC convince students there is a future in avionics. Davis also said he has the complete backing of MnSCU (Minnesota State Colleges and Universities) to make sure the program doesn't end or move.

The new Manufacturing Process Technology program at the school is in a position to take advantage of the underutilized space at the airport campus, but improvements to several classrooms need to be made.

Northwestern Minnesota manufacturing companies are continuing to demand highly skilled employees, and this program is designed to help meet that need. The new program was designed with input from regional manufacturing companies, and provides advanced student opportunities to explore leadership roles. It also provides them a career ladder to a bachelor's degree at Bemidji State University.

The Senate Capital investment Committee visit on Tuesday was one of several stops scheduled at communities in northwestern Minnesota during which members of the committee examined several bonding proposals. Members of the committee attending the event included Sen. Keith Langseth, chair, Sen. Chris Gerlach, Sen. Dave Senjem, Sen. Wes Skoglund, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, Sen. Dennis Frederickson, Sen. Jim Metzen and Sen. Sandy Pappas.

Badger man faces charge of criminal vehicular homicide

A Badger man has been charged after another man was killed Sunday morning in Roseau County.

Steven Allen Kukowski, 21, has been charged in Roseau County District Court with a felony charge of criminal vehicular homicide. The charge stems from the death of Larry James Lane, 47.

At about 12:23 a.m. Sunday, the Roseau County Sheriff's Department received a report that someone was lying in the middle of 340th Avenue, about one-eighth of a mile north of Highway 11. Lane was then taken to Roseau Area Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival, according to the criminal complaint.

A deputy sheriff then found a vehicle in a nearby ditch. The complaint alleges that he saw "blood and hair underneath the driver's side of the vehicle." A day after the accident, an investigator with the department allegedly observed "large quantities of blood underneath the vehicle, starting behind the front tire to the back tire on the driver's side."

Kukowski was allegedly driving the vehicle when it struck Lane. He allegedly told law enforcement he drank six beers and a shot of vodka before the accident, the complaint stated.

The criminal complaint indicated that a Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension special agent, who is attending a medical examiner's course, had noted that "Lane had several skull fractures, rib fractures, spinal fractures and damage to his shoulder blade" and that Lane was lying down when he was injured.

The case remains under investigation. The charge of criminal vehicular homicide carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and/or a $20,000 fine.

Pennington Co. makes its case on jail issue

Red Lake Falls - At its regular council meeting Monday, the Red Lake Falls City Council opened discussion on the county jail issue. The council members voted unanimously to support the less expensive Pennington County law enforcement plan.

Whether to continue contracting with Tri-County Community Corrections (TCCC) or to strike a new deal with Pennington County for jail services has been on the minds of taxpayers and elected officials for more than a year.

The topic was placed on the council's agenda to create an opportunity for Pennington County officials to make their case at the city level like TCCC had done several months ago. Red Lake County commissioners also sought some form of an endorsement from the council for either plan to help in the decision-making process. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Oct. 26, 2005, by Don Johanneck

New Warroad police chief sworn in Warroad - Warroad has a new chief of police. Robert Cudaback from Humphrey, Neb., started his new job Monday.

Cudaback started his law enforcement career in dispatch and then moved to corrections. He was a deputy and a police sergeant for five years. For the last few years, he has been the police chief in Humphrey.

The police chief wants his officers to get out and get to know the kids, he said. He would like his staff to get into the schools and let the kids know what their boundaries are, and if they cross those boundaries, what the repercussions will be.

He also wants to educate the public about the dangers of methamphetamine. - Warroad Pioneer, Oct. 26, 2005

News Council denies city official's complaint

Roseau - A complaint against the Roseau Times-Region by a city official was denied Oct. 20 by the Minnesota News Council. The vote was 8 to 4 with one abstention.

Todd Peterson, the city's development coordinator, said that columns by Jeff Olsen, a freelance reporter and opinion writer for more than 20 years at the newspaper, were inaccurate, misleading to the public and unfair to city officials. Peterson noted Olsen writes about city business without attending meetings or checking with officials on verifiable facts.

The News Council majority applauded the newspaper's inclusion of a strong opinion column, and they urged the newspaper to seek out vigorous rebuttals. It also urged Peterson and other city officials to more aggressively seek to get their views published in the newspaper.

Media member Mollie Hoben, founder of the Women's Press, said none of the participants was taking a strong initiative to improve the quality of information: The columnist should be checking his facts, Hoben said; the publisher should more actively solicit responses to Olsen's columns, and city officials should write their own views for publication instead of waiting for someone else to write on their behalf. - Roseau Times-Region, Oct. 22, 2005

Heating fuel prices put a chill in the air

by David Hill
Editor

High fuel prices are putting a chill in the air of some area homes.

Tuesday, Oct. 25, some Oklee residents expressed their concerns about the situation with representatives of Sen. Norm Coleman's office during a meeting at Inter-County Community Council.

John Halvorson and Greg Gorham, caseworkers with Sen. Norm Coleman's office in St. Paul, said fully funding the fuel assistance program is one of the Senator's highest priorities. Halvorson said Senator remains committed to fully funding the program at $5.1 billion.

Fuel prices have risen dramatically this year. In some estimates, officials have said residents can expect fuel heating costs to increase from 50 to 70 percent.

A quick survey of some of the providers in the area by Gayle Flateland, energy assistance program assistant director at Inter-County Community Council (ICCC), shows that number 1 fuel oil is at $3.09 per gallon, number 2 fuel oil at $2.99 per gallon, and propane at $1.71 per gallon.

What does that mean? In one example Flateland used, a senior citizen in her area, living on a monthly check of $429 per month from Social Security, paid $1,446 for 856 gallons of fuel oil to heat her house last year. Based on current estimates, she'll be paying $2,499.52 this year. The maximum amount of fuel assistance she can receive, however, is $1,200, so in addition to assistance, she'll be paying $108.30 per month to heat her home. That also amounts to roughly 25 percent of her income from Social Security.

Can she make it? Several Oklee residents said they might not be able to make it through the heating season this year. One woman said that if she filled her tank now, she "wouldn't have a single penny left from her Social Security check."

Wes Roland, energy and housing programs director, said ICCC, which provides heating assistance funds in Red Lake, Pennington and East Polk counties has already received 989 applications for fuel assistance. Last year, they received 1,539 applications. Rouland said that in a region that has a population of roughly 20,000, he's anticipating 1,600 to 1,700 applications for energy assistance.

Bob Melby, executive director of ICCC, noted that the energy assistance program is designed around the amount of money available, so

Halloween and Daylight-Saving time

Just waiting. Halloween is just around the corner. The Efta Produce pumpkin patch in Thief River Falls is waiting for children and adults. Daylight-saving time is also just around the corner. Remember to set your clocks back one hour before you go to bed Saturday night. Daylight-saving time ends at 2 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 30.

Nature group buys Kittson County land

Less than 1 percent remains of the tallgrass prairie that covered most of the western and southern parts of Minnesota before European settlement. Recently, The Nature Conservancy ensured 863 acres of it will remain permanently protected for future generations after it purchased a Kittson County property. The property is adjacent to the 9,748-acre Wallace C. Dayton Conservation and Wildlife Area, and is open to the public for a wide variety of uses, including hunting, hiking and bird watching.

"This project ensures a small portion of our native tallgrass prairie is conserved for future generations to experience," said Ron Nargang, state director of The Nature Conservancy in Minnesota. "The opportunity to expand the conservation land around the Wallace C. Dayton Conservation and Wildlife Area protects habitat for wide-ranging animals and ensures public recreational access for hunting and hiking."

The property lies in the heart of the tallgrass aspen parkland and features open native grasslands, extensive wetlands, and a series of meadows.

The tallgrass aspen parkland, which spans more than two million acres in northwestern Minnesota and southeastern Manitoba, is a vast, open, unspoiled landscape of big bluestem and Indian grass prairies, quaking aspen and balsam poplar forests and wetlands. Moose, black bears, gray wolves, sharp-tailed grouse and sandhill cranes live in this region, and elk have begun to repopulate the area. A number of grassland bird species, many of which are declining elsewhere in the Great Plains, make their home in this landscape: grebes, yellow rails, sharp tailed sparrows, marbled godwits and Wilson's phalaropes. A number of rare plants find refuge here, including western prairie fringed orchids and white lady's slippers.

Kari and Anneliesse Nelson raise funds while competing

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Two Roseau residents, sisters Anneliesse and Kari Nelson, helped raise $2,000 for scoliosis research while competing in the Lifetime Fitness Triathlon, held in Minneapolis this summer. Both Anneliesse and Kari competed in the 1.5 kilometer swimming portion of the relay event for Shriners Childrens' Hospital, which is part of "Team Ortho" a competitive group of orthopedic surgeons and health professionals who are dedicated to improving the lives of scoliosis patients.

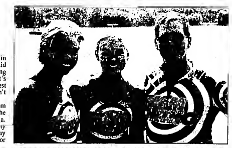
Anneliesse and Kari were asked to join separate relay teams that already had cyclists and runners in place. The competition was a chance for them to help raise money for a cause that personally affects each of them.

Both Anneliesse and Kari are afflicted by scoliosis, a disease that over time causes the spine to curve laterally. It is considered a cosmetic disease and in most cases does not cause pain.

Swimming with scoliosis

The cause of idiopathic scoliosis is unknown, according to a report by the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, though it is estimated that 25 percent of those with scoliosis have a relative with a curvature. Most cases are diagnosed between middle childhood and adolescence. Scoliosis affects about 2 percent of the population, with about 80 percent of cases occurring in females. It is typically detected during a growth spurt and in most cases, treatment only involves observation to ensure that the curve does not progress.

Anneliesse, 20, was diagnosed with scoliosis during her junior year in high school, the same year she won a state championship in the 100 meter breaststroke. Her spine curves 27 degrees, but because she is done growing, doctors don't anticipate that her scoliosis condition will worsen.



"They didn't see any point in bracing me," Anneliesse said because she was done growing before being diagnosed. "That's something I'm going to have the rest of my life and as long as it doesn't get any worse I'll live with it."

Anneliesse continues to swim competitively, now for the University of North Dakota. Scoliosis does not interfere with any pool workouts, in fact, doctors say swimming is the best workout for scoliosis patients.

"I've had to be careful because in college, you do a lot more training on dry land," Anneliesse said. "Other than that, it hasn't really affected me much more than my cosmetic appearance."

Kari's case is more severe. Kari, now 17, was diagnosed with scoliosis at the age of 13. She was immediately prescribed a corrective back brace when doctors noticed a 37 degree curve. She wore the brace for

Anneliesse, left and Kari Nelson of Roseau were participants in the Lifetime Fitness Triathlon as members of "Team Ortho," along with Kari's surgeon, Dr. Kenneth Guidera of Shriners Childrens' Hospital, Minneapolis. "Team Ortho" is a group of orthopedic surgeons, health professionals, scientists and engineers, dedicated to improving the lives of patients through cutting edge research, patient care and education. Anneliesse and Kari each swam on separate relays, swimming the 1.5 kilometer portion of the triathlon at Lake Nokomis, Minneapolis. Guidera competed in the 40 kilometer bike ride. The two Shriners Childrens' Hospital-sponsored relays raised $2,000 for "Team Ortho. The money will be used for scoliosis research. (Submitted photo)

No excuses: It's time to retire from the bench

"The courtroom was his turf, and by God, you abided by his rules," – Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby.

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Judge Dennis Murphy has probably heard every excuse when it comes to why someone hasn't shown up for a court appearance. Now, he'll soon have an excuse for not showing up – he's retiring.

Murphy, who is chambered in Thief River Falls, has served as a Ninth District judge for almost 17 years. His last day at the Pennington County Courthouse is Nov. 4. A public retirement party will be held that day from 2 to 4 p.m. at the courthouse. A short program will be held at 3 p.m.

"I just loved going to work," said Murphy, who noted his age and recent marriage led to his decision to retire.

Murphy is retiring to Maple Grove. He and his wife, Donna, also plan to travel to see Murphy's adult children. They are thinking of traveling to Hawaii and Europe as well.

Murphy also plans to do some "retired judge work," but promised his wife that it wouldn't be more than three days a week.

It may take a little time for Murphy to get used to that new schedule and not seeing the people with whom he has worked for many years. "I'll miss all of those people," Murphy said.

Staff members will miss him, too. "It seems like just yesterday he was coming into the office [for the first time]," said Janelle McMillin, a court reporter who has worked for Murphy ever since he became a judge.

McMillin and Murphy have been through a lot together. They've gone into a ditch, once got stuck in a town when a "car blew up," and ended up traveling one time on a logging trail in Baudette or International Falls, McMillin noted. All of that happened while they were traveling to serve in various Ninth District courtrooms.

The early years: Working as an attorney

Murphy didn't begin his career as a judge. After graduating from the University of Minnesota Law School in 1963, he worked as an attorney in private practice and as a part-time public defender from 1963-80 in Grand Rapids and from 1980-89 in Thief River Falls.

"Judge Murphy was a good defense attorney. He defended his clients to the utmost, yet him and I were able to discuss and communicate," said Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin, who noted they had battles, but not anything that a county attorney and public defender wouldn't normally have.

Given Murphy's work as a public defender, Olin had some reservations when Murphy became a judge. "When he first got appointed as a judge with a public defender background, I was a little leery," said Olin, who noted he now looks forward to going into the courtroom when Murphy is the judge.

Working as a judge

Looking back on his career as a judge, Murphy said, "I think my greatest accomplishment is not decisions, but in attempting to give everyone a chance in explaining their position." He added that most people feel better when they have their say in court.

At least two attorneys believe he's done just that. "He's willing to consider things," said Olin. "He's willing to do what he feels is right,

Phi Theta Kappa plans Halloween fundraiser in TRF

The Northland Community and Technical College chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, a national honor society, will conduct a community-service project to collect food for the Area Food Shelf on Halloween. Called "Trick-or-Treat So Kids Can Eat," members of the organization will be going door-to-door collecting non-perishable food items for the Area Food Shelf, which is located in Thief River Falls.

The organization is letting the public know about the event so that local residents aren't alarmed when trick-or-treaters who appear to be a little bigger and older than usual, knock on their door.

Phi Theta Kappa advisor, Adam Paulson, said this is the first year the organization has conducted this event and weren't sure what to set as its goal. He added that they hope to fill a pickup truck box with food.

Paulson said that on Halloween, Monday, Oct. 31, about a dozen students, wearing costumes, will be going from door-to-door in Thief River Falls. He said they will explain what they are doing and will collect any non-perishable food items individuals are willing to donate to the Area Food Shelf.

Paulson said that boxes have been placed at certain points at the college too, if residents, students and staff would rather drop off food items at those locations.

Foot care and blood pressure clinics to be held

North Valley Home Health will hold foot care and blood pressure clinics on the following dates:

• Friday, Nov. 4, at the Warren Summerfield Place in Warren, at 9 a.m. Contact Deb or Kami at 218-745-5154.

• Tuesday, Nov. 8, at the Argyle LAH/BNP, at 9 a.m. Contact Pat Crummy at 218-695-3842.

• Friday, Nov. 18, at the Grygla Community Center at 9:30 a.m. Contact Hazel Aune at 218-459-3315.

• Monday, Nov. 25, at the Oslo Community Center, at 9:30 a.m. Contact Rose Robinson at 218-695-1025.

Please call the contact person listed to sign up. It is important to know how many are signed up so staff can be scheduled accordingly. Five people must be signed up to hold a clinic.

Nurses from Altru Home Services-North Valley Home Health will soak feet and trim nails. There is a $15 charge per person for foot care. Blood pressure checks are free of charge.

RLF student attends accounting and auditing conference

Al Zutz of Red Lake Falls attended the eighth annual Accounting and Auditing Student Conference in Minneapolis with a group of Bemidji State University students. Zutz is a senior majoring in accounting.

The Accounting and Auditing Student Conference is an opportunity for students to explore different career and employment options for students entering the job market within these majors. The conference also provided students with a chance to meet and interview with Minnesota's top accounting firms.

If necessary, save these recipes for when the mighty hunters come home with their deer. They'll give you a whole new outlook on venison.

Pepperoncini are sweet, medium-hot chilies, also called Tuscan peppers. Doesn't this crock pot recipe sound good:

HUNTER'S ROAST

4 pounds venison pot roast
2 (12 ounce) cans or bottles beer
1 (16 ounce) jar pepperoncini (can use 2 jars for very spicy roast)

Remove all fat and gristle from venison; place in slow cooker. Pour in enough beer to cover roast. Cover with pepperoncinis.

Cover and cook on low setting for 8 hours or until meat is tender and falling apart. Recipe serves about 8 people.

To make this delicious roast, marinate 12 to 36 hours, depending on size of meat and age of deer:

VENISON TENDERLOIN

4 pounds venison tenderloin
1 cup red wine
1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
1 medium onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 bay leaves
2 sprigs fresh thyme
2 sprigs fresh rosemary

Combine wine, vinegar, onion, garlic, bay leaves, thyme and rosemary in medium bowl and mix well. Transfer to large resealable bag, and put the venison tenderloin into the bag. Close tightly, pressing out as much air as you can. Place meat in the refrigerator to marinate, turning 2 or 3 times, for at least 12 hours.

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Remove meat from marinade and place on roasting rack in a roasting pan.

Roast in the oven for 2-2 1/2 hours or to desired doneness. For medium rare, internal temp should be at least 150 degrees. Let roast stand 15-20 minutes before carving.

While tenderloin roasts, heat marinade in saucepan over medium heat. Simmer until the liquid is reduced by one-third. Remove bay leaves and serve with venison. Recipe serves 6 people.

Nutritional info: one serving equals 339 calories, 6.1 g fat, 105 mg sodium, 3.9 g carbs, protein 57.5 g.

Mushrooms make this recipe great, but they can be left out if you wish. Serve with mashed potatoes and a veggie for a delicious meal:

STEAK AND GRAVY

4 (4 ounce) venison steaks
1 cup flour
2 large bay leaves
1 pinch salt and pepper
4 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1/2 onion, chopped
6 fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 (10.5 ounce) can beef gravy
1/4 cup milk

Cut all fat and gristle off steaks. Pound each with a tenderizer until they are thin but not tearing. In bowl, combine flour, bay leaves, salt and pepper and dredge steaks until evenly coated.

Heat 1 tablespoon olive oil in large, heavy skillet over medium heat. Saute onions until soft and translucent. Stir in mushrooms and garlic and cook until tender. Remove from skillet and set aside. Heat remaining oil and fry each steak for 2 minutes on each side or until golden brown. Return onion mixture to skillet. Stir in gravy and milk. Reduce heat, cover and simmer for 30-40 minutes. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking.

This is a zesty jerky you can make right in your oven or in your dehydrator. Reuse marinade if desired, but keep it fresh by freezing or refrigerating for a short time:

DEER JERKY

1 pound boneless venison roast
4 tablespoons soy sauce
4 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons liquid smoke flavor
1 tablespoon ketchup
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon salt

Slice meat into long strips 1 inch wide and 1/8 inch thick. In large, resealable plastic bag, combine soy sauce, Worcestershire, liquid smoke, ketchup, pepper, garlic powder, onion salt and salt. Place meat in bag and close. Refrigerate overnight, kneading occasionally to evenly distribute marinade.

Preheat oven to 160 degrees. Place a pan in the bottom of the oven to catch drips or line pan with foil.

Place meat strips on a rack so they do not touch each other, then bake for 6-8 hours in oven, until desired consistency is obtained.

This recipe takes 4 days to make, but it is worth it:

SUMMER SAUSAGE

1 pound ground venison
1 pound pork sausage (can be seasoned for extra flavor)
1 1/2 teaspoons mustard powder
1 teaspoon mustard seed
2 teaspoons liquid smoke flavor
1 1/2 teaspoons garlic powder
1 1/2 teaspoons onion salt
1 1/2 teaspoons meat tenderizer
1/4 cup water (or as needed)

In large bowl, mix venison and pork. Season with mustard powder and seed, liquid smoke, garlic powder, onion salt and tenderizer. Mix in just enough water to make the texture sticky. Cover and refrigerate for 3 days, mixing once each day.

On the 4th day, preheat oven to 160 degrees. Form mixture into 2 inch thick rolls and place on a baking sheet. Bake for 6 hours in preheated oven until firm and cooked through. Wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerate until needed.

Wahlberg honored with ABE Advocacy award

Chris Wahlberg of Roseau was recently honored with the Adult Basic Education Advocacy award presented by the Literacy Minnesota organization at a statewide adult literacy convention held in August at Breezy Point Resort and Convention Center. Chris has served the past several years as a citizenship instructor and counselor with the Warroad Adult Basic Education program located in the Lao Family Service Center in Warroad.

Chris Wahlberg

Through her work as a citizenship instructor over the last several years, Chris has come to develop an outstanding level of trust and rapport with the Lao people. Because of the relationships she has built, she has found herself in the unofficial role of an advocate and liaison for many in the Lao community. In her role as a citizenship instructor, Chris has spent countless hours on the phone, making appointments and talking to representatives of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and others connected with the government with regard to citizenship issues.

Chris has advocated for many in the Lao community who have fallen victim to the language barrier they are studying to overcome. In one instance, one of her citizenship students passed the citizenship test and interview, but was denied citizenship because of a false arrest charge that showed up on his record. Chris made many phone calls to attorneys on his behalf, and managed to secure St. Paul attorney, Loren Thacker, who agreed to take the case pro bono and eventually had the charges purged from the student's record, allowing him to become a U.S. citizen. Mr. Thacker later attended the swearing in ceremony for this student in Minneapolis.

However, it is outside of this role as "teacher" that Chris has been making the most impact on her students. Chris routinely donates much of her free time to accompany her students to their fingerprinting appointments, citizenship interviews, and swearing in ceremonies. Often these appointments are in the Twin Cities, a 450 mile, seven- hour long trip (from Roseau) that is daunting to even the seasoned traveler. In addition to making numerous trips to the Twin Cities, Chris also spends a good deal of free time accompanying her students to Bemidji, 125 miles away, where they can take their driver's test in the Lao language. She has helped her pregnant female students make WIC and doctor's appointments, often going with them to the appointments to ensure that they understand the process.

On two occasions, she has even been asked to be present during their childbirth and delivery to help coach the mothers through the process! (Chris even has an unofficially adopted Lao family who calls her "mom" and "grandma", although most of her students just lovingly refer to her as "Kiss") Chris has been there for many of the Lao people when they had nowhere else to turn, referring them to the appropriate social service agencies, and occasionally taking on responsibilities herself. On one occasion, she purchased a ticket for a Lao lady so that she could get back from Minneapolis in an emergency situation. She also personally paid for a plane ticket back to Laos for a student who had not seen her parents in 22 years.

Chris's longstanding associations within the Warroad community as well as the level of respect she has earned within both communities have made her uniquely qualified to act as a liaison between the citizens of Warroad and the Lao community. Chris put together a program for retired teachers in her area which featured some of the younger Laotian girls in an ethnic, costumed dance performance. She also helped a student participate in a Lao cooking demonstration in Warroad, an adventure which later turned into a business venture for that student.

Chris has used her agency connections to help the Lao community in a variety of ways, such as obtaining a sewing machine for a student so she could use it to support her family, and twice securing an art/drama scholarship for the child of an adult student.

One of Chris's former students, Bounlong Ounchith, accompanied Chris to the Literacy Minnesota awards ceremony. Bounlong, who came to the United States from Laos as a young woman, spoke no English and could not drive a car or hold a job. She has since obtained her driver's license and become a U.S. citizen, and she now has a full time job with the Warroad school district as a translator. Bounlong says that her greatest accomplishment has been raising three sons, all of whom are now in college. Bounlong gives much credit to Chris for helping her to accomplish her goals.

Minnesota has $258 million for a million people

Minnesota Commerce Commissioner Glenn Wilson recently announced that the state of Minnesota is holding $258 million in unclaimed property for about one million people. More than $50 million was added to that total in 2004.

"We have a million names in our database. One of them may be yours," said Wilson. "Find your name and claim your cash from forgotten bank accounts, uncashed payroll checks, old stock dividends and more. And don't forget to look for the names of friends and relatives, too."

Each year, unclaimed property is turned over to the Minnesota Department of Commerce (MDC) and is held until the rightful owner or their heirs come forward. A complete list of names can be perused on the MOC Web site (www.commerce.state.mn.us), along with instructions and forms for claiming property.

Unclaimed property may include abandoned checking and savings accounts, uncashed payroll checks, utility deposits, or stocks and bonds. The only tangible property delivered to the state is safe deposit box contents. The law requires that the contents of those safe deposit boxes be sold at auction once every 10 years. The last auction took place in 2003.

"There is no charge to search the database or to file a claim. It makes a lot of sense to check it out," said Wilson. "Last year, more than 13,000 people and companies claimed $16.5 million."

Unclaimed property is reported and transferred to MDC when the owner fails to demonstrate an interest in the property for a specified period of time. This happens when the owners forget to close an account when they move, when heirs are not aware of the holdings of a family member, or when the holder of the property is unable to locate the owner. Holders include financial institutions, insurance companies, mutual fund companies, and state and local governmental entities.

"This is the 'lost and found' for Minnesota money," said Wilson. "Each year, thousands of people forget about some of their money. We're holding $258 million and we want to return every dime to the rightful owners."

At this year's Minnesota State Fair, MDC provided fairgoers with an opportunity to search whether they had unclaimed property. During the 10 days of the fair, 825 people claimed $211,000 in cash, 6,005 shares of stock and the contents of 15 safe deposit boxes.

The best method to determine if a person has unclaimed property is to search the aforementioned MDC Web site. Owners of unclaimed property will need to fill out claim forms, which are available at the Web site. Property owners may also call the MDC Unclaimed Property Unit at 1-800-925-5668 for instructions on how to claim their property. Remember that phone number may be busy during the next few weeks.

Carol Gregerson presented ABE Leadership Award

Carol Gregerson of rural Badger, was recently presented the Adult Basic Education (ABE) Leadership award by the Literacy Minnesota Executive Board, in recognition of her exemplary leadership, flexibility and creativity as the coordinator of the Northwest Service Cooperative ABE consortium based in Thief River Falls. Carol, who recently retired after serving the literacy needs of adults in the northwest region of Minnesota for nearly 27 years, received the award during a ceremony held on Aug. 17 at the Breezy Point Resort and Conference Center.

Carol Gregerson

The Adult Basic Education program strives to serve the educational needs of adults, ages 16 and over, who enroll in the program for a variety of reasons: to improve basic literacy skills; to learn the English language; to prepare for employment or promotional opportunities; to pursue United States citizenship; or to complete the requirements for a high school or GED diploma. The ABE program in Minnesota served nearly 81,000 adults during the 2004-2005 academic year.

Carol began her career in ABE as a teacher, and in August of 1987 she became the program coordinator for what was then called the Northwest ECSU in Thief River Falls. Under her direction, the program grew from a staff of three teachers, to a consortium of 24 member school districts served by a staff of 13 teachers, encompassing a 14,000 square mile area in northwest Minnesota.

Carol is widely regarded in the field of ABE for the efforts she has made on behalf of adult learners, particularly those in the out-state area who find it sometimes difficult to obtain the needed educational services. During her tenure, Carol worked diligently to assure that small, rural ABE programs and consortiums would not be ignored in the larger decision making processes, testifying in front of legislative committees and participating for a number of years on a legislative ABE panel.

Carol worked to ensure that as funding formulas continually changed, small ABE sites would have the funds necessary to continue offering much needed services. In 2002, the Northwest Service Cooperative ABE consortium, under Carol's direction, received the distinguished PEGASUS award in the category of small ABE consortia. (PEGASUS is an acronym for Program of Excellence Guaranteeing Adult Students Unlimited Success.) The PEGASUS trophy is an impressive bronze sculpture of the winged horse, and will travel for a 5 year period, recognizing five separate ABE programs in Minnesota, before it is retired.

Current NWSC ABE coordinator, Kirsten Fuglseth said, "Perhaps Carol's greatest asset is her depth of understanding and insight in regards to the field of ABE. Because of this deep seeded knowledge and her ability to foresee the impact that new rules and regulations would have on the rural ABE programs, she has served as a mentor to many of the coordinators in the northwest region and was a supportive soundboard as issues arose that needed clarity or contemplation. It was Carol's contemplative side that made her such a wonderful program coordinator, able to lead with purpose and conviction. Reception of the ABE Leadership award is testimony to Carol's accomplishments and her tireless dedication to the field of Adult Literacy."

Youth Hunt?

The written demands of the adult were uncomfortably basic - simply accompany the youth during the hunt. I suppose that was somewhat intentional on the state's part, as a lengthy laundry list of responsibility would have intimidated most of us fence-straddlers into opting out of the event. After all, given the duty of overseeing a 12 year old scurry around in public with a loaded rifle tucked under his or her arm, what rational adult wouldn't first think of the words "blame," "liability," and "look-out" rather than "recreation," "fun," and "bonding." So, last weekend, I set aside what rational part of me might still be intact and allowed the idealistic proposition of a parent/child hunting adventure to lure me into participating in the Northwest Minnesota Youth Antlerless Deer Season.

The special season's goals are straightforward: 1) recruit more young hunters into the field at a time when weather is better and pressure on the deer is less; and 2) attempt to thin a burgeoning Minnesota deer herd by offering antlerless possibilities to hunters more likely to take them. Nowhere did I read anything more about the adult's participatory role than next to the verb "accompany." It is very clearly listed on the DNR Web site as a "Youth hunt." A "Youth hunt."

Nowhere, for example, was anything said about the adult's responsibility as a source of encouragement for the child when he wavered about the event because it meant accompanying his father out in public. Nowhere, did I see any clause that put the procurement of a hunting spot on my shoulders nor did it suggest that it was I who had to find a back-up locale because the fall rains came early and heavy. There was no paragraph that demanded of me the necessity of locating a suitably-sized rifle for my ever-growing child. And it certainly didn't say anything about buying three boxes of shells because a paper plate at 75 yards was apparently too challenging a practice target.

I'm quite sure nothing was written about the adult's responsibility to sacrifice his good boots because his son's feet had taken on canoe-like proportions and I know it wasn't explained anywhere on the Web site about how the fact that it's dark at 6 a.m. on October 23 is totally the parent's fault.

I don't remember it saying anywhere in the hunt description that the adult was liable for the "long, cold, boring" stretches that lacked deer to shoot. Nor was it pointed out that the adult would have to sell his soul to the devil by 8 a.m. just to buy seven more minutes of deer-stand silence. And I'm certain that I would not have signed on if I'd known that it was the adult's blunder when the deer we didn't see until too late appeared from the side that a sleeping youth was to be watching.

The adult was only supposed to accompany, which probably also meant that I was not intended to try and hide my amusement each time the youth intentionally farted in an effort to disrupt the hunting silence. I don't believe I was expected to giggle when the youth developed hiccups midway through the morning and tried to "naturalize" each eruption by making them sound like some startled animal cry. There was no footnote that said the adult should be prepared to have sticks and mud-clods thrown into his open mouth when he started to doze off.

The adult was to accompany, not come to the realization that a 12 year old can't sit still for two consecutive hours and that trying to make him do so only detracts from the hunt. The adult wasn't supposed to get those goofy, fuzzy, warm feelings when it dawned on him that the youth was making every bit as much of a personal effort to be in the field as was his elder companion.

And most certainly, the adult didn't have any obligation to share a "high-five" with the youth hunter when a shot was finally taken. And "accompany" definitely does not suggest that I should strive to remember that five minute, adrenaline charged gap in the 12-year-old's existence where he let down his guard and forgot he was required to play it cool in the presence of the adult.

Was it a good early season hunt? Hey, ask the youth, I was only there to accompany him.

Diva Day event set for Nov. 5 in Roseau

Looking for something to do while the guys are away at deer camp? Come to the Diva Day event set for Saturday, Nov. 5 in the Roseau School commons area. This event will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Check out the many booths where attendees can pamper themselves with massages, treat themselves to some great beauty products, sample gourmet treats, get a head start on their holiday shopping, or just sit, relax and enjoy some visiting. New this year is a diva lunch, which will be provided by Twin Corners Café. Coupons will be available for use at local businesses, and door prize drawings will be held throughout the day.

Crafters or vendors still wishing to reserve spots should call Pam at (218) 463-3979 or Becky at (218) 463-1813.

Agassiz NWR Lost Bay Habitat Drive closes for season

The Lost Bay Habitat Drive and Maakstad Hiking Trail at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge near Middle River will close Monday, Oct. 31 and will remain closed until spring 2006.

Visitors may continue to observe wildlife during the winter months along Marshall County Road 7, which bisects the southern portion of the refuge, and along other roads bordering the refuge. The following species can be observed or heard during the winter months: moose, deer, otter, fisher, common ravens, black-billed magpies and other species of birds and mammals. Other signs of their presence may be noticed during the winter months.

Residents can continue to listen to the weekly Northwest Minnesota Birding Report by calling the Detroit Lakes Regional Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-433-1888.

TRF police search for man and two teens

Thief River Falls police are asking for the public's help in locating two possible runways who may be with a 42-year-old man.

The missing girls are Brittany Leigh Kennedy, 16, and Michelle Rae Tieman, 16. They were last seen Monday afternoon in Thief River Falls and were reported missing Tuesday, Police Chief Kim Murphy said. They may be with Michael David Franklin.

Franklin is a described as a white male with fair skin and blue eyes. He has grayish brown hair and may have a goatee. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 272 pounds. Franklin has a scar on his right shoulder. He has also been known to use the names Michael David Wolf and Michael David Johnson. He may be driving a white vehicle with North Dakota license plate HGN-955.

Michael Franklin

Michelle Tieman

Brittany Kennedy

According to the police department, he hasn't been convicted of any sex offenses. The Pennington County Court Administrator's Office noted that Franklin is not in its database.

Franklin is considered to be a fugitive, according to the Minnesota Department of Corrections (DOC). He is on probation for a Polk County offense of felony theft of more than $35,000 from a business. The DOC noted that Franklin was supposed to be on probation until May 2007.

Kennedy is described as a white female with green eyes and long blond hair. She is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 160 to 175 pounds. Kennedy has her tongue and left eyebrow pierced.

Tieman is described as a white female with blue eyes and long blond hair. She is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. She has a pierced lip and wears four earrings in each ear.

If anyone has any information about their whereabouts, they are asked to call the Thief River Falls Police Department at (218) 681-6161.

he encouraged Sen. Coleman's office to continue its efforts to fully fund the program.

Fuel assistance is for people of all ages with all types of income and heating fuels, yet there are program guidelines that must be met. For example, the program will not pay for all heating costs. Additionally, officials noted that some new guidelines are going into affect this heating season. Inter-County Community Council can be reached at 218-796-5144.

The high fuel costs are having an affect on other groups and organizations. Jim Guetter, superintendent of schools in Oklee, said fuel prices are having a significant impact on their budget, but he said he has a hard time complaining when he hears about individuals on fixed incomes having to use a quarter of their income to pay heating bills.

Backed up by comments from Guetter, family service representatives said they are seeing an impact on the family structure in some families. They explained that in many families, both parents have two and sometimes three jobs. As a result, the children rarely see their parents. And even in these working families, children are going without.

"Children are coming to school without their basic needs being met," said Guetter.

Rouland said he has been in some homes where family members have to wear winter coats in their homes to make it through the winter. In one situation, ICCC was able to provide weatherization assistance. Rouland indicated that the weatherization program is a much more efficient way of addressing high fuel costs and problems associated with high fuel costs. He encouraged staffer's to relay their concern for continued funding of the Minnesota Weatherization Assistance Program (which receives funding from the Federal Government through the Department of Energy.)

Halvorson and Gorham said they wouldn't offer a guess as to whether the bills would pass, but said "people freezing is a real easy concept to grasp." They encouraged people to contact their legislators and let them know how they feel about the issues.

Sen. Coleman's office is at 2550 University Avenue West, Suite 100N, St. Paul, MN 55114; or call 651-645-0323.

Oklee Mayor Clay Haugen addressed a number of issues pertaining to funding of initiatives that will reduce the nation's dependence on foreign fuel but warned continued support is needed for those programs to be successful. Haugen also said that he doesn't "want anyone in Oklee to have to wear a coat in their homes to make it through the winter."

Good place to find a pumpkin. Pumpkin patches seemed to abound this year. This patch was located at Efta Produce, just on outskirts of Thief River Falls.

No injuries reported after house fire Tuesday

No injuries were reported after a house fire Tuesday evening in Thief River Falls.

The home, located at 511 Knight Ave. N., is owned by Keith Melvie. The residents were home at the time of the fire, but they were able to get out safely. According to the Thief River Falls Fire Department, the fire started in the kitchen when grease ignited. The kitchen sustained heavy smoke, fire and water damage. The rest of the house sustained some smoke damage. No dollar amount was available.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 6:22 p.m. Tuesday and were on the scene for about one-and-a-half hours.

Plains that still provides habitat for elk, wolves, moose and black bear," said Nargang. "It is truly one of Minnesota's little-known jewels."

While the parkland remains an intact, functioning ecosystem, fire suppression and alterations in water flow have threatened its grasslands and animals. With the help of partners, including private landowners and many public agencies on both sides of the border, the Conservancy conducts prairie and wetland restoration and prescribed burning to enhance the grasslands.

How much do you know about manufacturers?

During the Manufacturing and Technology Week breakfast at the Best Western in Thief River Falls last week, a manufacturing trivia quiz was placed on the tables. It seemed to attract a fair amount of attention, so I decided to share some of the questions with you. The answers will appear at the end of the quiz.

A. Arctic Cat, Inc.
B. Natural Way Mills
C. Quicor
D. Dean Foods, N Central
E. Northwest Mfg.
F. The Homark Co.
G. Muchlnewell
H. Digi Key Corp.

1. How many of the above manufacturers do business internationally?
2. This company ships to over 100 countries worldwide and has a product the size of a piece of pepper.
3. Since its beginning in 1976, its facilities have grown to 30,000 square feet, including two machine shops, a welding shop and a research and development facility.
4. What successful manufacturer introduced a line of French-made bicycles and originally produced a portable electric steam cleaner?
5. This company has a fleet of 23 semi-tractors and 71 trailers and displays an orange wind sock on its roof.
6. The former president of Hydra-Mac is now president of this company.
7. This employee-owned manufacturer (since 1991) is planning an expansion of 120,000 square feet.
8. It all began in northwest Minnesota in 1989 with three brothers starting this business.
9. This plant sells a healthy staple throughout the United States, Canada and overseas without taking out 22 vitamins and minerals and adding three synthetics, as others do, to call it "enriched."

The answers to these questions certainly reflect the influence and ingenuity of manufacturers from northwestern Minnesota. It also helps us understand why it's Manufacturer and Technology Week.

Answers: 1. A, B, C, D, E, H, 2. H, 3. G, 4. A, 5. D, 6. C, 7. F, 8. E, and 9. B.

Have a safe Halloween

While Halloween is about make-believe ghosts and goblins, Halloween safety concerns about children aren't make-believe. Minnesota Safety Council recently issued a press release encouraging parents to make sure that children have a safe Halloween.

"Halloween is one of the most exciting nights of the year for children, and it's also a night that calls for extra caution and common sense," said Erin Peterson, coordinator of family safety programs for the Minnesota Safety Council. "We know that children face a higher-than-usual risk of falls and being struck by cars when they go trick-or-treating."

We second those comments and urge parents and guardians to help children have a safe Halloween. Some of the recommendations offered by the Safety Council just make common sense, and isn't that where it all starts? That common sense approach includes affixing reflective tape to costumes, reviewing basic pedestrian safety rules with children, using face paint or cosmetics instead of a mask, using or purchasing costumes with flame-resistant labels on them, avoiding baggy clothes, keeping candles, matches and lighters out of reach, instructing children to stop only at well-lit houses or apartments, reminding them to never enter the home of strangers, and inspecting all treats before children eat them.

Have a safe and enjoyable Halloween.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

WIC clinics to be offered in November

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held during the month of November.

Infants, children up to the age of 5, and women who are pregnant or breastfeeding may be eligible for the program. WIC Quin County is very interested in enrolling pregnant women in the program. It feels that prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby. It is important to apply for WIC early during pregnancy. No proof of pregnancy is required.

All potential clients must write or call the WIC Program and complete an application. The following is the schedule of WIC Clinics for the month of November.

• Wednesday, Nov. 2 and Thursday, Nov. 3, at the Warroad Community Center.
• Tuesday, Nov. 8, at the Newfolden Community Center.
• Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock.
• Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Red Lake Falls Community Center.
• Friday, Nov. 11, at the Civic Building in Grygla.
• Monday, Nov. 14, through Thursday, Nov. 17, at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.
• Monday, Nov. 21, at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.
• Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Karlstad Community Center in Karlstad.
• Tuesday, Nov. 22 and Wednesday, Nov. 23 at the Roseau Area Hospital Basement Auxiliary Room.

North Valley Home Health will hold immunization clinics at the Newfolden and Warren clinics from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. An immunization record is needed before immunizations will be given. For more information contact North Valley Home Health at 218-745-5154.

For further information concerning the WIC program, call or write WIC Quin, PO Box 248, Newfolden, MN 56738, phone 874-7845 (Newfolden, Viking, Middle River, Holt or Thief River Falls residents) or 1-800-223-1591, or e-mail quinchs@wiktel.com.

Special meetings at Our Saviours planned in TRF

TRF man found dead in river Wednesday

A Thief River Falls man was found dead Wednesday in a river after he was reported missing earlier that day.

Timothy Wayne Hanson, 54, was found dead in the Thief River at about 10 a.m. Wednesday. His death has been ruled as an accidental drowning, according to the Pennington County Sheriff's Department. Hanson died while attempting to remove his dock from the river.

The sheriff's department had received a report at 3:54 a.m. Wednesday that Hanson was missing from his residence in the 18000 block of 140th Ave. N.E. The department, along with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and Thief River Falls Fire Department, then dragged the river to search for Hanson.

News Council denies Roseau city official's complaint; he said columnist got facts wrong and was unfair

A complaint against the Roseau Times-Region newspaper by a city official has been denied by the Minnesota News Council. The vote was 8 to 4 with one abstention.

Todd Peterson, the city's development coordinator, said that columns by Jeff Olsen, a freelance reporter and opinion writer for more than 20 years at the newspaper, were inaccurate, misleading to the public and unfair to city officials. Peterson noted that Olsen writes about city business without attending meetings or checking with officials on verifiable facts.

The News Council majority applauded the newspaper's inclusion of a strong opinion column, and they urged the newspaper to seek out vigorous rebuttals. They also urged Peterson and other city officials to more aggressively seek to get their views published in the newspaper.

Council member Reed Anfinson, editor/publisher of the Swift County Monitor-News in Benson, lamented the fact that so few rural weeklies run editorials or other opinion pieces. He said readers need lively exchanges to inspire them to participate in local public affairs.

Olsen, the columnist, apologized for having mistakenly written that the city ought to occupy office space in a new building. Peterson pointed out that funding for the building was intended for commercial development and did not allow governmental use.

But Olsen insisted that he has never written maliciously about anyone and that he uses what he considers misguided city actions as a basis for offering his readers civics lessons. And he said he does not attend meetings because he hears news about city activities on the radio and reads official minutes.

"I don't have to be physically present to write about Mr. Bush in Washington," Olsen said, claiming his right and ability to do the same in Roseau. He said he lives out in the country, teaches school during the day and uses the phone at night to gather material for news articles and columns.

Peterson and the publisher, Jodi Wojciechowski, appeared to have resolved the matter recently when she said she would require Olsen to talk with city officials before writing about them in his column, though he could choose to disregard their views when expressing his opinion.

But the agreement unraveled when the very next Olsen column appeared without the publishers having discussed the settlement with him. Peterson reinstated his complaint.

The publisher said she had no time after the agreement and before the newspaper's deadline to confer with the columnist, and so his next column appeared without his having consulted city officials. Several News Council members said the publisher should have at least called Peterson to advise him that the agreement would go into effect the following week.

Another council member suggested that the publisher could have held Olsen's column that week and run it the following week, next to a counterpoint from a city official.

"Every paper should have at least one curmudgeon," said media member Benno Groeneveld. "Every paper should have an Olsen."

Public member Jane Berg said she was concerned about Olsen's use of a radio news report as the basis for his opinion: "It's possible [using a secondary source instead of going to city officials themselves] to perpetuate misinformation. Facts can and should be verified."

Olsen agreed, but he said he did not make up facts, he wrote opinions based on the facts as he understood them.

Media member Mollie Hoben, founder of the Women's Press, said none of the participants was taking a strong initiative to improve the quality of information: The columnist should be checking his facts, Hoben said; the publisher should more actively solicit responses to Olsen's columns, and city officials should write their own views for publication instead of waiting for someone else to write in their behalf.

Publisher Wojciechowski said she runs almost all letters to the editor. Peterson said he thought a letter from a city official taking issue with an opinion piece was not an effective way to combat misleading information. Council member Lorin Robinson, a former communications professor, agreed: Information that is published first, he said, stays uppermost in readers' minds.

Peterson said the newspaper did not cover enough news about city government. The publisher said she welcomes any story ideas, which she said are often hard to generate in a small town.

The News Council, an independent group, is in its 35th year of promoting fair, vigorous and trusted journalism. Half the complaints heard have been upheld, half denied. Council members, half journalists, half laypersons, represent only themselves.

BSU students take part in student teaching program

Noah Novacek of Greenbush and Amy Christenson of Thief River Falls are participating in the fall 2005 student teaching program through Bemidji State University.

Christenson is a senior majoring in elementary education. She is student teaching under supervising teacher Mike Mueller for fifth and sixth grade classes at Hughes Elementary School in Red Lake Falls.

Novacek is a senior majoring in elementary education. He is student teaching under supervising teacher Elwyn Ruud in a third grade class at Roseau Elementary School.

The student teaching program provides education majors with an opportunity to earn the classroom teaching experience they need in order to become an educator. The program is designed to place students in a public school under the supervision of an experienced educator.

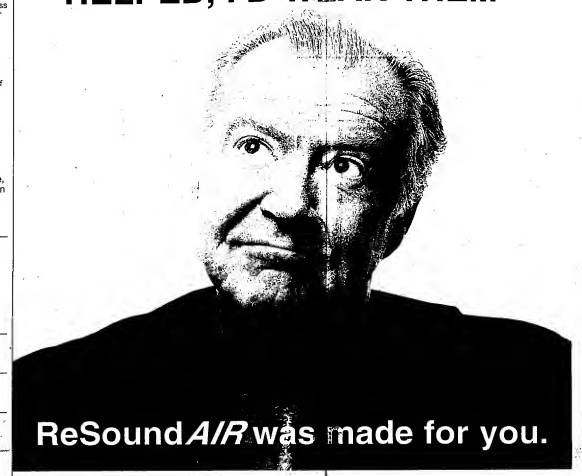
Hearing Loss?

That's the Question

The problem is loss of hearing which affects over 28 million Americans of all ages. Hearing loss can range from being very mild in nature, resulting in not hearing faint, high pitched sounds or voices, to impairment that is so severe very loud noises may not be detected.

Early detection and intervention

As with most other health problems, early detection allows for more effective intervention. In some cases, hearing loss is medically treatable and may be improved. In cases where the hearing loss is permanent, hearing aids are a form of treatment that allow for compensation of the hearing loss. Early detection and intervention also offers a means of support for both the hearing impaired person and his family with the social and mental burdens often associated with hearing loss.



Take This Simple Test

Hearing Loss differs from most other afflictions in at least one important way. It is not usually characterized by pain or physical discomfort. If it were, hearing loss would be obvious. But because it is usually a gradual process, it can easily develop into a significant handicap before it commands attention. Unless, that is, one is aware of its other warning signs.

	YES	NO
1. You can hear, but you can't understand: Among the first sounds which "disappear" are those which are most high-pitched. These include: • Women's and children's voices • Bird songs • Confusion among sounds of words such as: "dime", "time" "bake" "take"	☐	☐
2. Have difficulty in understanding what is being said, unless you are directly facing the speaker.	☐	☐
3. Find yourself complaining that people are mumbling or slurring their words.	☐	☐
4. Are continually asking people to repeat words or phrases, though they feel they're speaking loud enough.	☐	☐
5. Prefer the TV or radio louder than others do.	☐	☐
6. Have difficulty understanding conversation within a group of people.	☐	☐
7. Avoid group meetings, social occasions, public facilities, or family gatherings where listening may be difficult.	☐	☐
8. Have trouble hearing at the movies, houses of worship, concert halls, or at other public gatherings - especially where sound sources are at a distance from the listener.	☐	☐
9. Have ringing in the ears (tinnitus) or other head noises (hissing, buzzing, crickets, etc). Tinnitus often accompanies hearing loss, but not always, and as such, may be the ears way of saying "ouch!	☐	☐

If you answered "yes" to at least two of these questions, you may have a hearing loss and need to have your hearing tested. Call us today.

Every ReSoundAIR model incorporates our exclusive ComforTec™ technology - a set of amazing hardware and software features that ensures clear, natural sound quality and superior listening comfort:

- New Mini-BTE fitting system
  Replaces the traditional ear molds with very thin tubing and a dome that's virtually invisible, even to those looking directly at your ear. It's easy to insert and clings closely to the ear.
- Unique venting designs
  Keep the ear canal open to reduce the plugged-up sensation.
- WarpOpen™ compression system
  Provides clean, clear sound quality with no annoying "amplified" quality.
- Stabilizer™ digital feedback suppression
  Offers the ability to hear soft, high-pitched sounds without the annoying whistling interference.
- Multi-band, fast-acting noise reduction
  Reduces background noise, for increased comfort in both nolsy and quiet listening situations.

With ReSoundAIR, you get clean, crisp, natural sound. For people with high-frequency hearing loss, there's simply no better choice than ReSoundAIR.

A pass intended for Roseau receiver John Prelvitz (88) was nearly intercepted by Thief River Falls defensive back Jeremy Sich in first quarter Section 8AAA high school football playoff action Tuesday. A 26-20 win moved the Prowlers into the semifinals tonight (Saturday) against defending Class AAA state champion East Grand Forks at Lowell T. Swanson Field.

TRF edges Roseau 26-20 in 8AAA

Late-game rally saves Prowlers

Lowell T. Swenson Field went dark in the middle of pre-game introductions prior the start of Tuesday's Thief River Falls vs. Roseau Section 8AAA high school football playoff quarterfinal match-up. It took nearly 20 minutes to restore full power. It took a lot longer than that before the Prowlers' offense was up to speed.

Second-seeded Thief River Falls dodged an early post-season exit with a fourth quarter rally that netted a 26-20 win over upset-minded Roseau, the No. 7-seed in an eight-team field.

In the first football game between the two schools since Thief River Falls beat Roseau 75-0 in 1971, the Rams had the Prowlers on the ropes by combining a solid defense with just enough offense to produce a 13-6 lead through three quarters.

A change of diet turned things around for the Prowlers down the stretch as they went away from the inside running game to a pass-oriented shotgun formation.

"Roseau just completely shut us down," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "They dominated the line of scrimmage. I can't remember the last time someone's defense did that to us. We've been stopped for stretches before, but never that consistently over an entire game like that. Their speed killed us. We were bigger, but they were quicker."

Mumm finally conceded and went in another direction offensively. "We work on the shotgun, but we really haven't had to use it because the belly-series, our bread-and-butter, has been so effective. It (the switch) worked. It was fun."

A 9-play, 71-yard drive on the Prowlers' first possession of the fourth quarter led to a 14-yard Michael Benedict touchdown run as he picked his way through the middle to make it a 13-12 game with 7:17 remaining.

The celebration was short-lived, though, when a potential go-ahead conversion pass was dropped in the end zone and the ensuing kickoff was returned 61 yards by Adam Gumeringer to the Prowlers' 24.

But the Rams not only failed to turn the opportunity into a possible rally-killing touchdown, they failed to pick up a first down. The Prowlers took possession at their 17 with 5:08 left and took just 46 seconds to cover those 83 yards for the lead.

After a five-yard offside penalty on first down, the Prowlers took off on successive Michael Forney passes to Alex Carlson for 37 yards, Jeremy Sich for 30 yards and Jon Drees for 21 yards and a touchdown. Drees took a swing pass to the right into the end zone, and Forney nudged his way across the goal line on the conversion for a 20-13 edge with 4:22 to play.

Back-to-back Roseau turnovers then sealed the Rams' fate.

A squib kick meant only to limit the Roseau return yardage caromed off one of the Rams' front line players and was covered by the Prowlers' Alex Yaggie at the Thief River Falls 41. Moments later a 58-yard breakaway for a touchdown by Drees was negated by a penalty – the third score the Prowlers lost to a whistle during the game.

Clinging to the six-point edge, Thief River Falls wound up turning the ball over on downs at the Roseau 45 with 1:04 on the clock.

One first down and four plays later Blake Haviland came up with an interception at the Thief River Falls 30.

On a carbon-copy of the run that was called back, Drees took a second down carry into the line and popped into the open for a 67-yard touchdown that made it 26-13 with 52.4 seconds on the clock.

However, the Rams didn't concede. Field position on the kickoff, a 26-yard Richard Lindstrom pass to Corey Erickson and a 16-yard Lindstrom toss to Gumeringer put them into the end zone in just 25 seconds. A John Prelvitz conversion kick made it 26-20.

The suspense finally ended when the Prowlers' Ryan Olson covered the onside kick.

"Nothing seems to come easy for us," acknowledged Mumm, "but we found a way to win."

An interception by Yaggie at the Roseau 47 that he returned to the 27 set up the game's first touchdown – a 9-yard Michael Benedict run with 2:14 remaining in the opening quarter.

The Rams tied it on 9-play, 65-yard drive that ended on a 36-yard touchdown pass from Lindstrom to Prelvitz with 4:37 left in the second quarter.

Roseau went ahead 13-6 on a next-possession score after a 33-yard Lindstrom pass bounced around and fell into the arms of Gumeringer, who was laying on his back at the Thief River Falls 15. A big hole on the right side allowed Dusty Moser to walk into the end zone from 11 yards out 52.2 seconds before the half. A Prelvitz kick made it a seven-point intermission spread.

Thief River Falls improved to 5-4. Roseau finished 3-6. It was the first post-season win since 2001 for the Prowlers, who were moved from Class AAAA to Class AAA this year by the Minnesota State High School League.

NCTC hosts MCCC state tournament

■ Volleyball matches are set Saturday, Sunday

Central Lakes and Ridgewater carry the role of favorites into the 2005 Minnesota Community College Conference state volleyball tournament being played today (Saturday) and Sunday at Northland Community and Technical College.

The two teams combined to win the past five state titles – Central Lakes in 2000, 2003 and 2004; Ridgewater in 2001 and 2002.

Northern Division pennant winner Central Lakes, the defending National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national champion, brought a 22-1 record in to the tournament. Southern Division winner Ridgewater went 25-5 during the regular season.

Top four finishers in the regular season Northern and Southern Division standings earned the post-season spots.

Today's matches will follow a two-pool, round-robin schedule. Those results will determine the pairings for Sunday's trophy round matches.

Pool play matches will be three games to 30 points. Championship matches will be best-of-five contests – the first four games to 30 points, with the fifth and deciding game, if needed, to 15.

Northland Athletics Director Deb Jacobson is the tournament director.

Top performance nets tourney win

As a coach, you want to see your team playing at it's best at the end of the season. For Tammy Sparby, that mission was accomplished Thursday as the Thief River Falls volleyball coach watched the Prowlers beat visiting Park Rapids Area 17-25, 25-23, 25-21, 25-15 in a first round North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament match.

Making extensive use of her bench, Sparby employed a dozen of the 14 Prowlers on the post-season squad, and got quality minutes from all 12 as they advanced into the Friday quarterfinals. "That was a team effort," she said. "That's what we work for all year. We probably played our best match of the season."

To beat the No. 9-seeded Panthers, the eighth-seeded Prowlers had to overcome some early-match intimidation presented by 6-3 Park Rapids junior Janessa Wolff. Her crushing spikes were eye-openers in the Panthers' Game 1 win. Even in the back row she was the Panthers' top offensive threat, and it was her kills away from net that gave the visitors some mid-game separation in a tight opener.

"We did maybe focus too much on her offense early," admitted Sparby in reference to the Prowlers' attention to Wolff. "We knew she could put the ball down. We couldn't stop her. But she wasn't getting the blocks, so we weren't afraid to go after her. And once we got our middle going, it opened things up for us."

With their confidence level on the rise, the Prowlers started Game 2 with a 6-1 lead. They were still in danger of falling behind 2-0 when Laura Flynn found a hole in the middle of the Thief River Falls defense with a spike that put the Panthers up 22-19. But Thief River Falls battled back, taking a 23-22 lead on a Mandy Thompson drive through a blocker. A Park Rapids hitting error made it 24-23, and Thompson finished it with an ace.

Thief River Falls lead from start to finish in Game 3. The Prowlers were up 23-13 on a Sarah Michaels kill, then watched the Panthers make a mini-run before closing out a four-point win on a net violation.

The two teams swapped points in the first half of Game 4 that was tied at 10-10 before back-to-back service aces by Jessica Gustafson provided a lead the Prowlers carried the rest of the way. It was 20-12 after a Thompson tip and 24-15 after consecutive Park Rapids out-of-bounds hits. Thompson capped it off with a final-point ace.

"We had a lot of kids step up and play well tonight," offered Sparby. "Chasity Johnson started and played outstanding in the first and second games. Then Mandy stepped in and did a great job in the third and fourth games. Kayse Lee came in and played well, too."

That still left plenty of praise for those in the regular rotation - Beth Marben, Steph Brekke, Haeli Stokke, Kjelsy Loeffler, Shawna Rogalla, Lauren Daniels, Becca Larson and Michaels - who made sure their final 2005 home appearance was a winner.

Moorhead, Becker are top finishers in cross country

Moorhead boys and Becker girls were team champions Thursday during the 2005 Section 8AA high school cross country meet at M.B. Johnson Park in Moorhead.

Individual titles went to Brainerd junior Justin Tyner, who ran a 5K 16:41, and Detroit Lakes senior Hanna Grinnaker, who had a 4K 15:20.

Thief River Falls boys ran 14th and the girls were 15th in a 15-team race.

"It was a great day to run in late-October for our last meet of the year," reported Thief River Falls coach Rick Karboviak. "When you get sunshine and temps in the 50's, you can't ask for anything better. As a team, we had expectations to peak at this event, with hopes of our best performance."

And while the Prowlers ran well behind the leaders, Karboviak was satisfied with their efforts. "Overall, I was very happy with our performances," he said. "We had all our girls finish under 20 minutes, which was a first for us, and a great way to end the season."

It was a young Thief River Falls line-up in the girls race. The Prowlers were without their two seniors – Kirsten Melvie, who had an academic commitment for a mid-term exam at Northland Community and Technical College, and Jade Kilen, who was sidelined by illness.

"We had six (girls) compete, and they competed like troopers," said Karboviak. "They gave it their best today."

Thief River Falls boys also had to deal with post-season adversity, pointed out Karboviak. "Our boys had some illness to fight and soreness to contend with," he explained. "But once again we improved greatly over what we did at the start of the season."

Karboviak had high praise for the lone senior in the Prowlers' line-up. "Evan Jones finished his cross country career with one of his best performances of the season," he said. "The rest of the boys ran tough and strong, and our young crew gained more experience to build upon."

TRF swimmers win Tuesday triangular in final home meet

Final home appearance of the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls girls high school swim team ended with a win in a Tuesday triangular at the Franklin Middle School pool.

The Prowlers finished the meet with 535 points, followed by Warroad with 280 and Lake of the Woods 99.

Thief River Falls individual winners included Allyson Helling in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle; Kailey Bakken, 100 butterfly; April Peterson, 100 backstroke; and Casey Engelstad, 100 breaststroke.

Two Thief River Falls first place relay teams featured Dani Simenson, Bakken, Katie Pribula and Ashley Meunier in the 200 medley; Bakken, Lacey Stennes, Stephanie Liden and Helling in the 200 freestyle.

"The girls swam well," said Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott, who reported no less than 32 person-best swims turned in by the Prowlers during the day.

Fourth Roseau County herd tests positive for bovine TB

A fourth Roseau County herd has tested positive for bovine tuberculosis (TB).

Currently, four herds have tested positive for bovine TB in Minnesota. Three of the four operations have bordering pastureland. The newly detected fourth operation purchased cattle from the first TB infected herd two-and-a-half years ago. As a result, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) purchased approximately 50 animals from this producer to have them tested for bovine TB. Three animals tested suspect for the disease in early October. Tissue samples were submitted to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa, where a diagnosis of bovine TB was confirmed Oct. 13. The herd will be appraised by the USDA and depopulated.

Minnesota's bovine TB investigation continues to make substantial progress. To date, 31 herds have been quarantined as a result of the state's bovine TB investigation. Nine of these operations have been removed from quarantine as testing showed no infection those herds. The remaining herds are in the process of having exposed animals and/or whole herd tests completed. Counties with quarantined herds include Roseau, Polk, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Cass and Goodhue.

Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH) Executive Director and State Veterinarian Dr. Bill Hartmann said so far so good.

"We have made good progress on this investigation," said Hartmann. "So far, we've completed testing for more than a third of the operations and have found no infection. It's a good sign that the infection seems low and that all of the infected operations are in the same vicinity."

The state of Minnesota has been involved in TB eradication programs since 1917, with the last known case in 1971. Bovine TB caused by the bacteria Mycobacterium bovis is a respiratory disease of cattle. It is a chronic, slowly progressive disease that does not spread easily. Infected animals may be capable of transmitting an infection to other animals even if they appear healthy. In a cooperative eradication campaign by the livestock industry and animal health officials, the U.S. has all but eliminated bovine TB.

"The Minnesota cattle industry is vital to the state's agricultural economy, so it is important that we continue to push through this investigation in an effort to rid the state of any bovine TB infection," said Hartmann. "The USDA will be reviewing the entire investigation when it is complete to determine Minnesota's TB status."

Exposure to bovine TB through the milk or meat supply is extremely unlikely, according to the BAH. Meat inspectors check all cattle entering the marketplace for signs of the disease before and after slaughter. Any animal showing signs is withheld from the food supply. In addition, adequate cooking destroys the bacteria.

Greenbush Lions to host benefit breakfast

No excuses: It's time to retire

but yet be, like I said, fair and impartial."

"He was always fair to both sides," said Kristin Hanson, public defender.

One would be "hard-pressed to find a lawyer who didn't feel he or she wasn't treated fairly" by Murphy, said Judge Kurt Marben, who has tried cases before Murphy as an attorney and later worked as a judge with Murphy.

Over the years, Murphy has served as a judge on many cases, and he has noticed several changes in the courtrooms in which he has served. For instance, judges don't hear civil cases as often as they did in the past.

"The criminal cases and juvenile delinquency cases have increased," said Murphy, who noted he also spends more time now on Children in need of Protection or Services (CHIPS) cases.

Those cases may be among the saddest and most difficult cases. "The custody issues are the most difficult, and probably the saddest thing is we have a CHIPS kid, send him back to the parents and they come back," Murphy said.

Perhaps one of the most difficult cases for Murphy as a judge was a first degree murder case in which an Oklee man was convicted of killing his infant daughter. "The first degree murder case was as emotional as I've ever seen," said Murphy, who noted it was difficult for him not to show his emotions during that jury trial earlier this year.

In his years as a judge, and possibly as an attorney, Murphy has worked on emotional cases, and he also may have changed some people's lives. He recalled a card he received from a woman who recently discovered he was retiring. Murphy had spent many times in the courtroom with the woman and her children. They're doing well now and she wrote Murphy to thank him. He noted he never knows when he will be able to change someone's life.

Defendants are among many who have spent time with Murphy inside local courtrooms. "The courtroom was his turf, and by God, you abided by his rules," said Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby. He added that Murphy was tough on defendants when he had to be tough, but always fair and showed he had a heart.

Working as a law enforcement officer, judge or court staff member can be stressful. As one person put it, people have to have senses of humor when employed in those occupations. Murphy is no exception. Beth Wilson, a deputy Pennington County court administrator, referred to Murphy's sarcastic, teasing nature. "I'm going to miss him terribly because he lets me be sassy to him," she said. Remarking that they're kindred spirits, she noted he's sassy to her, too.

Many of the people who worked with Murphy will miss him. "When somebody leaves, it's almost like another chapter of your life is done," Hruby said.

Working to make the judicial system better

Murphy may have been a fixture at local courthouses, but his leadership extends throughout this region and the state. He served as chief justice for the Ninth District and as the chairperson of the Conference of Chief Justices. Murphy has also served on the Judicial Council, which is the governing body for the Minnesota Court System.

"He has established himself as one of the authorities in respect to the judicial budget," said Judge John Smith, chief justice for the Ninth District. "He has earned a reputation as an outstanding leader statewide and certainly in the district."

"He's been our watchdog for years with not only the Legislature, but also our district," said Olin, who noted Murphy helped ensure that the county kept its number of judges despite being one of the smallest counties in the Ninth District.

"He was instrumental in getting interactive TV in the courts," said Marben. "It saved judges a lot of time and people involved in cases a lot of expenses or whatnot." As a result, the district became the first area of the state to enable defendants, attorneys and/or judges to take part in court hearings while they were at different locations.

Working as a local district court judge

Despite that work, many will remember seeing Murphy in local courtrooms. They'll also remember the funny or not-so-funny moments they spent in courtrooms with Murphy, and that may include times when be wasn't even the judge.

Hanson recalled when another judge was on the bench and Murphy walked into the courtroom to find the person who parked in his parking spot. Ten people left the courtroom to see if they parked there, Hanson said.

Referring to her Irish bloodline, Hanson noted that Murphy's temper never really bothered her. A minute or two minutes after getting upset about something, he calms down.

Many people have asked McMillin about her experiences working with Murphy. "He's so calm, so cool and collected in the office," she said.

Murphy may occasionally lose his cool, but he has a softer side. He's the type of boss who will travel to an employee's house to offer his condolences after a death. McMillin recalled Murphy going to her house to offer his sympathy about her grandma's passing. McMillin's then-4-year-old son didn't know Murphy and asked about him. "He looks up with his big round eyes and said, 'Mommy, is that God?'" McMillin remembered.

There probably haven't been any 4-year-old defendants with that question. Yet, some defendants may have wondered if Murphy would accept their excuses for missing their court appearances.

Usually, the excuse is that someone's vehicle broke down, but Murphy has heard many excuses as to why people haven't shown up for their court appearances. "Nobody ever receives our notices in the mail, and they never come down [to the courthouse]," Murphy said jokingly.

Not a week goes by that he hasn't heard an outlandish excuse. "That's why it's so fun," said Murphby, who noted he has been willing to accept the unusual excuses that he has never heard before.

For his part, Murphy won't have to make up an excuse about missing court. After all, as of Nov. 4, he won't have to be in the courtroom anymore.

Judge Dennis Murphy is retiring Nov. 4 after nearly 17 years as a Ninth District judge. A public retirement party will be held Nov. 4 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Pennington County Courthouse. A short program will be held at 3 p.m.

two years, to keep the curve from getting worse during her peak growing years.

"When I was first diagnosed, my back didn't give me a lot of pain and I didn't understand why I needed a brace," Kari said.

Surgery is now necessary for Kari, as her spinal curve nears 60 degrees. Though normally painless, the disorder is known to push on organs and drastically decrease flexibility as the curve worsens.

As Kari's condition progressed, surgery became the logical option. She could have opted for surgery two years ago, but chose to wait until her senior swimming season was completed. Had she opted for surgery earlier, the year-long recovery would have kept her from swimming this season as well.

Kari, now a senior at Roseau High School, is a two-year captain of the swimming team and so far this season is the Ram's top point getter, while swimming in freestyle, breaststroke and relay events. Though she is admittedly not the same caliber swimmer as her collegiate swimming sister, Kari is the Ram's top point getter and finishing her final season is still a priority.

"Swimming is going well," Kari said. "It's been a little bit rough, but I'm hopeful that I can get down to my goals by the end of the year."

Though she feels some pain, scoliosis never kept Kari from competing.

"It hasn't affected me much in the past," Kari said. " But I think sometimes it may cause me to veer off to one side," she joked.

Corrective surgery

Kari's corrective surgery will be performed by Dr. Kenneth Guidera of Shriner's Childrens Hospital, Minneapolis. Describing her surgery, Kari said doctors will try to stretch the spine vertically, trying to correct as much curve as possible. They will also use rods, hooks and screws to straighten the spine, reducing the curve as to as close to zero degrees as possible. The surgery will be completed with the fusing of two or more vertebrae located at the start of the curve.

"It won't get down to zero degrees, but they're hoping to get it closer to 15 to 20 degrees," Kari said.

Initial recovery from the surgery is short. Kari said, following surgery she should be walking by the third day and be able to resume some activities within a week.

Lifetime Fitness Triathlon

Both Kari and Anneliesse were in the Twin Cities area for one of Kari's checkups this summer to discuss the upcoming surgery, when Guidera told them about a relay team he was putting together for the Lifetime Fitness Triathlon.

"They wanted to have two relay teams, they already had two hikers and two runners," Kari said.

Team Ortho, including two teams sponsored by the Shriners Childrens Hospital accepted pledges for months prior to the triathlon. The two Shriners teams were mostly set, but each needed swimmers. Knowing both Kari and Anneliesse were swimmers, Guidera asked Kari if she would be interested in the swimming portion of the event. Both excepted the invitation, though neither had much time to prepare.

"This was my first experience preparing for a triathlon," Anneliesse said. "The biggest change from competitive swimming is you're not in a pool."

Kari, who hadn't done much swimming since the previous high school season, said the 1.5 kilometer swim wasn't as bad as she was expecting. Both Kari and Anneliesse have been invited to return to compete in next year's triathlon.

Each Shriners Childrens Hospital Team completed the competition, with Kari's team placing 75th and Anneliesse's team finishing 108th in the 125-plus team amateur relay field.

Kari's surgery has been scheduled for Nov. 14, with pre-operation scheduled for Nov. 13, the day after the sectional swimming meet, held Nov. 11-12 in Detroit Lakes. The state swimming meet is scheduled for Nov. 21-23, which could pose a conflict – one which Kari's mother, Lori, is willing to deal with.

"I told her if she swims a state time we'll call the surgery off," Lori said.

Deer hunting season opens Saturday

Registration stations to collect samples for Bovine TB test

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Deer registered at nine northwest Minnesota deer registration stations will be tested for Bovine Tuberculosis (Bovine TB) when the firearms deer hunting season begins today (Nov. 5).

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources chose registration stations in close proximity to Bovine TB infected Roseau County cattle herds, to collect samples from deer that are registered at the stations. These samples will be tested for the presence of Bovine TB.

Hunters taking their game to any of the nine stations for testing will be asked where the deer was harvested. Only deer harvested within the DNR selected area will be tested. Deer taken outside the test area can still be registered, but will not be tested.

After verifying where the deer was taken, hunters will be asked by DNR officials if they are willing to participate in the test. If the hunter agrees to allow testing, DNR officials will make a small incision below the deer's jaw and remove about six lymph nodes for testing. Once removed, lymph nodes will be stored, tagged and frozen in a sealed container. Frozen samples will be transported to a testing facility.

"This is a fairly painless process for the hunter," said John Williams, DNR area wildlife manager. "I think that most hunters would want to participate. This issue is significant to hunters and cattle producers alike."

Bovine TB is an infectious disease, caused by the bacterium Mycobacterium bovis. Though it primarily affects cattle, the disease can be spread to other mammals including deer and humans in rare

Jail "yes," Social Service "no" for Roseau County

Roseau - Tempers flared at the Roseau County Board of Commissioners meeting last week when bids on the new county jail and Social Services project were discussed.

The low bid for the entire project, including both the jail and Social Services building, came in at $7.3 million. The Social Services building was listed as an alternate, totalling $1.2 million of the total cost.

A motion was made by Commissioner Jack Stone, seconded by Commissioner Mark Foldesi, to accept the low bid for the jail from Industrial Construction Services Inc. of Grand Forks, N.D. The motion called for the Social Services building alternate to be deducted or not built. Stone and Foldesi voted in favor of the motion. Commissioners Russell Walker and Alan Johnston voted against the motion. It was then up to Chairman Orris Rasmussen to break the tie. He voted in favor of the motion. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Nov. 2, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Are "green houses" the key to filling local housing gap?

Warren - Karl Frigaard, Warren's economic development director, thinks "green houses" could be the solution for at least part of Warren's housing shortage. No, he does not mean the kind of houses with glass walls and roofs for growing bedding plants in cold weather; he means "green" as in environmentally friendly.

Frigaard said the Warren Economic Development Authority (WEDA) has been meeting with Dovetail Partners, a White Bear Lake company specializing in designing energy-efficient housing and promoting an environmentally-friendly approach to design and construction.

WEDA and other city leaders are interested in working with Dovetail Partners to get houses built on the city's infill lots – generally small vacant lots between existing houses that resulted mostly from flooded property buyouts and demolitions following the floods of 1996-97. The city's "buildable" lots have sufficient space for the building of about six single-family homes, calculated Robert Brooks, city auditor/treasurer.

Frigaard said the next step in pursuing green infill housing is to have the Warren City Council's committee meet with WEDA and Dovetail Partners. The city expects to hear from Dovetail in December as to whether its grant application to the Enterprise Fund and applications to other grant sources have been approved. - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 2, 2005

Spending her time with African orphans

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Each day, Bonnie Van Schaick thinks about the orphans she met in Africa. She thinks about the girl wearing the dirty pink flannel shirt and the boy who was so happy that someday he and others would be able to eat an onion that was growing in their garden.

For about two weeks in August, the Thief River Falls resident spent time in Swaziland, a south African country slightly smaller than New Jersey. Van Schaick worked on a mission in the town of Ngculwini (pronounced GU-la-win-EE). "I always wanted to go on this type of mission," she said.

Van Schaick, who moved back to Thief River Falls this September after a 16-year hiatus, went to Africa with a program created by Dr. Bruce Wilkinson, a Christian teacher and author. While living in California and attending services at the Crystal Cathedral, Van Schaick heard Wilkinson speak about Dream for Africa. As part of the program, volunteers help local Africans plant and care for gardens. "I'm sitting there listening, and I thought, 'I wish I wasn't this old. I planted my last garden 40 years ago, at least 30 years ago,'" the 75-year-old Van Schaick said.

Then Wilkinson talked to those people who were not able to help in the gardens or didn't wish to go. He noted there were other programs through which people could help. Wilkinson told a story about a man who received eyeglasses from one of those programs. The story touched Van Schaick. "He was a pastor who never got to read the Bible," she said.

Van Schaick knew she could help others through that program. As a nurse in the 1950s, she worked with a similar program on the Red Lake Reservation.

Within days, Van Schaick was busy preparing for the volunteer trip in which she would pay her own way. Once she arrived in Africa, she was prepared to help people see better. "I thought I was going to do eyeglasses, but again God had another plan," Van Schaick said.

Some voters will go to the polls Tuesday

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Some local voters will be heading to the polls Tuesday. One local city, St. Hilaire, is holding an election, and several area school districts are holding elections and/or referendums. Local residents are reminded of the following elections:

City of St. Hilaire

Two four-year city council seats are up for election in St. Hilaire. The mayoral seat, which has a two-year term, is also up for election.

Greenbush/Middle River School District (ISD 2683)

Four four-year school board seats will be on ballots in the Greenbush/Middle River School District.

Oklee School District (ISD 627)

A referendum will be on Oklee School District voters' ballots. If approved, the $1,000-per-pupil referendum will raise $210,000 for general operating expenses.

Plummer School District (ISD 628)

Plummer School District voters will see a referendum on their ballots. If approved, the 10-year referendum will provide $80,000 in additional monies for general operating expenses. The referendum is for $487 per pupil. As part of the referendum, an existing referendum for $806.24 per pupil would be canceled. That amount would then be added to the $487 per pupil amount for a total request of $1,293.24.

Roseau School District (ISD 682)

In the Roseau School District, a referendum will be on voters' ballots. The district is seeking an additional $374 per-pupil for 10 years. Currently, the district has a $126-per-pupil referendum. That referendum will expire in six years. If approved, the new referendum is expected to raise $558,000 for general operating expenses.

Warroad School District (ISD 690)

Warroad School District voters will see a referendum on their ballots. The district is asking for an additional $473.26 per pupil for 10 years. Currently, it has a $126.74-per-pupil referendum that will expire in 2012. If approved, the new referendum is expected to raise $676,472.

Win-E-Mac School District (Erskine, ISD 2609)

Four four-year school board seats and a 10-year operating levy referendum will be on ballots in the Win-E-Mac School District. If approved, the $800-per-pupil referendum will generate approximately $470,000 if the district maintains its current enrollment.

Lundeen Farm is finalist for award

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Lundeen Farms of Deer Park Township, Pennington County, was named Area I Outstanding Conservationist and a finalist for the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts' (MASWCD) 2005 Outstanding Conservationist Award last week. Represented by Kelly and Connie Lundeen, Lundeen Farms is one of eight Minnesota Farms that will be recognized during the MASWCD Annual Meeting, Dec. 4-6, at the Sheraton Bloomington Hotel.

The awards program will recognize farm families, individuals, conservation organizations and other groups for their accomplishments in implementing conservation practices and improving Minnesota's natural resources. The state's outstanding conservationist will also be announced during that program.

Lundeen Farms' selection as Area I Outstanding Conservationist and state finalist, comes on the heels of being named outstanding conservationist for Pennington County. Lundeen Farms is the first Pennington County Outstanding Conservationist to subsequently be named Area I Outstanding Conservationist.

Among First Nations people, introductions begin with a story

Lincoln High School Choirs begin an unusual journey of music and history

by David Hill
Editor

Introductions among the First Nations People often involve a story, and Storytellers Gordon and Kiel Gray had stories to tell to Lincoln High School students recently.

As introductions goes, their introductions are a bit more lengthy. It's more lengthy than exchanging names and a handshake, and much more personal too. In their introductions, where you live is less important than how you got there. And a curriculum vitae is less important than whether you try to learn from every experience. It usually begins with a story.

While be was making the 800-mile drive from Rocky Boy, Mont., (near Havre), Gordon Gray said he thought of many things to say. Gray explained that when Darcy Reese, Lincoln High School choir director, had asked if he would help her choir students participating in the "Woven Voices, Woven Threads" project, he said "yes."

"When someone asks us to help them, we cannot refuse," said Gray.

So while Gray was driving here, he said he was thinking of many things to say to the students. Yet, he said, when he stood in front of the students Sunday evening (Oct. 23), he said he couldn't remember a single thing he had thought about, so he decided he would speak from the heart.

That's the way the Creator probably would want him to visit with the students, he said. "This visit," he said, "is not about understanding us or our culture, it's about understanding yourself."

Gray shared many interesting thoughts, challenging students, it seems, to listen to their own hearts.

The drum

Gray believes all of us are sent by the Creator to do something. "We all have a circle of life - a circle, like the drum you see here."

Gray and his son Kiel brought with them their red drum. Gray was careful to explain that the red drum with its buffalo hide surface is not their drum. First, he explained, all things are given to them by the Creator, so he said, "we have to care for everything." First Nations People, he added, believe everything has a spirit.

Second, Gordon and Kiel are

In First Nations People's culture, the drum has special significance. On October 23, Gordon and Kiel Gray of Montana, visited with Lincoln High School Choir students about the significance of the drum in their culture. They are among the many artists and experts helping students prepare for their production of "Woven Voices, Woven Threads."

CAFÉ RHOMBUS
THIEF RIVER FALLS' NEWEST TRENDY INTIMATE RESTAURANT TURNS ONE-YEAR OLD!

Dear Patrons of Cafe Rhombus,
The Rhombus Guys are coming up on their one year anniversary at Cafe Rhombus-Nov. 15th. We've really enjoyed being back in the community in which we were raised; in addition, we would like to thank the community for welcoming us back. It has been a learning experience for us, and we are working tirelessly to become the great restaurant that Thief River deserves. Honestly, it has been a challenging year. Creating a new and successful business in Thief River has been no easy task, but with your continued support we will be here to stay. To learn about all of the week-long anniversary specials, order delivery, or if you just need somebody to talk to, call 681-5678.
Sincerely, Arron Hendricks, and Matt Winjum (your local Rhombus Guys)

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacourse@oncable.net

It's a good time to make some yummy bars - hubby's hunting and you can eat the whole pan by yourself. These recipes are from the First Lutheran Church of Stephen cookbook.

This one is especially chocolaty and rich:

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW BARS
Barbara Soderlund

1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 cup flour
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons cocoa
Regular sized or miniature marshmallows

Combine shortening and sugar and cream well. Add eggs and vanilla. Sift flour, salt, baking powder and cocoa together and then combine with shortening mixture. Spread in 9x13 inch greased and floured pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle with mini marshmallows or regular marshmallows that have been cut in half. Return to oven and bake until marshmallows are soft (a few minutes).

Frosting
1/2 package brown sugar
1 square unsweetened chocolate
1/4 cup water
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar

Combine brown sugar, chocolate and water and bring to a boil. Boil for 1 1/2 minutes. Add butter, vanilla and powdered sugar and beat smooth. Place frosting carefully over marshmallow layer.

You'll never buy bars like this again because you can make a really big batch of them so easily with this recipe:

CARROT BARS
Laurie Hougard

4 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups oil
3 small jars strained baby food carrots
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda

Beat eggs, sugar and oil well. Add carrots and then other dry ingredients. Place in greased jelly roll pan (or 2 9x13 inch cake pans) and bake 35 minutes (or until springs back when touched) at 350 degrees.

Cream Cheese Frosting
1 (8 ounce) package soft cream cheese
1/2 cup softened butter
1 cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together and frost cooled bars.

Oh, gosh, you've got to try these - they're the best:

TURTLE BARS
Jean Laudal and Jane Jensen

1 cup oatmeal
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup flour
3/4 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup melted butter or margarine
3/4 cup pecans
1 1/2 cups chocolate chips
35 caramels
5 tablespoons cream or milk

Mix oatmeal, salt, soda, flour and brown sugar and add melted butter. Mix well and press 3/4 of the mixture in a 9x13 inch pan. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Meanwhile, melt caramels with cream or milk until dissolved.

Remove bars from oven and while hot, sprinkle with pecans and chocolate chips. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake for 15 minutes more.

These bars are great for those rich cravings you get - they bake up fast and you can get a bite as soon as they are cool:

DREAM BARS
Ethel Thorlacius

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups coconut
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1 cup flour together with pastry blender, fork or fingers. Press in 9x13 inch pan and bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

Mix eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup brown sugar, baking powder and salt. Add coconut and nuts and spread over hot first mixture. Bake 20 minutes more at 350 degrees.

This recipe is not from the cookbook named above, but they are mighty good if you are watching what you eat - they're good for you and yummy too:

CARROT RAISIN MUFFINS

2 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup honey
1 (8 ounce) carton plain yogurt
1/2 cup canola oil
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups shredded carrots
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped walnuts, if desired

Combine dry ingredients in bowl. In another bowl, combine eggs, honey, yogurt, oil, lemon juice and vanilla. Stir into dry ingredients just until blended. Fold in carrots, raisins and nuts. Fill muffin cups 2/3 full.

Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until toothpick comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes before removing from pans to racks. Recipe makes 1 1/2 dozen.

Nutritional Info: One muffin (without nuts) equals 189 calories, 7 g fat (1 g saturated fat), 24 mg chol, 226 mg sodium, 31 g carb, 2 g fiber, 3 g protein. Diabetic exchange is 1 starch, 1 fruit, 1 fat.

TRF man acquitted Wednesday of rape

A Thief River Falls man was acquitted Wednesday in Pennington County District Court of sexually assaulting a female acquaintance.

A jury of six women and six men acquitted Albert Kollie Jones, 30, of a first degree sexual assault charge. The charge carried a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and/or a $40,000 fine.

Jones had been accused of forcing a woman to have sexual intercourse with him June 6 as well as touching her inappropriately, according to the criminal complaint. The police report indicated the alleged assault occurred at a residence in the 400 block of Red Lake Blvd. in Thief River Falls.

The jury deliberated for 50 minutes Wednesday afternoon before finding Jones not guilty of the charge, according to the Pennington County Court Administrator's Office. The trial began Tuesday morning.

RiverView Health enhances emergency service

RiverView Health brought its local emergency service to a higher level Monday by providing full-time in-house coverage by medical doctors in its Emergency Department. Along with the improved staffing of the department, RiverView is offering extended Urgent Care service by adding daytime hours during the week and offering urgent care services on weekends.

The expanded use of physicians in-house is a change from staffing of medical doctors only on weekends, while covering weekdays and weeknights with mid-level providers and on-call medical doctors from Altru Clinic in Crookston. This new 24-hour, seven-day-a-week service will be provided through a contract with Wapiti Emergency Physicians, a private company that provides physician coverage to emergency rooms in hospitals around the country.

"We see this as a major step up from the coverage we have always offered before," said Deb Boardman, RiverView CEO. "We have been covering daytime hours with on-call physicians from the Altru Clinic and have not had anyone actually in the Emergency Department during the day before, and we feel the community will be much better served by medical doctors being available in the department all the time."

Wapiti doctors have training that is specific to emergency medicine, and they provide emergency coverage in other hospitals in this region. "We feel this will be a good match for our community, and we think we can serve patients more quickly with this expanded coverage," Boardman said.

Along with the improved staffing of the Emergency Department, RiverView's Urgent Care service will now be offered on weekdays from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on weekends. Just as before, there will be a special rate, similar to an office visit, for any patients who are registered in the emergency room between those hours and are seen for non-emergency conditions such as ear infections, or cold or flu-like conditions. No appointment is needed.

The Urgent Care service has been offered for several years at RiverView. This program expands the options to local residents to have medical problems seen by a medical doctor on a walk-in basis, without an appointment and without paying for an emergency room visit.

No appointments will be taken, and all Urgent Care patients will be seen on a first come, first serve basis. For more information, call the RiverView Emergency Department at 1-800-743-6511, extension 450.

North Valley Public Health to hold flu shots in November

North Valley Public Health will provide flu shots at clinics in the communities of Grygla, Middle River, Newfolden, Stephen, Argyle, Oslo and Warren in early to mid November. There is an adequate supply of flu vaccine this year, but shipment has been delayed. Generally, immunity last for about six months. Obtaining a flu shot by mid to late November affords protection against the flu in plenty of time for the flu season, which usually begins in mid to late December and lasts through April.

North Valley Public Health will publish the dates, times and locations of the flu clinics in The Times/Northern Watch.

We would like to thank everyone that sent flowers, brought food and words of kindness during our tragic loss. Also thank you to the Goodridge First Responders, Pastor Dahlen and Pastor Barkman, the Pennington County Sheriff's Dept., Great Plains EMS, Johnson Funeral Home and the Ekelund Ladies' Aid. The response from friends and neighbors has been overwhelming. When you think of Roger, remember his smile, his laugh and his love for life. May his memory be blessed.

The family of Matt Appel has been very touched by your kindness, caring support, and prayers. We want to sincerely tell our family and friends thank you for being so thoughtful since Matt's accident. We received so many cards and visits and this was a comfort to our family. Some of the cards we could not find addresses for. Most of those cards were from Matt's classmates and friends. Please know that if you did not receive a Thank You in the mail your cards and support were also a comfort to us, and we thank you for that.

We would also like to thank the following people. Red Lake County Sheriff's Dept., Red Lake Falls Volunteer Ambulance Service, Red Lake Falls Volunteer Fire Dept., Minnesota State Patrol, Great Plains EMS of Crookston, and the people who stopped to help assist with the accident, Dr. Kalin, Pastor Steven Anderson, and the medical staff at RiverView Emergency Room in Crookston, Johnson Funeral Home, Pastor Jerry Eggers and all of you at Trinity Lutheran Church. Matt's class of 2003 for the plant and card with so many names. Fans Racing for the special tribute in honor of Matt at the Greenbush Race, and the trophy with flowers that were sent to Matt's church services.

It has been three months since we last saw Matt and his great smile, or heard his hearty laugh. We miss his polite personality, kind heart, and helping hand. We know he is truly missed by many and knowing that you all care has meant so much to our family. Thank you for all that you have done.

Sincerely, Steve, Vanessa, & Joe Appel

Tri-County to perform "How the West was Dun"

The Tri-County High School Drama Department's fall production, "How the West Was Dun," a comedy by Christopher Gieschen, will be performed Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, November 17, 18, and 19, with a curtain time of 8 p.m. Admission is $2 for children through grade six, $3 for students grades seven to 12, and $4 for adults.

A melodrama with stock characters, such as the dastardly villain, the pure-heart hero, and the utterly naive heroine, the play combines farce with a wide variety of other "interesting" characters and many spoofs of Hollywood westerns, all of which offer a fun-filled evening for audiences of all ages. It's the typical, yet hilarious, predicaments of the heroine caught between the plots and the ploys of the villain and the attraction of the hero that keep the play moving at a frantic pace.

The almost 30 students involved with this production include:

The Good Guys - Kyle Wikstrom as Sheriff Wayne John, Derek Stusynski as Deputy Dudley Doowrong, Kayla Klegstad as Widow Cracker, Jamie Graff as Polly Wanda Cracker, Katie Stusynski as Prunella Cracker, Anthony Oistad as Cowboy Bob Skratchit, Matt Levenhagen as Bo Best, Bobbie Przybylski as Sasparilla Sal, Ross Prosser as Reverend Right, Ruth Schaffhauser as the Lone Stranger, Nicole Stusynski as the narrator, and the band of Indianians - Sara Donaldson, Kim Nyflot, Nicole Hanson, and Becca Larson.

The Bad Guys - Evan Grandstrand as Rich Coldheart, Joe Stusynski as Snydley Dastardly, Jenalea Bronson as Belle Starr, Dallas Nyflot as Schizophrenic Kid, Krista Anderson as Calamity Jan, Scott Amb as Kid Kid, Grant Sang as Black Bart, and Tanner Lofstrom as Blacker Bart.

The production staff includes: Ashley Altendorf as the student assistant, Danielle Wollin as the stage manager, Jordan Wikstrom on lights, Katie Hanson on sound, Kristine Ramsrud on followspot 1, Spencer Knutson on followspot 2, and Jessica Peterson, Katie Stusynski, Nicole Hanson, Derek Stusynski and Sara Donaldson on set construction.

This production is under the direction of Robert Gust. Kay Bostrom is assisting.

Volunteers make a difference at Marshall County Park

For the second consecutive year, volunteers, assisted by Park Manager Glenn Halvorson, have been busy building and "sprucing up" Marshall County Park at Florian.

Early in the 2004 season, the first group of volunteers gathered to design and build onto the existing office. The plan was to give more needed space to the staff members working inside while allowing for a new window that would help serve incoming visitors. This group, consisting of John Deschene, Jim Folz, Jeff Anderson, Shane Johnson and Tim Deschene, was involved in the planning, building and painting of the new office addition.

Through the winter of 2004-05, County Park Board members worked on a grant in hopes of securing new playground equipment for the park. More volunteers surfaced to assist in repairing the existing equipment. Jim Folz repaired and painted the sand shovel trucks, and Gary Kujava led the rebuilding of the merry-go-round.

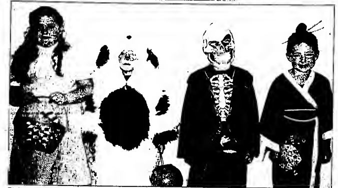
Spring 2005 brought forth a larger group of volunteers who made plans to repair and add onto the older of the two bath houses located on the park grounds. Throughout the summer, this group tore down, rebuilt, added on to one of the buildings, painted and shingled. These volunteers included Kyle Gustafson, Shane Johnson, Bob Dostal, Folz, John Deschene, Blaine Deschene, Kujava, Reynold Nelson, Jeff Anderson and Kelly Burthwick. Assisting with the completely enclosed bath house were Halvorson and Nathan Gornowicz, staff member.

Using gravel from the Marshall County Highway Department, Conrad Kuznia helped with road maintenance throughout the season. High water situations from the past two years made roadwork a part of park maintenance.

This summer, Riverside 4-H Club in Argyle planted and cared for a border of red, white and blue flowers to add to the new sign welcoming visitors to the park.

At the end of the summer, a handful of volunteers redesigned and built a new lifeguard stand. The volunteers included John Deschene, Burthwick, Folz and Blaine Deschene.

Building a new open shelter in the tent area is already in the plans for early spring 2006.



County Park Board members are working on a new grant for playground equipment. Public and private donations have started to come in and will be put toward this project. For more information on how to donate to this project, contact Marshall County Park Board, in care of Deb Benson, P.O. Box 351, Stephen, MN 56757. If individuals prefer to speak to a director from their area, the directors include: in Argyle – John Deschene and Alice Deschene, in Newfolden – County Commissioner Sharon Bring, in Rosewood – Colette Voecks, in Stephen – Deb Benson and Janice Gryskiewicz, in Strandquist – County Commissioner Brent Boen, and in Warren – Terry Potucek.

The County Park Board noted it made every effort to include each volunteer in this article. It apologizes if any individual was inadvertently omitted.

Four people injured in accident Oct. 28

Four people were injured Oct. 28 after a multi-vehicle accident on Highway 32 in Red Lake County.

A 15-year-old Red Lake Falls male was transported by Red Lake Falls Ambulance to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. He was treated and released from the hospital, according to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Mitch Bernstein declined to release the juvenile's name, citing that he wouldn't release the name without parental consent because that would make it easier for the department.

Another 15-year-old Red Lake Falls male, who was a passenger in the other juvenile's vehicle, suffered minor injuries. He was not transported by ambulance. Bernstein refused to release that juvenile's name and cited the reasons listed above.

The driver of the second vehicle, Stacy Lynn Hageman, 32, Thief River Falls, and her 4-year-old son also suffered minor injuries. They were not transported by ambulance.

At the time of the accident, a school bus was facing east in or near the 19000 block of Hwy. 32 S.E. The driver had stopped to let some children off of the bus. The bus driver saw three westbound vehicles approaching, so he activated the amber flashers and was going to wait for the cars to pass. The first car, driven by the juvenile, stopped for the amber lights, according to the sheriff's department report. The bus driver then decided to activate the red lights to warn the other drivers to stop.

Due to the rise in the roadway, Hageman couldn't see that the vehicle in front of her had stopped, the report indicated. Her vehicle then rear-ended the juvenile's vehicle. A third vehicle, driven by Amy Fisketjon, 23, Crookston, then rear-ended Hageman's vehicle. Fisketjon was not injured in the crash. The school bus was not struck by any of the other vehicles.

No citations were issued, the sheriff's department noted. The three vehicles were severely damaged and had to be towed from the scene.

Red Lake County deputies, Red Lake Falls Ambulance, the Red Lake Falls Fire Department and the Minnesota State Patrol were dispatched to the scene at 12:20 p.m. Oct. 28.

Marshall County Park Board Vice Chairperson Alice Deschene of Argyle recently presented a plaque of recognition to retiring Park Manager Glenn Halvorson of Warren. Halvorson has served the county in this capacity for the past nine years and has become a respected and well-loved "fixture" to the park located in Florian, according to the board. His dedication will be greatly missed, but he has offered to provide technical assistance to incoming Park Manager Kelly Burthwick. The board thanked Halvorson and wished him well in his retirement. Hunting traditions in northwest Minnesota

Here in northwestern Minnesota, hunting is a tradition.

Most area residents are well aware that the deer hunting season opens this weekend. There's no need to remind anyone of that fact because fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, and grandparents have been looking forward to this weekend for months. Hunting is so important to many of these people that, in at least one instance that I am aware of, school has been called off on the Friday before the opening because with so few students in school it just doesn't make sense to be open.

There are other signs that the big event is nearing. If you look closely, you'll realize that the signs of the approaching season are as plentiful as the falling leaves - the color orange has become a proud fashion statement, grocery stores are stocking up with the essentials of bacon, eggs, steaks and chips, and almost overnight, bright orange "No Hunting" or "No Trespassing" signs are appearing on fence posts and forest trees like overdone Christmas decorations.

Adding to the excitement this year are signs that it could be a very good year for hunting. There are so many deer that wildlife experts are anticipating one of the best harvests in years. Last year, about 260,000 deer were harvested in Minnesota. Experts believe it's possible that even more could be harvested this year. Each year, roughly 500,000 hunters head to the fields. With so many deer and so much excitement building for the big event, it's possible that there could be even more hunters afield this year.

Northwest Minnesotans are generally a welcoming group. They do, however, ask that visitors respect property rights and act safely and in accordance with safety rules and regulations.

That said, we wish everyone a safe season. There are plenty of ways to get injured while hunting - slipping, falling from a tree, not being sure of your target or what's behind it, tripping on a stump or branch, and even weapon or ammunition malfunction - none of which are acceptable. A good hunting season is one in which no one is hurt. Take time before you enter the field to make sure your equipment is in good working order, and hold a safety meeting with everyone in your hunting party. No matter how experienced or knowledgeable you are, it never hurts to review the safety rules. And, save the celebrating for afterwards.

We wish to add one more thought…good luck.

Where is that land again?

To the Editor:

In a recent article published in the Grand Forks Herald and other area newspapers (The Northern Watch, Oct. 29) the Nature Conservancy, an international nonprofit organization stated that it recently had purchased over 800 acres of land in Kittson County, which is adjacent to the Wallace C. Dayton Wildlife Area that is already owned by this same group. I found this to be quite interesting so I did some research as to the exact location of this newly purchased land and found that it is located over 20 miles southeast of a sign, which says Wallace C. Dayton and Nature Conservancy. The definition of adjacent is "immediately next to, contiguous, or touching" and etc. Therefore, this land purchase is not adjacent to the Wallace D. Dayton Wildlife Area. This sign is located in Cannon Township and the newly purchased acres are in Deerwood, Arveson and Pelan townships. Could this be an indication that their long range plan is to eventually own the east half of Kittson County? That could be very damaging to the economic status and potential growth of Kittson County as it will hinder private development of recreation and agricultural sectors.

The article also went on to say that since it has been buying and managing land in Kittson County, the deer, elk, moose and bear populations have been on the increase. I would like to refute this claim as I am a hunter in Cannon Township and I am certainly not seeing these animal populations on the increase. Anybody that lives or hunts in this area will tell you that the opposite is true. Since the Nature Conservancy and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) have taken over much of the eastern portion of Kittson County, the wildlife (especially deer) have moved west into the annually seeded, and actively farmed areas. Deer, moose and elk prefer a variety of food, like alfalfa, corn, potatoes, sugar beets, not big bluestem and other tall grass prairie species. We never see any moose, and there are some elk but the DNR shot some of them because they were worried about Chronic Wasting Disease.

I'm glad to have this opportunity to state the real truth vs. a group that does not state the real truth.

Sincerely,
James R. Thompson

National Philanthropy Day to be observed

North Dakota Area Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP) will hold its National Philanthropy Day celebration and workshop Friday, Nov. 18 in Grand Forks, N.D.

The day will begin with registration at 8 a.m. at the Ramada Inn in Grand Forks. Jon Green, director of development for Altru Health Foundation, will lead an interactive workshop titled "Effective Listening and Communications." This workshop will focus on effective communications – an essential part of successful fundraising. Green will outline the tools fundraisers need and how and when to use them in building relationships.

The luncheon speaker will be Tim O'Keefe, executive vice president/CEO of the University of North Dakota Alumni Association & Foundation. His topic will be "Change the World with a Giving Heart."

National Philanthropy Day® is a day set aside to recognize and pay tribute to the contributions that philanthropy – and philanthropists – make to the communities in which they live.

AFP represents 26,000 fundraisers in more than 170 chapters throughout the world, working to advance philanthropy through advocacy, research, education, and certification programs. The North Dakota Area chapter serves North Dakota and northwest Minnesota fundraisers, fosters development and growth of fundraising professionals and promotes high ethical standards in the fundraising profession.

Sponsors for the daylong event are Bremer Financial and Ad Monkeys Inc.

For more information, contact Sue Bjomstad, director of development at Valley Memorial Homes in Grand Forks, at (701) 787-7984 or Denise Laymon, executive director of the Thief River Falls Education Foundation at (218) 681-8711 ext. 228.

Singles Christian Fellowship planned for Nov. 13

The November meeting of the Singles' Christian Fellowship will be held on Sunday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston. The afternoon program includes a short business meeting, a devotional thought and the award of an attendance gift. There will be a wildlife video and a time of bingo for which small prizes are needed. A pizza party supper is planned for 5 p.m., so those attending should plan their potluck food gifts around that fact. All single adults are welcome to attend and enjoy the fellowship.

Lorie Erickson (left) and Regi Goodhell shared music during a rehearsal of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Gloria." Several individuals and groups from Thief River Falls, including Northland Community and Technical College students and the Masterworks Choir, are collaborating to perform the music with the Franklin Middle School choirs. The performance will be at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 10, in the multi-purpose room of the middle school.

Guidelines provided for shipping to military installations overseas

Military families and organizations across the country preparing care packages to mail to service members overseas for the holidays need to mark Nov. 12 on their calendars.

Packages being sent by Parcel Post to all Air/Army Post Office (APO) or Fleet Post Office (FPO) zip codes should be mailed no later than Saturday, Nov. 12, to reach troops stationed overseas in time for the holidays.

Letters and cards sent by First-Class Mail should be posted no later than Dec. 10. There are more than 80 military installations worldwide.

"We are asking families and supporters to mail and ship early this year to insure a happy holiday for our troops," said John E. Potter, postmaster general and CEO of the U.S. Postal Service.

To address current demand, the Postal Service has created a special "kit" that contains the necessary mailing materials based on the most popular items ordered to send care packages to the troops.

This kit may be ordered by calling 1-800-610-8734 and requesting CAREKIT04. The kit contains 10 Priority Mail boxes, five "Mili-Pacs," one roll of Priority Mail tape, and 10 customs forms with envelopes. There is no charge for the kit.

Mili-Pacs, developed with the Military Postal Service Agency, are Tyvek envelopes with Old Glory on one side and feature detailed addressing information. It is encouraged that this process be followed for all mail destined for military units overseas. The address block on the Mili-Pac accommodates a service member's full name, rank or rating, military organization or unit, APO/FPO with 9-digit zip code.

All packages and mail must be addressed to individual service members, in accordance with U.S. Department of Defense regulations.

All military units are assigned an APO or FPO zip code and in many cases that zip code travels with the unit. The Postal Service places APO/FPO mail on special charter flights, commercial airlines and military service aircraft to reach armed services members overseas as quickly as possible.

A complete list of military mailing deadlines is as follows:

• APO/FPO AE zip codes 090-092 – Dec. 19 for Express Mail Military Service (EMMS), Dec. 10 for first-class mail letters or cards, Dec. 10 for priority mail, Dec. 3 for Parcel Airlift (PAL) mail, Nov. 26 for Space Available Mail (SAM), Nov. 12 for Parcel Post.

• APO/FPO AE zip code 093 – not applicable for EMMS, Dec. 5 for priority mail and first-class mail letters or cards, Dec. 3 for PAL, Nov. 26 for SAM and Nov. 12 for Parcel Post.

• APO/FPO AE zip codes 094-098, 962-966, and 340 – Dec. 19 for EMMS, Dec. 10 for priority mail and first-class mail letters or cards, Dec. 3 for PAL, Nov. 26 for SAM, and Nov. 12 for Parcel Post.

EMMS is available to selected military post offices. Local post offices can determine if this service is available to an APO/FPO of address. The information also is available by calling 1-800-ASK-USPS.

PAL is a special service that provides air transportation for parcels on a space-available basis. It is available for Parcel Post items not exceeding 30 pounds in weight or 60 inches in length and girth combined. The applicable PAL fee must be paid in addition to the regular surface rate of postage for each addressed piece sent by PAL service.

SAM parcels are those paid at Parcel Post rates that are first transported domestically by surface and then to overseas destinations by air on a space-available basis. The maximum weight and size limits are 15 pounds and 60 inches in length and girth combined.

Lundeen Farm is finalist for award

both honors because of the farm's participation in several conservation programs that deal with forestry, wind erosion prevention, cropland management, pest management, wetland restoration and management and wildlife practices.

"It's an honor," Kelly Lundeen modestly said of Lundeen Farms being chosen as Area I Outstanding Conservationist and state finalist. "We were surprised to hear it."

Lundeen Farms was also recognized as outstanding conservationist for Pennington County in August. The family's conservation efforts were highlighted in the Aug. 24 edition of The Times.

Other state outstanding conservation finalists include John and Jill Walkup, Campbell, Area II; Ron and Sue Johnston, Lindstrom, Area III; Kevin and Curtis Koepp and family, Belle Plaine, Area IV; Rod Vander Ziel, operator and Fern Harris, landowner, Marshall, Area V; K & L Pork, Kevin and Larry Rahn, Good Thunder, Area VI; The Serfling Family, Preston, Area VII; and Jerry and Lois Nanik, Verndale, Area VIII.

No injuries reported after fire Tuesday

No injuries were reported after a fire Tuesday evening at the Wetch Hotel in Thief River Falls.

The fire started after a resident turned on an oven in a hotel apartment rented by Rebecca Kezar. A wooden cutting board located in the oven's drawer then started the floor on fire, according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department.

A dollar amount was not available for the damage. Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 6:29 p.m. Tuesday.

Multi-sport athlete is hockey recruit...

Michael Forney will sign to play at UND

by Mike Lundgren, Sports Editor

Michael Forney's hockey talent has taken him across the globe. But the Lincoln High School senior decided to continue his career just down the road. Calls were made Tuesday night after the much sought-after 17-year-old told University of North Dakota head hockey coach Dave Hakstol and assistant coach Brad Berry he would commit to UND during the early NCAA signing period that begins Nov. 14.

His already-promising hockey stock rose again after Forney's strong showing as a member of the United States Select 17 team that competed at the Under-18 World Junior Cup tournament Aug. 9-14 in Piestany, Slovakia, and Breclav, Czech Republic. He was contacted by recruiters from schools across the country, and was also offered the opportunity to play Major Juniors in Canada – often a stepping stone to professional hockey. Reports project the 6-3, 195-pounder being selected in the top rounds of the 2006 National Hockey League amateur draft.

Forney's athleticism spans all three high school sports seasons. As the Prowlers' quarterback, he has recorded back-to-back 1,000-yard passing seasons. As a forward, Forney has accumulated 47 goals, 61 assists and 108 points through his freshman, sophomore and junior hockey seasons. And he is a state qualifier in tennis.

"Michael's just a natural," says Thief River Falls tennis coach Troy Hanestad. "Right away, you notice his physical ability. He came out for tennis for the first time as an eighth grader and he was in the state tournament as a ninth grader. That's just unheard of."

Top tennis players work at their sport year-round. Thief River Falls players make regular winter trips to Grand Forks, N.D., to utilize indoor facilities. Forney's schedule doesn't leave time to pick up a racket in the off-season, even during the prime summer months. Yet, he barely misses a step when the spring sports season arrives.

"Confidence stemming from being successful in other sports makes Michael a winner when he steps on the court, even if he doesn't play tennis in the summer," said Hanestad. "His competitiveness and intensity from being involved in football and hockey are a big plus in tennis."

In a mid-size high school that offers 18 varsity athletic programs, Thief River Falls relies heavily on the multi-sport athlete to be competitive throughout the year.

"If it weren't for the multi-sport athlete, we wouldn't survive," said Thief River Falls football coach Jeff Mumm. "I would say that football is not the primary sport for 90 percent of our kids."

Cooperation among the Thief River Falls coaches is essential, according to Mumm, to help get the athletes involved in more than one sport. "It's extremely important to our program that the coaches work together on this," he said. "And they do. You have to give the coaches a lot of credit for making it possible and encouraging kids to play multiple sports."

In that regard, Forney is a major sell for diversity, acknowledged Mumm.

"So many times people think if you're going to excel at anything, you have to specialize," he said. "Michael proves that is not true. He's an exceptional athlete. He's a Division I-Division II prospect in football; obviously a top recruit in hockey; and he could probably go anywhere and play college tennis, too. I know my telephone won't be ringing nearly as much now that Michael has announced he will be playing college hockey."

There is no knock against athletes who, due to size, strength, time and preference, stick to one sport. But the Prowlers' overall athletic program benefits from those doing double or triple duty during the school year.

"We certainly encourage it," said Thief River Falls boys hockey coach Scott Bergland, referring to having his players participate in other sports. "Every time someone does well in football, baseball or tennis or other sports, there's pride in their accomplishments because he's part of your program. For a town our size, we need kids to be multi-sports athletes."

The college hockey scholarship being offered to Forney is a deserving reward for a top student-athlete, according to Bergland. "Michael is an outstanding athlete, but even more important, he's an outstanding kid," he said.

Wolfpack, Ponies win matches at NCTC

Kittson Central and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo were 3-0 winners over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke and Northern Freeze, respectively, in a Tuesday North Sub-Section 8A high school volleyball tournament semifinal doubleheader at Northland Community and Technical College.

Annaleah Halvorson had 11 kills and three service aces to lead the Wolfpack past the Wolverines in the opener, 25-11, 25-22, 25-16. Justyne Larson had nine kills to lead a balanced attack for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke that also included seven kills each for Sara Rindahl and Kasey Dahlen.

Katie Schmidt (12) and Brooke Conley (11) combined for 23 kills as the Ponies won the nightcap 25-23, 25-11 26-24. Alycia Dahl's six kills lead Northern Freeze.

At Crookston High School, Climax/Fisher won three close games in a sweep of Red Lake County Central to open the South Sub-Section 8A semifinal bracket.

Despite a match-high 18 kills by the Mustangs' Courtney Halvorson, the Knights advanced with a 26-24, 25-18, 25-20 victory.

Red Lake County Central came back from a 6-0 deficit to extend Game 1, but fell short and could not make up the difference the rest of the night.

"We had a hard time getting our offense going," explained Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "The girls had a hard time with their passing."

Outside of the regular season shorter tournament matches, the Mustangs won 12 of 16 contests. "Overall, it was a good season," offered Bray.

Tuberculosis surveillance taking place for area deer

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is asking hunters for their cooperation in efforts to look for bovine tuberculosis in northwest Minnesota's wild deer population.

During the opening weekend of the firearms season, researchers from the University of Minnesota College of Veterinary Medicine will be collecting samples at nine big game registration stations in eastern Roseau and Marshall and western Lake of the Woods and Beltrami counties to test hunter-harvested deer for the disease. The researchers will visually inspect deer carcasses and remove lymph nodes from the neck for analysis.

The DNR is asking hunters who harvest deer within 15 miles of either Skime or Salol to register their deer at one of the following stations, where tissue samples can be collected: Olson Skime Store; D&G Pro Station near Hayes Lake State Park; Riverfront Station in Wannaska; Hartz Store in Grygla; Fourtown Store; Denny's Outdoor Sports in Roseau; Cenex "C" Store in Roseau; DJ's Salol; and Holiday Station in Warroad

The DNR has expanded the surveillance effort after a new bovine TB case was discovered about 20 miles north of the original three infected cattle herds. The DNR hopes to inspect and test at least 600 deer during opening weekend. For participating, hunters will receive a 2005 cooperator patch and will be entered into a drawing for one of several firearms.

Bovine TB is a contagious bacterial disease found primarily in cattle, but can be transmitted between mammals, including white-tailed deer and humans. It is a chronic, slow progressing disease that does not spread easily. To date, the disease has not been detected in Minnesota deer. To reduce exposure to the bacteria, the DNR reminds hunters to use gloves when field dressing deer and always thoroughly cook the meat, which destroys the bacteria.

DNR QUESTION/WEEK

Q: The fur coat of a deer changes colors depending on the time of year - a reddish color in the spring and brown in the fall. Why does this happen?

A: The deer's coat is designed to provide both a means for thermoregulation and camouflage. Summer coats appear reddish and are thin, allowing deer to better cope with heat stress. In the fall, deer begin a process of molting, which is triggered by hormonal changes that reflect the changing seasons. The reddish summer coat turns into a faded gray or brown color as the new winter coat begins to grow. The new coat is comprised of two layers. The outer guard hairs are hollow, stiff and grow about two inches longer than the undercoat. The inner layer is soft and dense, which insulates deer from the cold weather and snow. Coat color, regardless of the season, tends to be darker in forested areas and lighter in agricultural areas where deer are exposed to more direct sunlight.

New laws directed at off-highway vehicles and owners/drivers

A number of changes enacted by the 2005 Minnesota Legislature regulating off-highway vehicles (including all-terrain vehicles, off-highway motorcycles and 4x4 trucks) will affect those who own or operate them in Minnesota. It is important that riders take a moment to review these changes before heading out, according to the Department of Natural Resources officials, because many of these new provisions went into effect July 1.

Wetlands

The 2005 law increases penalties for persons who cause damage in wetlands. Peace officers may now file criminal charges and issue a civil citation in addition to restitution for damages to public or privately owned wetlands. Civil penalties are $100, $500 and $1,000 for the first, second and subsequent offenses, respectively. These penalty amounts can be doubled if the violator's vehicle is equipped with a snorkel device. Snorkels are now prohibited in Minnesota, except within designated off-highway vehicle recreation areas.

Vehicle Registration/Training

All OHVs must be properly registered in Minnesota in order to operate on public lands or designated trails, including grant-in-aid trails. Unregistered off-road vehicles (e.g., 4x4 trucks) will, however, be allowed to operate within the Iron Range OHV Recreation Area at Gilbert, the third Saturday of May each year, beginning in 2006. The new law also creates a voluntary safety education and training program for jeep and truck operators beginning in summer 2006.

Effective Jan. 1, 2006, ATV operators born after July 1, 1987, and who are at least 16 years old, must complete the ATV safety training independent study course before riding on public lands. Persons convicted of violating any state OHV laws must retake and successfully complete required safety training courses before resuming legal operation of their OHV.

Operating Rules

Adult ATV operators may now carry one passenger. Passengers younger than age 18 must wear a helmet. Youthful ATV operators may not carry passengers and must be able to properly reach the handle bars and foot pegs while sitting upright on the ATV. They must also wear a helmet when operating on public lands. Children ages 10-11 may operate an ATV with an engine capacity of up to 90cc on public land if accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

ATV safety certificates, required for those ages 12-15, are valid only after successful completion of both the ATV independent study course and the rider (hands-on) safety training components.

Off-highway motorcycles must now display a OHV registration decal attached to the side of the bike if operated on public land. OHMs being used for racing events or exclusively on private property need not display their registration sticker. Effective July 1, 2006, all OHMs must also be equipped with mufflers that produce no more than 96 decibels of sound at the tailpipe. Vehicles manufactured prior to 1998 may emit no more than 99 decibels.

ATV Use Exceptions

The 2005 bill allows licensed big game hunters and trappers to use ATVs off-trail in limited or managed forests, except in the R. J. Dorer Memorial Hardwood Forest in southeastern Minnesota, during September for retrieving big game, and during October - December for hunting, transporting or constructing big game hunting stands, tending furbearer traps, or when engaged in commercial minnow trapping. Highway licensed vehicles may use undesignated trails in "managed" or "limited" forests subject to the same seasonal and licensing restrictions.

The DNR commissioner may designate areas within state forests where these hunting and trapping exceptions do not apply, following public notice and a comment period. OHV operation by licensed hunters, their employees and family members, without firearms, is now allowed on private property during the firearms deer season for occupational purposes.

U.S. Highway 2

The 2005 law retains the 'managed' forest classification north of U.S. Highway 2, which allows OHVs to operate on most state forest roads and trails, unless posted "closed". In "limited" forests, and south of U.S. Highway 2, OHVs may operate only on signed and designated roads and trails. U.S. Highway 2 runs east-west across the state from Grand Forks, N. D., to Duluth.

For more information on OHV rules and regulations visit the DNR Web site at: www.dnr.state.mn.us or www.findthetrails.com.

Schaick, a retired nurse, then thought she was going to work in a hospital. That was until she learned she would only be observing the work there.

Then Van Schaick found another way to help – spending time with orphans. Even though she hadn't anticipated that mission work, Van Schaick said. "Of course, that's where I really needed to be."

Each day, she and two male volunteers would travel 26 miles in a van from their hotel to Ngculwini. Other volunteers who were gardening in another town would drop them off.

Van Schaick went to an abandoned building similar to a warehouse. Five days a week, orphaned children would gather there. About 85 kids ages 2 to 13 would walk on their own from their community of huts to the building each morning, Van Schaick said. Most were between the ages of 3-1/2 and 8.

Orphans are at the end of the pecking order in their town, Van Schaick said. She noted that orphans will stay at a neighbor or relative's home after both of their parents or their only parent dies. However, they're not welcomed there because they're taking up space, using water and eating food.

That's why they come to the abandoned building. They are served food donated by various organizations. The food is cooked by two women who live in Ngculwini and volunteer their time to feed the kids. During the time that Van Schaick spent there, the women cooked food donated by German Seventh-day Adventists as well as food donated by Zionists. "Each kid would stand in line, and have rice and then beans," Van Schaick said. The women don't eat the food because, as they told Van Schaick, it's for the kids.

It was the kids' only meal for 24 hours. They had no milk or juice. If they wanted water, they went to the creek. "It was just worse than any dishwater you've seen," Van Schaick said about the creek.

Van Schaick especially noticed the poverty of Ngculwini when a boy picked something off of the ground, wiped it on his clothing, put it into his mouth and then sucked on the item. She wondered what he had in his mouth and asked him. It was a grain of rice.

Meeting the kids

Van Schaick and the other volunteers got a lot of attention when they arrived at the abandoned building or what Van Schaick called the orphanage. "These kids would come up and just touch you," she said.

Like many kids in that age group, they had questions. They spoke English and asked Van Schaick about America and the things she did when she was younger. "All these questions, you have no idea where they came from," she said.

Go-Go plays with the kids

Some of the orphans had a special name for Van Schaick. "The little ones, they called me Go-Go," she said. Van Schaick later learned that Go-Go is a term the kids use to refer to their grandmas.

Van Schaick, who has two grandchildren, showered attention on the orphans much like any loving grandma. "The look in their eyes was just unbelievable," she said. "They relished anything that remotely resembled love – a pat on the hand, a hug."

The kids apparently liked spending time with their Go-Go. They crowded Van Schaick as she hugged and played with them, she said. Van Schaick would count their fingers with them and play hand-clapping games similar to those that many American kids play while riding on school buses.

Then Van Schaick noticed a 5-year-old girl sitting beside her. "She had the dirtiest pink flannel shirt on I'd ever seen in my life, but you could tell it was pink," Van Schaick said.

Van Schaick touched the girl's shoulder. The girl jerked, and turned away from Van Schaick.

The girl sat near Van Schaick the next day, but wouldn't look at or touch her, unlike the other kids. In the midst of playing with the kids, Van Schaick later realized the 5-year-old girl with the dirty pink flannel shirt wasn't sitting near her. Then she felt something move across her back. She noted it felt like a caterpillar was on her back. Then someone pulled at the cross necklace around her neck. Shortly thereafter, someone began using his or her hand to comb Van Schaick's hair. Out of the corner of her eye, Van Schaick got a glimpse of a pink shirt. Then the girl stopped combing Van Schaick's hair. She disappeared, only to return a few minutes later and stand next to Van Schaick and place her arm on Van Schaick's leg. Later, she sat on the ground in between Van Schaick's legs, and, with her back to Van Schaick, placed one arm on each of Van Schaick's legs.

Van Schaick counted the girl's fingers and the girl knew the numbers. For the first time since Van Schaick had been there, the girl responded to the people around her. "I think about her everyday and wonder if she's getting attention from anybody," Van Schaick said.

As much as her heart went out to the kids and others living in the town, Van Schaick was glad she didn't live in Ngculwini. "You always were happy to see the dust coming down the road because you know you were going home," she said.

The hand-clapping and counting games weren't the only games the kids played in Ngculwini, but they had to be creative when it came to playtime. "They don't have any toys," said Van Schaick, who noted the kids played with a ball fashioned out of a knotted plastic bag filled with leaves.

Van Schaick and the other volunteers were surprised when they saw the ball. "We just sat there with tears in our eyes that this was all that they had," she said.

Supporting a minister and his dream

While working at the orphanage, Van Schaick also met a pastor named Walter. "I found out he never had a Bible," she said. Van Schaick had brought a medium-sized Samsonite bag filled with paper, crayons, pencils, and three or four Bibles along to Africa. She gave one of the Bibles to Walter.

"When you think about it, we take so much for granted," Van Schaick said.

A house is being built for Walter. Work is also beginning on a church and school. Walter intends to raise chickens at that location as well.

While hearing about Walter's plans, Van Schaick realized Walter needed a more reliable form of electricity. She suggested placing a transformer nearby with a solar backup system. Van Schaick also noticed Walter needed a well from which to draw water for the school. That entire project is estimated to cost $20,000 to $22,000.

Van Schaick has already used some of her savings to pay for soil samples in preparation for the well. Others who would like to contribute to the project may send their tax-deductible donations to the United Methodist Church, P.O. Box 595, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Checks should be written to the aforementioned church. In the memo area, write "Walter Project."

members of the Red Paint Singers and it also belongs to them.

Gray was asked if they would perform a few songs on the drum.

Gray did perform his songs with his son Kiel and a few students, but he explained that they play the drum for a reason, not just curiosity.

Drumming and dancing are forms of prayer and healing.

Kiel said he believes that playing the drum makes people feel better. It makes them want to get up and dance.

Kiel said in his family playing the drum was passed down from generation to generation, but Kiel has also learned to play the flute. Self taught, the music is not written down. It comes from his heart.

As in his flute playing, the music of the drum is not written down.

When asked to explain the differences in intensity and rhythms of the drum, Gray said it's probably easier for a dancer to explain a dance than it is for a drummer to explain a song. The music comes from the drum and the heart.

There are some traditional drum songs, which Gray said, the Red Paint Singers don't perform because they are too sacred. He describes their drum music as traditional-contemporary, which means it's traditional but they don't use language in their music and it's all music they've developed (written) from their performances. He said he is seeing more and more performers and tribes not performing their music publically because it is sacred, and some tribes are not allowing other tribes to perform their music without express permission. He also said he is seeing some traditions changing as they come in conflict with modern society. In California, for example, he said he heard that there is one group of all women singers sitting in a circle around the drum - a practice that would not be allowed by First Nation People.

Their Journey

Though there are significant differences in their journey, both Gordon and his son Kiel were raised in traditional ways, and they were raised by grandparents.

In their culture and tradition, the first-born son is raised by grandparents.

Gordon was raised by his grandparents and didn't join his parents until he was 7. He explained during his story, that his grandparents had been among the children removed from their homes by the government and sent to boarding schools where their hair was cut, they were forbidden to speak their native language and practice their traditional ways. Interestingly, though his grandparents could speak English, they never taught Gordon how to speak English. And though as children, his grandparents had been forbidden to practice their traditional ways, his grandparents made sure that the traditional ways and stories were passed down to him.

Gordon said when he was seven years old he couldn't speak English. He was sent to California and enrolled in a Catholic school. Because of the strict discipline administered by the nuns, he said he quickly learned how to speak English.

Kiel was also raised by his grandparents and taught traditional ways, which he explained as speaking the language, going to ceremonies and being with elders. During his time, he said he moved to many places, which was kind of fun, but sometimes confusing as he experienced those encounters with modern society coming from the perspective of someone who had a traditional upbringing. "It's beginning to make sense," said Kiel.

At the age of 21, Kiel admits that at times it seems he's leading a double life. "At home it's just me, but when I go out I seem to act differently to fit in."

As he gets older, Kiel said he sees more and more of his "self" and thinks people like that person better.

Who are they?

They don't like to be called Indians, Native Americans or American Indians - all terms that were defined from contact with white settlers. Gray said they call themselves First Nations People. They came from the Creator, he said, and were the first people to live in this country, and they will be here last, which he cautioned is not meant to be racist or threatening. It's just the way they believe and reflects the fact that they were the first people in this nation.

He said First Nations People don't see different colors. When he goes to town and sees a friend, he tells his wife when he comes back that he saw his friend, not his white or black friend. Though he said he does notice that when he is at home he sometimes does refer to people that way, and he expects when the choir students go home they'll tell their parents they listened to some "Indian guy" tell long stories, which caused quite a bit of laughter. He said he considers talking openly about such things a form of prayer, and he will think about that some more.

Gray is on a journey, a journey during which he will never stop learning. He hopes the students will never stop learning on their journey either. He cautioned them stating that "not all of our questions are answered until sometime later," he said. "And sometimes," he said, "we don't listen to the answers."

Deer hunting season opens on Saturday

cases.

The disease, caused by Mycobacterium bovis, is typically found in the lungs, but may also be found in intestinal, and other animal tissue. It is typically spread through the exchange of respiratory secretions between infected and uninfected animals, or through contaminated food.

The first positive case of Bovine TB in nearly 30 years was detected in Roseau County by the Minnesota Board of Animal Health and the United States Department of Agriculture on July 12, 2005. Minnesota was previously declared TB free in 1976.

Bovine TB has historically been a rare disease in wild deer. Prior to 1994 only eight wild deer had ever tested positive for Bovine TB. In 1995, cases of the disease were detected in Michigan deer. Since then, Bovine TB has been spread from infected deer to cattle and other wild animals in Michigan.

Affected deer may not show any clinical signs of the disease, making it difficult for hunters to detect. Lymph nodes in the infected animal's head will typically show infection first. In advanced cases, lesions will appear on the surface of the lungs and chest cavity as the disease progresses and in severe cases, lesions can be found throughout the deer's body.

Because it is virtually impossible to spot an infected deer prior to processing, the DNR recommends that hunters take precautions when handling deer. Rubber gloves should be worn when gutting a deer and all venison should be cooked to an internal temperature of 165 degrees.

The DNR will be testing harvested deer during the opening weekend of the firearm deer season to determine the population (if any) of infected deer. Testing stations include: Olson Skime Store in Skime, Riverfront Station in Wannaska, D & G Pro Station at Hayes Lake State Park, Streiff's Sporting Goods in Warroad, Hartz Store in Grygla, Fourtown Store in Fourtown, D.J.'s Salol Store in Salol, Cenex "C" Store in Roseau and Denny's Outdoor Sports in Roseau.

Williams said the DNR hopes to collect 1,000 lymph node samples for testing.

"Our best case scenario is to have 1,000 negatives," Williams said. "That would be the best case scenario for us and the cattle producers. Our hope is we find nothing, but we have to test, to say that with confidence."

Elements of a community-wide choir rehearsed Thursday, Nov. 3, for a performance of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Gloria." The choir will perform at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 10, in the multi-purpose room at Franklin Middle School (FMS). Several groups and individuals have been collaborating with the FMS choirs for this concert.

FMS choirs perform concert Thursday

The Franklin Middle School (FMS) choirs will perform their Music History Concert at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10, in the multi-purpose room at the school. The concert, titled "Moving Through Music History" is the result of a collaboration between FMS music students, their teacher Ruth Stenson, the music appreciation students from Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) and their teacher Vanessa Martell; the Masterworks Chorale (Thief River Falls Community Choir); and parents and other relatives of the FMS students.

A highlight of this collaboration will be the performance of "Gloria" by Franz Joseph Haydn.

The concert will start with "Estampie," an instrumental dance from the 1200s. While Larrisa Craigmile plays oboe and David Stenson plays saxophone, the students will file in. The students will then take the audience back to the Early Christian era of music history and, like the monks in the old European cathedrals, will sing a Gregorian chant.

This Medieval piece is the earliest known English round, "Summer is leumen in." The seventh grade girls will dance the round while it is sung.

From the Renaissance era, the audience will hear Thomas Morley's "Go Ye My Canzonets." An oboe and saxophone will accompany the singers just as they would have done in 1500.

The students' performance from the Baroque period is represented in Henry Purcell's "Sound the Trumpet."

The students' performance from the Classical era will highlight Beethoven's "Ode to Peace" (adapted from "Ode to Joy"). Then the adults and students will join together to perform Haydn's "Gloria."

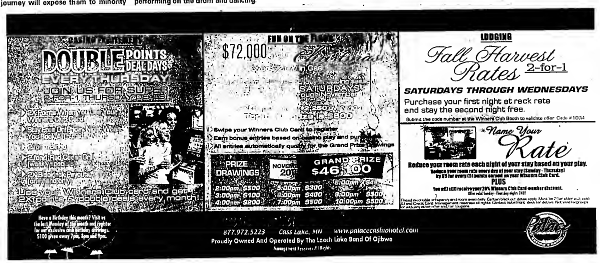
A performance of a piece from the Romantic period will be a familiar melody, a Brahms lullaby, "Wiegenlied." It will be performed in English first and then in German.

Dave Brubeck's "Take Five" is the choice to represent the 20th century.

While the songs are being sung, the music appreciation class from NCTC will be sharing its PowerPoint presentation about the different eras.

Stenson noted that these students have shared their study of the different period of music history with the middle school choirs every Wednesday for the past four weeks.

Stenson invites the public to attend this educational concert. The cost for adults and high school students is $2, $1 for children in kindergarten through grade eight, and free for preschoolers. Concert proceeds will help pay for the musical middle school students will perform in March.



For nine months during the 2005-06 school year, the 186-member Lincoln High School Choir will be taking a cultural, historical and musical journey. This journey will expose them to minority groups that make up part of the U.S. On Oct. 23, the students worked with Gordon and Kiel Gray of Montana. Part of their presentation involved performing on the drum and dancing.

Lancaster dairy barn stops operation

Lancaster - There are no longer cows at River Ridge Dairy near Lancaster. The dairy farm, which started in 2000 with 700 cows, is not in operation.

What does that mean for Kittson County commissioners, who back in 2002 guaranteed a loan to the operation in the amount of $137,500?

The loan guarantee was with Border State Bank. With the loan pool in place, the county's obligation to pay back the guarantee was only an issue if the dairy barn was unable to make its payments.

Kittson County Attorney Roger Malm said the county is not paying on the guarantee because conditions of the guarantee have not been met.

He said the conditions for the guarantee were spelled out previously and until they're met, the guarantee will not be paid. - Kittson County Enterprise, Nov. 9, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Warroad ladies work with Red Cross in Louisiana

Warroad - Harriet Heinen and Judy Biskup are both Red Cross workers and have recently returned from the Louisiana area after working with the refugees of Hurricanes Rita and Katrina.

They left Warroad for the Twin Cities, where they boarded a Sept. 26 flight bound for Lafayette, La.

When they arrived at the Cajun Dome in Lafayette at 11 p.m., more than 3,500 refugees were there. Some people were inside and others were standing outside of the dome waiting for relief.

They left Lafayette for a few days to be trained in Baton Rouge. After their training, they were sent back to Lafayette.

Each person that came into the Cajun Dome had to go through processing to receive a place to sleep and a hot meal.

For refugees who met the eligibility criteria, they were given a one-time money voucher. They had to give the zip code of the parish (county) in which they lived. A family of one was given $360, a family of two $665, a family of three $965, a family of four $1,265, and a family of five $1,565. - Warroad Pioneer, Nov. 9, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Pedal power is this little girl's game

Malung - Cheyenne Gust, a 9-year-old Malung fourth grader, doesn't toot her own horn. Getting more than a peep out of her in a telephone interview can be like extracting teeth. It takes patience.

She happily admitted that she plays hockey and is the goalie on her grade school team.

Oh, there is one other thing to note. She has been extremely successful in one particular endeavor – pedal pull contests. She really didn't have an explanation for her successes, but she likes it.

On Sept. 10, she competed in the 2005 National Pedal Pull Contest in Mitchell, S.D., and qualified for next August's international competition, which will be held in a yet-to-be-determined site in Canada.

In the past two years, she's won in her age group at the Roseau County Fair, won the state contest in 2004, and was the runner-up in 2005, and placed eighth and fourth, respectively, in the past two national competitions. - Roseau Times-Region, Nov. 5, 2005, by Jeff Olsen

Facing up to difficult decisions

Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls makes difficult cuts to meet its obligations

Faced with multiple years of operating at a deficit, Northwest Medical Center (NWMC) in Thief River Falls is in the process of evaluating how it does business.

In 2004, NWMC experienced an operational loss of $1,359,422 (April 2004), and in 2005 (as of April), it experienced an operational loss of $1,424,070. With this kind of operational imbalance, it was obvious something had to be done.

Efforts to address this situation, some of which have already been undertaken, include restructuring the organization from the top down, and carefully analyzing that all reimbursements are correct.

The hospital's new Chief Executive Officer, Christine Harff, who stepped into this situation, has pledged to turn things around at the non-profit hospital. "These are very tough decisions and are some of the saddest days the organization must face."

NWMC found itself in this situation for a number of reasons. In the organization's annual report, Harff stated that healthcare is continually changing with new technology needs, decreasing reimbursements, and yet the cost of providing insurance for our businesses continues to increase.

It's more complicated however. Other contributing factors at NWMC include an aging building and limited opportunities to increase revenue.

Despite these serious issues, Harff said the organization is not about to back down. The financial situation, she said, will be corrected to assure that the organization can meet debt obligations and cash requirements.

Harff cautioned that the hospital also is not bankrupt, but she believes they must restructure at the hospital. They also continue to evaluate how they do business, and how they can cut costs. In her statement in the 2005 annual report, Harff stated, "We need to evaluate our organization to accomplish our mission of providing care in a cost-effective manner."

Several specific steps have been or will be taken. All contracts are being reviewed with the purpose of assuring NWMC is being reimbursed appropriately, the service is needed and is not over market rate. Every staff opening is being reviewed to assure there is not a better way to do the work or if it can be absorbed by other employees in the organization.

Having been employed as a nurse through restructures and mergers in her career, Harff also feels it personally. But in this situation, she believes all cost reduction measures must be considered. No one item is too small.

Restructuring will involve a reconfiguration and a reduction of staff. NWMC has over 450 employees or the equivalent of 360 full-time positions that account for the largest cost the organization faces. Difficult decisions must be made to ensure the long-term survival of NWMC. Harff said it is hard, especially in a smaller town. Everything in her control will be done to minimize the reductions. Quality patient and resident care cannot and will not be affected, and it is important to consider the effects restructuring has on staff and families.

Harff said she has met with employees, and has been visiting with local service clubs and organizations to discuss the financial situation.

Another area being looked at is long-term care or the Convalescent

Almost back to normal

Taylor Moen, 14, sits with his Gibson Les Paul guitar and Marshall amplifier. Moen was given both the guitar and amplifier as his wish from the Make a Wish Foundation in December 2004 while he recovered from Myelodsplastic Syndrome at the Ronald McDonald House in Minneapolis.

One year later

Taylor Moen and family recall battle with blood disease

by Scott DCamp

Life is almost back to normal for Taylor Moen. Taylor, 14, the son of Jason and Shelly Guzek of Newfolden and Lee and RoxAnne Moen of Viking, missed the entire 2004-05 school year after he was diagnosed with a blood disorder called Myelodsplastic Syndrome during the summer months of 2004.

His immune system is recovering slowly. He is scheduled to retake his infant vaccinations and he has dealt with cold symptoms for much of the fall. Though he is doing better, Taylor is not 100 percent recovered from an illness that began more than two years ago.

Something is wrong

Like most teenagers, Taylor once had a seemingly endless supply of energy. He was active in 4-H, playing guitar, riding bike and four-wheeling.

Taylor's energy level inexplainably began to wane in the fall of 2003. His mother, Shelly, noted that it was once hard to get her son to go to bed before 10 p.m., but after school started, Taylor began tiring more easily. Typically, the last to sleep and first to rise, Taylor began needing naps after school and he no longer felt rested after a full night of sleep.

Early doctor visits showed that Taylor's hemoglobin level was low. Hemoglobin, a protein molecule found in red blood cells that carries oxygen from the lungs to body tissues, is measured in grams per deciliter. Taylor's hemoglobin count of 11.3 was considered slightly below normal for children and well below normal for adults age 14-18.

Taylor's hemoglobin count continued to drop over the next six months. He lost 15 pounds, and his hemoglobin count bottomed out at 8.3.

Because he was not improving, Taylor was prescribed a strict diet of red meat and vegetables, with an iron supplement to ensure that he received an adequate amount of iron each day. Despite the diet change, Taylor showed little improvement.

More tests were done during July 2004. Taylor saw a pediatric concologist in Fargo, N.D. for a bone marrow biopsy. Blood

Five of six area school referendums pass

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Five of six school referendums passed during local elections Tuesday. A Win-E-Mac School District referendum failed. School board members were selected in some school districts, and one local city also held an election.

City of St. Hilaire

Two four-year City Council seats were on ballots in the city of St. Hilaire. The race was close. Paula Fanfulik, incumbent, and Stacy Myhrer were elected. Both of those candidates received 36 votes. Aric Hanson, who received 32 votes, also ran for City Council.

Mayor Larry Kruse was unopposed and won with 50 votes. That seat has a two-year term.

Fosston School District (ISD 601)

A 10-year referendum was on ballots in the Fosston School District. The $700-per-student referendum passed with 435 voters voting yes and 180 voting no. The referendum will generate $425,000.

Greenbush/Middle River School District (ISD 2683)

Carrie Jo Howard, Arlette Pearson and Kevin Roppe were reelected to the Greenbush/Middle River School District for another four years with votes of 166, 153 and 158, respectively. With 171 votes, Shane Kilen was also elected. Tony McLean, who garnered 150 votes, was also a candidate.

Oklee School District (ISD 627)

With a vote of 239 in favor and 74 against, a referendum was approved in the Oklee School District. The $1,000-per-pupil referendum will raise $210,000 for general operating expenses.

Plummer School District (ISD 628)

By a vote of 72 to 31, Plummer School District voters approved a 10-year referendum for general operating expenses. The referendum is for $487 per pupil and will generate an additional $80,000. As part of the referendum, an existing referendum for $806.24 per pupil was canceled. That amount would then be added to the $487-per-pupil amount for a total of $1,293.24.

Roseau School District (ISD 682)

In the Roseau School District, a referendum was on ballots. It passed with 582 voters voting yes and 407 voters voting no. The referendum will provide an additional $374 per pupil for 10 years. Currently, the district has a $126-per-pupil referendum. That referendum will expire in six years. The new referendum is

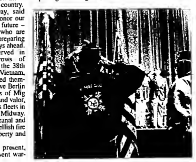
Veterans Day

Area pauses in praise and honor of its many veterans

Throughout the country, Friday was the day set aside to remember veterans. In Thief River Falls, Gary Klemetson, VFW Ninth District commander, delivered a speech reminding residents and students of the important work accomplished by veterans, not only on battlefields, but in communities throughout the country.

Klemetson delivered his speech from Army Public Affairs at an observance at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls on Thursday, rather than Friday. Nevertheless, Klemetson reminds us of how much veterans have done for this country.



Today, on Veterans Day, said Klemetson, we pause to honor our veterans past, present and future – those who served, those who are serving and those who are preparing to serve the nation in the days ahead.

Our past warriors served in places like the hedgerows of Normandy, the hilltops of the 38th Parallel and the jungles of Vietnam, he said. "They distinguished themselves through the flak above Berlin and in the dangerous skies of Mig Alley. With determination and valor, they devastated the enemy's fleets in the Solomon Slots and at Midway. On the beaches of Guadalcanal and at Inchon, they withstood hellish fire to secure a foothold for liberty and democracy."

In referring to the present, Klemetson said, "Our present warriors are serving in over 120 nations throughout the world. Today's soldier is serving in the mountainous terrain of Afghanistan and burning sands of Iraq. Like their predecessors, they are facing challenges on a daily basis. And once again, they are displaying both the warrior spirit and the compassion so typical of the American Soldier. As General Peter Schoomaker noted, 'they also have in their hearts a very compassionate spirit, and we see that demonstrated all around the world – on playgrounds in Iraq, in hospitals and orphanages in Afghanistan and in small villages in Africa.'"

Conquest was not their goal. American veterans, past and present, said Klemetson, "did not march to foreign shores armed with notions of glory. Conquest was never their goal. To the contrary, they went to distant lands with a simple notion - that all peoples in all nations have a right to live in a world free from tyranny. And they fought with an equally simple conviction - that some principles in life are worth dying for. In the words of Colin Powell, 'they asked nothing from

TRF choir presents telethon for trip and hurricane relief

Lincoln High School Choir's "The East Coast Tour Choir Telethon" will be aired on Channel 3 from 1 to 7 p.m. on Nov. 13.

The "East Coast Tour Telethon" is just one of the various fundraisers that the choir and Choir Director Darcy Reese will be sponsoring this year for the choir's June 2006 Choir Tour to Washington, D.C., and New York, N.Y. Making the telethon possible is Dick Sjoberg and Sjoberg's Cable.

Eighty Six members of the Concert Choir at Lincoln High School will be traveling to these two major cities to finish up their year-long curriculum entitled "Woven Voices, Woven Threads." Throughout the year the students will be studying the music, dance, and history of the African American people, the Jewish people, and the First Nations people. They will work with 14 guest artists throughout the year and perform with 12 of these artists at the May 21 and 22 concerts in Thief River Falls.

The choir will finish the Jewish curriculum by touring the Holocaust Museum and possibly performing part of their May show in a select synagogue in either Washington, D.C., or New York. Reese is also hoping for a performance of more liturgical pieces at the Basilica in Washington, D.C., and an outdoor concert at some of the monuments on The Mall.

The choir will then complete the First Nations curriculum by touring the American Indian Museum in Washington, D.C. Reese is waiting for word on whether they've been accepted to perform a 45 minute performance in this beautiful museum. Reese met with museum officials late August to present her First Nations songs from their Woven Voices, Woven Threads show. Four of the First Nations artists would perform with the singers at this venue. This museum is only a year old.

The choir will then travel to New York City where it will finish the African American curriculum by attending a Gospel church in Harlem for a Sunday worship service. Reese is waiting for word on a possible performance of some of their gospel songs and spirituals at this church service.

The students will arrive back in Thief River in the early morning hours on June 20. Reese said they have a very ambitious schedule for the year, and they are very excited to bring area residents their first big show - the Telethon!

The Telethon

The telethon is the sixth telethon that the choir has held for the area. The telethon will feature 43 different acts ranging from vocal solos, small groups, jazz singers, choirs, bluegrass bands, family groups, fiddlers, guitar players, piano players, and much more. The telethon will be hosted by the witty Maryel Anderson and her beautiful and talented daughter Vanessa Martell (choir alumni). This is Vanessa's third time for emceeing the show and Maryel's sixth time. Reese said she simply cannot do a show without these two ladies!

Reese also mentions the rest of her crew including Choir Manager

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Cool weather is the time for casseroles and one-dish meals, especially when it is wet and windy. Try one of the following this weekend.

Make this quick meal any time - it is especially nice for drop-in dinner guests:

CRUNCHY TOP HAM AND POTATO CASSEROLE

2 pounds Southern style frozen hash browns, thawed
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup melted butter
2 cups dairy sour cream
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/3 cup chopped green onion
1 1/2 cups shredded cheddar cheese

Topping

2 cups crushed cornflakes
1/4 cup melted butter

Combine all casserole ingredients and mix well. Place in 9x13 inch baking dish.

Combine topping ingredients and sprinkle over casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. (Recipe serves 10.)

Serve this easy meal with French bread and salad for a tasty meal:

LASAGNE TOSS

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
Dash of minced garlic
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 3/4 cups spaghetti sauce
6 ounces spiral noodles, cooked and drained
1 cup cottage cheese
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese (divided)
Grated Parmesan cheese

In large skillet, brown beef with onion, garlic and salt. Stir in spaghetti sauce and simmer until heated through. Remove 1 cup of meat sauce and set aside. Stir noodles into the remaining sauce.

Place half of the noodle-sauce mixture in greased 2 quart casserole. Cover with cottage cheese and 1 cup of the mozzarella cheese. Add remaining noodle-sauce mixture, top with remaining cup of reserved meat sauce and remaining mozzarella. Sprinkle with Parmesan, cover and bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. (Recipe serves 6-8 people.)

This hearty soup makes a great meal - and it's quick to fix too:

CAULIFLOWER AND HAM CHOWDER

1 cup thinly sliced celery
2 cups sliced cauliflower, fresh or frozen
1 (13 ounce) can chicken broth
1 cup half and half or evaporated milk
1 can cream of potato soup
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon white pepper
2 cups diced cooked ham
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

In large covered saucepan, cook celery and cauliflower in chicken broth until almost tender, about 10 minutes. Do not drain. Set aside.

In mixing bowl, gradually stir half and half or milk into undiluted potato soup. Blend water, cornstarch and pepper and stir into soup mixture. Pour over cauliflower and stir in ham.

Simmer over low heat for 10 minutes. Just before serving, stir in cheese. Garnish with parsley. (Recipe serves 6-8 people.)

This is a tasty one-dish meal that is really filling:

BEEF AND CORN CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup shredded cheddar or American cheese
1/2 cup hickory flavored or regular barbecue sauce
1 1/2 cups canned Mexicorn whole kernel corn, drained
1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce

Crust

1 cup flour
1/2 cup cornmeal
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 cup butter
1 cup shredded cheddar or American cheese, divided
1/2 cup milk
1 beaten egg

Brown ground beef and drain. Stir in remaining filling ingredients and set aside.

To make crust, stir flour, cornmeal, sugar, salt and baking powder together. Cut in butter. Blend in remaining crust ingredients except 1/2 cup of the cheese.

Spread crust mixture over bottom and sides of a greased (not oiled) 9 inch square pan. Pour filling into crust and bake at 400 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Sprinkle with reserved 1/2 cup cheese during last few minutes of baking. (Recipe serves 6-8 people.)

Have a nice salad with any of the above dishes - you can have this one and still watch your diet:

SEVEN VEGGIE SALAD

1 3/4 cup cauliflower florets
1 1/4 cups chopped cucumber
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup quartered cherry tomatoes
1/4 cup julienned green pepper
1/4 cup julienned sweet red pepper
2 tablespoons sliced green onions
1/4 cup fat free salad dressing

In large bowl, combine all vegetables. Pour dressing over and toss. (Recipe serves 5.) Nutritional Info: One cup serving equals 37 calories, 131 mg sodium, 0 chol, 8 gm carb, 1 gm protein, trace fat. Diabetic Exchange is 1 1/2 vegetable.

American Education Week to be commemorated

Next week, Nov. 13-19, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce School/Business Partnership Committee will join millions of Americans nationwide in celebrating public schools during the National Education Association's 84th annual American Education Week (AEW).

The committee will show its appreciation by delivering cookies to each of the schools' staff rooms.

Thief River Falls Mayor Dale Wennberg also signed a proclamation Tuesday that declared the week American Education Week in the city.

These activities are part of a nationwide effort to draw attention to AEW's 2005 theme, "A Strong America Starts with Great Public Schools." The theme represents NEA's vision of calling upon all Americans to do their part in making public schools great for every child, so that children can grow and achieve in the 21st century.

TRF company fined for violating motor carrier regulations

A Thief River Falls company has been assessed a $2,200 civil penalty for violating Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations.

A Sept. 26 investigation found Nelson Services Inc. failed to implement a random controlled substance and/or an alcohol testing program, according to the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA).

The company didn't know it had to implement a random testing program until the state investigation, said Mike Nelson, owner of the company. Despite not knowing it was required to have the program, Nelson Services was assessed the fine and didn't receive a warning, he added.

The safety investigation was conducted by the Minnesota Department of Transportation, Office of Freight and Commercial Vehicle Operations, in cooperation with the FMCSA.

KEZAR MUSIC
Oklee, MN native Jack Sundrud started his musical career as a member of the Thief River Falls band, "the Backstreet Journal" in 1966 performing in concert with the Guess Who, the Spencer Davis Group, The Grass Roots. In 1969, Jack was a founding member of Podipto and recorded a nationally released album in 1971 and toured with Elton John, James Taylor, Laura Nyro, the Carpenters and Poco. Jack left Podipto in 1973 moving to Nashville, TN in 1981 becoming a touring bassist /vocalist with a number of Nashville recording artists including: Vince Gill, Dickie Betts, Nicolette Larson, the O'Kanes, Michael Johnson, Gail Davies, Kathy Mattea and others. In the early 90s, Sundrud was the lead singer/songwriter for Columbia Records country-rock band Great Plains. "Great Plains" in 1992, and "Homeland" in 1996. "Foster Gun" was a top 20 hit. As a songwriter, Jack has had success with : "It Must Be Love" (#1 chart single for Ty Herndon), "Cain's Blood" (for 4Runner) and "Homeland" (Kenny Rogers post 9/11 single). Sundrud is currently bassist/vocalist for country-rock pioneers Poco. In May, 2005, Jack released his own solo CD entitled, "By My Own Hand". Here are some reviews:
"...the singing is super soulful on this lead-off track... The song has a melody-drenched chorus with a hard-times lyric that is impossible not to love." (review of the song, "Hard Country")

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Democracy works if you participate in it

A former newspaper editor, Robert Shaw, wrote recently that he believes democracy works better in small groups, better in small towns than in big cities.

I would like to think that in Thief River Falls our citizens participate in local government and democracy more because they are closer to their leaders - they know, I mean really know, our leaders. They are our neighbors, relatives and friends, and the voters know their families, how they were raised, and what their values are. In other words, because they know them personally, one would think that they are more likely to visit with them about issues that are important to them or their business.

But they know them, so they trust them implicitly, or rely on the media to tell them what's happening. The truth is, it's rare for them to show up at a meeting, and even rarer yet for them to call their elected representative - friend and neighbor - to express an opinion on a specific issue. Why?

At a "Lunch With Pennington County Commissioners" meeting at the Best Western in Thief River Falls, residents were given an opportunity to ask commissioners any question they ever wanted to ask, but "what do county commissioners do?" came up.

I'm glad Commissioner Charles Naplin and County Auditor Ken Olson spent some time going over what county commissioners do. It gave the participants at the meeting a foundation for the many other questions, good questions, like what's happening with the Future Fuel building, why aren't we doing more recycling, is the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center in a bidding war for inmates from Red Lake County, and where's Bud Comstock and are his constituents represented on the County Board?

I've been attending meetings of local government units for 20 years, and if there isn't a hot issue on the agenda, there's no one from the general public at the meeting. In all these years, I can say that the "Lunch with the City Council and County Commissioners" program has done more to bring local citizens in contact with their leaders and local issues than any other local program. I congratulate the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Thief River Falls Lions Club for hosting this event, and I encourage them to keep holding these events.

I don't know that I believe that democracy works any better in a smaller town than it does in a bigger town. In smaller towns, voters generally know the people running for office, and a fair amount about their history, but I believe democracy only really works if you participate in it.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively, letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Funds sought to bring soldiers home for Christmas

Bravo Family Readiness Support Group is seeking funds to bring soldiers back home for Christmas.

Julie Bolduc, group leader, explained that soldiers from the Thief River Falls area who are expected to be deployed to Iraq after six months of training in Mississippi, received notice that they will be granted leave for Christmas from Dec. 23, 2005 to Jan. 3, 2006. Bolduc said the group wants to bring them home to their families this Christmas because they will not be allowed to come home next year. The cost to bring them home is $250 per person, or $225,000 to bring all 900 soldiers home.

Bolduc said the deadline to secure that amount is Dec. 1.

"These soldiers just came back from deployment one-and one-half years ago from Bosnia. These soldiers have been protecting and serving our country and not asking for anything in return, so please help me bring these soldiers home to celebrate Christmas with their families one more time before they go to Iraq," said Bolduc.

She said donations can be sent to the Thief River Falls, Minnesota National Guard, attention Julie Bolduc, 250 Emil St., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

NWRDC to hold annual meeting

Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) will hold its annual meeting Saturday, Dec. 3 at the Blue Moose in East Grand Forks. The business meeting will begin at 10 a.m., and lunch will be served at 12 p.m.

During its meeting, the commission will review and adopt its Fiscal Year 2006 Budget and Work Program; elect the 13 public interest representatives; appoint its board of directors; approve aging and arts grants; and review the activities of the past year.

NWRDC invites and encourages public officials and other interested people to attend all or part of the morning events. For more information or to register, contact Carol Sorensen at the NWRDC, (218) 745-6733.

A buck, by any other name, would smell as sweet

I've been practicing the lines. You know what I'm talking about. At least you do if you're a deer hunter. Those overdone recitations that explain just why it is that there isn't a big ol' buck hanging from some cross member in your driveway for everyone to see. Actually, in the old days that gutted, horned mammal would be draped across the front bumper of the Oldsmobile, and why we changed such a public, self-congratulatory exhibition of machismo I'll never know. But the lines are probably as old as the Olds itself because, even after hours of unbothered time in the deer stand, I haven't come up with excuses that beat the standards.

Now, mind you, these aren't the predictable, everyday explanations. "The sun was in my eyes," "The dog ate it" or "My shoe was untied." Remember, deer hunting is an inherently personal sport that demands total control by the hunter. That ability to predict and adjust to constantly changing conditions around him is what separates the truly gifted hunters from the country clubbers. Blaming the weather or pets or the ill-prepared nature of one's clothing just doesn't wash in this environment. Thus, the good hunter's lines as to why there is no trophy-sized deer on the pole, necessarily reflects on nothing other than the finest of results gleaned from the conditions that presented themselves. In other words, you make the best out of what is available, and then try to glorify that when the tale-telling time arrives. I'm rambling, let's cut to the chase.

For example, "I've passed on some smaller bucks, but nothing has shown up that seems worth shooting." "Passing" is the most versatile word in the unfulfilled hunter's vocabulary. "Passing" opens up a myriad of undeniable scenarios. Now this doesn't necessarily suggest that the hunter is lying, simply that, at the very least, he saw some grayish silhouette which may have possessed half an antler through a distant maze of brush and, in the luckiest of circumstances, would have fallen down dead if all the bullet's ricochets off the trees between here and there played out just perfectly. The suggestion is, obviously, that the deer would have perished if the hunter had decided to shoot. Despite the fact that most hunting experiences do not coincide with a shot and a dead deer, the notion of "passing" is an unchallengeable one. Like the "passing" of gas, listeners are obliged to accept the unseemly air surrounding the teller, and move on to the next tale.

Or how about the classic "body size" line? A hunter might not have a buck worthy of his front grill, yet he'll suggest that he compromised only a little because he took a deer with a small rack, that had a huge body. Now really, when was the last time you shot at a deer because you noticed its body before you recognized what was between its ears. That logic might apply when choosing a female prom date, but never to selecting a male whitetail.

Similarly, the "I haven't got my buck yet, but I did shoot a big doe" line is little more than smokescreen rhetoric. As though the size of the doe was the deciding factor in pulling the trigger. The words "big" and "doe" are so irreparably joined in the hunting world that they might as well be a single word. Bigdoe. Like Scotch Tape or Kleenex, the description has become the definition. Bigdoe. No one ever shoots a "small doe," why even stumble along with the redundant adjective? We all know what size a doe is. A bigdoe. A big deer. A big female deer. We'd have to rewrite the song!

Which brings us to the yearling. Exactly how old was that yearling you shot? 18 months? Then it's a full grown deer. Six months? That's only half a yearling, which, unfortunately, suggests the dreaded "fawn" word. Tie that sucker to your front grill and you won't even lose any gas mileage. What's a yearling? OK, we'll let you slink away with "nubbin buck."

So, practice the lines, if you're not already familiar with them. Try them on for size in front of a mirror, but don't forget to maintain eye contact. "I've passed on a few smaller ones...," "the rack wasn't too big but the body...," "I thinned the herd by taking a yearling..." And when you get good at it, you'll find that the spirit of the phrases begins to ring true even to you. You'll almost believe that you did everything that was in your power and still didn't get a big buck.

I know that's how it panned out for me this year. I shot a nice buck, but when I hung it in the tree in my yard the setting sun was in my eyes just enough to cause me to underestimate the height of the hoist and the neighborhood dogs got at it and ate it that night. I wear rubber boots that don't have any laces.

Thief River Falls girls presented with banquet honors...

Ashley Leister is tennis MVP

Ashley Leister was named the most valuable player when the 2005 Thief River Falls girls high school tennis team awards were announced Monday during the Prowlers' annual post-season banquet.

Leister was also presented with an academic all-state award.

Sarah Mattison was recipient of the Prowler Award and was also an academic all-state selection.

Other awards went to Chelsea Daley, Rookie of the Year; and Carli Sandahl, most improved.

Recognition was also given to Leister for most singles wins and Kristine Sletten, most doubles wins.

Leister and Mattison were the Prowlers' 2005 captains. That honor goes to Amanda Hoard and Kassi Sparby for 2006.

"This was a special team to be part of," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "We had a very successful season in terms of our performance on the court. But maybe even more important was the level of team unity we had."

The Prowlers put together a 9-6 dual meet record this fall, including North Sub-Section 8AA wins over Brainerd 7-0 and Fergus Falls 4-3. The season ended with a 4-3 loss to St. Cloud Tech in the Section 8AA semifinals.

"We played our best tennis at tournament time, and in the end, that's all you can ask for," offered Hanestad. "We lost a close match to a very good St. Cloud Tech team in the section semifinals. They (Tigers) won the final against Bemidji 7-0 and ended up fourth at the state tournament. As far as I'm concerned, we finished our season as the second best team in the section."

Combination of graduation losses and returning experience always creates mixed emotions for coaches, including Hanestad. "Our two senior captains (Leister, Mattison) will be greatly missed, both for their high level of play and their leadership," he said. "It will be a challenge to fill our No. 1 and No. 2 singles positions. But I believe that we have players who are ready to step up to that challenge. We are fortunate to be graduating just two players, and with the quality of the players we have returning, I feel that we could be competing for the section title at the end of next season."

Two TRF wrestlers in national meet

■ Bergeron, Keogh at Border Wars event in Michigan

Jacoby Bergeron and Steven Keogh of Thief River Falls came up with first and second place finishes, respectively, during the Border Wars national youth wrestling tournament Nov. 4-6 in Lansing, Mich.

The event drew approximately 800 wrestlers who qualified through regional competition in 17 states.

Entered in the 13-14-year-old division, Bergeron wrestled at 75 pounds and Keogh competed at 107 pounds.

It was a two-match title-winning effort against Illinois competition for Bergeron. He defeated Andy Kozlec 13-7 in the semifinals and, after giving up an early takedown, scored 15 unanswered points and then pinned Jacob Bellais in the finals.

Keogh posted 4-0 wins over Carl Lucke of Michigan and Scotty Petray of Illinois in the first round and quarterfinals. A semifinal match against Ethan Bogaert of Michigan was scoreless in the third period before Keogh scored five points with 25 seconds left and won 5-1.

Chance Davidson of Illinois beat Bergeron in the championship match.

Competing in the Border Wars national youth wrestling tournament Nov. 4-6 at Lansing, Mich., were Thief River Falls' Steven Keogh (left) and Jacoby Bergeron, who qualified for the event through regional competition earlier. Both wrestled in the 13-14-year-old division, where Bergeron won a national title at 75 pounds and Keogh was runner-up at 107.

Pioneers start year on road

■ Northland women's basketball season under way

Five road trips will precede the home opener for the 2005-06 Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) women's basketball team.

The schedule kicked off with a Friday (Nov. 11) Canadian trip to play Providence College in Otterburne, Manitoba. The Pioneers will also play North Dakota State College of Science, Fergus Falls, Minneapolis and the Gustavus junior varsity on the road before a Dec. 7 home court rematch with Fergus Falls.

NCTC finished 16-12 a year ago, 8-4 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division. Three members of that team return, including 5-9 Ashley Kujawa, East Grand Forks; 5-8 Chelsey Fering, Red Lake Falls; and 5-6 Tara Blazejewski, Karlstad.

One of the newcomers is 5-10 Kasey Anderson, a sophomore from Goodridge who is a transfer student from Lawrence University.

Freshmen on hand include 5-11 Brittany Keller and 5-6 Lisa Brintnell, Pembina, N.D.; 5-9 Amber Stirling, Red Lake Falls; and 5-6 Lacey Armstrong, Bagley.

"Being competitive is a given," said second-year NCTC coach Missy Majerus. "The biggest concern in basketball is the development of an offense, and that has a lot to do with how fast the freshmen adjust."

The Pioneers may be undersized in the post, but they have bigger-than-average guards, according to Majerus, who figures the personnel should fit nicely into her preferred style of play. "We hope to pressure the ball full court, and we want to run," she explained.

If it's a half-court game, don't look for the Pioneers to spend a lot of time looking to get the ball inside. They launched the highest number of 3-pointers in National Junior College Athletic Association Division III basketball last winter.

"We're hoping to lead the nation in 3-point shooting, again," said Majerus. "Our goal on 3-pointers is to put up 27 shots per game. "Shooting 32 percent from out there might be a lofty goal, but I'd be satisfied to shooting between 28 to 32 percent on threes."

Bethany Tharaldson will serve as the Pioneers' assistant coach. Grant Conway is listed as a student assistant.

Northland will play ten non-conference games before opening MCCC Northern Division play Wednesday, Jan. 11, against Central Lakes in Brainerd. The Pioneers' 2004-05 Northern Division home opener will be Saturday, Jan. 14, vs. Hibbing.

Former Prowler coaching in Laredo...

Mark Collins winning titles in Texas tennis

Mark Collins has taken his tennis game from northwest Minnesota to south Texas, where the Thief River Falls native has been coaching the sport at the high school level since 1989.

Collins is a geography/world geography teacher for grades nine and 10 at United High School in Laredo, Texas, where he is also the Longhorns' tennis coach.

United is one of four high schools in Laredo, located on the north bank of the Rio Grande River that separates the United States and Mexico, 150 miles south of San Antonio.

Collins is a Lincoln High School and Moorhead State graduate, who played tennis for both the Prowlers and Dragons.

United won its first University Interscholastic League (UIL) District 29-5A team title in Collins' first year at the school. The Longhorns have added six more team titles in the fall (including 2005) and nine additional championships in the spring.

Collins coaches a combination boys/girls program. The UIL format calls for a 19-match format that includes six boys and six girls singles matches; three boys and three girls doubles matches; and one mixed doubles match. Individuals may play both singles and doubles, but it's not mandatory. Those playing boys or girls doubles are not eligible to play mixed doubles.

Schools are grouped into 4A or 5A conferences, with post-season play featuring district, regional and state tournaments.

Collins has helped turn United into a perennial contender by drawing up a schedule that takes the Longhorns all over south Texas to face a variety of competition. Those trips cost money, pointed out Nino Cardenas in an article about Collins and the Longhorns that appeared recently in the Laredo Morning Times. For cost-covering fundraisers, Collins organizes open tournaments throughout the year.

During his high school tennis career, Collins was part of a Thief River Falls program coached by Whitey Olson that won three straight section team titles in 1978, 1979 and 1980.

Northland has Mesabi Range tourney debut

An appearance at the four-team Mesabi Range Invitational this weekend marks the start of the 2005-06 season for the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) men's basketball team.

Rick Nikunen begins his eighth year as the Pioneers' head coach with an 11-member squad that includes four sophomores – three of them returning from an 18-11 fourth place state tournament team of a year ago. It was the most wins for the program since a 22-3 finish in 1985-86.

Top returnee is 6-3 guard/forward Jawaun Bowman from Richfield, who was a Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division pick as a freshman when he averaged 13.4 points per game.

Also back are Cyrin Shaffer, a 6-4 guard/forward from Osseo, who scored 12.0 points per game, and Nick Ricks, a 5-10 guard from Thief River Falls, who averaged 4 points.

Keaton Ousley, a 6-0 guard from Minneapolis South, who played for the Pioneers in 2003-04 and sat out the 2004-05 season, is back this winter.

Freshmen on hand include 6-3 forward Marcellous Frizzie, Kenosha, Wis.; 5-11 guard Keith Brown, Chicago; 6-2 guard Nick Fries, Perham; 6-3 guard Brandon Fontes, Grand Forks (N.D.) Central; 6-4 forward Marcus Dupree, Tallahassee, Fla.; 6-5 forward Cole Porter, Karlstad; and 6-10 forward/center Justin Mann, Bartonville, Ill.

Adam Paulson returns as an assistant coach. Marcus Bell and Charles Thompson are student assistants.

The Pioneers will follow the Nov. 11-12 tournament in Virginia with a Tuesday, Nov. 15, game at North Dakota State College of Science in Wahpeton. They will also play on the road Nov. 18 against the Jamestown College junior varsity and Nov. 22 at Fergus Falls before their Tuesday, Nov. 29, home opener against the Concordia College junior varsity.

NCTC will get in 13 games before starting MCCC Northern Division play Jan. 11 at Central Lakes.

Central Lakes, Vermilion and NCTC all shared the 2004-05 Northern Division title with 8-4 records.

Key losses off that team for the Pioneers were sophomore forward Mike Howard of Grand Forks and freshman guard Jason Koch of Thief River Falls, who transferred. Howard was an all-state selection who averaged 21.4 points per game. Koch was an all-division choice after scoring 11.6 points per game.

This is actually Nikunen's 14th year coaching basketball at NCTC. He directed the Pioneers' women's squad for six years beginning in 1992-93 before stepping down to take the job with the men's program.

Chelsea Haviland continues her winning ways

Chelsea Haviland of Thief River Falls began her senior year as a member of the United States Military Academy women's swimming and diving team in winning fashion.

Haviland, as she has done often during her Army athletic career, dominated both diving events as the Black Knights out-scored Layfayette 143-100 in a Nov. 5 Patriot League dual.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS TO LEASE FARMLAND

The Middle Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed District is inviting bids for rental of the following parcels:

Parcel #1:

The properties owned by the Middle Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed District in section Eleven (11) and section Fourteen (14), of Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, Range Forty-nine (49) West (Sandsville Township), Polk County, Minnesota lying south of the Snake River and North of Polk County Ditch #7, containing 147 acres more or less.

Parcel #2:

A parcel of land in section Eleven (11) and section Fourteen (14), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North of Range Forty-nine (49) West (Sandsville Township) lying North of the Snake River of the following described tract of land:

Beginning at the northeast corner of said Section 14;
thence South 0° 26'05" East a distance of 3,609.92 feet;
thence North 60° 50'35" West a distance of 4,550.75 feet;
thence North 0° 20'02" West a distance of 54.82 feet;
thence South 89° 48'46" West a distance of 1,319.07 feet;
thence North 0° 18'02" West a distance of 224.64 feet;
thence North 89° 15'28" East a distance of 1,318.98 feet;
thence North 78° 49'12" East a distance of 1,342.77 feet;
thence North 66° 20'10" East a distance of 797.53 feet;
thence North 48° 28'14" East a distance of 778.08 feet;
thence North 60° 13'42" East a distance of 1,518.75 feet;
thence South 0° 00'00" West a distance of 750 feet to the point of beginning. Containing approximately 17.2 cropland acres more or less.

These parcels will be leased in three-year increments, with each lease to begin on January 1, 2006 and expire December 31, 2008. The successful bidder must enter into a written lease conforming with the bid. Terms included in the written lease are that the Lessee will faithfully cultivate the premises in a careful and husband-like manner, destroy all noxious weeds declared by statute and local laws to be a common nuisance within the time prescribed by law, not assign or sublet, make all payments when due, and leave the land in the condition it was found in. Additional terms and conditions shall apply. A complete copy of each proposed Lease is available at the Watershed District Office.

Bids must be received at the District Office in writing at 453 North McKinley St. Warren, Minnesota, no later than 4:00 p.m., Friday, December 9, 2005. Oral bids, bid by telephone, FAXes and e-mails shall not be accepted. Bids should be addressed as follows: Middle Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed District, Land Rental Bid, PO Box 145, Warren, MN 56762.

Bidders may bid on one or both parcels, but those bidding on both parcels must submit a separate bid for each parcel.

All bidders take the land "as is" and the Watershed District makes no representations or warranties with regard to the suitability of the land for any particular agriculture, eligibility or enrollment in government programs, etc. The Watershed District encourages potential bidders to make their own independent investigation prior to submitting any bid.

The Watershed District reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids shall be opened at the regular monthly meeting of the Watershed District on Monday, December 19, 2005.

Rent payments will be due and payable in two installments each year, with the first installment due on or before April 1, and the second installment due on or before November 1.

Dated this 28th day of October, 2005.

Two people injured after one-vehicle rollover Nov. 5

Two people were injured Nov. 5 after a one-vehicle rollover about five miles east of Florian.

Derek J. Olson, 25, no address listed in the report, and Derek A. Fugleberg, 24, Greenbush, were injured in the accident, according to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department. They were transported to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. They were listed in satisfactory condition Friday morning, according to an Altru nursing administrator.

At the time of the accident, Fugleberg and Olson were traveling in a westbound 2002 GMC pickup truck on Marshall County Road 6. Fugleberg swerved to avoid hitting a deer, according to the sheriff's department. The vehicle then traveled on the right shoulder. Fugleberg over-corrected, and the vehicle crossed the road, going into the left ditch. The vehicle then rolled three times, coming to a rest on its wheels.

Fugleberg's vehicle sustained extensive damage. The sheriff's department was dispatched to the scene at 6:52 a.m. Nov. 5.

from the biopsy was tested in both Fargo and the Twin Cities.

Shelly grew more concerned as Taylor's undiagnosed illness neared its first anniversary and the start of the 2004-05 school year approached. Tests were continuing to come back normal.

"I told Dr. (Janet) Tillisch (the Fargo doctor who performed the biopsy) that I wanted to get this figured out before school and she and I were thinking on the same page," Shelly said. "Every test imaginable had been run and everything was coming back normal."

Taylor was finally diagnosed with Myelodsplastic Syndrome with Refractory Anemia-Trisomy Eight, a bone marrow disease that impairs the body's production of blood cells. The only cure would be a bone marrow transplant.

A bone marrow donor?

Taylor's relatives were immediately tested as possible donors. He also began receiving blood transfusions to help maintain his hemoglobin count, which was down to 6.4. A second bone marrow biopsy caused additional concern when it showed that the disease was progressing more rapidly than anticipated.

No bone marrow match was found among Taylor's relatives, and finding an unrelated donor could take months. Instead, at the suggestion of Dr Paul Orchard, Fairview University Hospital, Minneapolis, the family opted for an umbilical cord transplant. Like bone marrow, umbilical cords are a rich source of stem cells, and like donated bone marrow, umbilical cord blood can be used to fight disorders like leukemia and Myelodsplastic Syndrome. And an umbilical cord donor would be much easier to find.

A matching cord donor was found within two weeks, and Taylor and Shelly returned to Minneapolis to prepare for surgery. Taylor underwent three days of chemotherapy and four days of total body radiation treatment. Both treatments were necessary to kill the diseased cells.

Taylor received his cord transplant Sept. 15, 2004. Over the next month, Taylor would recover steadily, though setbacks, like temperature spikes and varying hemoglobin levels, were common. Taylor received frequent blood transfusions during his early recovery period.

By mid-October, Taylor was allowed to leave the hospital and check into his home away from home, the Ronald McDonald House (RMH).

While staying at hospital and later at the RMH, Taylor was equipped with a Hickman Catheter and a Total Parenteral Nutrition (TPN) bag that pumped nutrients into his body during the night hours. Taylor needed the nutrient bag because his appetite was sporadic and he typically wasn't hungry enough to eat.

Doctors initially estimated that Taylor would be able to leave the hospital on Dec. 24, 100 days post transplant. During the early weeks of Taylor's recovery, a Christmas Eve discharge seemed unrealistic.

"It was really slow going," Shelly said. "It was sometime after Thanksgiving that it finally appeared that Taylor would be able to return home by Christmas."

Taylor said regaining energy was tough too. Understandably, he was falling behind in his school work. Taylor was able to do some studying at the RMH, but it was limited.

"We were supposed to have an hour of class, but we usually only met for 30 minutes," Taylor said.

"He had it pretty easy," Shelly added. "They didn't want him to do too much at all, just rest a lot. He was taking so much medication," she said, noting that at one point he was up to 48 pills a day.

Over time, Taylor's diet returned to normal. He began eating more regularly and by mid-November 2004, he no longer needed the TPN bag. Taylor's health continued to improve and his strength and energy levels were also improving.

Returning to MCC

Since returning to his rural Newfolden home Dec. 25, Taylor has slowly returned to his typical activity level. He was able to return to Marshall County Central this fall after his education was at first limited to tutor visits when he returned home.

Though Taylor's energy level was returning to normal, his immune system remained weak, so he couldn't return to school until now. In the meantime, home tutor visits were scheduled for three days per week. Taylor would see two teachers in the morning and one in the afternoon during each day of classes.

As the 2005-06 school year approached, a decision as to which academic grade Taylor should be placed was needed.

"It would have been easier to have him held back," admitted Shelly. "We had a lot of meetings, and they finally decided to let him start with his peers."

Once again the energetic teenager that he once was, Taylor is attending school full-time. Taylor, now a ninth grader, plans to continue taking summer school classes to remain on schedule to graduate in 2009.

Marcoux Corner to perform in TRF on Nov. 17

Marcoux Corner, noted a cappalla singing group, which got its name from the run-down establishment at the intersections of Highway 2 and 32 in northwestern Minnesota, will be performing Thursday, Nov. 17, at Lincoln High School auditorium in Thief River Falls.

The performance, titled "A Cappella Christmas" is part of this year's Entertainment Series. All performances of the Entertainment Series, which have included or will include the Side Street Strutters, Marcoux Corner, Kevin Roth, Zum and the Romance of the Flute and Harp, are performed at 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln High School auditorium.

Marcoux Corner is a high-energy a cappella male quartet. They include Josh Baesler, Kevin Taylor, Brent Thorson and Eric Patenaude, all of whom are graduates of Concordia College, Moorhead. The group has been hailed as "one of the best up and coming groups in the country."

Marcoux Corner, an a cappella group, will perform a Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 17.

Facing up to difficult decisions and Nursing Care (CNC) on the NWMC campus. Harff said it is especially facing very difficult times.

She noted that's true of similar facilities, including Oakland Park and many other facilities across the state. The changes of the restructure at NWMC will necessarily involve changes at the CNC unit.

Harff said the NWMC also is dedicated to continuing to pursue opportunities that partnering will bring to the community. NWMC and Dakota Clinic administrators, for example, have been meeting weekly and have been working on several collaborative initiatives. NWMC has met with Oakland Park as well, to look for joint savings or similar opportunities.

NWMC also recently announced that with the assistance of the medical staff, it had applied to become a Critical Access Hospital, which will increase revenues in cases involving Medicare. If approved, it will mean other changes for the organization, including maximizing reimbursement for patients in CNC.

Harff said the staff at NWMC has given her reason to be optimistic. "We have a dedicated staff that works hard every day to give quality care to our patients, residents, families, and community. I admire their determination to make sacrifices to assure we can meet our financial challenges. With their continued efforts, I have no doubt we can overcome this challenge."

those countries in return - except for a little land to bury their dead."

"Like the unknown soldier at Arlington, many of them went off to war never to see again the country they so gallantly served. In the last century alone, over 425,000 Americans have been killed in combat.

Behind each of those deaths lies an American family in mourning. Words cannot possibly express the depth of sorrow their families felt when that fateful telegram arrived. It's a personal loss that can never be replaced, but will always be appreciated."

These warriors have done much more for this country than fight battles. "At any point in American history," said Klemetson, "one can see the handiwork of veterans doing great things for their country. Soldiers in Washington's army were leaders in the construction of the nation's first transportation system, including the Erie Canal. Veterans of the Spanish-American War were instrumental in completing the Panama Canal. The GI's of the Second World War vastly expanded the nation's colleges and universities. Others participated in the construction of America's superhighway system.

"Everyday in America, veterans are making significant contributions in our communities. Emergency medicine is enhanced by the experience skilled surgeons, past and present, who first learned to save lives in trauma at combat support hospitals. Our airlines are staffed with thousands of competent pilots who received their wings on active duty. Our police forces and firefighting units are teeming with veterans who were once MP's or military firefighters.

"And it is not just job skills they bring to our communities. They also bring their commitment, their work ethic, their sense of fair play, and their willingness to act as members of a team. It is these values - the core values of anyone who wears a uniform - that continue to refresh American society.

"And from those communities, the warriors of the future are stepping forward, each day, to grasp the torch of freedom and carry it forward. As with earlier generations, they will be guided by the core values of the Army: loyalty, duty, respect, selfless service, honor, integrity and personal courage."

Klemetson concluded with a poem called "Veterans Day" by Father Denis Edward O'Brien, U.S.M.C.:

It is the soldier, not the reporter, who has given us
freedom of the press
It is the soldier, not the poet, who has given us
freedom of speech.
It is the soldier, not the campus organizer, who has given us the freedom to demonstrate.
It is the soldier, who salutes the flag, who serves beneath the flag, and whose coffin is draped
by the flag, who allows the protestor
to burn the flag

Five of six area school referendums pass

expected to raise $558,000 for general operating expenses.

Warroad School District (ISD 690)

Warroad School District voters saw a referendum and school board election on their ballots. The referendum passed by a vote of 549 to 423. The district had asked for an additional $473.26 per pupil for 10 years. Currently, it has a $126.74-per-pupil referendum that will expire in 2012. The new referendum is expected to raise $676,472.

Incumbent Philip Heppner was reelected with 528 votes. Darin Spenst (471 votes) and Amy Friesner (418 votes) were also elected to four-year seats. Other candidates were Trish Harren (354 votes), Warren Keller (332 votes) and Fred Demolee (321 votes).

Win-E-Mac School District (Erskine, ISD 2609)

Voters in the Win-E-Mac School District saw both a school board election and referendum on their ballots.

Four seats were up for election in the district. All four incumbents were reelected for four-year terms. They included Lynette Kaster, 567 votes; Scott Revier, 534 votes; John Ross, 580 votes; and Lee Tradewell, 586 votes. Aaron Neuhert received 390 votes in the election.

An operating levy referendum was on ballots as well. The referendum failed with 461 voters voting no and 406 voters voting yes for the 10-year referendum. The $800-per-pupil referendum would have generated approximately $470,000 if the district maintained its current enrollment.

Michelle Duffy, Cable Expert Dick Sjoberg, Sound Engineer Joe Kezar, Alice Hofstad, video manager, and Computer Expert Andy Yaggie (choir alumni). Reese is very appreciative of the volunteer help that she gets for this show.

"This is truly a community effort to be proud of and feels very fortunate to have quality and dedicated people to work with," said Reese.

Reese is excited about this show for many reasons. First of all, it is the first time that 10 different acts will be past choir alumni. Some of the alumni of the Concert Choir will be traveling from Minneapolis and Fargo, N.D., to support these young singers. Past alumni performing at the show will include Joanna Swantek, Marnie Schafer, Bill Kezar, Dane Froiland, Tyla Pream, David Edwards, Ann Marben, Vanessa Martell, David Christensen, and Danny Christensen.

Other featured acts include the Would Picks, the Robber River Band, the Vigness Family, Franklin Middle School Sunrise Singers, St. Bernard's Children's Choir, Trinity Trio, Northland Choir, Lincoln High School Swingsations, Lincoln High School Concert Choir, Piano students of Marcia Knuttila, Violist Derek Mosloff, Bassist Ben Willis, Lincoln High School Chamber Orchestra, Fiddle students of Derek Druse, Voice students of Diane Johnson and Vanessa Martell, Choir vocal soloists - Beth Marben, Jennifer Holand, Carli Sandahl, Cali Adamson, Haeli Stokke, Ashley Schneider, Michelle Noreen, Choir piano players - Scott Rakozy, Kasey Trontvet, Kyle Trontvet, and Derek Mosloff.

The choir's goal for the day is $15,000. Once all donations are collected and the bill for the phones and publicity are taken care of, the choir will also be taking 5 percent of the profit after expenses to give as a donation to the American Red Cross for hurricane relief efforts. The remaining funds will be divided equally between the 86 singers for their trip. The cost of the trip is $1,254 per singer.

Report finds breast cancer death rate continues to decline

A new report from the American Cancer Society finds progress in early detection and treatment of breast cancer continues to result in a slow, steady drop in mortality rates. The latest figures show the death rate from breast cancer dropped by 2.3 percent a year since 1990, with the drop most evident in younger women.

The findings are published in "Breast Cancer Facts & Figures 2005-2006," which is available online at www.cancer.org/statistics. This biannual report provides estimates of cases and deaths for the current year and presents information on known risk factors of breast cancer, factors that influence survival, as well as the latest on prevention and early detection, treatment, and ongoing research on the disease.

Highlights of the report include:

- Breast cancer is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in U.S. women, excluding cancers of the skin, with 211,240 cases of invasive breast cancer expected in 2005. This accounts for nearly one out of three cancers diagnosed in U.S. women.
- Breast cancer will strike nearly 3,200 Minnesota women this year and will claim 620 lives.
- As far as cancer deaths are concerned, breast cancer ranks second in U.S. women, after lung cancer, with 40,410 deaths expected in 2005.
- In 2002, the latest year figures are available, nearly 2.3 million women living in the U.S. had been diagnosed with breast cancer.
- Between 1987 and 2002, incidence rates increased by 0.3 percent per year overall, with the increase limited to women age 50 and older. Rates actually declined among women 40 to 49, and there has been little change among women under 40 during that same time period.
- The death rate from breast cancer in women decreased by 2.3 percent per year between 1990 and 2002. Death rates decreased by 3.3 percent per year among women younger than 50, and by 2.0 percent per year among women 50 and older.
- The decline in breast cancer death rates since 1990 has been attributed to improvements in treatment and to early detection.
- The overall five-year relative survival rate for women diagnosed with breast cancer is 88 percent. The 10-year relative survival rate is 80 percent.
- While utilization of mammography has been increasing, women below the poverty level are still less likely to have had a mammogram within the past two years than women at or above the poverty level.

"The steady decrease in death rates since 1990 shows that we are making progress against breast cancer," said Caryl Range, R.N., American Cancer Society health promotions manager. "However, breast cancer is still the number two cancer killer among women; clearly we have more to do."

Range added the Society currently supports nearly 200 research projects totaling more than $100 million, with continued study efforts ranging from biological pathways that turn benign breast lesions into cancer, to the relationship between tumor growth and body mass index.

On their way to Albany for the State quarterfinal match, Lincoln High School Prowler football captains (from left) Alex Carlson, Matt Nordhegen and Michael Forney, paused for a pep fest Thursday. School and district staff, as well as community leaders, offered words of encouragement to the team. The Section 8AAA championship was the first ever post-season title the Prowler football team has ever won. Coach Jeff Mumm told the crowd that as a coach, "You always dream of something like this."

FMS band students to perform Thursday

Franklin Middle School (FMS) band students will present their fall band concert Thursday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the FMS multipurpose room. The public is invited to attend. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students K-8, and senior citizens and preschoolers are free. Proceeds from the concert support the FMS band program.

The concert program will feature the premiere performance of the sixth grade band. The sixth grade students have been playing their instruments since mid-September, and are eager to perform for a live audience for the first time. Their performance will conclude with a lively piece called "Let's Go Band!," known to most people as "Let's Go Blue!"

Also on the program will be the Morning Darkness Jazz Band, which is a select group of seventh and eighth grade students. They will perform several upbeat selections, including "Drivin' That Drummin' Machine," which features Zach Pederson on the drum set.

The seventh grade concert band will be next on the program, playing several numbers, including the patriotic "Marches of America." Last on the program will be the eighth grade concert band, performing several selections, including "When Summer Takes Flight," which uses music to describe the change of seasons from summer to autumn.

Students in the eighth grade band are Chelsey Aamodt, Allen Abercrombie, Tali Broden, Sam Campbell, Lorrisa Craigmile, Dena Dahl, Marcus Daniels, Shane DeFreece, Michael Dyrdal, Eric Erickson, Abby Eyerly, Derek Gebauer, Molly Haugen, Ethan Heden, Richard Holand, Shane Iliff, Kassondra Jesme, Nicole Johnson, Kim Jones, Matt Kazmierczak, Becca Kruta, Chantel Kuznia, Jacob Langevin, Whitney Liam, Matt Lindquist, Carley Mattson, Teagen Nelson, Randi Numedahl, Zach Pederson, Nicole Penner, CeJae Peterson, Hailey Peterson, Katie Rook, Aaron Schneider, Riley Simenson, Stephen Sorenson, Kelsey Spilde, Aaron St. George, David Stenson, Casey Swanson, Alex Thomas, LeeAnn Waswick, Josh Watne, Kanisha Wilkinson and Aaron Yaggie.

All groups are under the direction of Kristin Buckley.

No injuries reported after fire Wednesday

No injuries were reported after a grain-dryer fire about seven miles northwest of Thief River Falls on Wednesday night.

The fire was reported at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday in a grain dryer at the Don Dyrdal residence, 13142 180th St. N.W., according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department. The fire started after the grain dryer overheated while drying grain. Firefighters were on the scene for a few hours.

The fire department did not know how much damage the grain dryer sustained, and it did not have a dollar amount for the damage.

Warroad School Board searches for new superintendent

Warroad - The Warroad School Board heard a proposal from a consultant to assist in its upcoming search for a new superintendent.

Donald Anderson from The ADM Group was on hand to present a search proposal. His company works with schools to find key personnel.

"You're looking at a pay scale from $90,000 up to the $110,000, that's just salary with no benefits," said Anderson. "I don't bring candidates to Warroad that you can't afford. We have a great success rate, and we would like the opportunity to work with your board for your new superintendent."

The board told Anderson it will take the proposal under advisement. - Warroad Pioneer, Nov. 16, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Historical Society asks for halt on work at old courtroom

Warren - Plans for refurbishing about half of the old courtroom in the Marshall County Courthouse to create offices for Social Services Department staff were put on hold, at least for a while, by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday meeting.

The remodeling project, with a cost of about $100,000 (about half to be paid by the federal government), had been approved by commissioners Nov. 1. The added space, adjacent to the present Social Services area on the third floor of the courthouse, is needed to alleviate crowded conditions for staff and make it easier for them to comply with privacy requirements when meeting with clients, said Jennifer Anderson, social services director.

Tuesday morning, Delvin Potucek, president of the Marshall County Historical Society, and Kent Broten, treasurer of the society, appeared before the board to object to the remodeling plans. Though plans call for preserving the judge's bench and other furnishings at the front of the courtroom, together with a reduced seating area, society representatives said the proposed remodeling would drastically change the character of a fairly rare example of a historic courthouse. They said many people have gone to some effort and expense to preserve the courtroom and probably would object to the proposed changes. Remodeling should not be carried out without giving such people a chance to be heard, they said.

After visiting with Potucek and Broten, the board approved a motion directing Auditor/Treasurer Scott Peters to schedule a public hearing regarding the use of the old courtroom. - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 16, 2005

Fosston's Jamie Nesvold wants to be a millionaire

Fosston - While Fosston residents went about their lives Tuesday, some may have noticed the voice of Jamie Nesvold was not on Fosston radio during his regular time slot from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. That is because Jamie is currently in New York putting his trivia knowledge to the test with hopes of a million dollar payout on the hit show "Who Wants to be a Millionaire."

For Jamie, play started Tuesday. The episode will not air on KVLY-TV until early spring. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Nov. 15, 2005

A warm perch

In this weather, even owls need a place to warm up. Thursday morning, this great horned owl found a warm perch on the chimney of the Troy Skime residence, 212 Tindolph Ave. N., Thief River Falls. According to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, these owls live in both open and wooded areas. They are found in remote wilderness as well as in rural areas and cities. Great horned owls do not migrate.

Medicare Part D enrollment begins

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Starting next year, seniors will be able to get prescription drug coverage through Medicare. Enrollment began Tuesday for Medicare Part D.

Medicare is providing the service with insurance companies and other private companies. If seniors enroll in the prescription drug plans by Dec. 31, their prescription drug coverage begins Jan. 1.

"Basically, the key points are that it's a voluntary program and that it's available to everyone on Medicare," said Lois Pagnac, senior outreach specialist with Land of the Dancing Sky Area Agency on Aging in Warren. Pagnac noted those seniors are eligible for the prescription drug coverage no matter what their income levels or assets.

Enrolling in Medicare Part D means selecting a prescription drug coverage plan. Seniors have 20 plans from which to choose, Pagnac noted.

It also means paying a monthly premium and yearly deductible. The premium is "generally around $37 in 2006," and the deductible is "up to $250 in 2006," according to www.medicare.gov. Enrollees also pay a portion of the cost for prescriptions. Costs are dependent on the prescription drug plan a senior chooses.

Seniors with limited incomes and resources who don't have Medicaid may eligible to receive help in paying their portions of the prescription drug plans if they have resources less than $11,500 (single) or $23,000 (married), according to Medicare.

The deadline to enroll is May 15.

Scams

Take care when choosing Medicare prescription drug plans

On Tuesday, Minnesota seniors began making important decisions about the new prescription drug plans known as Medicare Part D. Minnesota Commerce Commissioner Glenn Wilson reminds seniors and their families to beware of dishonest people who may attempt to carry out fraudulent schemes during the enrollment period.

"There is an abundance of information on the new prescription drug plans," said Wilson. "Before you make a decision, take your time and do the research. It is the best way for you to protect yourself from scams. Insurance regulators can't always stop fraud before it starts, and people are not always able to get back the money they lose through deception. Make sure the company and the plan is legitimate."

While Medicare is a federal program, the Minnesota Department of Commerce (MDC), the state's insurance regulator, reminds seniors to be careful when choosing a prescription drug plan:

- Don't give out personal information until you are certain that the person you are working with is from Medicare or a private insurance company participating in the Medicare program. Your Medicare number is just as important as your Social Security number. Be sure to protect it along with the rest of your personal information.
- There is no way to enroll in a drug plan over the telephone –

Water quality workshop in Hallock

The public is invited to attend a water quality workshop at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock. The workshop is being hosted by the Red River Basin Commission (RRBC). This workshop is one of a series of public workshops that will be held throughout the Red River basin during the next several months.

The workshops will focus on phosphorus, nitrogen and sediment, providing basic information on their natural occurrences and how an excess of these nutrients can present significant human health and environmental health hazards. Information on local and regional programs to reduce nutrient loading also will be discussed. Small group discussions will provide an opportunity for the public to share their concerns and ideas on dealing with excess nutrient loading.

"If the Red River Basin is to continue to expand its industrial and social base, we need to maintain a supply of good quality water," said John Finney, RRBC board member. "As stewards of the land, it is our responsibility to do whatever we can to realize this goal."

Goals of the workshop include educating the public about the impact of poor sewer treatment, fertilizer applications, sediment and associated runoff from urban and agriculture land. Information will be provided detailing regional programs to assist in reducing impacts to water quality in the Red River. The workshop also will provide a venue for public review of the Red River Basin Natural Resources Framework Plan (NRFP).

The complex nature of the Red River Basin has resulted in Early deadlines set for holiday edition of Watch

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, deadlines for the next edition of the Northern Watch have been changed. For the Nov. 26 edition of the Northern Watch, the deadline for classified advertisements will be at 10 a.m., and the deadline for display advertisements will be noon on Wednesday, Nov. 23.

Civil War Era Display

Buckles, binoculars, buttons, tobacco and a Bible are among the Civil War era items on display at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. Dennis Johnson, a philosophy instructor at the college, loaned part of his collection to the college for the display. The display is open through Dec. 16.

Civil War era collection at NCTC

Quality and breadth of Civil War era collection surprises many visitors

by David Hill
Editor

Dennis Johnson has been interested in the Civil War all his life. His personal library contains in excess of 300 volumes on the Civil War. Until six years ago, he only focused on books.

Dennis Johnson

One day Johnson decided to buy a few Civil War era items on eBay just to add a little to his library collection. That's all it took. Johnson has been collecting artifacts, like buttons, bullets, and bayonets, ever since. Now, as he says, he buys relics and if he has any money left after that, he buys food and takes care of other essentials.

"It's an illness," laughed Johnson.

Area residents now have an opportunity to see part of the collection Johnson has amassed. The display opened Monday, Nov. 14, in the small gallery at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls, and will remain open until Friday, Dec. 16. The gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays. Displayed items include buttons, currency, letters, magazines, medals, belt buckles, a pipe, maps, swords, artillery shells, rifles, pistols and much more.

Of all the items he collects, the most interesting to Johnson are Civil War artifacts from Minnesota. Those items are difficult to obtain, explained Johnson, because Minnesota was only two or three years old when soldiers from Minnesota joined the war effort. In this collection are letters from soldiers that tell of battles fought, injuries suffered, a brother who was captured, and a struggle just to survive. Visitors to the display can look at an artifact and wonder who owned it and why it was left behind. When one reads these letters, however, the reader is transported to a different time in history, and a much clearer picture emerges.

For someone who has this much interest in Civil War history, one would think he or she would have to be a history teacher. Johnson teaches philosophy at NCTC in Thief River Falls. He admits that on the rare occasion that he does get to teach a Civil War class at the school, "it's a hoot."

Johnson doesn't describe himself as the typical "collector type." In fact, he was surprised by his own enthusiasm. He said his reaction to his own display also surprised him.

Johnson said it took quite a bit of effort to put the display together. He gives a great deal of credit for that to John Leopold, art instructor at the school.

Leopold was amazed at the collection, himself. Because it is such an impressive collection, he said he wanted to do it right. Doing it right took about 100 hours of work over four days.

The collection is certainly museum quality. Comments in the guest book near the entrance range from "amazing" to "awesome."

"It has been really enjoyable," said Johnson. "I've discovered that it's really fun to share what you've collected with others."

Viewing this display is free. It's located in the gallery display area near the west end of the building.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Today's recipes are ideas for your holiday meal, all containing nutritional information in case you are watching your diet.

Here's a yummy beginning to your Thanksgiving dinner, and you can keep an eye on your diet, too:

SQUASH SOUP

1 carrot, pared and sliced
1 red onion, cut into 8 wedges
1 stalk celery, sliced
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
1-1/2 pounds buttemut squash or other winter squash
1 can reduced sodium chicken broth
1/4 cup maple syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon allspice
Pinch of ground cayenne pepper
3 tbsp. reduced fat sour cream
Green Onion Crème (below)

Combine carrot, onion, celery and butter in micro safe 3-quart casserole with lid. Microwave, covered, for 5 minutes. Meanwhile, peel, seed and cut squash into 3/4 inch cubes.

Add squash, broth, syrup, salt, allspice and cayenne to casserole. Micro, covered, 16 minutes, until squash is tender.

Remove solids in soup with slotted spoon to processor or blender. Add sour cream and puree, adding a little liquid as needed. Stir puree into casserole. Spoon into bowls and drizzle with Green Onion Crème. Recipe serves 6.

Green Onion Crème

1/2 cup parsley
1 cup sliced green onion
1/4 cup reduced fat sour cream

Puree parsley and green onion in food processor. Add sour cream and puree smooth. Drizzle over Squash Soup.

Nutritional Info: Each serving contains 165 calories, 3 g protein, 7 g fat, 25 g carb, 567 mg sodium, 17 mg chol.

What a delicious side dish for your Thanksgivlag feast:

CORN PUDDING

1 onion, finely chopped
1 sweet red pepper, finely chopped
2 tbsp. unsalted butter
4 cups fresh corn kernels or frozen corn, thawed
1/4 cup flour
2 cups half and half
4 eggs
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter a 6 cup soufflé or other baking dish.

Sauté onion and green pepper in butter for 5 minutes. Add corn and cook, stirring occasionally, for 3 minutes.

Whisk flour and 1/2 cup half and half in bowl. Add remaining half and half, eggs, sugar, mustard, salt, baking powder and cayenne pepper. Stir in corn mixture. Transfer to prepared dish.

Place dish in shallow pan on oven rack and add enough hot water to pan to come halfway up the sides of the dish. Bake 1 hour or until set. If top browns too quickly, cover with foil. Recipe serves 8.

Nutritional Info: One serving is 235 calories, 8 g protein, 13 g fat, 24 g carb, 408 mg sodium and 136 mg chol.

You can have your mashed potatoes and still stay on that diet - try these:

MASHED POTATOES

2 pounds Russet potatoes, pared and cut into 1 inch cubes
2-1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup low fat plain yogurt
2 tbsp. unsalted butter, melted

Cook potatoes in salted boiling water in large saucepan until fork tender, 10-15 minutes. Drain and return to saucepan.

Add yogurt to potatoes, and mash with potato masher. Serve or continue for browning top.

To brown top, spoon potatoes into pastry bag with decorative tip. Pipe into flameproof 9 inch pie plate or shallow baking dish. Drizzle with melted butter, then broil 3 minutes or until lightly browned. Recipe serves 4.

Nutritional Info: One serving equals 252 calories, 7 g protein, 7 g fat, 41 g carb, 606 mg sodium, 19 mg chol.

How about those tasty sweet potatoes:

MAPLE WALNUT YAMS

3 yams, about 8 ounces each
Kosher salt
Black pepper
3/4 cup shelled walnuts
2 tbsp. unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
2 tbsp. maple syrup
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg

Cut yams in half lengthwise. Make deep, cross-hatched slashes across each half. Place yams, cut side up, in 9x13 inch micro safe dish so one end is against edge of dish and other end is near center. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Place walnuts in food processor and pulse with on-off motion until finely chopped. Add butter, maple syrup, cinnamon and nutmeg. Pulse until nuts are ground and mixture is combined well. Spread evenly over tops of yams.

Cover dish tightly with plastic wrap, then micro for 20 minutes. Carefully prick plastic to release steam, then remove dish from oven. Carefully uncover. Recipe serves 6.

Nutritional Info: Each serving contains 262 calories, 4 g protein, 13 g fat, 34 g carb, 11 mg sodium, 10 mg chol. Diabetic Exchange is 1 1/2 starch/bread, 3/4 fruit and 2-1/2 fat.

You might like to try this side dish for your holiday meal too - made easy in the micro:

HERBED POTATOES AND ONIONS

3 medium red potatoes, sliced thin
1 medium onion, sliced thin
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tbsp. reduced fat margarine, melted

In ungreased 2 quart, micro safe baking dish, layer half the potatoes and the onion slices. Combine Italian seasoning with pepper and sprinkle half over the potato and onion layer. Drizzle with 1 tablespoon margarine. Repeat layers. Cover with vented plastic wrap.

Microwave on high for 12 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Recipe serves 4.

Nutritional Info: 1 serving is 127 calories, 72 mg sodium, 0 chol, 22 gm carb, 2 gm protein, 4 gm fat. Diabetic Exchange is 1-1/2 starch and 1/2 fat per serving.

Choir Telethon reaches $15,280

The 86-member Lincoln High School Concert Choir reached its goal and raised $15,280 at its Choir Telethon, which was held Nov. 13. Its goal was $15,000. The choir will use the money to tour the East Coast June 12-20, 2006.

The choir and Choir Director Darcy Reese could not have been more happy with the success of the event. The 44 acts that were featured throughout the day helped to bring in all the funds.

"What a day," said Reese. "It was so easy to bring quality entertainment to the living rooms of all who watched and then they in return supported these performers like no other Choir Telethon. Amazing."

The Choir Boosters are asking that all pledges be mailed by Nov. 24 in order to pay the bills for the phones and publicity and the 5 percent donation after bills can be sent to the Red Cross. The choir would like to be able to send its donation to the Red Cross as soon as possible. The remaining dollars will be split between the 86 choir members leaving on the June tour.

Send the donations to Choir Boosters, Lincoln High School, 101 Knight Ave. S., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

MY BROTHER
With a burdened heart and a troubled mind,
I kneel by the side of his grave
And I cry for my brother,
I love so much.
For no longer can I be brave
I know he'd hate to see me cry
But, everything's gone wrong
And I need to tell him I love him
I haven't told him in so long
He used to dry my tears away
And put a smile in their place.
Oh God, I'd be so happy
If I could only see his face
You see, I miss him terribly.
We were close, him and I.
He taught me so many things, Lord
He took the time to answer why
Why did he have to leave me?
I feel so all alone.
I long to hear his voice, again
To call him on the phone
Oh Lord, please give me strength
To bear this awful pain
Tell him that I love him, Lord
Slow these tears that fall like rain
Assure me that we'll meet again,
Upon your Golden Shore,
And once more he'll be my brother
In Heaven, forever more

Missing my twin brother,
Missy

Trucker injured after semi tips onto side Tuesday

A Wisconsin trucker suffered minor injuries after his semi tipped onto its left side Tuesday morning on Highway 2 in Polk County.

Danny T. Limberg, 32, Onalaska, Wis., was taken to First Care Medical Services in Fosston. He was treated and released from the hospital, according to a Nursing Department employee.

At the time of the accident, Limberg was driving a semi on Highway 2. He lost control of the vehicle on slush, according to the Minnesota State Patrol. The semi then went off of the road on the left side and tipped on its left side.

The semi sustained extensive damage. The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 8:36 a.m. Tuesday.

Create a holiday wreath at workshops Nov. 26 and 27

If the fragrance of fresh balsam, pine and spruce boosts residents' holiday spirits, two wreath-making workshops scheduled Nov. 26 and 27 at Old Mill State Park near Newfolden are guaranteed to not only get them in the mood for the holidays, but give them a jump-start on their holiday preparations.

The wreath-making workshops will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 26 and Sunday, Nov. 27 in the heated picnic shelter at the park. Participants can choose either date, attend the workshop and go home with a holiday wreath to keep or give as a gift.

Although the workshops are free, donations to Friends of Old Mill State Park (FOMSP) are welcome. No advance reservations are required; however, participants are asked to call the park by Nov. 21 with information on the number of children and adults who will be attending. This will enable park staff to estimate the quantity of fresh boughs that must be harvested. A vehicle permit is required to enter the park and can be purchased at the park office.

Fresh balsam, pine and spruce boughs will be available on-site courtesy of FOMSP. The group has purchased a permit that will enable park personnel to cut fresh boughs that will be used for the workshops. However, participants will need to bring some materials with them from home. Those materials include a form or base for their wreaths or decorative sprays, flexible wire, wire cutters, ribbon and other decorating material. Some supplies may be available, but materials are limited.

Participants of all ages are invited to attend. Again this year, the park will have crafts and activities available for kids during the workshops. Coffee, hot chocolate, hot cider and other goodies will be provided thanks to FOMSP.

For more information, call the park at (218) 437-8174. Wreath workshops may be arranged at other times by contacting the park before Nov. 21.

Thanksgiving seat belt enforcement: Guess who's coming to dinner?

Officers will be dishing out seat belt citations during the Thanksgiving holiday for a statewide Safe & Sober seat belt enforcement campaign Nov. 21-27.

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) is coordinating the enforcement campaign that includes 400 law enforcement agencies statewide. A previous, two-week seat belt mobilization last May resulted in 12,102 seat belt citations.

"Each year, Thanksgiving travels turn tragic – and that means empty chairs around the dinner table," said Capt. Dick Wittenberg. "Enforcing the seat belt law is one thing we can do to ensure that Minnesota is moving toward zero deaths on its roads."

Last year, the Thanksgiving holiday weekend was one of the deadliest travel periods of the year in Minnesota: 13 motorists were killed and 646 were injured. Among those killed, five were not wearing seat belts.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS TO LEASE FARMLAND

Parcel #1:

The properties owned by the Middle Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed District in section Eleven (11) and section Fourteen (14), of Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, Range Forty-nine (49) West (Sandsville Township), Polk County, Minnesota lying south of the Snake River and North of Polk County Ditch #7, containing 147 acres more or less.

Parcel #2:

A parcel of land in section Eleven (11) and section Fourteen (14), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North of Range Forty-nine (49) West (Sandsville Township) lying North of the Snake River of the following described tract of land:

Beginning at the northeast corner of said Section 14:
thence South 0° 26'05" East a distance of 3,609.92 feet;
thence North 60° 50'35" West a distance of 4,550.75 feet;
thence North 0° 20'02" West a distance of 54.82 feet;
thence South 89° 48'46" West a distance of 1,319.07 feet;
thence North 0° 18'02" West a distance of 224.64 feet;
thence North 89° 15'28" East a distance of 1,318.98 feet;
thence North 78° 49'12" East a distance of 1,342.77 feet;
thence North 66° 20'10" East a distance of 797.53 feet;
thence North 48° 28'14" East a distance of 778.08 feet;
thence North 60° 13'42" East a distance of 1,518.75 feet;
thence South 0° 00'00" West a distance of 750 feet to the point of beginning. Containing approximately 17.2 cropland acres more or less.

These parcels will be leased in three-year increments, with each lease to begin on January 1, 2006 and expire December 31, 2008. The successful bidder must enter into a written lease conforming with the bid. Terms included in the written lease are that the Lessee will faithfully cultivate the premises in a careful and husband-like manner, destroy all noxious weeds declared by statute and local laws to be a common nuisance within the time prescribed by law, not assign or sublet, make all payments when due, and leave the land in the condition it was found in. Additional terms and conditions shall apply. A complete copy of each proposed Lease is available at the Watershed District Office.

Bids must be received at the District Office in writing at 453 North McKinley St. Warren, Minnesota, no later than 4:00 p.m., Friday, December 9, 2005. Oral bids, bid by telephone, FAXes and e-mails shall not be accepted. Bids should be addressed as follows: Middle Snake Tamarac Rivers Watershed District, Land Rental Bid, PO Box 145, Warren, MN 56762.

Bidders may bid on one or both parcels, but those bidding on both parcels must submit a separate bid for each parcel.

All bidders take the land "as is" and the Watershed District makes no representations or warranties with regard to the suitability of the land for any particular agriculture, eligibility or enrollment in government programs, etc. The Watershed District encourages potential bidders to make their own independent investigation prior to submitting any bid.

The Watershed District reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bids shall be opened at the regular monthly meeting of the Watershed District on Monday, December 19, 2005.

Rent payments will be due and payable in two installments each year, with the first installment due on or before April 1, and the second installment due on or before November 1.

Dated this 28th day of October 2005.

Sen. Dayton: FAA issues preliminary investigation report

U.S. Senator Mark Dayton has announced that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has released the preliminary findings of its investigation of maintenance operations at Northwest Airlines (NWA). The investigation was launched in September, after one of FAA's own investigators raised concerns about NWA maintenance to Dayton.

"I met today with James Ballough, director of Flight Standards Service at the FAA, Nicholas Sabatini, associate administrator for Aviation Safety at the FAA, and David Balloff, assistant administrator for Industry and Government Affairs at the FAA. They briefed me on the FAA's investigation into allegations regarding the safety of Northwest Airlines' flight operations. They assured me that after their review, they believe Northwest flights are being operated consistent with the FAA's safety standards for the commercial airline industry.

"The FAA officials stated that their review corroborated some of the findings of the inspector who contacted my office. They informed me that he is one of 80 FAA inspectors assigned to Northwest's operations, and that their conclusions were based upon all 80 inspectors' reports and findings. They assured me that the FAA's careful oversight of Northwest's operations will continue."

FineTymes Supper Club to host Roseau Co. Historical Society Christmas program

FineTymes Supper Club in Greenbush will host the Roseau County Historical Society Annual Christmas Program on Sunday, Nov. 27 at 7 p.m. The public is invited to the event.

Participants include Master of Ceremonies Shayne Isane, Rhonda Rothenberger, the Accordion Band, and Ray Green. They will provide a variety of Christmas music, including a sing-a-long. Joel and Bonnie Nordvall-Olson and children will entertain with stories. Coffee and refreshments will be served. Anyone who would like to share a half dozen of their favorite Christmas cookies/bars for the refreshments is welcome. Any extra goodies will be given to the Greenbush Care Center.

Grygla-Gatzke blood drive set for Dec. 1

Grygla-Gatzke's blood drive will be from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 1, at the Community Center in Grygla.

Generally, most healthy people who are 17 and older and weigh at least 110 pounds may donate blood. There are quite a few people who do not realize they are qualified to donate. People who are taking vitamins, hormones, birth control pills, diet pills, or antibiotics for acne may donate. There is no upper age limit.

Every donor must bring identification to the blood drive. Identification must include the donor's legal name, plus one of the following: date of birth, Social Security number, United Blood Services assigned number, or a photo.

Donors who are otherwise eligible to donate, but are unable to give at this drive because of the following: donors do not know the name of the medications they are taking and the conditions they are being treated for; have had a blood transfusion within the past 12 months; it is less than three days after last dosage of antibiotics for an infection; they are not symptom-free of colds or flu; have had an ear piercing at an unlicensed establishment; it is less than 12 months after a tattoo; they have cancer. (Call United Blood Services at 1-888-293-8203 for details.)

Recently, it was announced that insulin-dependent diabetics may donate.

"These qualifications may have some affect on persons who plan on donating blood at the next blood drive in Grygla," said Ralph Rundell, blood drive coordinator. "We encourage other citizens to take the place of donors unable to give at this time."

People who have additional questions on donor qualification, or who wish to schedule an appointment, may call Roy at 294-6122, Ralph at 294-6177, or Ione at 294-6323.

42 volunteer, 35 donate during Goodridge blood drive

A total of 42 people volunteered to donate blood, 35 were able to give, and 42 units were collected during Goodridge's November 10 blood drive. Seven donors donated on the automated 2RBC machine, which collects two units of red blood cells at once. Thirteen donors gave for the first time! Sponsoring blood drives is a very important responsibility in communities to ensure a safe and adequate blood supply.

Cindi Kotrba coordinated the drive sponsored by the Goodridge Lion Tamers. Others who assisted with the drive were: Marlys Drangstveit, Ruth Sanders, Marie Adams, Myrtle Sunsdahl, Audrey Rogalla, Vernon Rogalla, Sue Philipp, Dale Hanson, KTRF/KKAQ and The Times. Space to hold the drive was provided by St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 74 area hospitals served by United Blood Services. Blood is for sharing: you have truly given the "Gift of Life."

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Clearly it's confusing

Medicare Prescription plans too complicated

Upon examining a considerable amount of information about the new Medicare Part D drug program, it's clear...well not quite clear. In fact, it' not clear at all.

The new program is designed to help Medicare beneficiaries pay for prescription drugs. That's all well and good, but it's new, it's complicated and because there are many different plans, deadlines, and because it's important - people need time to study this new program.

A national survey by the Kaiser Family Foundation found that more than half of the potential beneficiaries know next to nothing about the plans being offered. When asked how well they understand the drug benefit, more than six in 10 seniors (61 percent) say "not too well" or "not at all," while more than one in three seniors (35 percent) say "very" or "somewhat" well. When asked whether the Medicare drug benefit would help them personally, more seniors say it would not (49 percent) than say it would (39 percent).

Medicare beneficiaries could start signing up for the program on Nov. 15. The new program will start Jan. 1, 2006. The enrollment period for the new drug benefit will continue through May 15, 2006. If individuals do not sign up by that time, they will also have to pay a late-enrollment penalty, which will increase their premium by one percent for each month they are not enrolled in the program.

After receiving complaints about inaccurate information, Sen. Mark Dayton urged Minnesotans to be fully informed about their choices before enrolling in the new Medicare Part D drug program. Area representatives are also encouraging residents to be informed. In some cases, these agencies will be offering workshops, so that it will be clear to Medicare beneficiaries.

Winter driving skills need to be updated

Winter has arrived. Last week's winter storm created slippery conditions on roads and highways in northwestern Minnesota. It's time to shift our winter-driving skills into high-gear.

Minnesota Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) reminds motorists in Minnesota that they need to be accountable for their driving behavior. In order to avoid tragedy when roads are slippery, they need to slow down and buckle up.

Why? Icy road conditions contributed to nearly 60 deaths and over 4,500 injuries in 2004.

Over the long summer and fall, many motorists may have forgotten what it's like to drive on snow-packed or slippery roads. OTS says it's time to brush up on winter driving skills - test brakes, slow down, increase your travel time (better yet, don't travel when it isn't advised), clear snow and ice from your vehicle, keep a safe stopping distance, give snow-removal equipment lots of space, and turn on those headlights when it is snowing or sleeting. Let's keep the roads safe for everyone.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

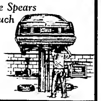
Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Cut your own Christmas tree at Rydell National Wildlife Refuge

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge will be open for the Christmas Tree Harvest Event Saturday, Dec. 3 and Sunday, Dec. 4 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Bring a handsaw to cut your own tree. (A few handsaws will be available for use at the refuge for those who do not have their own). No chainsaws will be allowed. Enjoy a cup of cocoa, cider, or coffee and a treat while warming up in the Refuge's Visitor Center. Trails will be open for those wanting to enjoy a walk around the refuge.



Volunteers will be on-hand in the Visitor Center to register those who wish to cut a tree and orient them to the field where the trees may be cut. Volunteers will also be at the cutting sites to assist with tree removal and tie down. The reduction of the conifer stands is part of the management goals of the refuge. These stands will eventually be restored to native tallgrass prairie and/or native hardwood forest.

Donations received for the trees will go to the Friends of Rydell Refuge Association (FRRA) to further their mission of promoting a better understanding, appreciation, and accessibility of the refuge for people of all ages and abilities. The FRRA works with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in promoting and interpreting the natural and cultural history of the refuge and sponsors numerous programs at the Visitor Center.

During the winter season, the Visitor Center is generally open Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m., and Mondays through Fridays, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. When snow conditions allow, the seven-mile trail system is groomed for cross-country skiing and is accessible for hiking and biking year-round from sunrise to sunset seven days a week, unless posted otherwise. A parking area is located outside the main gate for visitors' convenience.

To get to the refuge, travel three miles east of Mentor (or about three miles west of Erskine) on Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County Road 210. Follow County Road 210 for two-and-a-half miles to the large entrance sign. Visitors may also travel on Highway 59 to Polk County Road 41, turn west and follow the signs. For more information, call the refuge at 1-800-841-0172.

Farm Bill extension is offered

Agriculture Committee Ranking Democrat Congressman Collin C. Peterson (MN-7) and Agriculture Committee Member Congressman Jim Costa (CA-20) have introduced a bill that would extend the 2002 Farm Bill to provide certainty to farmers and to allow U.S. negotiators to focus on the ongoing Doha Development Round of World Trade Organization negotiations.

"At a time when American farmers continue to face uncertainty with record high energy and input costs, natural disasters, low prices for some commodities and continued cuts to farm programs, this bill assures that they can count on the Farm Bill to continue in its current form at least until we see what the Doha Round could mean for American agriculture," Peterson said.

The Peterson-Costa bill extends the 2002 Farm Bill for one year. That would extend the Farm Bill's commodity title through crop year 2008 and would extend the remaining titles through either fiscal year or calendar year 2008, depending on their current expiration date. If the president does not submit implementing legislation based on the outcome of the Doha Round by Jan. 15, 2008, there would be an additional one year extension.

"While pursuing free trade is critical to U.S. Agriculture, it also must be fair trade. An extension of the farm bill will both encourage our global trading partners to work toward a level playing field and give us time to analyze the outcome of the Doha Round before rewriting our own farm policy," Costa said.

The extension will provide an incentive for U.S trade negotiators to bring back the very best deal possible for American agriculture from those trade talks. It would ensure that the U.S. negotiators do not have to rush through the negotiating process in order to deliver a trade pact to Congress before a new Farm Bill is written.

"Extending the 2002 Farm Bill programs will allow us to write the next Farm Bill with a full understanding of the international trade picture to be sure that we are providing the best possible support to American agriculture," Peterson said.

EGF tops TRF girls 2-1 in o.t.

■ 2005-06 Prowler hockey season opener

Thief River Falls tied the game late in the third period, but lost in overtime Tuesday as the Prowlers opened the 2005-06 girls high school hockey season with a 2-1 setback at East Grand Forks.

A first period goal by Alex Hedlund of the Green Wave stood up until the Prowlers' Brittni Johnson got the equalizer at 13:47 of the third period.

The eight-minute sudden-death overtime ended on a goal by East Grand Forks' Emily Pecka at 4:16.

Outside of the final outcome, Katie Anderson liked what she saw in her Thief River Falls head coaching debut. "I'm very pleased," she said. "I think the girls were a little timid at first. But in the second and third periods they started to play together and started having some fun."

Making her first varsity appearance, Thief River Falls sophomore goalie Jade Gothberg finished with 23 saves. "She played very well," said Anderson of her rookie netminder. East Grand Forks goalie Ashley Pavish stopped 21 shots.

Scoring

First period - EGF, Alex Hedlund (un), 11:54.

NDSCS is 21-point winner vs. Pioneers

North Dakota State College of Science out-scored Northland Community and Technical College by 10 points in the first half and by 11 in the second half to finish with an 84-63 Wednesday men's basketball win at Ed Werre Arena in Wahpeton, N.D.

Although the point difference was basically the same in both the first and second half, the Pioneers' road performance wasn't, according to Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "We played a good first half," he reported, "but we played poorly in the second half."

The National Junior College Athletic Association Division I Wildcats led the NJCAA Division III Pioneers 40-30 at intermission.

Weather forced officials to move the game from Tuesday to Wednesday.

It was the second loss in three early-season starts for a Northland team that shot 34 percent from the field (23/67), went 9-for-17 at the free throw line and out-rebounded the bigger Wildcats 44-43. Cyrin Shaffer, a 6-4 sophomore from Osseo, had a double-double for the Pioneers with 14 points and 14 rebounds.

"They're big," said Nikunen, "but we did a nice job on the boards."

NDSCS shot 44 percent from the floor (31/71) and went 16-for-23 at the line.

There was a big difference in the turnover department, where the Pioneers had 23 and the Wildcats 10.

Allyson Helling, April Peterson in familiar water...

Prowlers have state veterans

It would be easy for Thief River Falls' Allyson Helling and April Peterson to answer, "been there; done that" should anyone ask them about competing in the Minnesota State High School League Class A state swimming and diving championships.

The Prowlers' duo certainly won't need to ask for directions to the Aquatic Center on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis, where the combination Class A and Class AA state meet begins a three-day run Monday. A senior, Helling will be competing at state for the fifth straight year. It will be the fourth consecutive state trip for Peterson, a junior.

Helling will swim the two sprint events at state – the 50- and 100-yard freestyle. Peterson will compete in the 100 backstroke. They advanced with second place finishes during Section 8A competition Nov. 11-12 in Detroit Lakes.

Final two races of Helling's high school swimming career will mark her 15th and 16th state meet events.

The Helling state saga began in 2001 when, as an eighth grader, she qualified with a third place Section 8A finish in diving and was a member of a first place 200 freestyle relay team and a third place 400 freestyle squad.

In a remarkable display of athleticism and dedication, Helling won the Section 8A diving title as a freshman in 2002, even though Thief River Falls couldn't stage the event in the Franklin Middle School pool due to newly-imposed state regulations. Twice each week, Helling would follow the Prowlers' regular 90-minute workout with a trip to Grand Forks for diving practice at the University of North Dakota. She also tied for first in the Section 8A 100 freestyle and was a member of the 200 medley and 200 freestyle relay teams that advanced with second and third place finishes, respectively.

Helling and the Prowlers finally gave up on diving the following year.

Peterson was also a member of those state-qualifying relay teams in 2002 as an eighth grader.

Helling swept Section 8A titles in the 100 and 200 freestyle as a 2003 sophomore. Peterson, a freshman, was second in the 100 backstroke that year and joined Helling on a first place 200 freestyle relay team and a second place 400 freestyle relay unit.

Peterson won her first Section 8A individual title as a sophomore in 2004 with the top swim in the 100 backstroke. Helling was second in the 100 freestyle that year. And they were teammates, again, on a first place 200 medley relay team and a second place 200 freestyle relay outfit.

Helling and Peterson will be swimming just in the individual races at the 2005 state meet. They were part of two relay teams that turned in season-best performances at the Section 8A meet, but finished third in both races. Top two advance, along with time qualifiers.

At the state level, Helling has been a place finisher (1-16) nine times – three times in the 100 freestyle, three times in the 200 freestyle relay, twice in the 400 freestyle relay and once in the 200 freestyle.

To date, Peterson has four state meet place finishes – twice in the 200 freestyle relay, once in the 400 freestyle relay and once in the 200 backstroke.

A year ago, Peterson was 13th in the backstroke and Helling was 14th in the 100 freestyle at state.

The 2005 state meet starts with diving prelims Monday. Swimming prelims are scheduled Tuesday, with Class A going at noon and Class AA starting at 6 p.m.

Helling and Peterson will be accompanied to the state meet by Thief River Falls head coach Lacy Knott.

Wednesday swimming and diving finals will have the same start times for the two classes: noon and 6 p.m.

Prowlers pick up first victory

Goals by McKenzie Kayser, Chasity Johnson and Brittni Johnson gave Thief River Falls a 3-2 girls high school hockey win over Park Rapids/Menahga/Nevis Thursday and a first-week road split to start the 2005-06 season.

It was the first win for new Thief River Falls head coach Katie Anderson, whose team dropped a 2-1 Tuesday overtime decision at East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers out-shot the Panthers 14-6 in the first period, but had to wait until McKenzie's goal at 4:30 of the second period to get on the board.

"We came out flying that first period," reported Katie Johnson.

Chasity Johnson made it 2-0 at 12:13.

The Panthers finished the second period and opened the third period with goals – the second one on a power play – to even things at 2-2. Brittni Johnson, however, shattered the tie with just 2:44 remaining.

It was nice to get the first win, acknowledged Katie Anderson, but she tempered the accomplishment by saying, "There's some things we need to definitely improve on."

The Prowlers will be idle until hosting the Ralph Engelstad Classic Nov 25-26.

Running back Steve Stene heads post-season awards...

Pioneers earn football honors

Steve Stene, a Northland Community and Technical College running back from Fertile-Beltrami, headed the list of Pioneers tabbed for 2005 post-season football honors.

Stene, a hard-running 6-1, 230-pound sophomore, was named First Team Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northern Division and was the Pioneers' lone National Junior College Athletic Association Division III All-Region 13 pick.

Three other Northland players named First Team All-Northern Division were Dwayne Smith, a 6-3, 305-pound offensive lineman from Sarasota, Fla.; Frank Leon, a 6-3, 305-pound defensive lineman from Thiel, N.Y.; and Calvin Tolliver, a 6-2, 210-pound quarterback from Atlanta. Smith, Leon and Tolliver are all freshmen.

Five Pioneers were Second Team All-Northern Division: Alfred Boyd, a 6-3, 235-pound sophomore linebacker from Washington, D.C.; Will Leetch, a 5-8, 175-pound sophomore running back from Roseau; David McKee, a 6-0, 240-pound freshman linebacker from Camden, N.J.; Chris Lee, a 6-0, 170-pound freshman defensive back from St. Louis; and Deonte Lewis, a 5-10, 185-pound freshman running back from Milwaukee.

Northland's Guy Finstrom and Vermilion's Keith Turner shared Northern Division Coach of the Year honors.

Three former TRF skaters members of Cobbers' team

Concordia College in Moorhead has three Lincoln High School graduates on its 2005-06 men's hockey team roster.

Former Prowlers skating with the Cobbers include Brett Johnson, a 6-0, 225-pound senior defenseman; Mike Dowers, a 6-0, 195-pound sophomore goalie; and Anthony Olson, a 6-4, 210-pound freshman forward.

Johnson has 10 goals, 20 assists and 30 points in 71 career games for Concordia. He had 17 points (3-14) while playing in all 26 of the Cobbers games a year ago, and has a goal and an assist in the first four games of the 2005-06 season.

Concordia has used three goals in those four games, but Dowers has played 120 of the 240 minutes, with a 2.50 goals-against average and an .881 save percentage. He played in 15 games last winter, starting 10 of them.

Olson made his collegiate debut by appearing in two of the Cobbers' first four games.

Concordia is 4-0 – its best start since the 1999-2000 season – heading into the Cobbers' Nov. 18-19 Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference opening series at St. John's.

Alec Holen is playing with Fargo-Moorhead Jets Junior A squad

Alec Holen, a 2005 Lincoln High School graduate, is a member of the Fargo-Moorhead Jets in the North American Hockey League.

Holen, a football, hockey and baseball standout for the Prowlers, appeared in 11 of the Jets' first 19 games. The 5-9, 165-pound 19-year-old has two assists.

The Jets began the week with a first place 14-4-1 record in the NAHL Central Division, where they led the Alexandria Blizzard (12-3-3), Southern Minnesota Express of Owatonna (11-7-2), North Iowa Outlaws of Mason City (10-11-2) and Bismarck, N.D., Bobcats (6-8-2).

Originating as a Michigan-based operation in 1975, the NAHL is the oldest and largest Junior A hockey league in the United States. The 20-team, four-division league has franchises stretching from Alaska to Ohio to Texas and New Mexico.

The Jets play their home games at the Carlson Coliseum in Fargo, N.D.

Wildcats handle Pioneers

A 32-7 first half scoreboard difference led to a one-sided 83-23 North Dakota State College of Science win over Northland Community and Technical College in women's basketball at Ed Werre Arena.

Originally scheduled to be played Tuesday, the game was delayed a day due to the weather. It was the second start and second loss of the 2005-06 for the Pioneers.

While both teams are members of the National Junior College Athletic Association, NDSCS is a Division I scholarship program and Northland is a Division III non-scholarship school.

"They're a good team," acknowledged Northland coach Missy Majerus. "They're a legitimate Division I team. They were the favorite and we were the underdog. But should it have been a 60-point difference? No."

Two Pioneers missed the rescheduled playing date. "It hurts when we have kids missing," mentioned Majerus. "They all have roles to fill, and when someone is gone, the rest of the team has to make adjustments."

The Pioneers were just 6-for-47 from the field (13 percent) while making 11 of 17 free throw attempts. The Wildcats went 34-for-77 from the floor (48 percent) and 13-for-22 at the line. The winners finished with a 51-33 rebound advantage. The visitors topped the turnover charts 37-15.

Northland, beaten by Providence College of Otterburne, Man., in the opener, will face its first Minnesota Community College Conference foe Tuesday at Fergus Falls.

Twilight gathering for Christian singles planned for Dec. 3

Mary Sharon Moore, director of the Koinonia Ecumenical Spirituality Center in Grand Forks, N.D., will share her story and facilitate a conversation on the spiritual dimensions of life as a single person on Saturday, Dec. 3, at St. Ann's Church in Goodridge.

The gathering, called "A Place at the Table," will begin with socializing over hot cider (bring a favorite mug) at 3 p.m. The program will begin at 3:45 p.m., followed at 6 p.m. by a supper and conversation on "where we go from here."

For many Christian men and women who live alone, even those surrounded by family, may long for a "place at the table" where they will be accepted, understood and spiritually nourished. This is an opportunity to gather with other single men and women for a gentle-paced reflection and table fellowship with supper.

All that is requested is that participants reserve their "place at the table," by calling St. Francis Xavier Church in Oklee, 796-5844, no later than noon on Thursday Dec. 1. There is no charge for the program, but a freewill offering will be appreciated. This event is sponsored by the Catholic parishes of Oklee, Goodridge and Grygla.

Applications sought for Red Lake County holiday gift program

Inter-County Nursing Service is currently seeking applicants for its annual Holiday Gift Program for Red Lake County residents.

The program provides gifts to children, and elderly or disabled adults who will be without Christmas gifts this year.

The registration deadline is Nov. 28. Registration forms are available at Unity Bank North, the Red Lake Falls Post Office and Red Lake County Social Services in Red Lake Falls; Northwest Community Bank in Plummer; Security State Bank in Oklee; and the Brooks Post Office. Applications should be returned to Inter-County Nursing Service in Red Lake Falls.

North Valley Public Health to hold two flu shot clinics

North Valley Public Health is holding a flu shot clinic for people over 65 or with high risk health conditions at the Grygla Community Center from 9:30 a.m. to noon on Friday, Nov. 25, and at the Newfolden Community Center from 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 25. Patients must bring their Medicare card. Call 218-745-5154 with any questions.

"Guest Appreciation"
Seven Clans Casino is about Guest Service and for 13 years we have been fortunate to make new friends and to keep saying hello to all the friends we have acquired through the years. Seven Clans Casino is dedicating November & December to "Guest Appreciation". Beginning November 18th each Friday and Saturday up until Sunday, December 11th Seven Clans Casino wants to show their appreciation by giving our guests a Major Prize each of these nights. It's our way of saying "Thank You" for visiting and becoming a friend. Please check the calendar for dates and times & Prizes. $3000- Pool Table, Maytag Washer & Dryer, Lg. Screen TV, Stove & Refrigerator, Laptop Computer, Free Standing Fireplace just to name a few.

Sundays — Make Sunday your "Fun Day" @ Seven Clans Casino beginning at noon till 9 pm. Each hour your Players Club Card number can win you $25 and at the time of the drawing, you have earned 13 valuable points this cash prize doubles. Use that new Players Club Card and register to win hourly cash drawings as we make your Sunday a day of Fun here at Seven Clans Casino.

Triple Points — Are you the day player? If not then change your schedule to include Mondays & Thursdays from 8 am to 4 pm to earn yourself "Triple Points". It's our way of saying Thank you and allowing our guests to earn themselves not one not two but triple the points. It's when your Players Club Card can work for you and those valuable points earned can earn you cash rewards. Make yourself the day player on Mondays & Thursdays as Seven Clans Casino gives triple points from 8 am to 4 pm.

Mondays — Ladies your favorite recipe for fun is to mix yourself with your Players Club Card and your favorite machine and your end result is Excitement. Now add half hour cash drawings at $25 from 6 pm - 11:30 pm and your mixture has become a full recipe for fun.

Tuesdays — Senior Day every Tuesday from 10 am to 7 pm, come join your friends and share time together as you receive your gaming coupon and use Tuesday as your day to spend time and friendship at Seven Clans Casino. Medicare Part D enrollment begins

Seniors and others on Medicare will pay higher premiums if they enroll after that date and don't have another prescription drug plan that provides as much coverage as a Medicare plan.

Those premiums increase 1 percent for each month after that May deadline, Pagnac noted.

Late enrollees will also have to pay those higher premiums the entire time they have Medicare prescription drug plans.

There are two ways seniors can receive the prescription drug coverage. One way is through stand-alone prescription drug coverage plans that they would have in addition to their traditional Medicare plans. They also may get prescription drug plans and the rest of their Medicare coverage through Medicare Advantage Plans.

Pagnac encourages seniors to examine their options even if that means not enrolling in Medicare prescription drug plans. "Everybody with Medicare needs to take a look at it," she said.

Seniors and others on Medicare need to keep several things in mind while they are determining whether to enroll. "They need to find what plans their pharmacy will accept," said Pagnac, who noted they should also know which prescription drugs they are taking. Plans vary on how much coverage they offer for particular prescription drugs.

They should also talk to their current insurers about how the Medicare prescription drug coverage will work with their current insurance.

Seniors who have insurance through their former employers or unions should talk to the benefits administrator before making a decision about the Medicare prescription drug plans. Those seniors may have different Medicare prescription drug coverage than seniors who don't have those insurance plans.

If seniors are able and/or choose to enroll in Medicare Part D, they can enroll online, with paper applications or through the companies with which they have selected to enroll.

If individuals have questions or would like more information about the Medicare prescription drug plans, they can attend an upcoming presentation by the Minnesota Senior Federation. The presentation is scheduled Friday, Dec. 2 at 1 p.m. at the Heritage Center, 301 Fourth St. E., Thief River Falls.

Call the Senior Linkage Line® at 1-800-333-2433 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays for Medicare prescription drug coverage information or enrollment help. Messages can also be left at that phone number.

For more information or to receive the free brochure "What Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage Means to You: A Guide to Getting Started," log onto www.medicare.gov or call 1-800-MEDICARE.

unless you call the company. Don't give out your information to a solicitor. Also, payments cannot be made over the telephone. The plan you choose must send you a bill if you enroll via telephone or the Internet. By federal law, sales associates of Medicare Part D cannot call after 9 p.m. or before 8 a.m.

• Though you will have to pay premiums and deductibles, no one should charge you for assistance in filling out the forms. Make sure you know where your money is going.

• Medicare Prescription Drug Plans will have the "Medicare approved" stamp on each piece of material they send you. Any mail you receive regarding Part D without the seal isn't approved by Medicare.

Government agencies are on the lookout for fraudulent companies and individuals. Report any suspicious sales activities or phone conversations as soon as possible. To report fraudulent activity, call:

• 1-800-MEDICARE (TTY users should call 1-877-486-2048).

• Health and Human Services Office of the Inspector General at 1-800-447-8477.

challenges to effective, integrated land and water management. As such, the RRBC has developed the NRFP to aid in achieving a basin-wide approach to integrated natural resource management and provide a framework for overcoming political barriers.

The NRFP has identified basin-wide water quality improvement goals and the need to make the public and leaders aware of the problem that nutrients cause to surface water. The workshop activities are being funded by the International Joint Commission and Manitoba Water Stewardship.

Hyland Seeds presents the cold hard facts of farming in the North.

Northern climates mean a rather short, frosty window for corn and bean growers. So the cold logic behind our seed genetics is simple. All Hyland Seeds products are engineered to tolerate cold spring soils, mature before frost dates and tolerate northern-specific stresses. The results are exceptional, high-yielding crops that mature on time — corn, soybeans and edible beans, developed specifically for northern climates.

Local author to participate in book signing Nov. 25

Ethel (Byron) Thorlacius of Stephen will be at a book signing Nov. 25 at Barnes & Noble in Grand Forks, N.D. She will sign copies of her recently published book, "Old Days and Old Ways in Northwestern Minnesota." The book signing is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m.

"Old Days and Old Ways in Northwestern Minnesota" is a compilation of historical articles written with an aged storyteller for the Hallock centennial in 1983. Though written about the rural and small town events in northwestern Minnesota in early settlement days, these stories also describe the life of all early settlers and their families in the Midwest.

Thorlacius describes herself as a "child of the '30s," and can remember when horses, hoboes and Saturday nights in town were a part of her life. She has gathered many of her own stories into a column called "Grandma Sez" in the Stephen Messenger and the Red River Valley Memories magazine, and would like to gather some of them into a book at some later date.

At retirement time, Thorlacius' interest in area history evolved from participating in the work of local historical societies to becoming the director and curator of the Marshall County Historical Society's museum called Settlers Square. She has held the position of director and curator for the past nine years. In that time, she has also helped organize a coalition of counties in northwestern Minnesota that works together to promote the history of the area.

In recent years, Thorlacius has been interested in the possibility of heritage tourism in the Red River Valley. She finds that the settlement of immigrants in the area is an interesting story to tell to visitors to the valley. Thorlacius is the secretary of the Highway 75 Coalition, a group promoting the growth of activities along the 400-mile International King of Trails, which is now a scenic byway. This scenic-byway designation was made possible through the efforts of the coalition.

Light up the Season

'Tis the season to take the Christmas decorations out of storage. A city of Thief River Falls Public Works Department employee placed a holiday decoration on a city lightpole Monday. Many communities are planning special events. In Thief River Falls, lighting of the community Christmas tree will take place at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 3. The Holiday Train will visit the community on Dec. 14.

Commissioner asked to resign

Pennington County Board asks for absent commissioner to resign

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Pennington County Board of Commissioners is asking for the resignation of one of its commissioners. Tuesday (Nov. 22) the Pennington County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to ask for the resignation of County Commissioner Arden "Bud" Comstock. Comstock, Pennington County's fourth district commissioner, has missed seven consecutive county board meetings, starting with the Aug. 23 meeting.

Based on Minnesota Statute 375, the Pennington County Board now has cause to remove its absent commissioner. Minnesota Statate Chapter 375.101 states, "a vacancy in the office of county commissioner may be declared by the county board when a commissioner is unable to serve in the office or attend board meetings for a 90-day period because of illness, or because of absence from or refusal to attend board meetings for a 90-day period. If any of the preceding conditions occurs, the county board may, after the board by resolution has declared a vacancy to exist, make an appointment to fill the vacancy at a regular or special meeting for the remainder of the unexpired term or until the ill or absent member is again able to resume duties and attend county board meetings, whichever is earlier."

Comstock has been absent for 92 days and counting. Stated by County Attorney Dave Olin, Comstock's commissioner seat could be declared vacant. The board, however, did not feel that vacating the position and appointing a successor would best serve Comstock's fourth district constituents.

If the board appointed a replacement commissioner, the seat would only be temporary until Comstock returns. Stated by Commissioner Bob Carlson, Comstock could return for just one meeting, be re-appointed, and then leave for another 90 days.

Instead, commissioners stated that the fourth district will be best served by Comstock's resignation, which will allow the board to hold a special election for residents living within district four. The fourth district candidate who is elected commissioner will serve the remainder of Comstock's term, which expires Dec. 31, 2006.

Red Lake County reviews revisions

Red Lake Falls - Red Lake County Commissioners are faced with the decision as to where to send county prisoners. Tri-County Corrections of Crookston and Pennington County have made offers.

Red Lake County has been unable to make a decision until such time as revisions to a joint power agreement between the county and Tri-County Corrections are examined.

According to the Red Lake Falls Gazette, "Some critical revisions have been made and are waiting for review by Red Lake County Attorney Dan Geller before the commissioners act on the matter."

The revisions to the agreement were included in the story.

Salvation Army begins kettle drive in Kittson County

Hallock - Hollis and Carolyn Turnwall go into the holidays with a title at stake. Their business holds the record as Kittson County's top Salvation Army donation kettle site.

The red kettle at Karlstad Korner (formerly Super America) has led Kittson County for at least the last three years. And just like last year, this year they are determined to keep it that way.

What has made Karlstad Korner the county's top kettle is their coffee, and lots of it. The Turnwalls serve free coffee to their customers. But once the Salvation Army red kettle arrives, the coffee comes with a price.

"You gotta put something in the kettle, whatever you want," the Turnwalls say.

The Turnwalls have owned the store since 1971. – Kittson County Enterprise, Nov. 23.

Lefse orders still on the rise in Kittson County

Hallock - It's good, warm, right off the griddle, with butter and sugar, or cold with cinnamon and sugar or even just plain.

In the mid-1800's, while the country of Norway was suffering from the effects of the potato famine, many Norwegians came to the United States. Along with them, they brought their griddles, mashers and rolling pins and a lot of knowledge bout lefse and how to make the delicacy that's been replicated in every Norwegian-Scandinavian-American town for more than 150 years.

What would the holiday season be without lefse? Supposedly, in Kittson County anyway, a large majority of the residents can not go through the holiday season without a taste.

And that's where the volunteers and lefse crew at the Hallock Senior Center come into play.

For the last three years, they've been using this Scandinavian treat as a fundraiser. Volunteer and organizer Pauline Olson, Hallock, offered to spearhead the project in 2002.

In the first year, they made 19 dozen. Last year, they made 48 dozen, and with orders increasing every year, they expect to make even more this year. – Kittson County Enterprise, Cindy Stewart, Nov. 23, 2005.

Unlocking the secrets of autism

Taking steps to meet needs of autistic students

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Thanks mostly to better screening techniques, more cases of autism are being diagnosed and the needs of Autism students are being met in School District 564. Currently the school district's Pre-K through 12th grade enrollment includes 20 students who have been diagnosed with autism.

According to Sandra Fladeland, School District 564 autism consultant, one child in every 166 births will be born with autism and with better screening and diagnosing techniques, more cases are being properly diagnosed. The disability is four times more likely to occur in males and as many as 1.5 million Americans are believed to have some form of autism.

"Today, 50 families in America will find out that their child has autism," Fladeland said.

What is autism

The developmental disability known as autism was first diagnosed in the 1940s, but little was known about the disorder until recently. Unlike other developmental disorders, like Downs Syndrome, persons with autism show little or no physical signs of the disorder, and in many cases, individuals with the disability are more intelligent than their peers.

According to Fladeland, autism is a complex developmental disability that typically appears during the first three years of a child's life. It is the result of a neurological disorder that affects the normal functioning of the brain, impacting development in the areas of social interaction and communication skills.

Both adults and children with autism will show difficulties in verbal and non-verbal communication, social interactions and leisure or play activities and no two cases are the same.

"Autism is a spectrum disorder and it affects each individual differently and at varying degrees," explained Fladeland. "Some communicate very well and others are non-verbal."

Autism is often paired with other co-mobid disorders such as hyperactivity or sensory integration disfunction.

"Unless we address autism first and foremost, we won't make much of an impact in treating the other disorders," Fladeland said.

Five of S.D. 564's 20 diagnosed cases are pre-school students. These students, because of their early diagnosis, will have a better opportunity

Early indications of autism

- Child may appear to be deaf or seem unaware.
- He/She may be an extremely "good" baby or is a very fussy, colicky baby.
- May "hand gaze," look at lights or other self-stimulatory behaviors.
- May be a fussy eater.
- Does not have anticipatory response.
- Seems to avoid actively looking at people.
- Seems to tune out a lot, not aware of what is happening around him/her.
- Changes in routine are upsetting.
- May not spontaneously imitate the play of other children.
- May have difficulty applying information from one setting to another.
- May experience extreme sensory sensitivity

Holiday Tour of Homes on parade next weekend in northwestern Minnesota

Hillcrest Red Lake Co. Tour of Homes

by David Hill
Editor

The table is set, the decorations tastefully placed, and the stockings are hung with care at Lois and Allen Remick's home near Red Lake Falls.

The Remick's home is one of seven homes on the Hillcrest Nursing Home Christmas Tour of Homes. From 2 to 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 4, visitors will be able to see these homes decorated for the holiday season.

Lois Remick has enjoyed going on the Christmas Tour of Homes for several years. This year she was talked into sharing her home.

Remick is a strong believer in the fundraising project. "It's a worthy project," said Remick. With the $10 collected from each visitor, residents are made to feel a little more comfortable. They're remodeling the commons room now, she added. Recent changes also include the purchase of a whirlpool tub, and towel warmers.

"You never know," said Remick, "someday we may need their help."

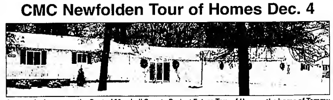
Remick is a member of the Hillcrest Nursing Home Auxiliary. Her connection to Hillcrest is also a personal one. Her mother passed away three years ago, but her grandmother, at the age of 104, lives there. "She's sharp as can be," said Remick.

So when she was approached about allowing her home to be included in the Christmas Tour of Homes, she didn't back away.

Remick likes Christmas. People are happy, friendly, cheery, she said. She said she always has liked Christmas because of that. Remick quickly added that the reason for Christmas is our Lord, of course, but she said she enjoys the fun part.

Visitors to her home will see that reflected in her decorations - a cheery farm scene, smiling Santa figures, a brightly decorated table and stockings hung with care.

Her favorite decorations are the stockings. Remick crocheted stockings for each of her children and grandchildren.



Allen, her husband, owns Ken's Electric, and Lois does the bookwork. They have three grown

The table is set, all that's left is for the guests to arrive. Lois and Allen Remick's home will be one of the homes featured this year during the Red Lake Falls Hillcrest Nursing Home Christmas Tour of Homes.

CMC Newfolden Tour of Homes Dec. 4

Among the homes on the Central Marshall County Project Future Tour of Homes, the home of Tammy and Deon Hansen is located on a one-acre lot of mature oak trees in Newfolden.

The Central Marshall County Project Future is sponsoring its annual Tour of Homes on Sunday, Dec. 4 from 2 to 6 p.m.

Tickets are $5 each and can be purchased in advance from Sethre's Foods, Underdahl Hardware – Hardware Hank, Nu Moon Cafe and Marshall County State Bank, all in Newfolden. On the day of the tour, tickets can be purchased at the Newfolden Community Center from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Maps will be provided.

The tour features several homes of Marshall County residents, including those of:

- Monty and Heather Booren – Nestled in rows of trees in a peaceful country setting, their home features a formal living room and a family room decorated in wildlife decor. The home is decorated in bold colors, and its rooms feature various themes.
- Dennis and Marilyn Gray – Located along the winding Middle River west of Newfolden, their home features trapezoid windows and larger windows overlooking the river. The home also has a loft with an open stairway. It has vaulted ceilings, two family rooms, four bedrooms and two full baths located on different levels.
- Steve and Jolene Grove – Their turn-of-the-century home is located

Remember Area Food Shelf

The holiday season is a time to help others, and local residents are encouraged to remember the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf this holiday season.

The food shelf is in need of donations, especially money, said Gloria Reierson, executive director.

Monetary donations and nonperishable food items can be dropped off at the food shelf, 714 Atlantic Ave. N., Thief River Falls, between 12:30 and 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays. Monetary donations can also be sent to the Area Food Shelf, P.O. Box 802, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Local residents can also donate to the food shelf at a spaghetti dinner and subsequent holiday train stop Wednesday, Dec. 14 in Thief River Falls. The spaghetti dinner will be held from 4:30 to 7:15 p.m. Freewill donations will be accepted.

TRF Tour of Homes Dec. 3

The Thief River Falls Education Association (TRFEA) Holiday Tour of Homes takes place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 3. Tickets for the event can be purchased at one of the six homes on the tour or at several local businesses. All proceeds from this event benefit programs of School District 564.

Homes on the Holiday Tour of Homes include:

- Luke and Sharon Noreen, 15280 U.S. Highway 59 NE.
- Bruce and Jane [illegible], 14224 177th Street NE.
- Terry and Judy Nelson, 1215 Tati Street.
- Gene and Marcia Kalinowski, 1724 Clyde Drive.
- Wallace and Ione Sparby, 1430 Oakland Park Road.
- Orren and Odette Bendickson, 524 Duluth Ave. S.

If you have leftovers from your holiday feast, use them in some of these delicious lunch or main dish recipes.

To make this delicious lunch dish, you will be able to use cheese and broccoli from your hors d'oeuvre trays (just cook raw broccoli a few minutes in boiling water), and also some of your delicious turkey:

CHICKEN & BROCCOLI POT PIES

1 (12 ounce) can refrigerated flaky biscuits
2/3 cup shredded Cheddar or American cheese
2/3 cup crisp rice cereal
1 (8 ounce) package frozen cut broccoli, thawed
1 cup cubed cooked chicken or turkey
1 can cream of chicken or mushroom soup
1/3 cup slivered or sliced almonds

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Place 1 biscuit in each of 10 ungreased muffin cups. Firmly press in bottom and up sides, forming 1/2 inch rim over edge of cup.

Spoon 1 tablespoon each of cheese and cereal into each cup. Press into bottom.

Cut large pieces of broccoli in half. In large bowl, combine broccoli, chicken and soup, mixing well. Spoon about 1/3 cup of mixture over cereal. Cups will be full. Sprinkle with almonds.

Bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until edges of biscuits are deep golden brown.

Use lots of your leftover vegetables from that veggie tray (just cook the broccoli a bit), as well as cheese and turkey.

VEGETABLE CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup shredded carrot
2 to 3 cups cubed cooked chicken or turkey
1 (9 ounce) package frozen cut broccoli in a pouch, cooked and drained

Topping
1 cup complete pancake mix
1/4 cup slivered almonds
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon oil
1 egg, slightly beaten

Heat oven to 375 degrees. In large saucepan, combine soup, cream cheese, 1/2 cup milk, celery, onion, Parmesan, green pepper and carrot. Cook over medium heat until mixture is hot and cream cheese is melted, stirring often. Stir in chicken and broccoli and pour into ungreased 2 quart casserole or baking dish.

In medium bowl, combine all topping ingredients, blending well. Spoon by tablespoon over hot chicken mixture in dish.

Bake for 20-30 minutes until topping is golden and mixture is bubbling around edges.

Serve this delicious soup with Mexican flavored crescent rolls and you'll have one great meal. Don't forget to save your turkey carcass to make the broth:

CREAMY VEGETABLE CHOWDER

Chowder
1 1/2 cups milk or half and half
1 cup chicken broth
1 can condensed cream of potato soup
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
2 cups cubed chicken or turkey
1/3 cup chopped green onions
1 (11 ounce) can whole kernel corn with red and green peppers, drained
1 (4.5 ounce) jar sliced mushrooms, undrained
1 (4.5 ounce) can chopped green chilies, drained
1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese

Crescent Rolls
1 (8 ounce) can refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
1/4 cup crushed nacho flavored tortilla chips

Heat oven to 375 degrees. In 4 quart pan or Dutch oven, combine milk, broth and soups, blending well. Add remaining chowder ingredients except cheese. Mix well. Cook over medium heat 5-8 minutes or until thoroughly heated, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add cheese and stir until melted.

While chowder is heating, bake rolls. Shape dough as directed on package, then press the top of each roll into the crushed chips. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 11-13 minutes, until golden.

PEPPER BISCUIT PULL APART

1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon salt, if desired
1/4 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
1 (12 ounce) can refrigerated flaky biscuits
4 1/2 teaspoons olive oil
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped red pepper
1/4 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese

Heat oven to 400 degrees. In small bowl, combine garlic powder, salt, basil and oregano and blend well. Set aside.

Separate dough into 10 biscuits. Place 1 biscuit in center of ungreased cookie sheet and arrange remaining biscuits in circle around the center, with edges slightly overlapping. Gently press out to a 10 inch circle. Brush with olive oil and top with peppers and cheeses. Sprinkle with garlic powder mixture.

Bake at 400 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until golden. To serve, pull apart warm biscuits. (Each biscuit contains 130 calories, 3 g protein, 14 g carb, 7 g fat and 450 mg sodium.)

Meet the mayor of Sheltering Oaks

Roseau - Meet the unofficial mayor of Sheltering Oaks and its goodwill ambassador. Jeff Olson, reporter for the The Roseau Times Region, wrote a story about Anfin Stoe in the Nov. 25 edition of the newspaper.

"On Monday afternoon, Anfin Stoe looked like a retired professional football player.

"He has two-by-fours for wrists, a neck the size of a fire hydrant, and wears bib overalls.

"He laughed when he was asked if he was a retired banker.

"He would have made a fine banker, but farming was his game and, for the past three years, he's been a resident at Sheltering Oaks.

"Yes, he does own a suit, but bib overalls are his casual wear.

"Ordinarily, Mr. Stoe, 87, can be spotted just inside the entrance, sitting in a chair and chatting with any bloke or pretty gal who enters or leaves,

"If you don't know the exit keys to punch without setting off the alarm, Mr. Stoe is happy to oblige." – Roseau Times Region, Nov. 26.

Erskine man writes book, "Old School"

Robin Cook of Erskine has released his first book - "Old School."

Cook, the son of Walt and Mary Lindseth of Erskine, grew up near where he lives today. It is the traditional values that he learned there that shapes his poetry and philosophical musings that make up this book.

Much of his inspiration to write came from his experienced on an abandoned farmsite once inhabited by his grandparents Robert and Agnes Nelson, now deceased.

"Many of my poems were inspired by native creates that approached and introduced themselves to me," said Cook. "I suspect they were there all along and I finally took notice of them. Such was the case of a lost fawn, shorter than hip-high that approached within five feet of where I stood, literally panting and bleating after being separated from the doe, no doubt feeling alone in a perilous world. It was a very pitiful moment," said Cook.

Cook also shares his philosophical musings in his book. "I'm a believer in traditional values, therefore I throw all the 'new age' philosophy to the four winds. I prefer conservatives over radical thinkers, intelligent design over evolution theory, and an open life in the countryside as opposed to restricted living in the neighborhood, having written about each," said Cook.

Cook is a bookkeeper in Erskine. It took him two and one-half years to write, and one year to publish his book, which is dedicated to his grandparents.

The book was published by AuthorHouse. To purchase the book, visit AuthorHouse online at www.AuthorHouse.com, then click on the bookstore tab. To order by telephone, call AuthorHouse at 1-888-280-7715.

Taking steps to meet needs of autistic students

to take advantage of the school district's specialized services.

To better serve its students with autism, S.D. 564 created an autism committee that included special education teachers from each school, a school psychologist, speech language clinicians and occupational therapists. The function of the committee was to compare the practices of other communities in the state of Minnesota to Thief River Falls.

Fladeland said one of Thief River Falls' strengths was its ability to screen and assess students early. Much like screenings for learning disabilities, autism screenings are conducted prior to a student entering kindergarten.

It is more difficult for adults. Little was known about autism until the 1990s and consequently, many adults with the disorder have not been diagnosed. Adults with autism often show symptoms of depression, have a high rate of suicide, and they may have a hard time holding down a job. According to Fladeland, they are typically drawn to occupations like that have a "concrete" working structure.

Visibly, autism is a hidden disability, Fladeland said. They look like other children, where as somebody born with a different developmental disability, such as Down's Syndrome, may be diagnosed upon birth.

Signs of autism

A common thread among all children with autism is a difficulty with social interaction, a difficulty with communication skill and a self-restricted repertoire of activities. Although autism is defined by a certain set of behaviors, children and adults with the disorder can exhibit any combination of behavior in any degree of severity.

For some children, non-verbal communication is extremely difficult and a lack of understanding can lead to demonstrations of anger.

"People may not understand public displays or tantrums," Fladeland said. Noting that most children's tantrums are developmentally appropriate, Fladeland said that children with autism may have a difficult time with certain social interactions such as taking turns, imitation and cooperative play, that may set off a tantrum. The cause of tantrums and violent displays of a bad temper is often inaccurately attributed to parenting, when autism could be the cause.

Fladeland also points out that every person with autism is an individual and like all individuals, he or she has a unique personality and combination of characteristics. A mildly affected individual may exhibit only slight delays in language development and greater challenges with social interaction.

Treatment

No two cases of autism are the same and treatment needs to be customized for each child. As the school district's autism consultant, Fladeland has her fingerprints on several autism treatment programs available to the district's autistic students. Fladeland highlighted two programs in particular, the Sensory Integration Program and The Alert Program.

Sensory Integration

In 1972, The late Dr. A. Jean Ayres defined sensory integration as "the neurological process that organizes sensation from one's own body and from the environment and makes it possible to use the body effectively within the environment." The Sensory Integration program is designed to increase an individual's sense of movement, body awareness, touch, vision, sound, smell and taste.

The program is also intended to increase an individual's self confidence, increase self regulation, increase attention, decrease anxiety, decrease self-stimulating behavior, increase communication skills, increase independence in daily skills, improve coordination and improve motor skills.

The Alert Program

The Alert Program helps children learn to monitor and change their levels of alertness appropriate to a situation or task. Its goals include teaching children, parents and teachers how to recognize arousal states as they relate to attention, behavior and learning; to help children recognize and expand the number of self-regulation strategies by using a variety of tasks and settings; and to help parents and teachers understand that behavior may reflect the student's best attempt to respond adaptively and efficiently to the demands of a situation or task.

Dealing with autism

Fladeland said much like their non-autistic peers, students with autism may be above average intelligence, while others may be below average. Academic goals are tailored to the individual's intellectual ability and functioning level. Some children, though very intelligent, may need help in understanding social situations and developing appropriate responses. Other students may exhibit aggressive behavior and need assistance managing it.

"No one program will meet the needs of all individuals with autism," Fladeland said. "I think we've gotten better at recognizing and diagnosing autism. Our perception of individuals with autism is shifting from the 'Rain Man' to a more complete picture."

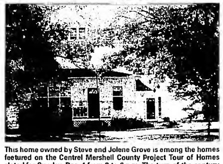
By way of board action, Olin will send a letter to Comstock's Thief River Falls address, asking him to resign his position as Pennington County commissioner by the board's first December meeting, Dec. 13. A second letter will be sent to an e-mail address that was left by Comstock at the Pennington County Auditor's Office.

Comstock informed County Auditor Ken Olson of his decision to leave Thief River Falls for an unknown duration on Tuesday, Aug. 16, stating that he would be leaving for Florida on Wednesday (Aug. 17).



Comstock was elected to the position of county commissioner by voters in Pennington County's fourth district in 1992. He has been re-elected four times, serving Pennington County since January 1993. Comstock's current term expires Dec. 31, 2006.

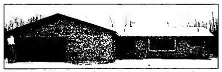
Goodridge School announces Students of the Quarter

Goodridge School has implemented a "Student-of-the-Quarter" Recognition Program. The purpose of the Student-of-the-Quarter program is to recognize students publicly for the positive contributions they make to their classes and to the school at large. The Student-of-the-Quarter program is an incentive plan formed in hopes of reinforcing positive behavior and academic advancement.

The first-quarter Students of the Quarter included Katheryn Szymanski, kindergarten; Cheyenne Grindeland, first grade; Caleb Olson, second grade; Donna Arveson, third grade; John Wilebski, fourth grade; Destiny Olson, fifth grade; Kember Anderson, sixth grade; Nick Mickelson, 11th grade; and Brittany Hanson, 12th grade.



Classroom teachers choose the students who are to be awarded with recognition. Students receive a certificate of recognition honoring them for their achievement.

Academic achievement is not the only criteria for this honor. A Student of the Quarter is someone who:

• Is fair and tolerant of others
• Is mindful of the rights of others
• Always tries his or her best
• Demonstrates kindness and respect for his or her peers and teachers
• Shows responsibility, self-discipline, and good citizenship
• Maintains a high level of involvement in learning activities.

Featured on the Central Marshall County Project Future Tour of Homes, the home of Merilyn and Dennis Grey is located on the winding Middle River west of Newfolden. The home features trapezoid windows and larger windows overlooking the river. It has a loft with an open stairway. The home also has vaulted ceilings, two family rooms, four bedrooms and two full baths located on different levels.

Monty and Heather Booren's home is among the homes featured on the Central Marshall County Project Future Tour of Homes, which will be held Sunday, Dec. 4 from 2 to 6 p.m. Nestled in rows of trees in a peaceful country setting, the home is a one level, modular home shipped from Wisconsin. It features a formal living room and a family room decorated in wildlife decor. The home is decorated in bold colors, and its rooms feature various themes.

TRF boys open hockey season Tuesday vs. Roseau...

Prowlers ranked No. 2 in polls

Four days after the official opening day of practice for boys high school hockey in Minnesota, the first rankings of the 2005-06 season were announced. A few local eyeballs had to be popped back into place when Thief River Falls was listed as the No. 2-rated team in Class A.

Obviously it's a little premature to reserve a hotel room in St. Paul for the 2006 state tournament. The idea behind the polls, especially those done two weeks before the puck is dropped for the first game, is to generate interest and ignite conversation. And they certainly accomplished that goal.

While you can take the polls with a grain of salt or dismiss them altogether, it's certainly a compliment to have your program recognized and respected on a statewide level.

"The polls don't mean a whole lot, really," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland, "but it's nice that people have enough respect for your program to rank you that high. It's a pat on the back for the kids and the hard work they've put in over the years."

Being ranked is not new for the Prowlers, but being listed at No. 2 is, acknowledged Bergland. "We've been ranked in the top ten pretty consistently in the last few years, but never this high," he said. "I think last year we got as high as No. 5."

The Prowlers will certainly find out in a hurry if they should be included in the upper echelon. Their first eight games will include three match-ups with teams ranked in the top six, including No. 1 Blake. And by mid-season, Thief River Falls will have played five of the top eight teams that appear in the initial state poll.

Following Blake and Thief River Falls in the first Class A ranking was 3. Duluth Marshall; 4. Breck; 5. Totino-Grace; 6. Warroad; 7. St. Thomas Academy; 8. Virginia/Mt. Iron-Buhl; 9. Red Wing; and 10. Hibbing.

The Prowlers open the season Tuesday, Nov. 29, at home against traditional area rival Roseau.

Fifth-ranked Totino-Grace and Class AA Blaine will be at the Ralph Engelstad Arena for weekend games Dec. 2-3, respectively.

The encounter with No. 1 Blake will be the first half of the Prowlers' Dec. 9-10 Twin Cities trip that also includes a Day 2 game vs. St. Paul Johnson.

Other preseason top ten opponents for the Prowlers will be a home-and-home series with Section 8A rival Warroad (at Warroad Dec. 20, in Thief River Falls Jan. 19); a Dec. 30 REA Classic match-up with No. 8 Virginia/Mt. Iron-Buhl; and a Jan. 28 visit by No. 3 Duluth Marshall.

Thief River Falls also a Jan. 17 trip to Moorhead – the No. 5-ranked team in Class AA.

The only initial Class A top ten teams not on the Prowlers' regular season schedule are No. 4 Breck, No. 7 St. Thomas Academy, No. 9 Red Wing and No. 10 Hibbing.

Taking it a step further, Bergland points out that the Prowlers will be playing 13 of the top 20-ranked teams in both Class A and Class A preseason polls this year. "Our schedule is not an easy one by any means," he said.

Thief River Falls' early-season attention follows a 19-8-1 season in which the Prowlers reached the Section 8A tournament finals before losing to eventual state champion Warroad 4-1.

Although they lost school career scoring leader Alec Holen to graduation, they return seven players who were double-digit scorers last year, a veteran group of defensemen and two goalies with varsity starting experience.

Senior forward Michael Fomey leads the list of top returning point-producers. The University of North Dakota recruit finished with 34 goals, 33 assists and 67 points as a junior.

Other proven scorers in the lineup include junior Corey Horien (9 goals, 30 assists, 39 points a year ago), senior Robby Philipp (14-23-37), senior Matt Nordhagen (9-13-22), junior Michael Benedict (5-15-20), senior Corey LaSalle (0-11-11) and junior Cody Bottem (4-6-10).

Benedict and LaSalle are defensemen. They are joined on the blueline by seniors Tony Dorn, Drew Kjono and Chad Johnson, plus junior John Carlson.

Graduation took Lance Klaven, the Prowlers' No. 1 goalie, but senior Brady McIntyre and junior Cole Hunt are back. Hunt played in 10 games as a sophomore, finishing with a 3.84 goals-against average and an 88.22 save percentage. McIntyre had a 3.78 goals-against average and an 88.49 save percentage while appearing in a half-dozen games last winter.

The 2005-06 season also starts with 16 players on the junior varsity roster. The forwards include juniors Matt Olson, Mikkel Jorde and Brandon Klinkhammer; sophomores Jacob Collins, Josh Skalsky, Tony Hoard, Allan Jesme and Langan. On defense are juniors Lance Efteland, Ian Erickson, Eric Blix, Michael Blix and Carlson; plus sophomore Spencer Johnson. Junior John Quamme and sophomore Brett Hanson are the goalies.

"We should have a decent year, no doubt," acknowledged Bergland. "If we work as hard as we did and improve as much as we did last year, we'll be just fine."

Scott Bergland, who is in his ninth year as the Prowlers' head coach, is assisted again this winter by Jeff Tunberg, Jeff Vacura and Tim Bergland.

Nine letter winners return for Prowlers

■ Girls high school basketball team plays Ponies in Tuesday debut

Nine returning letter winners give Thief River Falls a shot of confidence heading into the 2005-06 girls high school basketball season.

The Prowlers begin the year Tuesday on the road against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo. Their home opener will be a Saturday, Dec. 3 matinee match-up with Park Rapids Area.

Letter winners on hand include seniors Casey Engelstad, Jessica Gustafson, Allyson Helling, Heather Keogh and Becca Larson, along with juniors Amanda Hoard, April Peterson, Shawna Rogalla and Mandy Thompson. A number of them played extensively on a team that finished 9-16 last winter.

"We open the season with cautious optimism," said Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Loe. "We have a lot of experience coming back from last year with Becca Larson, Jessica Gustafson, Heather Keogh, Casey Engelstad and Shawna Rogalla.

The Prowlers had a tough time of it on offense throughout most of the 2004-05 season. Rogalla, who averaged 6 points per game as a sophomore, is the top returning scorer. Gustafson and Larson both scored 5 points per game and Engelstad averaged 4.

"We will be looking for anybody to step up and do the scoring for us this year," said Loe. "We hope to have a balanced scoring attack, but I hope that balance is three or four players in double digits, not one or two. I don't know if we have that person who can consistently score 15-20 points per game. We'll see."

Until the offense clicks, the defense will have to carry the load, according to Loe. "Our defense will have to be our strong suit," he said. "We are going to have to get after people and score points in transition. Our depth should help us with that."

Other players listed on the early-season varsity roster include senior Dora Minney, junior Lynnsie Weeding and freshman Brittany Wiseth.

The junior varsity group includes Peterson and Weeding, sophomores Hannah Kainz, Marie Kalinowski, Chelsey Knutson, Amanda Lara, Rachael Johnson, Kristine Sletten, Kathryn Walrath and Paige Woods; along with freshmen Toni Sorteberg, Chelsea Sorteberg and Wiseth.

Other freshmen in the program are Meagan Abrahamson, Kim Bauer, Karley Bakken, Carisa Kruse, Cassie Gunderson, Stephanie Jenkins, Jami Lee, Krista Moyer, Cheyenne Horien, Megan Miller, Beth Tvedt, Katrina Peterson and Brittany Whiteman.

Katie Anderson is Dec. 1 guest of Sports Boosters

First-year Thief River Falls girls high school hockey coach Katie Anderson will be the guest speaker during the Thursday, Dec. 1, Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club noon luncheon meeting at the Heritage Center.

Future Sports Boosters guest speakers will be Northland Community and Technical College president Dr. Jim Davis on Dec. 8 and Prowlers boys head hockey coach Scott Bergland Dec. 15.

There will be no Sports Boosters meeting Dec. 22 and Dec. 29 due to the school holidays.

First Nordic Hall of Fame inductees to be honored Dec. 9

First class of inductees into the Nordic Hall of Fame at Marshall County Central High School in Newfolden will be honored during Friday, Dec. 9, ceremonies.

The Hall of Fame banquet will be held at the Community Center in Newfolden starting at 5 p.m. Banquet tickets, priced at $10, are available at the Marshall County State Bank or at the Marshall County Central High School office. Deadline to purchase the tickets is Dec. 2.

Marshall County Central will host Tri-County in a boys basketball that night, and the Hall of Fame inductees will be introduced between the junior varsity and varsity games – approximately 7:15 p.m.

There will be a reception following the game with cake and coffee, and autograph opportunities.

Preserving happy holiday memories

Holiday memories are some of the strongest we have. Light a candle, look at the lights, sit down at the table and no matter who we are or where we're at, holiday memories are sure to come flooding back. Just the other day, I was reminded of the time I forgot to put sugar in the Thanksgiving dinner pumpkin pies my mom had entrusted to me.

And, just this week, Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS) reminded residents to avoid disastrous holiday memories by exercising a little caution, particularly when it comes to fires. Last year, 37 percent of residential fires started in the kitchen, and those fires caused $1.8 million in damage. Holidays are particularly risky times because they may involve elaborate meals combined with lots of distractions.

DPS reminds us to keep a close eye on cooking food, and to keep rags, pot holders, curtains and paper away from the stove. Following a few simple tips can help save a holiday from ruin.

When it comes to holiday memories, I'd much rather laugh at the story of an uncle, who fed up with a malfunctioning stove, drop kicked the still cold turkey out the back door, than hear a story of holiday meal and memories up in smoke. Yup, that uncle walked with a limp for a long time.

Remember others during the holidays

Full? Good.

The annual holiday of over-indulgence is not quite half over - Christmas is yet to come. Over-indulgence isn't necessarily a bad thing. After all, who wants to go hungry or without?

I can't imagine anyone really wanting to go hungry or without anything this holiday season, but there are people right here in northwestern Minnesota who might not have a choice.

Many local and area agencies have begun, or will soon begin, their annual fundraising efforts. The Salvation Army red kettle fund drive has begun. County Angel Trees or Christmas toy projects have started. And, food drives for area food shelves are helping volunteers keep up with demand.

During this time of plenty - and some might argue over-indulgence - please remember to help your neighbor. Please remember to contribute time or resources to efforts that help your neighbor stay warm during the holiday season, put food on their table, and a toy for a child under the Christmas tree.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

The Northern Lights Council (NLC) of the Boy Scouts of America presented the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) with a print of the painting "Wilderness Sanctuary." UMC Chancellor Charles H. Boy Scouts council presents gift to UMC

Greta Kovar, district executive of the Northern Lights Council of the Boy Scouts of America (BSA), presented the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) with a thank-you gift Nov. 18. UMC Chancellor Charles H. Casey and Senior Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Joe Massey accepted a print of the painting "Wilderness Sanctuary" on behalf of the university.

The print was given in appreciation for the help and financial support UMC gives to the region's scouting programs. Late in the summer of 2005, UMC printed 275 of the 70-page training manuals used by the BSA to train Cub Scout leaders. A complete collection of the prints hangs in the UMC library and includes every print since the first one was issued in 1987. The public is invited to visit the library to see the entire collection.

The 2005 print is the work of North Dakota artist Tom Saubert and features an actual Northern Lights Council Boy Scout in the scene.

Minnesota NFO convenes in Alexandria

Dr. Richard A. Levins, a professor emeritus at the University of Minnesota, will be the featured speaker when the Minnesota National Farmers Organization (NFO) holds its annual state convention Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Holiday Inn in Alexandria. He will speak at the 6 p.m. banquet which follows the afternoon business session.

Dr. Levins is also employed as a consultant with NFO, advising the organization on matters of collective bargaining for farmers and public relations. He has worked directly with farmers, farm groups, and public officials for almost 25 years in matters of farm management, farm policy, and sustainable agriculture. On the University of Minnesota campus he has taught first-year economics, the history of U.S. agriculture and research methods for graduate students. He has authored and co-authored over 150 professional papers, popular articles, books, book reviews, and conference presentations.

The convention is open to all NFO members from Minnesota as well as anyone interested in learning more about NFO's many marketing and bargaining programs.

IS A RATHER SHORT AND FROSTY WINDOW.

Northern climates mean a rather short, frosty window for corn and bean growers. So the cold logic behind our seed genetics is simple. All Hyland Seeds products are engineered to tolerate cold spring soils, mature before frost dates and tolerate northern-specific stresses. The results are exceptional, high-yielding crops that mature on time—corn, soybeans and edible beans, developed specifically for northern climates.

Top notch talent to present Christmas Treasures celebration

Area residents will be welcomed to the Roseau Public Library's 67th anniversary celebration, "Christmas Treasures: An Old Fashioned Christmas," on Sunday, Dec. 4, beginning at 2 p.m. The festive holiday event, sponsored by Roseau Area Friends of the Library, will be at Mne Lutheran Church's new building on the east edge of Roseau, just off Highway 11 (entrance from Park Road).

The program will feature both literary and musical "treasures" performed by Mne Bell Choir and top notch talent from Roseau High School. Drama coach Gwen Sollheie has recruited several readers. Larry Pladson's Jazz Band and Robb Johnson's pop choir (Eclipse) will also perform.

children, Janelle Knott (Jason), Brian and Andrea, and two granddaughters from Janelle and Jason Knott - Brooke and Hollie. All three of their children are teachers. Lois said she isn't sure where that came from, but said they must have been influenced by good teachers. All three of them live nearby...very close by.

Lois and Allen have lived in their house for over 32 years. It was built in 1964. Lois said they added on in 1980. Lois has lived in the area her entire life. In fact, she grew up about one-quarter mile from her present home. She laughed when it was noted that she didn't move very far away and was asked where her children live. One daughter lives about two and one-half miles away. Her son lives in town, and her other daughter lives at home.

Lois has the home ready for Christmas and her family. It isn't overflowing with decorations. Lois said she doesn't like it to be busy or cluttered. At the time of the interview, a tree wasn't up yet, but Remick explained that a few years ago they started a tradition of picking out trees at Rydell Refuge.

As far as traditions go, their family Christmas traditions call for eating a large Christmas dinner, opening presents and going to church. Christmas day is usually quiet, said Remick, but she usually spends the afternoon with her grandmother at Hillcrest Nursing Home.

They say home is where the heart is, but this home may be the heart of the Remick family.

The yellow Remick home is located 1.25 miles east of Red Lake Falls just off of Highway 1 (11163 200th Street SE). Visitors only need visit one home and pay $10 for directions to the other homes. The other homes on the tour include the Shirley and Darrel Swenson home at 609 St. Mary's Avenue SW, Red Lake Falls; the Lynn and Dan Geller home at 312 7th Street NE, Red Lake Falls; the Kathy and Kent Schmitz home at 18712 105th Avenue SW, Red Lake Falls; the Joyann and Steve Dahl home at 24938 180th Street SE, Plummer; the Char and Tim Lee home, 809 Highway 59, Brooks; and a bonus home at Homark in Red Lake Falls.

The stockings were hung with cere...and crocheted, too, by Lois Remick. The Remicks will be one of the homes featured this yeer during the Red Leke Falls Hillcrest Nursing Home Christmes Tour of Homes. The event will be from 2 to 7 p.m. Sundey, Dec. 4. There ere seven homes on the tour this yeer.

Roseau Co. to build new jail and Social Service building

Roseau - Roseau County will build a new Law Enforcement Center and Social Service building after all.

By a vote of 2-1, the Roseau County Board overturned a previous vote Tuesday, Nov. 22. The previous vote had given the go-ahead to just the Law Enforcement Center. Now, the Social Service building will be added to that project.

The contract was awarded to Industrial Contract Services with a base bid of $7,340,220. - The Tribune of Greenbush, Nov. 30, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

W/A/O High School receives alcohol awareness grant

Warren - Warren/Alvarado/Oslo High School has been awarded a $225,781 grant from the U.S. Department of Education for increasing student awareness of the health risks of alcohol abuse and to decrease binge drinking, reported Superintendent Ken Henry. The Alcohol Abuse Reduction Grant for secondary schools is for a three-year period, dependent upon federal funding.

Funding from the grant will be used to set up the Too Good for Drugs curriculum at the high school, and for training supplies, evaluations, personnel and travel costs required by the grant, said Sue Sholes, grant project director at the school. - Warren Sheaf, Nov. 30, 2005

County board votes down development plan

Baudette - A proposal that the county join with other area governments and development organizations was turned down Nov. 22 by the Lake of the Woods County Board.

The vote for a joint powers agreement to form an area economic development organization failed by a 3-2 vote.

The problem, more than anything else, appeared to be money. While the proposal would have the county join with the Lake of the Woods School District, the city of Baudette, the city of Williams, the area Industrial Development Commission and other organizations, Lake of the Woods County would have been on the hook for much of the financing of the new development group. It also would have at most two votes on a multi-member board of as many as seven or more members who would administer the economic development funds. - Northern Light of Baudette, Nov. 30, 2005, by John Oren

On-the-farm training

Greenbush - Arriving at the Kuznia-Prosser Farms, just in time to help with the spring mayhem were two 23-year-old men, Robbie Eksteen and Sergei Bekker. They are members of farm families; however, they are from South Africa.

This wasn't the first year that they have joined farming operations here in Roseau County. Robbie spent the last four seasons working for Heggedahl Farms in Badger. Sergei spent last season working for Dallas Diesen in the Wannaska area.

The University of Minnesota program is called Minnesota Agricultural Student Trainee. The program offers the practical part of the training on the farm. People come from more than 65 countries worldwide and are placed all over the United States. - Warroad Pioneer, Nov. 30, 2005, by Mavis Gonshorowski

Signing autographs

Students and Arctic Cat team up on book-writing project

by David Hill
Editor

They said it took three weeks to plan, write and produce. From the perspective of a fifth grade student at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls it went fast, and "yeah, it was really fun."

Wednesday, Nov. 30, students held a book-signing party at the school, giving students who participated in the writing of the ATV and snowmobile books, an opportunity to take a little credit for their work.

Jamie Bakken, media specialist at Challenger Elementary School, said this was the first time students had written a book and it was a very exciting time for them.

It also represents the first time students partnered up with a business. In this situation, they teamed up with Arctic Cat Inc., manufacturer of ATVs and snowmobiles in Thief River Falls, to produce books on ATV and snowmobile safety.

Bakken said the students wrote the books for students at the first and second grade reading level because there weren't any books on these topics written at that level.

"I thought that it would be a great way for our older students to help our younger students because (they (younger students) always want snowmobile and ATV books, but there just aren't books written at their reading level," said Bakken.

Bakken said she got the idea from a grant writer, who had made an unsuccessful attempt to do it in the Twin Cities.

Bakken said she also wanted students to get a first-hand experience with what it takes to publish a book, which they did. Bakken said they were able to do the writing, select the photos, and do some editing, said Bakken.

Arctic Cat's participation was critical to the success of the project. Bakken said the company provided pictures for students to use for the book, and staff took the time to answer their many questions. Bakken noted, for example, that Terry Blount, vice president of Human Resources at Arctic Cat, took the time to participate in a "phone conference" with the students.

The effort resulted in the creation of five separate books on snowmobile and ATVs: "ATV Safety," "Fun with ATVs," "Snowmobile Safety," "Snowmobile Fun," and "Fun with Snowmobiles and ATVs." A total of 500 copies of each book were printed at The Times.

Wednesday, Nov. 30, students were enthusiastically signing copies of their books. They also presented copies to dignitaries from Arctic Cat. Dignitaries included Blount, Roger Skime, vice president of snowmobile engineering, Ken Kalsnes, production manager for ATVs, and Randy Twistol, compensation and benefits supervisor and elected representative on the Board of Education for School District 564. All of them seemed a little overwhelmed by the enthusiasm and energy displayed by the students, but they thanked them and even signed a few autographs themselves.

In addition to learning about the process of writing a book, Page Hodny and Jordan Cornelius[s]en, two of the 60 or so students participating in the project, said they not only enjoyed writing the books, but really "learned lots about safety."

Both girls said they have ridden on ATVs, and both girls look forward to the day when they can

Marvin Windows and its employees donate $115,000

Fundraising effort to benefit victims of hurricanes

MARVIN Windows and Doors

Marvin Windows and Doors donated more than $115,000 toward hurricane recovery Thursday, Dec. 1. As Honorary Chairman, William S. "Bill" Marvin presented The Salvation Army, American Red Cross and Habitat for Humanity with checks to aid in hurricane disaster relief and rebuilding programs.

Following hurricanes Katrina and Rita in September, employees set a goal to raise $40,000 with an unlimited match by the company. Through creative fund-raising efforts large and small, Marvin Windows and Doors employees in Warroad, Eagan; and Grafton, N.D., exceeded their goal by $18,000 to reach nearly $58,000. With the match from the company, the donation totaled $115,000.

"The generosity and ingenuity of the employees of Marvin Windows and Doors never ceases to amaze me," said Susan Marvin, president of Marvin Windows and Doors. "The success of our massive fund-raising effort demonstrates that even small activities, such as bake sales and change jars, can make a big difference with team work and dedication. I'm proud that Marvin Windows and Doors employees' concern and compassion for those impacted by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita will help The Salvation Army, American Red Cross and Habitat for Humanity provide relief to people displaced by the hurricanes."

Organized under a committee named "Operation Marvin Cares: Karing After Katrina," employees participated in a variety of activities to reach their goal including more than 20 company-wide raffles, 15 bake sales, and selling 284 T-shirts, 86 sweatshirts and more than 1,300 cookbooks. Incentives to raise money came in more creative forms as well, such as agreements by members of management to shave their heads or dress up as superheroes for a certain amount of money donated to the general fund.

"The raffles were a crucial part of our efforts, with more than $19,000 coming from raffles for prizes such as a Polaris ATV, an iPod Shuffle, a granite countertop, guns, fishing equipment, and jewelry," said Jenny Slukynsky, co-chair of the Operation Marvin Cares committee. "We never would have reached our goal without the support of local businesses and community members who generously donated items to help the cause." The Warroad Women of Today allowed Marvin to use their Minnesota gambling permit for the raffles.

Marvin Windows and Doors employees have a history of rallying to raise funds after a disaster or crisis. Following Sept. 11, 2001, employees and the company together raised $61,573 for recovery efforts and more than $62,000 in the spring of 2002 to assist flood victims in Roseau County.

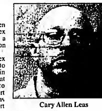
Electric blackout threats end for area residents

Threat of rolling blackouts end as transmission lines are restored

Red Lake Electric Cooperative (RLEC) customers were asked to conserve energy earlier this week after transmission lines were knocked down near Fargo, N.D. The threat of rolling blackouts for this area ended at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday when one of those transmission lines was back in service west of Fargo.

RLEC receives its electricity from wholesale power supplier Minnkota Power. Due to the loss of four transmission lines, Minnkota was forced to transfer electric loads to other transmission lines. It feared that the additional electric loads would overload and trip the electrical system, noted Ron Kennedy, RLEC general manager. As a result, customers were asked to conserve energy.

Blackouts didn't occur in the area covered by RLEC even though Minnkota was close to shutting off power, Kennedy noted.



However, there were some RLEC customers without power Monday and Tuesday. There were no major problems, Kennedy said. No electricity poles fell down, but a few electric conductors broke due to the icy conditions and wind.

Power outages were reported Monday in two areas served by the cooperative. Approximately 80 customers west of Thief River Falls were without power for about two hours Monday afternoon, Kennedy said. About 200 customers in the Gentilly area didn't have power for about three hours Monday night.

A power outage was also reported Tuesday evening in another area served by the cooperative. Most of those 150 customers northwest of Red Lake Falls were without power for two hours, Kennedy said. Some of those customers were without power for a longer duration of time.

Sex offender held on temporary civil commitment order

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Cary Allen Leas

A Thief River Falls man has been temporarily committed to a sex offender treatment program until a final decision can be made on whether to civilly commit him.

Cary Allen Leas, a Level 3 sex offender, was committed Nov. 21 to a sex offender treatment program in either St. Peter or Moose Lake for at least 60 days, according to Pennington County Probate Court documents. Judge John Roue has also ordered that a treatment report be filed with the court. After the report is filed, a review hearing will be held and it will be determined whether Leas should continue to be civilly committed.

Leas, 38, has been held in St. Peter since April. At that time, Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin and Minnesota State Attorney General Mike Hatch filed a petition to civilly commit Leas as a sexually dangerous person and sexually psychopathic personality. That petition was filed shortly before Leas was scheduled to be released from prison. He was in prison for violating the conditions of his release for a 1998 conviction for first degree criminal sexual conduct. That charge stemmed from repeated sexual intercourse with and inappropriate touching of a female under the age of 10. Under Minnesota statute, Leas served two-thirds of his sentence, or 57-1/3 months, with credit for time served. In December 2004, he was sent back to prison after violating the conditions of release by using cocaine.

Leas disclosed most of his sex offenses while he was in sex offender treatment after his release from prison in 2003. His disclosures listed approximately 40 victims of sex crimes. Leas was never charged for the majority of those crimes.

Before he was released from prison in April 2005, the civil commitment petition was filed. The civil commitment hearing ended Sept. 2 after three days of testimony.

As of this time, Leas remains at the St. Peter Security Hospital, according to the Minnesota Department of Corrections Web site. While there, he is undergoing treatment in a state sex offender treatment program. Roue ordered that the program submit a treatment report to the court within 60 days. Copies of that report will be sent to Leas and the state of Minnesota.

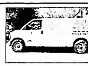
TRF Wal-Mart on schedule to open in early summer 2006

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

The new Wal-Mart store is taking shape in Thief River Falls, but it's still not known what business will be located on another parcel owned by the company.

Construction on the store continues to move forward. "We are reportedly moving along on schedule," said Ryan Horn, Wal-Mart public affairs manager. The company expects to open the store in May or June. Depending upon weather conditions, the time of that business opening could be pushed forward or back.

Horn anticipates that the 155,000-square-foot store will employ between 250 and 400 people. Wal-Mart usually relies on full-time staff, but staffing at the Thief River Falls store would depend on applicants' wishes, Horn said.



Construction work began in July on the Wal-Mart store, which is located along Nelson Drive and Highway 59 Southeast. Open 24 hours a day, the Supercenter will sell clothing, food and other merchandise. It will include a tire lube express service and a garden center.

A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station will be located on another nearby parcel. A third parcel for another business is also located at that site. Earlier this year, Wal-Mart representatives noted that parcel may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit-down restaurant.

It's still too early in the process to know what business will buy or lease that parcel, Horn said. When pressed further about when the Wal-Mart Real Estate Division would know which business would occupy that third parcel, he said the company would find that out closer to the store's opening. Horn added that information would be released at the discretion of whomever decided to purchase or lease the lot.

Wal-Mart may not know who will build on that third parcel, but the company remains dedicated to building its store here, Horn said. "We're just really happy to be, you know, bringing a store here to Thief River Falls."

I want to thank my family, neighbors, and friends for the cards, gifts, flowers, and visits when I was a patient at the hospital and CNC unit in TRF. I also want to say thanks to the doctors, nurses, aides and therapists for their wonderful care. Thank you to Rev. Abrahamson for his visits and prayers. Everyone is appreciated.

Thanks again,

Yeast breads can be made ahead of the holidays and frozen to serve to guests or give as gifts.

Anyone would be happy to receive this candy cane in their Christmas stocking:
CANDY CANE COFFEE CAKE
2 packages active dry yeast (1/4 ounce each)
1/2 cup warm water
2 cups warm sour cream (water and cream 110 to 115 degrees)
6 tablespoons butter, divided
1/3 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
5-3/4 to 6-1/4 cups all purpose flour
1-1/2 cups finely chopped dried apricots
1-1/2 cups finely chopped maraschino cherries
2 cups powdered sugar
2 tablespoons cold water
Additional cherries, if desired

Dissolve yeast in warm water in mixing bowl. Add sour cream, 4 tablespoons butter, sugar, eggs, salt and 2 cups flour. Beat smooth. Stir in enough flour to form a soft dough. Turn onto floured surface and knead smooth and elastic, 6-8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down and turn onto lightly floured surface. Divide into thirds and roll each portion into 14x7 inch rectangle on greased baking sheet.

Combine apricots and cherries and spoon down center of rectangle. On each long side, cut 3/4 inch wide strips about 2 inches into center. Starting at one end, fold alternating strips at an angle across filling. Pinch ends to seal. Curve top like candy cane.

Bake at 375 degrees for 18-20 minutes or until golden. Melt remaining butter and brush over warm coffee cakes. Combine powdered sugar and cold water until smooth and drizzle over top. Garnish with cherries, if desired.

This coffee cake will make a great Christmas gift for friends:
RASPBERRY COFFEE CAKE
1 tablespoon active dry yeast
1/3 cup warm water
1/2 cup warm sour cream (both water and sour cream 110-115 degrees)
1 egg
1/4 cup butter, melted
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2-1/4 to 2-1/2 cups all purpose flour

Filling
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raspberry jam

Glaze.
1-1/4 cups powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk

In large bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Stir in sour cream, egg, butter, sugar and salt. Stir in enough flour to form a soft dough. Turn onto floured surface and knead 20 times or until smooth.

Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1-1/4 hours.

In mixing bowl, heat cream cheese, egg, sugar, vanilla and salt until smooth. Set aside. Punch down dough and turn onto lightly floured surface. Divide in half. Roll each portion to 12x8 inch rectangle. Spread filling to within 1/2 inch of edge. Spoon jam lengthwise over half of filling, then roll up jellyroll fashion, starting with long side with the jam. Pinch seams to seal and tuck ends under.

Place loaves, seam side down, on greased baking sheet. With sharp knife, cut shallow slashes across top of each loaf. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until golden. Remove from pan to wire rack. Combine glaze ingredients and drizzle over warm cakes.

These rolls are light as a feather and great to give as a holiday gift or serve with your holiday feast:
POTATO PAN ROLLS
2 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
1-1/2 cups water
2 packages active dry yeast
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup honey
1/4 cup vegetable oil
2 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
6-7 cups all purpose flour

In saucepan, bring potatoes and water to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15-20 minutes, until tender. Drain, reserving 1 cup of cooking liquid. Cool liquid to 110-115 degrees. Mash potatoes and set aside 1 cup to cool to same as liquid. Save remaining potatoes for another use.

In mixing bowl, dissolve yeast and sugar in reserved potato liquid. Let stand 5 minutes. Add the 1 cup potatoes, butter, honey, oil, eggs, salt and 1-1/2 cups flour. Beat smooth.

Stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn onto floured surface and knead smooth and elastic for 6-8 minutes.

Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down and turn onto floured surface. Divide into 30 pieces and shape each into a ball. Place 10 balls in each of 3 greased 9-inch round pans. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 minutes. Bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until golden. Remove from pans and cool on racks.

This recipe will make four loaves of cheery Christmas coffee bread - perfect for gift giving:
CHERRY KRINGLE
1 package active dry yeast
1 cups warm milk (110 to 115 degrees)
4 cups bread flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold butter
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs, lightly beaten
4 cups cherry pie filling

Icing
2 cups powdered sugar
2-3 tablespoons milk

In mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in warm milk.

In another bowl, combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in butter and shortening until crumbly. Add to yeast mixture. Add eggs and beat to form a very soft dough (do not knead). Cover and refrigerate for at least 8 hours.

Turn dough onto lightly floured surface. Divide into 4 pieces and roll each portion into a 14x11 inch rectangle. Spread the cherry pie filling down the center third of each rectangle.

Starting at the long side, fold one-third of the dough over filling. Fold other third over the top. Pinch to seal and pinch ends and turn under. Place 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until golden. Remove from pans to wire racks to cool completely. Combine icing ingredients and drizzle over.

Essay contest offers local youth $2,000 top prize

An area high school student will be awarded the $2,000 top prize in the 20th Annual Rotary District 5580 Essay Contest. In addition to the top award, there will be five $200 regional winners and local prizes.

All students in their final two years of high school are eligible to participate in the essay contest. The essay can deal with any topic of the student's choosing, but it must apply the principles of the Four-Way Test: 1) Is it the truth, 2) Is it fair to all concerned, 3) Will it build goodwill and better friendships, and 4) Will it be beneficial to all concerned. The 500- to 1,000-word essay must be submitted in typewritten form.

The local deadline for entries is Feb. 15. Details and entry forms may be obtained from Jerod Kolden, Thief River Falls Rotary Club president, at (218) 681-3343 or 1-866-681-3344.

Prairie Grains Conference scheduled Thursday

The 2005 Prairie Grains Conference is set for Thursday, Dec. 8 at the Alerus Center in Grand Forks, N.D. This one-day event offers professional production and marketing insight for small grain producers in Minnesota and North Dakota.

Conference registration and a continental breakfast begin at 6:30 a.m. Research reporting sessions funded by the Minnesota Wheat Check-Off Program begin at 7 a.m. The conference is free for members of the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers, Minnesota Barley Growers Association, Northland Community and Technical College – Farm Business Management Program and the North Dakota Grain Growers Association. Admission is $20 for all others.

"This will be an excellent means for producers and others in the grains industry to learn more about current wheat research projects, many of which are supported by the Minnesota wheat check-off," said Richard Magnusson, a Roseau grower and chairperson of the Small Grains Research and Communications Committee. Represented by a cross-section of the wheat industry, the committee works on behalf of the Minnesota Wheat Research and Promotion Council to identify wheat research priorities and disseminate research results.

Speakers and topics to be discussed at the research reporting sessions include: Dr. Jochum Wiersma, speaking on "Evaluations of a Plant Growth Regulator to Reduce Lodging in Spring Wheat and Barley" and "Variety Responses to Intensive Fungicide Management in the State Variety Trials: New Information to Use when making variety Decisions."

Also, Dr. Char Hollingsworth will present "Aster Yellow Wheat Disease: When and Where is This new Wheat Disease Found and What Does it Look Like?" and "Comparing how Varieties Responded to Various Fungicide Application Strategies in Both 2004 and 2005 Using the On-Farm Fungicide Trials." Dr. Karl Glover, spring wheat breeder from South Dakota State University, will address "What's new from the South Dakota Wheat Breeding Program and the Accelerated Scab Resistance Breeding Program."

Also, Dr. Jim Anderson will present "Making Better Decisions for 2006 – Using the Data from 2005 Variety Trials and other Research Projects to Identify the Best Varieties for Your farm." Dr. Albert Sims will evaluate micronutrient requirements in Spring Wheat and make fertility decisions with record high nitrogen prices."

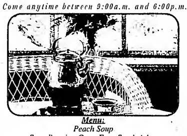
LHS band to perform Winter Concert Dec. 5

Lincoln High School's band department will present its annual Winter Concert at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 5, in the high school's auditorium. Admission is $5 for adults, and $3 for students.

The concert will feature the Lincoln high School Jazz Band, Concert Band and Wind Ensemble performing a mixture of styles and selections.

The Jazz Band will play music in the swing style, funk, and a smooth ballad that will feature Chesnay Dobias on alto saxophone. The band also will perform pieces that feature many of the students performing improvised solos.

The Concert Band, a group made up of freshmen and sophomores, will perform a mixture of music - thrilling as well as delicate, and moving.



The juniors and seniors performing in the Wind Ensemble round out the Winter Concert program. They will be playing Gustav Holst's "Second Suite," and "Festa Espagnol and Dusk," a piece by Steven Bryant that was written just last year. The Wind Ensemble's performance will conclude the program with some Christmas favorites that will have the audience singing along.

The bands are under the direction of Rachel Routa.

Stay the course: Use surplus for education as required by law

Stay the course.

Wednesday, Nov. 30, Minnesota Gov. Tim Pawlenty announced a $1 billion budget surplus. "We have successfully completed the biggest financial turnaround in state history and are now poised for an even brighter future," said Pawlenty.

Well we did it, but legislators had to accomplish it by balancing a budget at the expense of many programs. In fact, budgets were balanced back in 2002-03 largely by borrowing from education in what was called a tax shift. The fact that it was accomplished at all - given the makeup of the Legislature - was a sign that everyone agreed that the financial crisis had to be addressed. But, it was accomplished only because legislators required that the funds must be paid back. And, they wrote this little provision into law.

In his speech, Pawlenty noted that during the fiscal crisis, Minnesota survived by holding government accountable. Even then, the state "increased K-12 education spending by $800 million, one of the largest boosts for schools in state history, while improving school standards and beginning a nation-leading teacher performance pay program."

That's terrific. Keep it up, but don't back down on your legal obligations. While legislators seem to be on the same page now, in the coming months the temptation to raid the fund of its surplus and use it for other projects and programs, will be terrific. The temptation to divvy up the surplus and disperse it among the many programs that have been starved of funding, thereby prolonging the payback to education, will be even greater. Stay the course.

According to the financial summary, released on Wednesday, "Current law requires this balance be used to reverse the education accounting shifts enacted in 2002 and 2003. With this action, the school aid payment shift is fully bought back and more than three-quarters of the school property tax recognition shift is reversed."

Fiscal balance was achieved in Minnesota at the expense of many programs, specifically education. Results of delayed payments to schools resulted in higher tuition expenses and underfunded education. Despite claims that education spending last year was one of the largest in state history, school districts are still struggling to make ends meet. One only has to look at the number of districts where voters have approved excess levy referendums, and the number of districts where voters are still being asked to approve excess levies for operating funds, to know that education is starving.

The Legislature must stay the course, and end delays to the state's schools. After four years of payment delays, it's time to make things right. Tell legislators to stay the course, and follow the letter of the law.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Northland to perform Jazzy Christmas Radio Show, Dec. 16

Northland Community and Technical College's Music Department, in conjunction with 90.1 Pioneer Radio, is inviting guests to the college for a Jazzy Christmas Radio Show, to be held at 7 p.m., Friday, Dec. 16 in the NCTC auditorium. Performing ensembles include the NCTC Jazz Band, vocal soloists and instrumental ensembles.

Several selections, all holiday related, will be performed by the Jazz Band. They will perform some old stand-bys as well as new arrangements of "Sleigh Ride," "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "Winter Wonderland." In addition to the Jazz Band, there will be vocal soloists and other small ensembles that take the stage. The NCTC Saxophone Ensemble will be performing "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" complete with a narrator, Regina Goodhall. NCTC faculty consisting of Linda Samuelson, Vanessa Martell and Catherine Hagen will also entertain the audience with an arrangement of "Go Tell It On The Mountain."

The Jazzy Christmas Radio Show will be performed under the direction of Samuelson, music director, Martell, vocal instructor; and Hagen, accompanist. There is no admission to this event. If those who wish to attend are unable to travel that evening, they are encouraged listen in on Pioneer 90.1.

Individuals with a disability who need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event are to contact Dean Dalen at (218) 681-0835 or 1-800-959-6282, or TTY (218) 681-0990 at the Thief River Falls campus.

FSA urges voters to participate in county committee elections

Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director John Nelson urged Pennington County farmers Tuesday to vote in the FSA County Committee election by Dec. 5, the deadline for casting ballots.

Pennington County producers must return ballots to the Pennington County FSA Office by the close of business Dec. 5. Newly elected committee members and alternates take office Jan. 1.

"FSA county committees provide producers with the opportunity to help implement federal farm programs in their communities," said Nelson. "It is vital that all farmers and ranchers, especially women and minorities, participate in the elections process to ensure the opinions expressed in committee meetings reflect an area's agricultural sector."

FSA county committees help administer federal farm programs at the local level. Committee members make decisions on conservation programs, commodity price support loans and payments, disaster assistance payments; and other agricultural issues.

FSA county committees consist of three to five elected members who serve three-year terms. Each year, one-third of all committee members are elected across the country.

For more information about FSA County Committee, Pennington County producers should contact the Pennington County FSA Office at 681-1612 or log onto www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/publications/elections/Default.asp.

WIC clinics to be offered in December

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program (WIC) is being held during the month of December.

Infants, children up to the age of 5, and women who are pregnant or breastfeeding may be eligible for the program. WIC Quin County is very interested in enrolling pregnant women in the program. It feels that prenatal nutrition is a vital part of producing a healthy baby. It is important to apply for WIC early during pregnancy. No proof of pregnancy is required.

All potential clients must write or call the WIC Program and complete an application. The following is the schedule of WIC Clinics for the month of December.

- Tuesday, Dec. 6 and Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Warroad Community Center.
- Tuesday, Dec. 6, at the Newfolden Community Center
- Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Kittson County Courthouse in Hallock.
- Thursday, Dec. 8, at the Red Lake Falls Community Center.
- Monday, Dec. 12, through Thursday, Dec. 15, at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.
- Monday, Dec. 19, at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.
- Tuesday, Dec. 20, at the Karlstad Community Center in Karlstad.
- Wednesday, Dec. 21 and Thursday, Dec. 22, at the Roseau Area Hospital Basement Auxiliary Room.

North Valley Home Health will hold immunization clinics at the Newfolden and Warren clinics from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. An immunization record is needed before immunizations will be given. For more information, contact North Valley Home Health at 218-745-5154.

For further information concerning the WIC program, call or write WIC Quin, P.O. Box 248, Newfolden, MN 56738, phone 874-7845 (Newfolden, Viking, Middle River, Holt or Thief River Falls residents) or 1-800-223-1591, or e-mail quinchs@wiktel.com.

NCTC music department presents an evening of ancient music

A special treat awaits those who attend the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) music department's "Musica Antiqua" at 7 p.m. on Dec. 8 and 9, at the Swenson House. The Northland Chamber Choir and a number of vocal soloists have prepared several period pieces from the Renaissance for performance.

The evening begins with a fanfare and a flourish harkening back to the "simpler" days of the Renaissance period (1450-1600). This is not a madrigal dinner however. The choir will perform from the perspective of the lower and middle class from the age. There is no royalty here except for the highly esteemed guests.

The guests will also be treated to a light dinner, catered by Taber Catering. In keeping with the spirit of the Renaissance, there will be no silverware. Individual loaves of bread, barley soup, seasoned drumsticks, wassail, and dessert will adorn the feasting tables...along with a stack of napkins.

Please consider attending this light and fun event. Tickets are available at Kezar Music in Thief River Falls, and through the NCTC Music Department by calling (218) 681-0733. Large parties should contact Linda Samuelson directly for arrangements. Tickets cost $10.

Individuals with a disability who need a reasonable accommodation to participate in this event should contact Dean Dalen at (218) 681-0835 or 1-800-959-6282, or TTY (218) 681-0990 at the Thief River Falls campus.

Prayer to the Blessed Virgin
Never been known to fail
Most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of heaven, blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh, Star of the Sea, help me and show me you are here, my Mother. Oh, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times). Holy Mother, I place this prayer in your hands (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days, then publish it and it will be granted to you. Many grateful thanks. R.S.

Hyland Seeds presents the cold hard facts of farming in the North.
Northern climates mean a rather short, frosty window for corn and bean growers. So the cold logic behind our seed genetics is simple. All Hyland Seeds products are engineered to tolerate cold spring soils, mature before frost dates and tolerate northern-specific stresses. The results are exceptional, high-yielding crops that mature on time — corn, soybeans and edible beans, developed specifically for northern climates.

Thief River Falls boys beat Roseau in overtime...

Prowlers win opener, 4-3

For the second straight year, Thief River Falls and Roseau opened the boys high school hockey season by playing to a 3-3 regulation time tie Tuesday. But unlike 2004-05 when the two teams left the Roseau Memorial Arena ice still deadlocked at the end of an eight-minute sudden-death overtime, a winning celebration took place this time at the Ralph Engelstad Arena when the Prowlers' Michael Forney broke in alone just 45 seconds into the extra period.

The 4-3 decision not only kicked off the 2005-06 Thief River Falls schedule with a win, but it extended the Prowlers' unbeaten string against their long-time nemesis to four games.

There were 45 seconds left in a Thief River Falls penalty when regulation time ended. And that was exactly how long the overtime lasted as Robby Philipp pushed the puck into center ice, where Forney gained control. The University of North Dakota recruit did a bit of fancy stickhandling to get by the lone defender between himself and the Roseau goalie. Both fell victim to his artwork as he ended the game on a close-range shot.

Roseau goalie Alex Bjark stretched to pull in a rebound before Thief River Falls forward Jordan Swanson could reach the puck during third period action in Tuesday boys high school hockey action at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The two teams skated through a scoreless first period before combining on four goals and a 2-2 second period tie.

Roseau struck first on a long power play shot by defenseman Sam Carr at 4:06, but it was tied just 24 seconds later when Jordan Swanson picked up a loose puck in the slot and scored on a quick wrist shot.

A power play rebound goal by defenseman Tony Dorn put the Prowlers in front 2-1 at 8:17, but there were two Rams standing in front of Thief River Falls goalie Brady McIntyre looking for a point-blank rebound that went to Ben Nelson and tied it again at 10:48.

Philipp stickhandled his way into the Rams' zone and put a shot on net that handcuffed Roseau goalie Alex Bjerk as the Prowlers regained a 3-2 edge at 4:12 of the third period.

However, a second Roseau power play goal by a defenseman – this one coming from freshman Aaron Ness on a rush that beat the Prowlers' defense – knotted things 3-3 at 7:52.

"It was a good hockey game," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We beat a good Roseau team, not an average Roseau team. They're going to win a lot of games this year."

Bergland admitted, however, that it wasn't a perfect performance by the Prowlers. "I was a little disappointed in some of our top guys – our veterans," he said. "They've got to come ready to play a little harder. But when we needed a play at the end, you saw one."

Both goalies finished with 23 saves. McIntyre, a senior, was most impressive in the third period when the Prowlers were out-shot 11-6.

"Brady did a good job," said Bergland. "He stood in there and made the saves. I think our football legs started showing up in the third period. It was obvious we're not in hockey condition yet."

TRF hockey JV wins 5-3

A hat trick by Mikkel Jorde led Thief River Falls past Roseau 5-3 in Tuesday boys junior varsity high school hockey.

Goals by Patrick Barry and Eric Blix, along with three assists by John Carlson and two from Aaron Langan, were also part of the offense for the winners, who broke a 3-3 tie with two third period goals.

Cole Hunt started in goal for the Prowlers, who were out-shot by the Rams 27-20.

Roseau girls skate past Prowlers 10-1

Seven second period goals carried Roseau past visiting Thief River Falls 10-1 Tuesday in girls high school hockey.

The Rams led only 2-1 at the first intermission, but it was a 9-1 gap when the second horn sounded.

"We played a decent first and third period, but you need three periods to win a hockey game, and we just struggled in the second," explained Thief River Falls coach Katie Anderson.

Four goals by Dani Janzen, three from Kylie Lane and two off the stick of Jaci Gumeringer led the Rams' scoreboard assault. Lane and Gumeringer are freshmen; Janzen is a sophomore.

Ashley Napper also scored for the Rams.

The lone Thief River Falls goal came from Brittni Johnson.

"It was a tough game," acknowledged Anderson. "We came out flat and Roseau has some tough players."

The Rams improved to 3-1 with the win. It was the fourth loss in five starts for the Prowlers.

Scoring

First period - Roseau, Kylie Lane (Breanna Janzen), 4:57, TRF, Brittni Johnson (Kelsey Loeffler), 10:05, Roseau, Lane (Ashley Napper, Mary Lokon), 16:00.

Second period - Roseau, Dani Janzen (Jaci Gumeringer), :10, Roseau, Lane (Eliza Evans), 4:49, Roseau, Napper (Lokon, Lane), 8:41, Roseau, Dani Janzen (un.), 8:54, Roseau, Gumeringer (Breanna Janzen, Dani Janzen), 10:53, Roseau, Dani Janzen (Carissa Erickson), 11:04, Roseau, Dani Janzen (Breanna Jansen, Napper), 14:57.

Third period - Roseau, Gumeringer (un.), 8:53.

Goalie saves - TRF, Jade Gothberg 10-5-x, Brandi Hermanson x-7-6, TRF game total 26, Roseau, Erin Lee 6-4-5–15.

TRF No. 1 in latest boys Class A hockey poll

One win elevated Thief River Falls to the No. 1 spot in the Minnesota Class A boys high school hockey rankings.

The Prowlers were No. 2 behind Blake in the preseason polls, but the two teams swapped positions when the latest listings were published Thursday – two days after Thief River Falls' 4-3 season-opening overtime win against Roseau.

Boys Hockey Rankings - Dec. 1

■ Class A - 1. Thief River Falls, 2. Blake, 3. Duluth Marshall, 4. St. Thomas Academy, 5. Breck, 6. Totino-Grace, 7. Warroad, 8. Red Wing, 9. Virginia/Mountain Iron-Buhl, 10. Hibbing.

■ Class AA - 1. Holy Angels, 2. White Bear Lake, 3. Bloomington Jefferson, 4. Moorhead, 5. Hill-Murray, 6. Centennial, 7. Duluth East, 8. Elk River, 9. Apple Valley, 10. Eden Prairie.

NCTC girls basketball tourney opens Dec. 5

Monday, Dec. 5, will kick off the 11th annual Girls Holiday Basketball Tournament at Northland Community and Technical College.

Eight area high school teams will take part in the event that will feature semifinal games Tuesday, Dec. 6, and the final Thursday, Dec. 8.

The line-up includes East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, Clearbrook-Gonvick, Stephen-Argyle, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, Northern Freeze, Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, Kittson County North and Red Lake County Central.

Tournament sponsors are Thief River Falls Radio, Thief River Falls Sports Boosters, Pepsi Americas and Universal Screenprint.

Daily admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Border Cup competition under way

Second season of Border State Bank Hockey Cup competition is under way for boys and girls high school teams in Thief River Falls, Roseau, Baudette (Lake of the Woods) and International Falls.

Point standings, based upon regular season results between the Prowlers, Rams, Bears and Broncos will determine winner of the Border Cup – a traveling trophy designed to imitate the National Hockey League's championship Stanley Cup.

The standings will reflect results from both boys and girls games between the four communities. Teams will receive two points for a win and one point for a tie. However, if teams face each other only once during the year the point values are doubled.

A perfect season in Border State Bank Hockey Cup competition would be worth 24 points.

Roseau won the inaugural prize in 2004-05 with 19 points, followed by Lake of the Woods with 13, Thief River Falls 8 and International Falls 8.

Plans are being made to have the trophy on display in each of the home rinks and/or in the bank lobby in each community.

"Our vision in establishing the Border State Bank Cup was to build and foster healthy high school rivalries and camaraderie among the four hockey communities where Border State Bank does business, and to increase interest in regular season games," explained Jim Snyder, president of Border State Bank-Thief River Falls.

2005-06 Border Cup Schedule

Tuesday, Nov. 15 - Roseau at International Falls (girls); Monday, Nov. 21 - International Falls at Lake of the Woods (girls); Tuesday, Nov. 29 - TRF at Roseau (girls); Roseau at TRF (boys); Thursday, Dec. 1 - Lake of the Woods at TRF (girls); Friday, Dec. 2 - Lake of the Woods at International Falls (boys); Tuesday, Dec. 6 - Lake of the Woods at Roseau (girls); Saturday, Dec. 17 - International Falls at TRF (girls); TRF at International Falls (boys); Thursday, Jan. 5 - Roseau at Lake of the Woods (boys); Tuesday, Jan. 10 - Roseau at TRF (girls); Thursday, Jan. 12 - Lake of the Woods at International Falls (girls); Tuesday, Jan. 17 - International Falls at Lake of the Woods (boys); Thursday, Jan. 19 - International Falls at Roseau (girls); Tuesday, Jan. 24 - TRF at Lake of the Woods (girls); Tuesday, Jan. 31 - Thief River Falls at International Falls (girls); Roseau at Lake of the Woods (girls); Saturday, Feb. 4 - Lake of the Woods at TRF (boys); Thursday, Feb. 9 - TRF at Roseau (boys); Tuesday, Feb. 14 - Roseau at International Falls (boys).

Mustangs beat Greyhounds in season opener

Courtney Halvorson and Betsy Winkler both had double-doubles Thursday to lead Red Lake County Central past rival Fosston 66-62 in a season-opening girls high school basketball win at Oklee.

Halvorson scored 24 points and grabbed 18 rebounds, while Winkler finished with 15 points and 11 boards.

It was a comeback effort by the Mustangs, who found themselves trailing 12-0 and 20-5.

Red Lake County Central was 23-for-57 from the field and 15-for-26 at the free throw line. Fosston went 25-for-54 from the floor and 5-for-9 at the line.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Fosston	35	27	62
Red Lake County Central	33	33	66

Fosston - Kristi Lucken 10, Cassie Bagaason 7, Angie Curfman 2, Kelly Landsverk 26, Carin Sundbom 8, Trista McGlynn 9.

RLCC - Faith Kruchowski 8, Jill Rewertz 8, Courtney Halvorson 24, Kayla Pelletier 4, Brittany Gustafson 7, Betsy Winkler 15.

DD Rambeck of Thief River Falls looked for a rebound as Lake of the Woods/Indus/Rainy River goalie Nicole Hopkins covered the puck during Thursday's girls high school hockey game at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Low-scoring Prowlers light it up

Katie Anderson was under the weather when she arrived at the Ralph Engelstad Arena for Thursday's girls high school hockey game against Lake of the Woods/Indus/Rainy River. But the first-year Thief River Falls head coach was feeling a whole lot better as she headed for the exit after watching the Prowlers skate past the Bears 7-1.

It was an offensive bonanza for a team that had struggled to score just five goals during a 1-4 start to the 2005-06 season. Junior forward Brittni Johnson got the first three goals before letting her teammates in on the fun. Single goals went to Brooke Rundell, Megan Malwitz, Janica Sorvig and DD Rambeck. Rundell also picked up two assists and Johnson notched one for a four-point night.

"I was happy with how they played," said Anderson. "I have no complaints. We capitalized on our opportunities."

The visitors had a 1-0 lead with just 5:36 elapsed when Courtney Bitter poked in a rebound that trickled across the goal line just eight seconds into the game's first power play.

Johnson tied it with her first goal, a shorthanded floater from between the face-off circles in front of the Bears' net at 13:35 of the opening period.

Starting with Johnson's tie-breaker just 15 seconds into the second period, the Prowlers began to pull away. It was a 4-on-4 situation when a centering pass from behind the net found Bears goalie Jessie Buegler going the wrong way, leaving a wide-open net for Johnson.

The Johnson hat trick was completed when she put away another centering pass at 1:52.

Second Thief River Falls shorthanded goal of the night was a shot off the stick of DD Rambeck that sailed into the net at 8:58.

Sorvig's goal at 9:38 made it 5-1 and prompted a change in the Bears' nets.

Malwitz scored 44 seconds into the third period and Rundell put a rebound into an open net at 9:10 to finish the scoring.

The Prowlers, with sophomore Brandi Hermanson in goal, out-shot the Bears 34-13.

Scoring

Ponies hold on for a win vs. Prowler girls

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo built a 30-16 halftime lead, then held off a late-game Thief River Falls rally to beat the visiting Prowlers 57-48 in Tuesday girls high school basketball.

Thief River Falls was within four points with two minutes left before the opening-night rally fizzled out.

"We started out very flat," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe, who found a positive in the Prowlers' second half effort. "We didn't give up. We worked hard on defense."

Katie Schmidt of the Ponies scored 21 points. The Prowlers were led by Shawna Rogalla with 18.

Thief River Falls struggled through a 19-for-67 shooting performance from the field (28 percent) and had a tough 8-for-20 night at the free throw line.

"We need to execute our offense better, and finish our shots," noted Loe.

Warren-Alvarado-Oslo went 20-for-52 from the floor (38 percent) and 15-for-27 at the line. The Ponies out-rebounded the Prowlers 43-34. Casey Engelstad led Thief River Falls with nine rebounds.

TRF - Amanda Hoard 2, Becca Larson 6, Shawna Rogalla 18, Mandy Thompson 8, Jessica Gustafson 2, Heather Keogh 2, Casey Engelstad 5, Brittany Wiseth 5.

W-A-O - Sarah Amundgaard 1, Kaitlin Saunders 8, Jazmyn DeMars 9, Chelsey Gloude 4, Brooke Conely 8, Tami Pawlowski 6, Alyssa Reardon 2, Katie Schmidt 21.

Russ Smith tournament schedule is announced

All eight 2004 entries will return for the 23rd annual Thief River Falls Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament. The 2005 event will be played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 27, 28 and 29.

The host Prowlers will be joined by Red Lake, Red Lake Falls, Waubun, Kittson Central, Marshall County Central, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and Tri-County.

Games will be played at Lincoln High School, with varsity contests in the main gym and corresponding junior varsity match-ups in the auxiliary gym.

Thief River Falls is the defending champion.

Tournament Schedule

■ Quarterfinals Tuesday, Dec. 27 - (Upper Bracket) Red Lake vs. Red Lake Falls, 2:15 p.m.; Waubun vs. Kittson Central, 4 p.m.; (Lower Bracket) Marshall County Central vs. East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, 6 p.m.; Tri-County vs. Thief River Falls, 7:45 p.m.

■ Semifinals Wednesday, Dec. 28 - consolation round games 2:15 and 4 p.m.; championship round games 6 and 7:45 p.m.

■ Finals Thursday, Dec. 29 - seventh place, 2:15 p.m.; consolation, 4 p.m.; third place, 6 p.m.; championship, 7:45 p.m.

■ Junior varsity portion of the tournament is not a bracket format. Junior varsity match-ups will duplicate the varsity draw each day, with games at 12:15 p.m., 2 p.m., 4 p.m. and 5:45 p.m.

Turnovers hurt Wolverines

It's early. Coaches expect, and can actually tolerate mistakes. It's safe to say, however, that the patience of Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke head coach Guy Finstrom was put to a test Tuesday when his team turned the ball over a whopping 42 times in an 86-48 girls high school basketball loss to Kittson Central. The 2005-06 opener for the Wolverines was played in Goodridge.

"We moved the ball up the floor, then just threw it away," reported Wolverines assistant coach Brent Philipp. "They think they're a fast-break team, and we're not."

The Wolfpack led 44-15 at halftime – the Minnesota State High School League, for the first time, is employing two 18-minute halves instead of four 8-minute quarters.

Ashley Bogestad of the Wolfpack scored 15 of her game-high 21 points on 3-pointers. The Wolverines were led by sophomore Stephanie Klamar's 12 points.

Kayla Tharaldson scored eight points off the bench for Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in her first varsity action to draw post-game praise from Philipp. "She (Tharaldson) came in and played a very good game," he said.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke shot 31 percent from the field, Kittson Central shot 42 percent. The Wolverines were 6-for-21 at the free throw line; the Wolfpack went 15-for-21. The winners turned it over 18 times.

The Wolverines played without Justyne Larson and her 10 points-per game 2004-05 scoring average, sidelined by illness.

Scoring

	1	2	T
Kittson Central	44	42	86
Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke	15	33	48

KC - Annaleah Halvorson 13, Damir Blomquist 7, Andrea Halvorson 7, Ashley Bogestad 21, Joni Lindegard 8, Cassie Hunt 2, Rachel Noel 12, Whitney Langen 16.

G/G-G - Sara Rindahl 6, Steph Klamar 12, Rebecca Polansky 8, Kasey Dahlen 8, Alisha Verboul 6, Kayla Tharaldson 8.

Thief River Falls ninth grade girls win opener

Thief River Falls built a 27-9 halftime lead and went on to beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 45-22 in girls ninth grade basketball Tuesday.

Beth Tvedt scored 12 points to lead the Prowlers in their 2005-06 season-opener. Cheyenne Horien and Krista Moyer both contributed seven points to the offense.

Correction

Aaron Bendickson will be playing college hockey at the University of Wisconsin and Michael Forney will be skating at the University of North Dakota. Errors were made in a Wednesday, Nov. 30, Thief River Falls Times article that reported on Bendickson's recent commitment to the Badgers and mentioned Forney's earlier signing.

Bendickson is a 2004 Lincoln High School graduate currently playing junior hockey in the USHL. Forney is completing his senior year with the Prowlers.

Arctic Cat officials attended a book-signing event at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls Wednesday. Fifth grade students at the school wrote five different books on ATV safety using photographs from Arctic Cat. Wednesday students autographed the books. Arctic Cat officials attending the event included Randy Twistol, compensation and benefits supervisor, (Carl Ferber, parent), Terry Blount, vice president of human resources, Ken Kelsnes, production manager ATV division, and Roger Skime, vice president snowmobile engineering.

Students and Arctic Cat team up on book-writing project

drive their own ATV or snowmobile after they get their safety certificates.

"I don't know if I will do this project again or not," said Bakken, who said that at times it was somewhat overwhelming. Students also gave up a lot. Some, she said, voluntarily missed part of their recess and summer break to help with the book project. "If the community receives it well, then we might do this again in a few years," said Bakken.

But Bakken firmly believes that it was a worthwhile project. They learned a lot about the process of publishing and marketing, and teamwork.

Bakken said it also showed her how much support for education was in the community. "I received a great deal of support from administration for this project. Mary Twistol and the volunteers at Challenger Elementary School were fantastic help with selling the books. It was also fun to work with my dad (who works at Arctic Cat), and other people at Arctic Cat. It is unbelievable that such a tiny vision could affect so many students and people in the community. I hope that people see how much Arctic Cat Inc. is willing to do for education."

The books are on sale at the school now. They can be purchased for $6 each. Bakken noted that by helping others, these students will be helping themselves, because 100 percent of the profits are going towards the purchase of books for students at the school.

The musical drama, "Jesus, Our Treasure" will be performed at 7 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 16, and Saturday, Dec. 17, and at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 18 at Open Arms Christian Fellowship, 401 St. Paul Ave. S. There is no admission fee; a freewill offering will be accepted. Reservations are available and recommended by calling (218) 668-2612.

"We want to be able to guarantee seating for everyone who wants to come," notes Marilyne Sayler, drama director for the production. "That is the reason why we have scheduled four performance times. We recommend that people call early to secure a reservation for the performance time of their choice. Reservations will be held until 15 minutes prior to show time, after which time unoccupied seats will be made available to walk-in attendees.

"We want to continue our tradition of making it possible to offer these musicals without having an admission fee. We hope that this reservation system will help prevent the disappointment that comes with overcrowding.

"The cast and choir have been working for months to bring a quality dramatic Christmas musical to the community. It will be a beautiful, heartwarming production that no one will want to miss. But, our advice is call ahead and call early to make a reservation."

Residents reminded to be safe while on rivers

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby reminds residents to be safe this winter while on local rivers.

Within the past week, a deputy sheriff reported the Red Lake River had about seven inches of ice, Hruby said. It has been cooler since that time, but Hruby cautions residents that there may still be open water or areas of the river with less than seven inches of ice. "Once again, I wouldn't be driving a vehicle down there," he said.

New York man injured in crash with semi Friday

A New York man was injured after an accident with a semi early Friday morning in Thief River Falls.

As of 10:30 a.m. Friday, the State Patrol said C.J. Mayerhofer, 24, New York, N.Y., had suffered serious injuries in the accident. According to the report, he was taken to Northwest Medical Center and then airlifted to a Fargo, N.D., hospital. The semi driver, Rosann Ruth Munter, 46, Newfolden, was not injured in the crash.

At the time of the accident, Mayerhofer was driving a 1985 Oldsmobile westbound on 10th Street. According to the report, he failed to yield to a 2000 Peterbuilt semi driven by Munter, who was northbound on Highway 32. Mayerhofer's vehicle then traveled underneath the semi's trailer.

Mayerhofer's vehicle was totalled, and the semi sustained minor damage. The State Patrol and Thief River Falls Fire Department were dispatched to the scene at 2:30 a.m. Friday.

Marshall Co. sets 2006 budget at $16,765,702, up 11.8 percent

Warren - A 2006 budget of $16,765,702 was approved by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its meeting Friday. Budgeted revenues for next year are 11.76 percent above the $15,000,982 approved a year ago for 2005 county operations, which was down 6.2 percent from the 2004 county budget.

The 2006 budget was approved on a 3-1 roll-call vote with Commissioner Delray Larsan voting against it. Commissioners Sharon Bring, LeRoy Vonasek and Brent Boen voted in favor of the budget resolution. Commissioner Curtis Carlsan was absent. Earlier, Larson objected to the size of the cost-of-living increase approved for county employees and included in next year's budget.

Thanks to County Program Aid from the state of Minnesota and other federal and state grants, particularly in the areas of social services and highways, the amount of the budget, plus bond retirement, to be paid by county property owners (the 2006 net levy) is $4,920,938, an increase of 5 percent over the levy in effect for this year. Because the county's tax capacity increased from a year ago, the county tax rate will decrease by 0.85 percent next year, to 52.333 percent, from 52.78 percent this year. - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 7, 2005

Meth use on the rise in Roseau County

Roseau - Two babies born in Roseau County last week are "meth babies," the Roseau County Board of Commissioners heard from Roseau County Social Services at a special meeting Thursday evening.

Methamphetamine can be smoked, snorted, injected or taken orally. Meth is the most addictive drug known to humans, and it causes the body to literally burn itself up.

The longer meth is used, it crystallizes in the blood system, causing itchiness and open sores. Individuals who abuse meth also may have episodes of violent behavior, paranoia, anxiety, confusion and insomnia. Symptoms can persist for months or years after a person has stopped using the drug.

Meth can be made of such things as cold pills, drain cleaner, Heet, lye or anhydrous ammonia. The chemicals used to produce meth are extremely dangerous and, when mixed together, can become explosive and give off toxic fumes.

Meth labs may be located anywhere. Labs have been found in rural, residential, commercial and industrial areas. Labs have also been found in homes, hotels and motels as well as in the outdoors. Labs have even been found in automobiles, boats and luggage.

Some signs to look for in meth labs are unusual odors like ether, ammonia or acetone. Excessive amounts of trash, including chemical containers, Duct Tape, and cheese cloth stained red, are also signs of a meth lab. Also look for windows with curtains that are drawn all the time, or covered with aluminum foil or blackened. Frequent visitors at unusual times and extensive security measures like "no trespassing" or "beware of dog" signs are also possible signs of a meth lab. - Warroad Pioneer, Dec. 7, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

DNR offers forest classification proposal

DNR to classify Beltrami Island State Forest as "managed"

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced Tuesday, Dec. 6, that it is going to move forward with motorized use planning in Beltrami Island State Forest by applying the "managed" classification framework to the forest.

The planning effort will also include input from representatives of the Beltrami, Lake of the Woods and Roseau county boards; the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; and the Red Lake Band during the road and trail designation phase of the planning process.

The managed classification means that motorized recreational users can assume that an existing route within this state forest is open to motorized use - off highway or highway-licensed - unless the DNR posts the route as closed due to environmental concerns or user conflicts. Changes made to Minnesota off-highway vehicle (OHV) laws during the 2005 Legislative session made it possible for the DNR to classify forests north of U.S. Highway 2 as managed.

The resulting OHV trail system will be a mix of various opportunities to ride, according to Mary Broten, Thief River Falls area Trails and Waterways supervisor. "Forest roads will be open for use; designated trails will be signed so we can provide riding opportunities on suitable sites; and undesignated routes, which will not be signed, will provide access for motorized uses," said Broten. "We hope the participation of local county commissioners will help us put a socially and environmentally sustainable road and trail system on the ground in Beltrami Island."

That doesn't mean Beltrami Island will be an off-highway free-for-all though, said Warroad area Forestry supervisor Dennis Cameron. "There will still be some routes out there that we need to close because they go through wetlands or resource damage exists," said Cameron. "I'm really pleased that some of the local ATV clubs have stepped up to the plate over the summer to urge protection of the resources - notifying resource managers when they think we ought to consider closing a trail to prevent damage."

Broten agrees. "Our program foresters and wildlife managers know a lot about these resources, but these tips from the public are invaluable to resource protection, and adding more of that kind of local knowledge from county representatives will be a real asset to the planning process."

The county representatives were appointed to the planning team by each county board, and include Roseau County commissioners Alan Johnston and Russ Walker of Warroad, Lake of the Woods County commissioners George Swentik of Baudette and Ed Arnesen of Roosevelt; and Beltrami County Commissioner Ron Otterstad of Bemidji, with Commissioner Quentin Fairbanks of Hines for local input. Cameron and Broten also encourage the public to continue participating in the planning process.

The DNR will continue to accept public comments throughout the planning process, and offers to meet with interested parties and groups throughout the remainder of the process. The county commissioners will also be involved in the outreach process.

DNR Northwest Regional Director Mike Carroll will be meeting face-to-face with the commissioners in December to discuss the planning process. "I look forward to lively and constructive input from these dedicated public servants," said Carroll.

Written questions or comments on the proposal can be submitted by mail to: Jack Olson, 1601 Minnesota Drive, Brainerd, MN 56401; or by e-mail at jack.olson@dnr.state.mn.us.

Lincoln High School Choir to perform in Greenbush

Lincoln High School Choir, Thief River Falls, rehearses for its winter concert, "The Gift of Song." The Concert Choir will take its show on the road to Greenbush to perform at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, at Blessed Sacrament Church. All of the choirs will perform in Thief River Falls at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 12. Tickets for the Thief River Falls concert are now on sale at Kezer Music. A limited number of tickets are available. The concert begins with a mass choir selection featuring all 181 singers and Organist Kristi LaSelle, performing Mozart's "Gloria." The concert will also feature a variety of tunes that includes popular holiday favorites. The public is encouraged to attend.

Battle over forest trails far from over

Legislators comment on DNR's management proposal for Beltrami Island State Forest

by David Hill
Editor

Even though Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has announced that it is moving forward with a proposal to apply the "managed" classification to Beltrami Island State Forest, area legislators believe the battle is far from over.

Rep. Maxine Penas, Badger, said she expects it to be a continuing battle mainly because there are groups that want to restrict use. Penas said she strongly believes that Beltrami Island State Forest should remain in "managed" status. "North of Highway 2," she said, "it just makes sense."

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, Plummer, said that it will continue to remain an issue primarily because of the players involved. There's such a difference in what they want, he said, that the issue will continue to be debated.

Stumpf noted that the difference between what's taking place now and what might not have taken place in the past, is that this time the DNR is making an attempt to listen. "That's a positive," he said.

Supporting the "managed" status doesn't mean Penas is out to destroy anything. While "managed" means open unless it's posted as closed, Penas said the ATV riders she's talked to understand there are some areas, like wetlands, that should be off limits. This plan puts the responsibility for not driving in areas that are closed on the people. "Those who do," she said, "should be cited."

Penas also noted that ownership of land in the eastern part of the Forest makes the situation more complicated. It's a mix of private, tribal, state and county land, she said, so it's a real task to plan around.

Penas said she didn't receive any complaints regarding ATV riding in the State Forest over the summer. However, she said, conflicts between DNR officials and area residents remains her number one concern.

Stumpf also said he hadn't heard any complaints about off-highway vehicle use in the state park. He said he believes the debate last year, the concern and interest, has sharpened everyone's awareness of using public lands.

Stumpf doesn't believe that there

NCTC celebrates 40 years of educational opportunities

College Foundation unveils $1.1 million fundraising drive

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) is over the hill. NCTC, which began as Thief River Falls Junior College on September 20, 1965, is celebrating its 40th year.

On Dec. 1, about 80 people celebrated the college's founding at "The Legacy Continues: A Commemoration of Excellence." The NCTC Foundation hosted the event at the Swenson House. Two retired faculty members, who were among the pioneers who began teaching at the college that first year, were honored. Current and other retired staff members were also recognized at the event, which was sponsored by Border State Bank, Northern State Bank and Wells Fargo Bank.

The celebration was also an opportunity to look forward. "We're not a legacy looking back, but looking at a legacy we can build," said Bonnie Stewart, NCTC Foundation executive director.

Building a legacy includes a two-year, $1.1 million fundraising drive, which is called the 21st Century Initiative and was unveiled at the celebration. "We've taken a tiny step, but we want to take a giant step in the next two years," said Dr. Jim Davis, interim college president, while announcing the drive to raise funds for both campuses.

The fundraiser has generated more than $25,000 so far, according to Davis. Depending upon donors' wishes, the money will go toward technical programs, the liberal arts and sciences program, athletics and/or scholarships.

The college has come a long way from its humble beginnings at Lincoln High School. "You were on the front end of a movement that spanned 10 years," said Davis to the people in attendance at the celebration. He noted one community college was created each week in the U.S. from 1965 to 1975.

Jim Dalager and Dr. Charles Samuelson were at the front end of that movement as two of the first seven full-time staff members of Thief River Falls Junior College (TRFJC). Dalager taught mathematics and physics while Samuelson taught biology. College classes were also taught by part-time instructors from the high school.

At the celebration last week, Samuelson and Dalager were presented with plaques in recognition of their work at the college.

Dalager fondly recalled his time at TRFJC. "They're good memories, but they went too fast," he said.

Dalager remembered bringing his son Steve, who was 4 or 5 at the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) unvailed a two-year, $1.1 million fundraising drive for both campuses Dec. 1 at the Swenson House in Thief River Falls. So far, the fundraising drive has raised more than $25,000, according to Dr. Jim Davis, NCTC interim president. Davis (right) and Dr. Ty Birkeland, NCTC Foundation president, unveiled the fundraising drive, which is called the 21st Century Initiative. It was unvailed at "The Legacy Continues: A Commemoration of Excellence," a celebration of the college's 40th year.

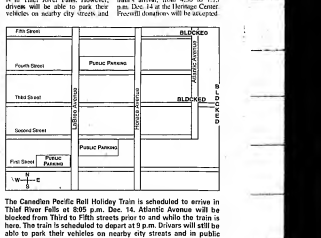
Holiday train rolls into TRF on Dec. 14



Less than a week remains until the Holiday Train arrives in Thief River Falls, and drivers are reminded that some streets will be blocked during the annual event.

The Canadian Pacific Rail Holiday Train is scheduled to stop near the Thief River Falls City Hall from about 8:05 to 9 p.m. Dec. 14. As a result, Atlantic Avenue will be blocked from Third to Fifth streets prior to and while the Holiday Train is in Thief River Falls. However, drivers will be able to park their vehicles on nearby city streets and in public parking lots. Drivers are reminded that the train will block the Third Street railroad crossing.

Decorated with thousands of holiday lights, the train makes several stops across Minnesota. Musicians perform at each stop. The performers include John Gorka, a folk musician; the Ennis Sisters, a Celtic-pop trio; and Canadian Country Music Association award winner Tracey Brown. Nonperishable food items and monetary donations from the holiday train go to the Area Food Shelf.

Proceeds from a spaghetti dinner will also go towards the food shelf. The dinner will be held prior to the train's arrival, from 4:30 to 7:15 p.m. Dec. 14 at the Heritage Center. Freewill donations will be accepted.

The Canadian Pacific Rail Holiday Train is scheduled to arrive in Thief River Falls at 8:05 p.m. Dec. 14. Atlantic Avenue will be blocked from Third to Fifth streets prior to and while the train is here. The train is scheduled to depart at 9 p.m. Drivers will still be able to park their vehicles on nearby city streets and in public parking lots. They are reminded that the train will block the Third Street railroad crossing.

Warroad School Board enters into agreement for drug dog

Warroad - The Warroad School Board recently entered into an agreement with Interquest Detection Canines Inc. to provide trained detection canines to conduct random, unannounced inspections of all schools in the district. These canines are trained to detect the presence of medications, illicit drugs, alcohol or gunpowder-based items.

Canine Handler Sara Davis of Perham and her golden retriever, Ginger, came into Warroad schools Tuesday. They showed the kids exactly what Ginger can find in lockers and parking lots. Anywhere kids have access, Ginger can go. - Warroad Pioneer, Dec. 7, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Here are more Christmas goodies to get you into the holiday spirit.

Make this for snacking before Christmas, too:

MICROWAVE NUT BRITTLE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 cup mixed nuts
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon soda

Line cookie sheet with foil. Lightly butter.

In an 8-cup microwave-save bowl, combine sugar and syrup. Microwave on high for 4 minutes, then stir. Add nuts, blending well. Microwave on high for 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 minutes until mixture is very light brown. Stir in butter and vanilla. Add soda and stir quickly to blend.

Pour immediately into prepared cookie sheet, spreading quickly with wooden spoon. Cool 30 minutes, then break into pieces. Store in airtight container.

These tasty cookies are Christmassy as can be:

CHOCOLATE MINT SPRITZ

1 cup sugar
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 squares unsweetened chocolate (2 ounces), melted
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
9 ounces vanilla flavored candy coating, melted
1/3 to 1/2 cup crushed peppermint candy

Heat oven to 400 degrees.

In large bowl, beat sugar and butter light and fluffy. Add chocolate, egg and vanilla and blend well. Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. Stir flour and baking powder into chocolate mixture and mix well.

Fill cookie press (fitted with bar plate). Form 4 strips of dough the length of greased cookie sheets. Score dough at 2 1/2 inch intervals and bake at 400 degrees for 3-5 minutes, until set. Cut strips on scoring to form cookies and immediately remove from sheets. Cool completely.

Line cookie sheets with waxed paper. Dip cookies halfway into candy coating (keep bowl in saucepan of hot water to keep dipping consistency) and then sprinkle with crushed peppermint candy. Refrigerate briefly until set.

Store between sheets of waxed paper in loosely covered container in cool place. Makes 6 dozen cookies.

Buttery European cookies are made with hard-cooked egg yolks. If you can believe it:

BERLINKRANZER

Cookies

2 hard cooked egg yolks
2 uncooked egg yolks
3/4 cup powdered sugar
1 cup butter, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour

Topping

1 egg white, slightly beaten
8 red candied cherries, cut into 6 pieces each
8 green candied cherries, cut into tiny pieces

In large bowl, mash hard-cooked egg yolks and combine with uncooked egg yolks and powdered sugar. Add butter and vanilla and blend well. Lightly spoon flour into cup and level off. Add flour to egg mixture and mix well. Cover with plastic and refrigerate 2-3 hours for easier handling.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Roll 1/4 of the dough into a 12-inch rope on lightly floured surface. Cut rope into 12 equal pieces and roll each piece into a 6 inch long rope. Shape into wreath, overlapping 1/2 inch from ends.

Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush with slightly beaten egg white, then decorate each wreath with 1 red cherry piece and 2-3 green cherry pieces.

Bake at 350 degrees for 8-14 minutes or until edges are lightly golden. Remove from cookie sheets and cool completely. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

A new way to make those special date ball cookies:

COCONUT-DATE-PECAN BALLS

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped dates
3/4 cup coconut
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond
Sugar

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Butter a 1 1/2 quart casserole.

In medium bowl, beat eggs. Stir in the cup of sugar, then add dates, coconut, pecans, vanilla and almond. Stir well. Place in prepared casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 20-30 minutes, stirring once or twice. Cool.

Place extra sugar in shallow bowl. Drop above mixture into sugar by teaspoonfuls and form into balls. Roll in sugar. Place in container, separating layers with waxed paper. Store in refrigerator. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Make a double batch of these traditional taste treats this year, some with nuts and some without. You can add candied cherries or other fruit if you like too:

MEXICAN WEDDING CAKES

1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups flour
1 cup finely chopped nuts
1/4 teaspoon salt
Powdered sugar

Heat oven to 325 degrees. In large bowl, beat 1/2 cup powdered sugar, butter and vanilla until light and fluffy. Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup and level off. Stir in flour, nuts and salt, mixing well. Shape into 1 inch balls and place 1 inch apart on ungreased sheets.

Bake at 325 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until set but not brown. Remove from sheets immediately and cool slightly. Roll in powdered sugar and cool completely. Re-roll in powdered sugar. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

Be sure to have this caramel and chocolate candy on your cookie trays this year:

TWO-TONE FUDGE

1 1/2 teaspoons butter, softened (no substitutes for the butter in this recipe)
1/2 cup butter, softened
2 cups packed brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 cup evaporated milk
1 (7 ounce) jar marshmallow crème
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups semisweet chocolate chips
1 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup butterscotch chips

Line 9-inch square pan with foil and grease foil with the 1 1/2 teaspoons of soft butter. Set aside.

In large, heavy saucepan (I use the bottom of a pressure cooker for candy-making), combine sugars, milk and remaining butter. Cook and stir over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Bring to rapid boil and boil 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Reduce heat to low and stir in marshmallow crème until melted and blended.

Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour 2 1/2 cups of marshmallow mixture into a bowl and stir in chocolate chips and walnuts until chips are melted. Pour into prepared pan. Add butterscotch chips to remaining mixture and stir until chips are melted. Pour over chocolate layer and gently spread to cover. Refrigerate overnight or until firm.

Using foil, remove fudge from pan. Carefully peel off foil. Cut into 1 inch squares. Store in refrigerator. Makes 2 3/4 pounds of candy.

NMF awards emergency assistance grants

The Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NMF) recently awarded grants totaling $60,000 for support of the Emergency Assistance Program (EAP) for families in northwest Minnesota.

The EAP's purpose is to provide assistance and immediate funds for families in crisis who reside in the 12 counties served by NMF. The funds are disbursed to help maintain basic shelter, to provide essential nutrition or medical attention, and to help in obtaining clothing necessary for protection against the weather, and in some cases, for household items.

According to Leah Pigatti, executive director of Mahube Community Council, these emergency dollars are a last resort. "We are especially concerned about senior citizens and households with very young children," said Pigatti. "From past experience, we know people will turn down their thermostats too low or use unsafe heating methods in their homes."

Emergency funds were distributed to the region's Community Action Agencies according to the number of low-income people residing within their service areas. The agencies perform client outreach, determine financial needs and issue vouchers. The agencies and amounts are:

• Bi-County Community Action of Bemidji – $20,700
• Inter-County Community Council of Oklee – $11,850
• Mahube Community Council of Detroit Lakes – $9,600
• Northwest Community Action of Badger – $7,350
• Tri-Valley Opportunity Council of Crookston – $10,500

More than half of those people who recently received assistance through the EAP reported annual household income below $10,000.

"The recent dramatic increase in energy costs are difficult for low-income households to absorb as they already use a significant percentage of their household income for home heating costs," said NMF President John Ostrem. "The foundation's Emergency Assistance Program remains as one of the few resources available to meet the crisis needs of families."

The three shephards discuss what they've seen. Young Jacob (Aaron Northup, right) is convinced that the baby he and his fellow shephards (Steve Westermen, middle, and Ron Northup, left) have just seen is the Messiah. Filled with excitement, young Jacob cannot help telling everyone about the good news. "Jesus, Our Treasure" will be performed Friday and Saturday, Dec. 16 and 17, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 18 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Performances will be at Open Arms Christian Fellowship, Thief River Falls. Brateng and Proulx place in crops contests

Tony Brateng of Roseau and his teammate, Rob Proulx of Crookston, placed in the National Collegiate Crops Contests Nov. 15 in Kansas City, Kan., and Nov. 19 in Chicago.

Brateng and Proulx are members of the University of Minnesota, Crookston's Collegiate Crops Judging Team. Their two-person team placed sixth overall at both contests. (Crops judging teams usually have three members.) Both Brateng and Proulx are plant industries management majors at UMC.

Brateng placed eighth in seed analysis, 12th place in grain grading and 13th in identification with an 11th place overall finish in Kansas City. He placed eighth in Chicago with an eighth place finish in grain grading, a 10th place finish in seed analysis, and a 13th place finish in identification.

Proulx received the second place award in both contests. He placed second in grain grading and seed analysis and third in identification for a second place finish in Chicago. He placed fourth in grain grading, second in seed analysis, and third in identification to finish in second place in Kansas City.

It's not too late to ban the bug with a flu shot

Inter-County Nursing Service is holding several Ban the Bug Catch-Up Flu Shot Clinics next week at its office at 318 Knight Ave. N., Thief River Falls.

The clinics will be held Monday, Dec. 12 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Tuesday, Dec. 13 from 1 to 3 p.m.; Wednesday, Dec. 14 from 9 to 11 a.m.; and Thursday, Dec. 15 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Appointments will NOT be taken.

The vaccination costs $20 and will be processed with Medicare Part B. Residents are reminded to bring their Medicare card. It is also advised to wear short sleeves.

The clinics are being held in conjunction with the statewide Ban the Bug campaign, an effort to encourage Minnesotans to get their flu shots.

"It is not too late to get a flu shot," said Kristin Nichol, M.D., chief of medicine at the Minneapolis Veterans Affairs Medical Center and chairperson of the Minnesota Coalition for Adult Immunization. "The Ban the Bug campaign seeks to remind people that there is still time to get their annual influenza vaccination." Flu vaccinations are especially important for those 50 and older and people with chronic health conditions.

For more information about the flu shot clinics, call Inter-County Nursing Service at (218) 681-0876.

Ban the Bug campaign urges people to catch up on their flu vaccinations

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH), the Minnesota Coalition for Adult Immunization and other organizations are urging residents, through a statewide campaign, to "Ban the Bug" this year.

Public health officials in Minnesota have long encouraged people who have a high risk for complications from influenza – particularly those over 50 and those with weakened immune systems – to get their vaccinations beginning in October. Throughout November, they've been encouraging others to get theirs as well.

"Earlier this fall, vaccine was slow to arrive in some locations; some providers got smaller orders or none at all, but we have managed to redistribute more than 30,000 doses and now most providers have vaccine available," said Kristen Ehresmann, chief of MDH's immunizations section. "We want to make sure Minnesotans take the opportunity to get vaccinated now that vaccine has arrived and deficient areas have received doses."

Even in December, a flu shot can be beneficial, noted Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "Typically, our flu seasons in Minnesota peak anytime between December and April, so getting an influenza vaccination now can provide months of protection. I encourage anyone who hasn't yet done so to get vaccinated for influenza at one of these special clinics December 12 through 16. You'll be doing a lot to keep yourself, your family and your community healthy this winter."

"Getting a flu shot every year is a good idea – 36,000 people die each year in the U.S. from complications related to influenza," said Dr. Harry Hull, state epidemiologist.

In Minnesota so far this year, there has been sporadic influenza activity, with several reports of probable outbreaks in long-term care facilities and schools, but the MDH laboratory has not yet confirmed a sample for influenza type.

According to MDH, those most at risk for complications from influenza are:

- Anyone 50 years of age or older
- Residents of nursing homes and other long-term care facilities
- Anyone over 6 months of age with a chronic condition of the heart, circulatory system or respiratory system, including asthma
- Anyone over 6 months of age who has been hospitalized or required ongoing medical attention during the past year for a chronic metabolic disorder (such as diabetes), kidney problems, a blood disorder or immune system problems (such as HIV infection or an immune system suppressed by medication, chemotherapy or radiation treatment)
- Children and teenagers who are receiving ongoing medical treatment with aspirin, which could place them at risk of developing a serious condition known as Reye's Syndrome if they get the flu
- Healthy children 6 to 23 months
- Women who will be in the second or third trimester of a pregnancy during flu season

In addition, the following should also receive the flu vaccine:

- Close contacts with any of those mentioned above
- Health care workers

"It takes about two weeks to develop maximum protection after a flu shot, so don't delay," said Ehresmann. "If you get your shot during the week of December 12 through 16, your immunity will be nearing full development by the holidays."

Embassy to host gospel singalong

The Embassy Community Center will hold its monthly Christmas and gospel singalong on Sunday, Dec. 18 at 3 p.m. There will be a devotional. An attendance gift will be awarded, and there will be a time of potluck refreshments.

It is hoped that those who attend will share with musical numbers, whether they be instrumental or vocals. Readings and Christmas thoughts are also welcome. All numbers on the program will be welcomed and appreciated.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Is it Christmas?

As far as Christmas traditions go, lighting the Christmas tree, and setting up mangers rates right up near the top. But in an effort to avoid offending anyone, there are some communities and businesses that have taken to using more generic terms to refer to these traditions.

The communities of Boston, Mass., White Plains, N.Y., and Flint, Mich., are just a few of the communities that won't be lighting community Christmas trees this year. They'll be lighting up holiday trees. Not everyone is happy.

The national news media recently picked up on the debate, noting that some religious groups are fighting back. Tired of the "secularization" of traditional holidays, they have taken aim at Target and Wal-Mart for replacing Christmas with "holiday" greetings. They've sent letters of protest and conducted boycotts. For the most part, it seems communities and businesses are simply doing everything they can to avoid controversy and lawsuits.

I suppose this trend shouldn't surprise anyone. It wasn't too long ago that angels disappeared from community decorations. It makes one wonder just how far things will go. More recent stories indicate that mangers are under attack, too. Fed up with the "secularization" of society, some Christian groups are now using the same tactics - threats, boycotts and lawsuits. And, why shouldn't they? This is America.

When reading all of these stories, it occurred to me that the United States of America is a nation of many faiths and cultures; and that this "melting pot" has survived so long because of its freedoms - freedoms of religion and speech, to name just a couple - that all of its citizens enjoy. But over the years, the many lawsuits that have been litigated seem to force us to conclude that protecting these freedoms means no one is allowed to say or do anything that may offend someone else. It also seems to say that we can't live in harmony, or respect each other.

Does freedom of speech or religion exist anymore? I don't know. It seems that all of these lawsuits, threats and boycotts are restricting our freedoms, rather than enhancing our freedoms. Instead of respecting differences, easing confusion, fears or settling conflict, they're doing what they can to promote dissent and hate.

This holiday season, instead of spreading light with the turn of a switch and lighting up the community Christmas tree, it seems that the conflict over whether to call it a Christmas tree or a holiday tree is spreading darkness. Maybe I shouldn't complain; the next thing we'll hear is that newspapers will no longer be able to express an opinion because it'll offend someone.

Have a happy…er, whatever.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively: letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

I just want to take the time to congratulate all the teams and individuals who recently competed in the Minnesota State High School League fall tournaments. They include: Kittson Central volleyball, Thief River Falls football and Warroad boys cross country (third in Class A).

I also want to highlight Roseau's Tyler Leverington for his efforts at the cross country meet; Thief River Falls' April Peterson, Casey Engelstad, Allyson Helling, Ashley Meunier, and Jenna Dillon for their performance at the state girls swimming and diving meet; Warroad's Becca Bahnmiller, Amanda Bolstad, Savannah Schey, Angie Marvin, Kristin Ripplinger, and Erin Montebello at the swimming and diving meet.

Congratulations to all these teams and individuals for another successful season, and for making all of us proud.

Rep. Maxine Penas
District 1A

Young authors sign books at public library

Students at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls who wrote books on snowmobiles and ATVs will be having a second book signing party at the Thief River Falls Public Library on Dec. 17.

The signing will be from 10:30 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 2:30 p.m. during which time the books may be purchased for $6 each. Pictures may also be taken with some of the authors.

St. Barnard's Catholic School students rehearsed earlier this week for their Advent program, "We Shall Prepare." The program will be presented Thursday, Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. at the Thief River Falls church. The public is welcome to attend. The program follows the Old Testament stories of Noah, Moses, David and more to help prepare attendees for Christ's birth. (Submitted photo)

Shawna Rogella of the Prowlers broke the Green Wave press as she brought the ball across the time line in the first half of Tuesday's girls high school basketball game in Thief River Falls.

EGF 56-45 winner over TRF

Late-game free throw shooting helped seal a 56-45 East Grand Forks win over Thief River Falls Tuesday in girls high school basketball.

The visiting Green Wave, after trailing by as many as 10 points in the first half, watched their own 10-point second half lead shrink to 47-45 when the Prowlers' Shawna Rogalla drove through lane traffic to score with 2:19 remaining. But the rest of the scoring was all done by East Grand Forks free throw shooters, who were 9-for-10 at the line in the final 1:53.

With both teams hitting 18 field goals (including two 3-pointers each), the free throws spelled the difference. The Prowlers were 7-for-18 at the line; the Green Wave went 18-for-26. The second half numbers: Thief River Falls 1-for-4, East Grand Forks 13-for-16.

Part of the discrepancy in the number of attempts, of course, occurred when the Prowlers were forced into a must-foul situation down the stretch.

A three-point play by Casey Engelstad off an offensive rebound put the Prowlers ahead 24-14 with 4:36 remaining in the first half.

East Grand Forks, however, outscored Thief River Falls 9-2 to the horn for just a 26-23 difference at intermission.

First Green Wave lead of the night came on a basket from underneath by Alicia Olson that made it 29-28 with 14:11 remaining, and after a bucket by Rogalla, the visitors took the lead for good when Amanda Wickersham pulled up for a short jumper in the middle to make it 31-30 with 11:21 on the clock.

Wickersham finished with a game-high 13 points. Olson netted 10. Three Prowlers reached double figures as Mandy Thompson scored 12 points, Rogalla 11 and Engelstad 10.

The Prowlers shot only 34 percent from the field (18/53). The Green Wave shot 40 percent (18/45). East Grand Forks finished with a 38-23 rebound advantage.

Early-season mistakes were prevalent as the teams combined for a staggering 62 turnovers. The Green Wave had 33 of them, but the Prowlers were a close second with 29.

It was the fourth straight loss to open the 2005-06 season for the Prowlers. Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe said to break into the win column his team will need "better passing, better catching, better dribbling, better shooting."

Fergus Falls takes second close game from Northland...

Spartans edge Pioneers, again

In a six-day span, the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team has played not only the top two ranked teams in state, but two of the top-rated teams in the country.

The Pioneers, who dropped a 67-56 Friday decision at Minneapolis, fell to 2-6 Wednesday with a 92-89 home court loss to Fergus Falls. The Marauders and Spartans are ranked 1-2, respectively, in the Minnesota Community College Conference polls. The MCCC Southern Division rivals are also ranked in the top five in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III national polls.

Fergus Falls had an early 22-9 lead, but Northland was within 48-47 at halftime. The Pioneers had a nine-point advantage midway through the second half when they followed back-to-back scoreless possession by the Spartans with an accumulated 1-for-4 showing at the free throw line.

It was lost opportunity to gain the upper hand in a close game, pointed out Northland coach Rick Nikunen, whose team would pay dearly for an 18-for-35 performance at the free throw line.

Fergus Falls had the lead going down the stretch. Northland saw two open looks at game-tying 3-point shots miss the mark in the final moments.

"I was pleased," said Nikunen in reviewing his team's play. "You hate to lose, obviously, especially when you play as hard as we did. But it was a good, hard-fought physical basketball game. I don't like the term, 'moral victory,' but I saw lots of good things out there. I think we're going in the right direction."

The Spartans also won a close match-up when the two teams met in a Nov. 22 game at Fergus Falls, 76-71.

Jawaun Bowman scored a game-high 25 points for the Pioneers, with Keith Brown netting 23 and Brandon Fontes 17. The Spartans, who were 18-for-29 at the line, were led by Olufemi Solaja with 20 points, Dustin Monsebroten 16, Jason Speer 13, Nate Phillips 12 and Byron Ninham 10.

Bears, Gators reach NCTC tourney finals

Clearbrook-Gonvick and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River became championship game opponents with Tuesday semifinal wins during the 2005 Girls Holiday Basketball Tournament at Northland Community and Technical College.

The Bears beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 61-52 and the defending champion Gators defeated Red Lake County Central 47-39 in Day 2 of the three-day affair for area high school teams.

Earlier in the day, Stephen-Argyle shut down East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 41-19 and Northern Freeze stopped Kittson County North 55-36 in the consolation semifinals.

A combined 39 points by the Clearbrook-Gonvick trio of Heidi Kjolhaug (16), Rebecca Gunvalson (13) and Katie Anderson (10) offset a game-high 22-point performance by Justyn Larson of Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in the championship round semifinal doubleheader opener.

The Bears turned a 28-27 halftime edge into a nine-point win.

Trailing 27-17 at halftime, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River out-scored Red Lake County Central 30-12 in the second half to reach the title game.

Kaley Mekash scored 14 second half points to fuel the Gators' comeback and finished with a game-high 22. Teammate Liz Schenkey netted 13. The Mustangs' offense featured Courtney Halvorson with 18 points and Betsy Winkler with 11.

It was a one-sided blowout win for Stephen-Argyle to start the afternoon consolation semifinals, but ironically the game's only double figure scorer was Kayli Schumacher of East Grand Forks Sacred Heart with 11 points. The Storm led 16-6 at halftime.

Alycia Dahl scored 18 points to lead Northern Freeze past Kittson County North in the second afternoon match-up of first round losers. Whitney Coffield had a 16-point game for the Cougars, who trailed 28-15 at the half.

Slow start costs NCTC women in loss to Spartans

Slow out of the starting gate, Northland lost a 60-48 game to visiting Fergus Falls Wednesday in Minnesota community college women's basketball action.

The Pioneers trailed 27-14 at halftime. They regrouped and outscored the Spartans 34-33 in the second half, but that still left them a dozen points short at the end.

It was the sixth straight loss to open the season for the Pioneers.

Kasey Anderson and Chelsey Fering both scored 11 points to lead the Northland offense. Jessie Asuma's 13 points led the Fergus Falls attack.

Bears run past Huskies squad by 97-41 score

Small, but speedy Clearbrook-Gonvick had its offense in mid-season form Tuesday as the Bears beat host Goodridge 97-41 in boys high school basketball.

The Huskies found themselves down 54-17 in their season opener.

"They're fast," pointed out Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson. "That's as quick a team as I've ever seen. Their pressure defense hurt us. We turned the ball over and that got their fast break going."

Clearbrook-Gonvick shot 55 percent from the field, but it wasn't all lay-ups. The Bears' 41-for-74 shooting from the floor included a 10-for-16 showing from 3-point range. Scott Stebe hit six of those treys en route to a 40-point night.

Goodridge shot 33 percent from the field (13/39) and went 15-for-25 at the free throw line, where Clearbrook-Gonvick was 5-for-5.

The Huskies were out-rebounded 33-18 and they had 43 of the game's 60 turnovers.

"I was disappointed in the number of turnovers," acknowledged Mickelson, "but the kids kept working hard. It would have been easy to throw in the towel, but they didn't quit; they kept battling."

Mickelson is working with a young squad this winter. Six of the 12 players dressed for the opener were freshmen.

Prowlers skate to a sweep vs. Panthers

Thief River Falls spotted Park Rapids/Menahga/Nevis an early 1-0 lead before the Prowlers took over and skated to a 5-1 Tuesday girls high school hockey win at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

"We came out a little flat, and that is something we need to work on – not allowing the other team to score first," offered Thief River Falls coach Katie Anderson.

Brooke Rundell scored two goals and added an assist to lead the Prowlers to their third win against four losses. Brittni Johnson, DD Rambeck and Megan Snyder were also goal scorers for the Prowlers, who led 3-1 through one period and had a 4-1 cushion at the second intermission.

"We played a good game," said Anderson. "It was great to see the scoring spread out. Again, we saw some good things from the penalty kill, and we improved on crashing the net, which is something we have been working on in practice."

It was a regular season home-and-home series sweep for the Prowlers, who edged the Panthers 3-2 in Park Rapids back on Nov. 17.

Grygla-Gatzke opens with win over Gators

Grygla-Gatzke out-scored host Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 72-69 in Tuesday boys high school basketball.

It was the 2005-06 season opener for the Eagles. The Gators fell to 0-2 with the loss.

Tim Polansky scored 20 points, Brady Olson 16 and Tomas Loberg 15 for the Eagles, who trailed 33-31 at halftime. The Gators also had three double figure scorers as Dennis Bukowski netted 13 points, Nathan Thompson 12 and Jordan Creviston 10.

"Our kids fought hard and gave themselves a chance to win," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Kent Christian. "Grygla is a tough team, who is well-coached. They had some new faces and will only get better."

The Gators were 14-for-23 at the free throw line, where the Eagles went 12-for-19.

Lakers, Panthers hand Prowlers two setbacks

Detroit Lakes and Park Rapids Area handed Thief River Falls back-to-back losses in Dec. 2 and 3 girls high school basketball games.

The highly-regarded Lakers built a 46-25 first half lead and went on to an 81-43 Friday night home court win.

The Panthers spoiled the Prowlers' 2005-06 home opener the next day with a 61-47 matinee victory. The Panthers led 30-21 at the half.

"Detroit Lakes is the real deal," reported Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We just couldn't keep up with them. They run the floor, execute their offense and play aggressive defense; a well-rounded team. We just don't match up with them."

Thanks in part to a 37-22 rebound advantage, the Lakers put up 71 shots, hitting 30 of them (42 percent). The Prowlers were 17-for-47 (36 percent). Detroit Lakes also cashed in on 20 of 28 free throw opportunities; Thief River Falls had an 8-for-16 night at the line.

While the Lakers won with a strong team effort, the Panthers' victory was centered around 6-3 junior Janessa Wolff, who scored 42 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. She was 18-for-26 from the field and 6-for-7 at the line.

"We just didn't have an answer for Wolff," said Loe. "I thought every girl we put on her did the best they could to try to contain her, but she is too much to handle. I hope people in the stands can appreciate her abilities. She is fun to watch."

Thief River Falls shot 37 percent from the field (19/52) and had a 4-for-11 free throw game. Park Rapids Area shot 38 percent from the floor (24/64) and went 13-for-21 at the line. The Panthers had a 35-27 rebound advantage, and also topped the turnover charts, 20-15.

Marauders sweep Northland men's, women's teams

Minneapolis took both ends of a Friday (Dec. 2) Minnesota Community College Conference basketball doubleheader from visiting Northland, winning the women's game 72-48 to start the evening, then finishing with a 67-56 victory in the men's match-up.

The Marauders led 38-25 at half time in the women's game. The winners were 25-for-76 from the field (33 percent) and 18-for-33 at the free throw line. The Pioneers struggled through a 16-for-66 shooting night from the floor (24 percent) and were 11-for-18 at the line. Northland was out-rebounded 73-41. Minneapolis topped the turnover charts 20-19.

Northland had a 31-23 halftime edge in the men's game, but the Pioneers were out-scored 44-25 over the final 20 minutes.

Minneapolis was 26-65 from the field (40 percent) in the nightcap. Northland went 23-for-62 (37 percent). The winners had a 15-for-21 free throw game; the Pioneers were 3-for-10. The Marauders finished with a 50-35 rebound advantage. The Pioneers had more turnovers, 16-12.

The Northland teams went their opposite ways Saturday when the women lost a one-sided 81-42 game to the Gustavus Adolphus junior varsity in St. Peter, while the men dropped a 78-59 decision to MCCC member Anoka-Ramsey in Coon Rapids.

Scoring details were not available for the Saturday games.

Minnesota's bovine tuberculosis status to change

By late December the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will change Minnesota's bovine tuberculosis (TB) status to Modified Accredited Advanced. The USDA's move places the state one level below TB-Free Status. There are numerous status levels within the bovine TB eradication program.

Minnesota Board of Animal Health Executive Director and State Veterinarian Dr. Bill Hartmann said that in a few weeks, most Minnesota breeding cattle being shipped out of state will have to be tested for TB.

"The USDA will require all breeding cattle 18 months of age and older to be tested for bovine TB within 60 days of shipment," said Hartmann. "Cattle are exempt from the testing requirement if they are moving interstate directly to slaughter, a feedlot or if the animals are from a TB-accredited herd."

Producers shipping animals across the Minnesota border should contact the state to which the shipment is made to determine the state's import requirements as they may differ from the USDA's requirements. At this time, cattle moving within the state of Minnesota will have no additional testing requirements.

"The goal of this investigation is to find all of the disease and eliminate it," said Hartmann. "The Minnesota Board of Animal Health will continue to work as swiftly as possible through this entire investigation in order to expedite the process of regaining our bovine TB-Free Status. In two years, we can apply for reinstatement of our TB-Free Status if no additional infection is detected."

Producers needing to have cattle tested for bovine TB should contact their veterinarians. When testing cattle, a veterinarian injects tuberculin at the base of the tail, in an area called the caudal fold. The veterinarian then examines the site 72 hours later for swelling. If a response is detected, a follow-up test will be completed by a state or federal veterinarian.

Minnesota's bovine TB investigation continues to make substantial progress. To date, 42 herds have been quarantined as a result of the state's bovine TB investigation. Thirty-two of these operations have been removed from quarantine as testing showed no infection in the herds. Of then 10 remaining, four herds are infected (three have been depopulated) and six herds are in the process of completing testing. Counties with quarantined herds include Roseau, Beltrami, Polk, Clearwater and Todd.

The board, along with USDA Veterinary Services, is offering free bovine TB testing to any cattle operation located within 15 miles of a TB-infected herd. Producers located within this testing radius should contact their local veterinarians or the board to discuss having their entire herd tested for bovine TB. The state will pay for all veterinary fees.

The state of Minnesota has been involved in TB eradication programs since 1917 with the last known case in 1971. Bovine TB caused by the bacteria Mycobacterium bovis is a respiratory disease of cattle. It is a chronic, slowly progressive disease that is not transmitted easily. Infected animals may be capable of transmitting an infection to other animals even if they appear healthy. In a cooperative campaign by the livestock industry and animal health officials, the U.S. has all but eliminated bovine TB.

IS A RATHER SHORT AND FROSTY WINDOW.

Northern climates mean a rather short, frosty window for corn and bean growers. So the cold logic behind our seed genetics is simple. All Hyland Seeds products are engineered to tolerate cold spring soils, mature before frost dates and tolerate northern-specific stresses. The results are exceptional, high-yielding crops that mature on time—corn, soybeans and edible beans, developed specifically for northern climates.

Thief River Falls rallies to top Crookston 42-30

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

With four pins in the final four weight classes, Thief River Falls turned an 18-30 deficit, into a 42-30 victory over Crookston Tuesday.

The Prowlers trailed 21-18 at the start of the 152-pound bout. With an open weight at 189 pounds due to an injury to starter Billy Mattison, Thief River Falls head coach Kenny Geiser made the decision to forfeit the 152-pound bout to Chris Dufault, and move each of his next three wrestlers up a weight class.

Geiser's decision worked as Mike Mattision battled to an 8-5 decision loss to Brent Umlauf, before Dan LeDue pinned Isaac Edland, Travis Peralta pinned Ben Barvesby, Josh Iverson pinned Matt LeBlanc and Andrew Peralta pinned Jake Callier to secure the dual.

"The win was a huge confidence boost for the team," Geiser said. "We made the move we had to by forfeiting 152, and bumping everyone up from there."

Iverson's fall at 215, his first at the varsity level, secured at least a tie in the dual.

"It was a huge win for Josh Iverson," Geiser said. "His first varsity win came at an opportune time for the team."

Thief River Falls will compete the second day of the Grand Forks Sertoma Invitational today.

Haviland conference Diver of the Week

Army's Chelsea Haviland of Thief River Falls was named Patriot League female Diver of the Week Tuesday following a record-setting performance in the annual Army-Navy meet.

The three-time reigning conference Diver of the Meet, Haviland won both the 1-meter and 3-meter springboard events in record-setting fashion, despite the Black Knights' defeat at the hands of their keenest rival, 188.5 to 111.5.

On the 1-meter board, Haviland posted an Army-Navy meet record with a score of 287.48 points. It was her sixth victory on the 1-meter board in six meets this winter. On the 3-meter board, the Black Knights' senior captain won with a score of 319.20, also an Army-Navy meet record. The victory improved her 3-meter board record to 5-1 this season.

It was the fourth consecutive year Haviland has won the 1-meter board and her third win in four efforts on the 3-meter board during her career against the Midshipmen.

In addition to her success in diving, Haviland swam the first leg of the 400-meter freestyle relay team that finished second in a time of 4:02.7.

TRF girls split first four JV basketball contests

Thief River Falls girls junior varsity high school basketball team has opened the 2005-06 season with a four-game split.

The Prowlers saw a 19-16 first half lead turn into a 51-37 opening night loss to Warren-Alvarado-Oslo. April Peterson led the Thief River Falls Game 1 offense with 9 points.

Detroit Lakes limited Thief River Falls to 10 first half points and handed the Prowlers loss No. 2 by a 39-23 margin. Chelsea Sorteberg scored 8 points to lead Thief River Falls that night.

Katbryn Walrath, Rachel Johnson and Kristine Sletten scored 10 points each as Thief River Falls broke into the win column with a 59-7 rout of Park Rapids Area. The Panthers trailed 37-1 at the half.

Tuesday, Thief River Falls evened its record at 1-1 by beating East Grand Forks 55-47. Hannah Kainz scored 12 points and Johnson had 10 for the Prowlers, who led 28-24 at halftime.

EGF ninth graders top Thief River Falls 39-23

A 26-10 East Grand Forks halftime lead carried the Green Wave past Thief River Falls 39-23 Tuesday in ninth grade girls basketball.

Cassie Gunderson led the 2-2 Prowlers with 7 points.

The choir for "Jesus, Our Treasure" poses prior to a rehearsal. "Jesus, Our Treasure," will be performed Friday and Saturday, Dec. 16 and 17, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 18 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Performances will be at Open Arms Christian Fellowship, Thief River Falls. (Submitted photo)

Christmas musical, "Jesus, Our Treasure," performed in TRF

The dramatic Christmas musical "Jesus, Our Treasure" will be performed Friday and Saturday, Dec. 16 and 17, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 18 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. at Open Arms Christian Fellowship, 401 St. Paul Ave. S., Thief River Falls. There is no admission charge; a freewill offering will be accepted. Reservations may be made by calling 686-6699 (a local call for the Thief River Falls area) or 218-668-2612 (a Lengby number).

Doors will open 45 minutes prior to each performance, during which time concert-goers will be able to experience a Judean village where pharisees (Terry Nennich and Harry Behm) will be reading the Torah, a potter (Lisa McGrath) will be working with clay, and musicians (Karen and Harry Pongo with their children Caleb and Lydia) will be playing some authentic instruments from Jordan. Reservations will be honored up to 10 minutes prior to performance time, at which time unoccupied seats, if needed, will be made available to walk-in attendees.

"Jesus, Our Treasure," a 2005 composition by Mike Harland, Camp Kirkland and Lawrence Kimbrough, engages actors, soloists and a choir in bringing the story of the Christ child to the stage with a fresh, new "voice." The story told in this musical drama does not end at the manger. It includes glimpses of Jesus throughout his life, but it includes more than just facts. "I believe this musical is a truly 'personal' approach to this timeless revealing of God's love for us," noted Kirkland.

The drama in "Jesus, Our Treasure" is based on the recollections of Jacob (Paul Tandberg), an old shepherd, as he shares his memories with two granddaughters (Anna Tandberg and Katherine Sayler). Jacob recounts the night that angels (Emily McGrath, Katy Nordvick, Skyah Westerman, Elissa Northup, Emma and Sara Wollin, Eliakim Bentley, and Laden Westerman) directed the shepherds (Aaron Northup, Ron Northup, Steve Westerman, Mike McGrath, Gus Tandberg and Evan Northup) to Bethlehem, where baby Jesus (Jonas Westerman) had just been born to Mary and Joseph (Lauren Rogalla and Ross Arlt). However, tragedy looms on the horizon as King Herod (Alan Rogalla) feels his throne threatened by a child (Avory Erickson) that wise men from the East (Ben Sayler Jr., Dan Sayler, and Darryl Tveitbakk) are seeking. Throughout the remainder of the story, Jacob continues to reminisce about the life and ministry of Christ with the clarity of one who was there.

Participants are from Gatzke, Grygla, Karlstad, Newfolden, Lengby, Bagley, Plummer, Crookston and Thief River Falls, truly making this a northern Minnesota community event. The choir director is Dr. Ben Sayler. Choir members include Paul Adams, Mikayla Adolphson, Cindy Arlt, Ross Arlt, Julie and Tom Bentley, Kelly and Millie Dodson, Corie and Justine Erickson, Julia Hulecek, Pam Kjensrud, Lisa and Emily McGrath, Kirsten Melvie, Loralee Nennich, Katy Nordvick, Elissa, Josiah, Ron, and Sheryl Northup, Caleb, Harry, Karen and Lydia Pongo, Lauren and Alan Rogalla, Ben and Dan Sayler, Chuck and Julayne Simpson, Darryl Tveitbakk, Shari and Skyah Westerman, Kayla and Shania Wollin, and Gary and Karen York.

The costume designer is Key Teeters Asp. Set designers and builders are Ron, Ron Jr., and Aaron Northup, Ben and Dan Sayler, Shawn McGrath, and Aaron Fervis; technical support by Ben Sayler (lights) and Tim Sayler (sound). Props are by Shawn and Lisa McGrath, Ron Northup and Cindy Arlt.

The drama director is Marilyne Sayler, assisted by Bonnie Dunston and drama consultant Lacey Simoneau. The stage assistants are Alyssa Rogalla and Steve Westerman.

The cast and choir are excited to present this production of the Christmas story through the music and drama of "Jesus, Our Treasure." The community is invited to attend.

Salvation Army red kettles are moving. Don Jorsted of KTRF Radio was one of the Salvation Army volunteer bell ringers at Kmart on Thursday. It was the last day the kettles would be at Kmart. All bell ringers scheduled for the Kmart site are now asked to report to SuperOne. The change is due to a change in company policy.

time, to the college. Steve Dalager would say hi to all of the teachers, and draw pictures for his dad and place them on his dad's desk. Steve Dalager is now an instructor at Lake Superior College in Duluth.

Samuelson also fondly remembered his time at TRFJC. "I have a lot of fond memories," said Samuelson, who required his students to take memory quizzes as many times as they needed without penalties. He recalled one student's reaction to finally passing one of Samuelson's memory quizzes. The student cried because, as he told Samuelson, he had never done anything perfectly. That experience moved Samuelson.

Samuelson and Dalager worked at the college when it began with 159 students. To Samuelson's knowledge, most of the students were the first members of their families to go to college. "The college was really needed up here," he said.

TRFJC grew to include a sophomore class in 1966. Later, it moved to its current site along Highway 1 East. It's been there for more than 30 years.

The college has also changed in other ways. In 1995, it merged with Thief River Falls Area Vocational School. Eight years later, the college merged again – that time with the East Grand Forks campus of Northwest Technical College.

The college continues to have an impact on students. "I'm 44 years old, and I've never imagined going through school," said Derek Murph, a student leader from NCTC's East Grand Forks campus. On behalf of students at both campuses, Murph told the 80 attendees that the students appreciate what they have done for the students.

will ever be no problems. Some individuals may cause damage or problems. But, he noted, that's a lot different than saying everyone is causing a problem.

Stumpf and Penas believe the development of trails will continue and that this will end some of the conflict, but trails will continue to be an issue, especially where they intersect with private interests.

Penas noted that there is another access issue brewing. The State Forest is one issue, but another issue she said, involves conflict over access to Wildlife Management Areas (WMA).

Penas said she understands that the average size of a WMA in the state is about 300 acres, a size that is relatively accessible by foot. But, she believes they need to talk about WMAs like one in Kittson County, which is around 17,000 acres. Not everyone can imagine or get their hands around an issue that encompasses an area that large. Penas said she has been approached by some hunters who have hunted in that area for years. Due to physical limitations, however, they are no longer able to access the area by foot. Something needs to be done to address access to larger WMAs.

Penas noted that she's not out to "ravage the land" and let people on off-highway vehicles "run free." And, she said, every ATV group she's talked to doesn't want that to happen. They just want access to state land.

Penas struggles with describing groups opposed to the "managed" status for Beltrami Island State Forest. They're environmentalist groups, but she considers herself an environmentalist, too. In any event, Penas said there are environmental groups that are very opposed to the "managed" status, and the battle over access to state land is far from over.

BSU to host presentation on plant species laws

A natural resources presentation about endangered plant species law and management is scheduled for 3 p.m. Dec. 19 at the Bemidji State University Center for Research and Innovation, a facility operated by BSU and located at 3801 Bemidji Avenue North.

The presentation is open to the public and free of charge.

Presenting will be Janet Boe, a regional plant ecologist with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources assigned to the Bemidji office.

Boe will explain some of the history leading up to the 1973 passage of the Endangered Species Act, review the act and talk about what has taken place since its passage. She'll also briefly discuss international and state endangered species legislation and then talk about Minnesota's endangered species law and the management of endangered species here.

The presentation is targeted toward natural resources professionals but may also be of interest to the general public.

The talk is part of an on-going series of monthly presentations from the Bemidji Area Natural Resources Continuing Education Consortium. Groups helping organize the natural resources consortium include the BSU Center for Environmental, Earth and Space Studies; the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources; Norbord Minnesota; the Chippewa National Forest; Beltrami County; Leech Lake Reservation; Ainsworth; and the Red Lake Reservation.

The CRI was developed by BSU to serve as a conduit between the University, business, industry, nonprofits and the general public.

U.S. Air Force Tops in Blue to perform Sunday

The U.S. Air Force's Tops In Blue musical entertainment group is offering a free afternoon of family entertainment at the Alerus Center, Grand Forks, N.D., Sunday (Dec. 11) at 2:30 p.m.

In this year's show, the group drums up their own rhythm in their swinging nightclub, Club Bleu. Audiences will be tapping their feet to pulsating music from great performers like the Platters, Gladys Knight and The Pips, Billy Joel, Gloria Estefan, The Weather Girls and many more. No Tops In Blue show would be complete without famous patriotic music, as they pay tribute to the Airmen and their families who serve our nation with pride and dedication.

"Tops In Blue is the Air Force's premier entertainment showcase," said Tom Edwards, show producer and chief of Air Force Entertainment. "The new 2005 team is a reflection of the 'best of the best' performers throughout the Air Force."

The Tops In Blue 2005 team will visit more than 120 locations in the United States and 25 foreign countries. Their official Web site is www.topsinblue.com and provides information about the 2005 touring schedule and how to join the team. For more show information, contact Mr. Mike Jacobs at 747-6104.

Holiday Train

▲ With temperatures in the mid-20s and a light snow falling, thousands of area residents greeted the CP Holiday Train as it arrived in Thief River Falls Wednesday evening. John Gorke, folk musician, the Ennis Sisters, a celtic pop trio, and Tracey Brown, a Canadian County Music Association award winner, all performed for the crowd.

▶ Thousands of lights on the CP Holiday Train lit up the countryside as it traveled to Thief River Falls Wednesday evening. Local officials estimated that about 2,000 greeted the train.

Holiday Train brings cheer to area residents and families in need

The brightly lit Holiday Train rolled into Thief River Falls Wednesday evening. Officials estimate that over 2,000 area residents were on hand to greet the train and its performers.

The Holiday Train collects food and money for food banks. Canadian Pacific Railway operates two Holiday Trains - one in Canada, and the other in the United States. Each train is decorated with hundreds of thousands of LED Christmas lights. Accompanying the trains are several performers. Entertaining the crowds in Thief River Falls were John Gorka, folk musician, the Ennis Sisters, a celtic pop trio, and Tracey Brown, a Canadian Music Association award winner.

This is the second year in a row the train has visited Thief River Falls. With the assistance of many volunteers and a spaghetti dinner fundraising event, several thousands of dollars have been raised for the Area Food Shelf.

Last year, over $8,000 was raised for the Area Food Shelf during the food drive in November and December. As of this week, over $7,340 has been raised for the Area Food Shelf.

Gloria Reierson, director of the Area Food Shelf, said she is pleased with the progress of the food drive. Reierson reported over $2,726 was raised at the spaghetti supper and from collection containers placed next to the cookies and hot cider that was given away at the Soo Line Depot during the Holiday Train visit. In addition to cash donations, a couple of hundred pounds of canned goods was collected during the Holiday Train visit.

Reierson also reported that usage at the Area Food Shelf is pretty high right now. Between 60 and 80 families per week receive assistance from the Area Food Shelf.

She said the Food Shelf is keeping up with demand now, but noted that donations typically slow down between the holidays and March.

Reierson thanked all the area churches and volunteers that helped during the event. She was thankful for everyone's support. She said she had a lot of fun at the event, and asks area residents to remember them after the holidays.

Officials estimate that between 2,000 were on hand at the depot when the train arrived. They noted that many more residents were parked along the tracks and even more watched the train roll through the countryside.

W/A/O School Board shows hike in taxes

Warren - A total proposed tax levy for next year of $587,432 was presented by the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board at the district's Truth in Taxation hearing Monday night. Superintendent Ken Henry said that amount is the maximum amount the board can approve, given state constraints and voter-approved levy limits, and he later indicated he will ask the board to approve the maximum amount when it meets to set the levy at 6 p.m. Monday.

Later, in its regular meeting, the board rejected, on a 5-2 roll-call vote, a motion to hire an elementary school teacher for the second semester, thus refusing to reverse a cost-cutting action approved nearly a year ago, also by a divided board. - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 14, 2005

Levy is in line with reserve goals

Warren - The 2006 county net tax levy approved by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its meeting Dec. 2 is $3,822,691. A story in last week's Warren Sheaf incorrectly reported the figure, listing the total levy of $4,920,938, but incorrectly identifying that amount as the net levy. The total levy is reduced by County Program Aid from the state – $1,098,247 – to determine the net levy, which is the amount to be collected from county property owners.

The county net levy for 2006 is 6.277 percent more than the 2005 net levy of $3,596,913. This is exactly the same percentage increase in net levy as from 2004 to 2005. The increase from 2003 to 2004 was only slightly higher, at 6.7583 percent. - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 14, 2005

Fighting meth in Polk County

Crookston - Polk County has gained a new weapon in the battle against methamphetamine. Sheriff Mark LeTexier has announced the new anonymous "Help.Us.2" tip-line: (218) 435-7872.

By calling this phone number, citizens can anonymously alert the Polk County Sheriff's Office to a meth crime, or any crime they have witnessed or of which they have personal knowledge. LeTexier asks the citizens who use the tip-line to leave as much information as possible for the Sheriff's Office to work with in its investigation. "A good rule of thumb is to answer the questions of who, what, when and where," LeTexier said. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, Dec. 13, 2005

Firm hired to search for superintendent

Warroad - The Warroad School Board held its regularly scheduled meeting Dec. 12. The Board discussed the proposal made at the November meeting of utilizing ADM Group to aid in the search for a new superintendent.

The Board discussed the possibility of attempting to find qualified applicants without the help and expense of an outside agency.

Amy Friesner, who begins her term on the School Board in January, suggested looking at the possibility of combining the superintendent position with another position in the district.

Superintendent David Kragness feels that Warroad has too many students to make this a part-time job, he said. - Warroad Pioneer, Dec. 14, 2005 by Nancy Heppner

Civil lawsuit dismissed, but area man still faces criminal trial

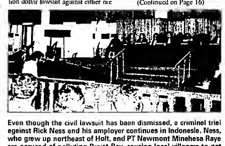
by April Schelnoha
Reporter

A $133-million civil lawsuit filed against a U.S. mining company and a former area man has been dismissed. A criminal trial is proceeding against the man and his employer.

Rick Ness,

Rick Ness, who grew up northeast of Holt and owns a cabin in Angle Inlet, is employed as the president director of PT Newmont Minahasa Raya (NMR) in Indonesia. The company is a subsidiary of Denver-based Newmont Mining Corporation.

The lawsuit and criminal case stem from reports of North Sulawesi villagers who claimed they had Minamata disease, which is caused by mercury. The Indonesian government alleges NMR polluted Buyat Bay, causing the villagers to become sick. NMR operated a mine at Buyat Bay for about 10 years. The mine closed in 2004 after reserves were depleted.



An Indonesian court dismissed the civil lawsuit, noting the matter belonged in an international court of arbitration. NMR had a "contract of work" with the Indonesian government when it began work in that country, Ness wrote in an e-mail to the Northern Watch. Under the contract, the two parties would attempt to negotiate with each other if a dispute erupted. If that didn't work, the matter would go to international arbitration. The government can appeal the court's decision.

"It's just beyond ridiculous that it was possible within Indonesia's laws to actually bring a multi-million dollar lawsuit against either me or the company in the face of such overwhelming evidence to the contrary," Ness said.

The Indonesian government filed the civil lawsuit, alleging NMR held the wrong disposal permit, didn't have the correct permit or didn't comply with certain regulations, said Ness, who graduated from highschool in Newfolden in 1967.

"It is interesting to note that the main governmental body

Even though the civil lawsuit has been dismissed, a criminal trial against Rick Ness and his employer continues in Indonesia. Ness, who grew up northeast of Holt, and PT Newmont Minahasa Raya are accused of polluting Buyat Bay, causing local villagers to get sick. In this photo by a Indonesian reporter, Ness, who is wearing a suit, is seated in the center. Seated at a table at the top of the stairs are the judges who are deciding the case. Two named to highest court

Judges Anderson and Gildea have ties to northwest Minnesota

On Thursday, Gov. Tim Pawlenty announced the appointment of Minnesota Supreme Court Associate Justice Russell A. Anderson as chief justice. Anderson formerly served as a judge in the Ninth District, which includes Pennington County and other northern Minnesota counties.

Pawlenty also announced the appointment of Hennepin County District Court Judge Lorie S. Gildea as an associate judge to the Minnesota Supreme Court. Gildea grew up in Plummer.

Besides Anderson and Gildea's appointments, Pawlenty appointed attorney Kevin G. Ross to the Minnesota Court of Appeals.

Anderson appointed as chief justice

"Justice Anderson is an extraordinary jurist," said Pawlenty. "He is well-respected, hardworking, intelligent and will lead our state's highest court with integrity and thoughtfulness."

Anderson was appointed to the position of chief justice, which is open due to the resignation of Chief Justice Kathleen A. Blatz effective Jan. 10. Anderson was appointed to the Ninth District Court by Gov. Al Quie in 1983.

Anderson served in the Ninth District courthouse in Thief River Falls occasionally. He mainly served the Crookston area.

Al Rogalla, assistant Pennington County attorney, said he remembers Anderson as a hard worker and fair judge. He said Anderson has written good opinions and deserves to be the next chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court. Anderson served on many committees, Rogalla said, and Anderson's integrity and demeanor make him a great candidate for the job. "In fact," Rogalla said, "I can't think of a better person for the job."

"Plus," said Rogalla, "he worked the trenches with the rest of us, so he knows what it's like."

Anderson was appointed to the Minnesota Supreme Court by Gov. Arne Carlson in 1998 and was reelected to the court in 2000. Prior to serving on the bench, Anderson was the Beltrami County attorney from 1978 to 1982. He was in private practice in Bemidji from 1976 to 1982.

Anderson's first legal experience came while in military service. Lt. Cmdr. Anderson served in the Judge

Red Lake Co. continues with Tri-County

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Red Lake County commissioners voted three to two in favor of continuing the county's relationship with Tri County Corrections during the board's Dec. 13 (Tuesday) meeting. Commissioners Ron Weiss, Ed Larson and Nancy Hagland voted in favor of continuing Red Lake County's relationship with Tri County Community Corrections. Commissioners Velma Oakland and Brent Strand voted against continuing the county's association with Tri County. They instead favored a jail contract with Pennington County.

The decision means Red Lake County will continue to be a partner in Tri County Community Corrections – an arrangment it first entered into in 1975.

"We didn't feel we had any reason to change," said Ed Larson, vice chairman of the Red Lake County Board of Commissioners. "We had some programs in place, that they don't have in Pennington County. It was working well and we had no reason to switch."

Those programs, according to Larson, are a juvenile transition program and access to a juvenile center located in Crookston.

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby presented a jail contract package during a March meeting of the Red Lake County Board, when commissioners were exploring other options for housing the county's jail population. During that meeting, Hruby outlined a five-year package that would cost Red Lake County approximately $101,000 per year. Of the total cost, $69,000 would cover corrections and the remaining charges would cover probation and the cost of housing juveniles.

Pennington County's offer also guaranteed jail bed space to all Red Lake County inmates. Hruby previously stated in the event of overcrowding, he would transport Pennington County inmates to a different facility to make room for Red Lake County inmates. The plan also guaranteed Red Lake County up to 3,000 man hours of Sentence to Serve (STS).

The existing 81-bed Tri-County Corrections Center is Minnesota's only regional jail, serving the counties of Red Lake, Norman and Polk. Ground was broken Sept. 27 for a

Comstock submits resignation letter

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

A letter of resignation from Pennington County fourth district commissioner Arden "Bud" Comstock was accepted by Pennington County commissioners during the Dec. 13 Pennington County Board meeting.

In his resignation letter, Comstock stated, "I am submitting my resignation as county commissioner for the fourth district, effective Dec 31, 2005, as I will be permanently relocating to the Florida area. I would also like to express thanks to all the county commissioners that I have served with for nearly 13 years. I would also like to thank the constituents of the fourth district for their support these past years. We always tried to do what is best for Pennington County and its residents."

Comstock's resignation was accepted three weeks after commissioners unanimously approved a letter asking for Comstock's resignation. Another option for commissioners would have been to declare Comstock's commissioner seat vacant, due to 90 days of nonfeasance.

Arden "Bud" Comstock

The board would then have the authority to appoint Comstock's successor, who would serve the remainder of Comstock's term, or until Comstock returned from his leave. Commissioners decided it would be better to allow residents to elect their own commissioner.

The board asked for Comstock's resignation during its Nov. 22 meeting. It was the seventh consecutive meeting Comstock had missed after taking leave in August to pursue a career opportunity.

A special election will be held once Comstock's commissioner seat is officially vacated. According to Minnesota Statute 375.101, subdivision one, "A vacancy in the office of county commissioner shall be filled at a special election not less than 30, nor more than 60 days after

In Loving Memory of Harland Knutson
who passed away on December 17, 2002

I thought of you with love today, but that is nothing new.
I thought about you yesterday and days before that too.

I think of you in silence,
I often speak your name.
Now all I have is memories and your picture in a frame.

Your memory is my keepsake, with which I'll never part.
God has you in his keeping,
I have you in my heart.
Thank you God for life, love and happiness.
I will love you always, Marlys

Don't let Christmas baking become a drag - try some of these simple cookie recipes to make the holiday special. Most of them are simple and simply delicious.

Need some help with your baking? Make this plain cookie, decorate it the way you want it, and it will be a festive holiday:
SHAKER VANILLA COOKIES
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/4 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cream butter in large bowl. Gradually add sugar, beating light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla and blend well.
Sift flour, baking powder and salt in another bowl. Add to creamed mixture and mix well.
Shape dough into a roll 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill 2 hours. Cut into 1/4 inch slices and place 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheets. Trim with sugar now or frost after baking and cooling. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes 3 dozen.

Here's another simple ice-box recipe - almost resembles an old Swedish cookie recipe. The tops of the cookies will be lightly brawned with toasty almonds:
ALMOND ICEBOX COOKIES
2 cups butter or margarine, softened
2 cups sugar
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white, lightly beaten
Finely chopped almonds
Cream butter in large mixing bowl. Gradually add sugar and vanilla, beating light and fluffy. Combine flour and baking powder and mix well. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, stirring well.
Shape dough into 2 rolls 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Wrap each in waxed paper and refrigerate 2 hours or more. Cut into 1/4 inch slices and place 2 inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Brush lightly with the beaten egg white and sprinkle with almonds.
Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks and store airtight. Makes 7 1/2 dozen cookies.

What better way to celebrate the holidays than with these spicy, old-time favorites:
EARLY AMERICAN GINGER COOKIES
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
3/4 cup molasses (dark)
1 egg, beaten
2 3/4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon hot water
1 teaspoon vinegar
Cream butter. Gradually add sugar, beating light and fluffy. Add molasses and egg and beat smooth. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture, blending well. Chill 2 hours or overnight.
Roll dough to 1/4 inch thickness on lightly floured surface. Cut with cookie cutters and place 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheets (add granulated sugar to top now unless you plan to decorate with icing). Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool on wire racks and decorate with powdered sugar icing if desired. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

These cinnamon cookies will remind you of the olden days, and they're delicious, too:
CARAMEL SAND TARTS
1/2 cup butter, softened
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg white
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
Pecan halves
Cream butter, then gradually add brown sugar, beating well. Add egg and vanilla and mix well. Combine flour, baking powder and salt and add to creamed mixture, mixing well. Cover and chill 1-2 hours.
Roll dough to 1/8 inch thickness on lightly floured surface. Cut with 2 1/2 inch round cutter and brush each cookie lightly with egg white.
Combine sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle lightly over cookies. Place cookies 2 inches apart on lightly greased sheets. Gently press a pecan half in center of each. Bake at 350 degrees for 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks and store airtight. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

This is a delicious fruit cookie - better than some of those expensive fruit cakes you can buy, and so much fun to drop and bake:
FRUITCAKE COOKIES
1 cup shortening
2 cups packed brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2/3 cup buttermilk
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup candied cherries, cut into quarters
2 cups chopped dates
1 cup chopped candied fruit and peel
Red or green cherry halves
Pecan halves
Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar, beating well. Add eggs.
Sift flour, sodo and salt in bowl and add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with flour. Add 1 cup chopped pecans, cherries, dates and fruit. Chill dough several hours or overnight.
Drop dough by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on lightly greased sheets. Top each cookie with a cherry--or pecan half. Bake at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

Go ahead and make these lovely (delicious) cookies this Christmas - they're perfect for the season:
COCONUT MACAROONS
2 egg whites (at room temperature)
Dash of salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup flake coconut
1/2 cup chopped pecans, if desired
Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Add sugar (gradually) and vanilla, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold in coconut and pecans.
Drop by teaspoonfuls on parchment lined sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Remove from oven and place cookie sheets on damp cloth for a few seconds. Remove macaroons to wire rack to cool. Makes 2 1/2 dozen yummy cookies.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editoriel opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Deve Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Giving thanks for our blessings and our soldiers, too

Demands for a exist strategy from Iraq are growing daily. It seems citizens are fed up with the daily toll of death and destruction being reported from Iraq. I don't disagree, but the media coverage, to this point, seems single-minded - focusing entirely on death, destruction, elections and a vague exist strategy. I would like to hear stories from soldiers serving over there. Perhaps, as the holiday approaches, area residents will encourage their sons and daughters serving in the military to share their stories, so that we can more fully appreciate what they are doing and accomplishing.

That said, there were two stories, in particular, appearing in area newspapers that caught my attention this week. In the Morris Sun Tribune, Congressman Collin Peterson was reported as having stated that the U.S. is wearing out its National Guard. Peterson is proposing to limit how many times the Guard can be called up: "We're wearing them out. We need more regular forces so that the National Guard is not called up more than every five years. This every two years is too much."

Peterson was at a welcome-home ceremony for the 1-151st Field Artillery C company troops when he made the comments. Peterson, who was impressed by the ceremony and the soldiers, is reported as stating that given the Guard's status as civilian soldiers, the deployments are putting strain on families, and employers.

The second story appeared as a letter to the editor in the Crookston Daily Times. Sgt. Daniel Webster responded on behalf of Bravo Co., 2nd BN, 136th CAB, to a letter from another writer, who among other things stated that "...most who go off to war are poor, poorly educated or misguided adventure seekers. They are young and need older, wiser souls to guide and protect them in the big decision to join the armed forces and perhaps go off to war." Webster pointed out that over three-fourths of the unit has a college degree of some kind, from associate's to master's degrees, that they come from all walks of life, "and yes, there is those among us who seek adventure, but we do not desire war. In fact, if you were so smart, you would realize that no one hates war more than the soldier. Ours was a calling and we answered that call."

At a time of year when we are giving thanks for our many blessings, perhaps we should remember the soldiers serving our country. They, and their families, are making tremendous sacrifices.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

In your recent editorial, "Is it Christmas?" it is noted that many corporations, such as Wal-Mart and Target, are using the generic greeting "Happy Holidays," as an effort not to offend people who don't celebrate Christmas.

The focus here is being dragged away from the real issue at stake. The question is not whether anyone is offended by hearing a sincere Merry Christmas wish, or offended by not hearing it. The question is, "Is everyone's freedom equally respected?"

How come companies can require their employees not to say "Merry Christmas?" What about the employee's freedom of speech? If they required employees to say "Merry Christmas," you can be sure there would be an outcry against it.

How come public school curriculum can celebrate Ramadan and allow kids to say Muslim prayers five times a day, but extracurricular Christian prayer is outlawed in schools?

How come criticizing "Harry Potter," "Goosebumps" or any other book is censorship, but the Bible can't be allowed in public?

These big-hearted corporations who wish everyone "Happy Holidays" rather than risk offending a few, are governed by the profit motive. They are afraid the ACLU watchdog will bite them in the pocketbook. Money. Money goes great with any holiday, especially Christmas. Don't shortchange the corporations. They know, to a dime, which holiday of these "happy" holidays is bringing all the profits in December.

Religious freedom is not insulation from hearing or seeing anything a person disagrees with. If it were, many newspaper articles and editorials would be guilty of violating my religious freedom. Religious freedom is the right to make a personal decision about religion and practice it - in short, for me to wish a Merry Christmas to everyone I see. Someone's decision about Christmas need not affect mine.

So Merry Christmas - and may God bless us, every one!

MnSCU extends chancellor's contract one year

Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU) Chancellor, James H. McCormick, may serve until Aug. 31, 2009, under a 12-month extension approved Wednesday by the MnSCU Board of Trustees.

MnSCU is comprised of 32 institutions of higher learning in Minnesota, serving about 240,000 students per year. Northland Community and Technical College - Thief River Falls is among those institutions served by MnSCU.

MnSCU Representative Robert Hoffman said McCormick has established an exceptional record, and continues to find new ways for the system to support and strengthen economic development, from the state's Main Street businesses to global industries. Above all, Hoffman said, McCormick cares deeply about improving services and educational programs so students have the best educational experience possible.

Aaron Espe and Mitchell Haaby to perform at Roseau Community Church

Aaron Espe and Mitchell Haaby will be in Concert at the Roseau Community Church on Friday, Dec. 23, beginning at 7:30p.m.

Natives of Roseau, Espe and Haaby, began making music together at the age of 14. Aaron discovered the guitar, while Mitchell tapped into the drums. A second-hand drum set and a garage sale acoustic guitar would be their maiden instruments, which developed their relationship musically, but also became threads sewing the fabric of the deepest friendship.

In high school, they matured rather quickly musically through a supportive environment. Their respective parents' basements served as unrestricted practice areas, allowing the lads to explore their sound. Sheldon and Val Espe, and Terry and Ann Haaby, both couples of Roseau, encouraged their sons' newfound creativity. They also maintained patience, while the sounds below evolved from beginners' noise to enjoyable music.

Influential individuals in the community supported them as well. Larry Pladson, Roseau High School's Band Director, mentored Mitch and helped hone his drumming through both band and jazz band. Dean Hedlund, Roseau singer/songwriter, was a particular model to Aaron.

Further encouragement was provided by local churches as they often asked the duo to play "special music" for Sunday morning worship services. During this time, Aaron and Mitchell's youth pastor, then Nate Johnson, challenged them to let their gifts of music be a tool used by God. Consequently, because of their passion for music and God, Aaron and Mitchell devoted themselves to leading music within the church throughout their high school years.

Blood drive set for Dec. 22 at Seven Clans

A blood drive is scheduled Thursday, Dec. 22 at Seven Clans Casino in Thief River Falls. It will be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Mi-Gii-Zi room at the casino.

Blood donors are often in shorter supply at this time of year for two reasons: People who normally might volunteer to give blood become busy and forget to donate; and businesses are reluctant to sponsor blood drives at this time because their employees are busier than usual.

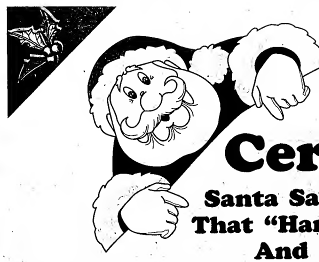
Donating blood takes about one hour. First, the donor will be asked some medical history questions to help assure patient and donor safety. Next, the pulse, temperature, blood pressure and blood iron level will be checked. The actual donation takes about 10 minutes, and then the donor will be treated to refreshments.

To donate at the Seven Clans blood drive, call Bud Beaulieu at (218) 681-4062 ext. 6119.

Kiwanis Club to meet Dec. 20

The Kiwanis Club meets every Tuesday at 6:30 a.m. at the Best Western's Meeting Room A (by the pool). The program for Dec. 20 will feature Pastor Joe Karow of the New Life Assemblies of God Church.

Service learning brings pioneer stories to NCTC-EGF



About 40 students from two composition classes at the East Grand Forks campus of Northland Community and Technical College recently interviewed older people about their life experiences. Two local residents, Travis Anderson of Newfolden and Kayla Chaput of Hallock, participated in the service learning project. They interviewed their grandmothers.

As part of the project, the students were required to interview a person age 65 or older, and write an essay based on the interview. The 750-word essay also had to include at least three or four direct quotes from their interviewees. The composition classes are taught by Kristina Gray.

NCTC staff and students ring bells for Salvation Army

Several staff members and students from Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) volunteered to ring bells Dec. 8 for the Thief River Falls chapter of the Salvation Army.

Those who volunteered a couple of hours of their time included staff members Jim and Jan Strandlie, Lynn McGlynn and Susie Dowers, and students Nichole Amundson, Connie Kopenhaver, Tara Nelson, Erin Skogstad and Joanna Von Ende. They were stationed at Pamida.

Special awards presented during the 2005 Thief River Falls girls high school swim team banquet went to, from left, Kailey Bakken, most improved high school swimmer; Corissa Kruse, hardest worker; Mariah Steenerson, Rookie of the Year; Allyson Helling, most versatile; and Gracie Daniels, most improved middle school swimmer.

Awards presented to swimmers

Team awards were presented during the Dec. 11 Thief River Falls girls high school swim team banquet that wrapped up the Prowlers' 2005 season.

Special recognition went to Allyson Helling, most versatile; Corissa Kruse, hardest worker; Kailey Bakken, most improved high school swimmer; Gracie Daniels, most improved middle school swimmer; and Mariah Steenerson, Rookie of the Year.

Helling, Katie Pribula and Casey Engelstad were honored as 2005 captains. April Peterson and Ashley Meunier were named 2006 captains.

Peterson and Helling were both Minnesota State High School League Class A state meet qualifiers this fall.

The Prowlers won the Section 8A True Team meet for the second straight year and took the North Border Conference meet title. They also won invitationals at Fosston and Grand Rapids while finishing 5-2 in dual meet competition.

"The season went very well," said Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott. "The girls had several great meets and more outstanding swims than I can name. They were by far the closest team I have ever coached, and it was reflected in the success that they had as a team."

Seniors on the 2005 Thief River Falls roster included Stephanie Liden, Danielle Meunier, Engelstad, Helling and Pribula.

"While we are losing five dedicated seniors, we will return 17 middle school swimmers and 12 high school swimmers," pointed out Knott, who was named Section 8A Coach of the Year for the second straight season. "We are already looking forward to next season, with many of the girls already starting to swim again in January."

Captains of the 2005 Prowlers were honored during the Thief River Falls girls swim team banquet. The trio included, from left, Allyson Helling, Casey Engelstad and Katie Pribula.

One-sided games in Holiday Basketball Tournament...

First round at NCTC blow-out

Average margin of victory was 26.5 points Tuesday in the first round of the 15th annual Boys Holiday Basketball Tournament at Northland Community and Technical College.

Fertile-Beltrami was a 51-44 winner over Kittson County North in a competitive Lower Bracket match-up to open the evening quarterfinal session, but that was followed by a 43-point, 74-31 Grygla-Gatzke drubbing of Goodridge.

In the afternoon, Stephen-Argyle breezed to a 30-point, 54-24 Game 1 conquest of Tri-County and Badger/Greenbush-Middle put together a 26-point, 81-55 victory over Red Lake County Central.

After a Wednesday break, the tournament resumed with Thursday semifinals and Friday finals.

Nevin Lubarski scored 12 points and Jesse Sundby had 11 to lead a balanced Stephen-Argyle attack in the tournament opener against Tri-County. Nolan Berg scored 10 points for the Wildcats, who found themselves trailing 29-14 at halftime.

Four Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scorers reached double figures in the Game 2 win over Red Lake County Central. Jakob Heggedal scored 19 points, Adam Telander 16, Zach Creviston 15 and Nothon Thompson 11 for the Gators, who had a 39-23 halftime advantage. Kyle Vettleson and Joel Goulet led the Mustangs with 19 and 17 points, respectively.

Eight second half points by Kolby Gullickson helped secure the Fertile-Beltrami victory over Kittson County North. Jordan Cote led the Falcons with 10 points, while Gullickson, Taylor Sannes and Dustin Hasbrouck each netted eight. The Cougars, who trailed just 26-24 at intermission, got a game-high 18 points from Jake Sele.

Grygla-Gatzke, after beating Goodridge 87-37 in a regularly-scheduled game four days earlier, duplicated the results in the quick tournament rematch. It was 39-8 at halftime. Thirteen Eagles put their names in the scoring column, led by Tomas Loberg with 20 points and Tim Polansky with 10. Nick Mickelson had an 11-point game for the Huskies.

Warroad girls end TRF hockey win streak, 7-0

A hat trick by Holly Roberts and two goals apiece by Brianne Mosher and Chelsea Krahn carried Warroad past visiting Thief River Falls 7-0 in Tuesday girls high school hockey.

The loss snapped a four-game win streak for the Prowlers, leveling their record at 5-5. The four Thief River Falls wins all came at the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

Warroad led 4-0 after one period and completed the scoring in the second period.

Scoring

First period - Warroad, Holly Roberts (Brianna Mosher), 11:18, Warroad, Chelsea Krahn (Brooke Story, Chelsey Brodeen), 12:42; Warroad, Mosher (Sam Scheving, Billye Nelson), 15:32; Warroad, Mosher (Roberts, Scheving), 16:03.

Second period - Warroad, Krahn (Story, Sam Reinert), 10:10, Warroad, Roberts (Brianna Goulet), 12:47, Warroad, Roberts, 14:30

Third period - no scoring.

Goalie saves - TRF, Brandi Hermanson 10-9-10-29. Warroad, Morgan Pieper 0-5-3-8.

Bemidji swimmers swamp TRF

Bemidji won nine of the 11 events Tuesday en route to a one-sided 150-50 win over Thief River Falls in boys high school swimming.

It was the home opener and first dual of the 2005-06 season for the Prowlers, who began the year at the Dec. 10 Otter Invitational in Fergus Falls.

First place Thief River Falls swims against Bemidji came from senior Cole Bylander with a 2:30.66 in the 200-yard individual medley and from a 200 freestyle relay team featuring junior Ben Carlson, sophomore Brian Kays, Bylander and freshman Cody Reese. They combined on a 1:48.29.

Seven schools and over 130 swimmers were on hand for the Otter Invitational. The host Otters edged Fargo South for team honors, 502.5 to 501. Detroit Lakes was a distant third with 246 points, followed by Park Rapids Area 222.5, Perham 125, Minnewaska Area/Chokio-Alberta/Morris Area 70 and Thief River Falls 69.

Individual results were not made available.

Pioneers win with defense

Defense ruled Tuesday as the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team beat the Concordia College junior varsity 54-51 in Moorhead.

The 5-6 Pioneers will take a three-game win streak into the holiday break. They will be idle until the Jan. 6-7 Min-Dak Invitational hosted by Minot State University-Bottineau.

Cyrin Shaffer scored 14 points and Jawaun Bowman had 12 for the Pioneers in a make-up game that was originally scheduled Nov. 28 in Thief River Falls.

It wasn't a classic, admitted Northland coach Rick Nikunen, whose team trailed 37-31 at halftime. "We played in a very disinterested way, especially on offense," he explained. "It was a make-up game, it was against a JV team, and it was on the road. We played good defense, but we were just not very enthusiastic on the offensive end."

Adding to the Pioneers' modest point total were Nick Ricks and Keith Brown with 8 points each, Justin Mann 6, Keaton Ousley 3 and Brandon Fontes 3. Concordia scoring was not made available.

Northland shot 40 percent from the field (23/58) and struggled through a 6-for-18 free throw night. Concordia shot 42 percent from the floor (22/53) and went 6-for-8 at the line. Mann grabbed a dozen rebounds as the Pioneers beat the Cobbers on the boards 36-34. Concordia had 17 of the game's 26 turnovers.

Wolfpack beats MCC

A veteran Kittson Central squad beat an inexperienced Marshall County Central team 85-58 Tuesday in boys high school basketball at Kennedy.

While the Wolfpack feature a cast of familiar players who are expected to be post-season contenders this winter, the defending Section 8A champion Nordics are in a rebuilding mode following heavy graduation losses.

Joel Schwenzfeier (22) and Austin Bogestad (21) combined for 43 points, while Ernie Ayala scored 14 and Jeremy Hauert 13 for the winners, who led 38-28 at halftime.

"I was pleased with how the kids battled," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "We fell behind early, but fought back. They (Wolfpack) are considered one of the top teams for a reason, but our kids never gave up. The last five players we had on the floor at the end were working just as hard as our starters at the beginning of the game."

Evan Maki scored 18 points, Kyle Klasen 17 and Nick Haven 12 for the Nordics.

Marshall County Central shot 38 percent from the floor (23/60); Kittson Central shot 55 percent (33/60). Both sides missed 10 free throws, with the Nordics going 8-for-18 and the Wolfpack finishing 13-for-23 at the line. Kittson Central had a 35-34 rebound edge. Marshall County Central had twice as many turnovers, 20-10.

The loss put the Nordics at 1-1.

Cold-shooting Mustangs fall prey to Bears, 46-39

A 25 percent 11-for-44 shooting performance sealed Red Lake County Central's fate Tuesday in a 46-39 girls high school basketball loss to host Clearbrook-Gonvick.

It was just the second setback in six starts for the Mustangs, who trailed 29-20 at halftime.

"Not a very good performance on our part," confessed Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "We didn't come ready to play."

Heidi Kjolhaug of the Bears led all scorers with 21 points. Brittany Gustafson's 12 points was high for the Mustangs.

Clearbrook-Gonvick shot 43 percent from the field (18/42). The Bears went 4-for-8 at the free throw line, where the Mustangs were 13-for-18. Clearbrook-Gonvick finished with a 33-28 rebound advantage; Red Lake County Central topped the turnover charts, 27-18.

Northern Freeze 69-53 winner vs. Wolverines

Northern Freeze built a 12-point halftime lead and finished with a 16-point, 69-53 win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke in a Monday girls high school basketball game played at Grygla.

Chelsea Boen scored 19 points, while Alycia Dahl and Andrea Maki both netted 13 for the winners, who led 38-26 at the break.

The Wolverines were led by Alisha Verbout with 14 points and Justyn Larson with 10.

"We tried to pick up the tempo with a smaller line-up," explained Wolverines assistant coach Brent Philipp. "We went with a 2-2-1 press that we thought might force some turnovers. I think that will work, but we've got to fine-tune it."

This time the visitors handled the pressure defense, then used their height advantage to control the boards as they improved to 5-1. The Wolverines fell to 1-5.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was 22-for-49 from the field (45 percent) and 9-for-15 at the free free throw line, where Northern Freeze went 14-for-28. While the Wolverines managed to cut their early-season turnover figure in half, they still topped that category, 19-15.

NCTC students participate in project with Valley Home

Marcia Sandahl's office procedures class chose to help Valley Home residents write Christmas letters and address envelopes for the class' academic service learning project.

Students first visited with the residents who decided they wanted to write letters. Students then used the skills they learned in office procedures to correctly format the letters. After doing so, the students took the letters back to the residents to show them what they had done and to make any adjustments. Once finalized, the letters were printed and delivered to each resident who participated in the project at the Thief River Falls facility.

Participating in the project were students Penny Efta, Thief River Falls; Nicki Amundson, Thief River Falls; Erin Skogstad, Warroad; Tara Nelson, Thief River Falls; Gayle Gregory, Big Stone City, S.D.; Angel Jones, Fosston; Julie Hinch, Oklee; Joanna Von Ende, Roseau; and Lisa Moschner, Warroad.

They used word processing, teamwork, human relations, decision-making, and conflict resolution skills in completing the project. "It's an excellent feeling to see someone else's face when you give the gift of love and care," one student said.

Through academic service learning, students use the skills they have learned and developed in the classroom by participating in organized service experiences that meet community needs.

Northland Community and Technical College students in Marcia Sendel's office procedures class recently helped Valley Home residents write Christmas letters and address envelopes for an academic service learning project. Project participants included (front row) Angel Jones, Fosston; Julie Hinch, Oklee; Joanne Von Ende, Roseau; and Lise Moschner, Warroad; (back row) Marcie Sandahl, office procedures instructor; Penny Efte, Thief River Falls; Nicki Amundson, Thief River Falls; Erin Skogsted, Warroad; Tara Nelson, Thief River Falls; and Gayle Gregory, Big Stone City, S.D. Governor Pawlenty congratulates Hennepin County District Court Judge Lorie Gildea on her appointment to the open associate justice position on the Minnesota Supreme Court. Also present at the announcement in the Capitol Supreme Court chambers were retiring Minnesota Supreme Court Justice Kathleen A. Blatz (left), and Minnesota Supreme Court Associate Justice Russell A. Anderson (third from right), whom the governor named as new chief justice, and Kevin Ross (far right), whom the governor appointed to the Minnesota Court of Appeals, Thursday, Dec. 15. Advocate General's Corps of the U.S. Navy. He acted as prosecutor and defense attorney for general and lesser courts-martial, as military judge for special and summary court-martial, and as civil and criminal staff attorney in the Office of Judge Advocate General in Washington, D.C.

Anderson earned a Master of Laws degree from George Washington University in 1977, his Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Minnesota in 1968, and his Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Olaf College in 1964.

Anderson has been a leader in a variety of posts, including chief judge of the Ninth Judicial District and vice chairperson of the Conference of Chief Judges. He also served as a member of his school district's education foundation, president of his church council, and member of the Lions Club and American Legion.

Anderson, 63, was born in Bemidji. He and his wife, Kristin, have three adult children.

Gildea appointed as associate judge

Gildea was appointed to the open associate justice position on the Minnesota Supreme Court. She was appointed to serve as a Hennepin County District Court judge by Pawlenty in September 2005. Previously, she served as an assistant Hennepin County attorney since 2004.

"Judge Gildea has the intellect and common sense to serve our state with excellence," said Pawlenty. "In her previous posts, she has handled difficult and sensitive cases with professionalism and fairness. She will be an excellent addition to our Supreme Court."

Gildea was associate general counsel for the University of Minnesota from 1993 to 2004, and an associate attorney with the law firm of Arent Fox in Washington, D.C., from 1986 to 1993. Gildea earned her Juris Doctorate degree magna cum laude from Georgetown University Law Center in Washington, D.C., in 1986 and Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Minnesota, Morris in 1983. While in law school, Gildea achieved high academic honors, including election to the Order of the Coif. She also served as an editor of the American Criminal Law Review.

Gildea is a member of the Minnesota State Bar Association and serves on its Council, Assembly, and Civil Litigation Section Governing Council. She had been a member of its Diversity Committee. Gildea is also a member of the Hennepin County Bar Association and served on its Board of Directors. She has been a member of the Minnesota Sentencing Guidelines Commission, MINNCOR Industries Advisory Board, and the YWCA of Minneapolis Board of Directors.

Gildea, 44, resides in Minneapolis with her husband, Andrew.

new $23.7 million jail complex that is intended to serve the three counties. The new facility will also include a $6.2 million justice center that will provide additional offices and courtroom space.

If the same working agreement continues between the three counties, Red Lake County will be required to contribute 5 percent of the construction cost and regular operating expenses. Respectively, Polk and Norman counties cover 85 and 10 percent of the current facilities cost of operation. The new facility is expected to open in 2008.

Civil lawsuit dismissed, but area man still faces criminal trial

responsible for overseeing compliance is the Ministry of Mines, and they have maintained until this day that NMR has and is in compliance with all regulations and holds all the proper permits," Ness added.

The civil lawsuit also alleged that NMR's mine damaged the environment by disposing leftover, crushed rock at the bottom of the ocean via a pipe. The parts of the civil lawsuit regarding environmental damage were largely based on the Integrated Team Report, Ness noted. The Integrated Team included such people as government officials, Newmont employees, and academic and scientific experts in the fields of health and environmental science. That group then reported its findings to the Ministry of Environment in fall 2004.

"When the team issued the report, a significant number of the scientists and other members on the team either wouldn't sign the report or filed dissenting opinions, stating that the report did not represent accurate science and should be discounted," said Ness. "Of course, Newmont also filed a statement dissenting from the findings of the Integrated Team."

The report was later reviewed by an independent scientific panel, which was requested by Newmont. The panel determined the report was "a poor work of scientific research with significant errors in analysis," Ness said.

Scientists, experts and academics also reviewed the report at a spring 2005 symposium about the case. They found the environment was safe and unharmed by NMR's mining operations, Ness said.

Even though the civil lawsuit has been dismissed, the dispute hasn't been settled. "In the meantime, we are in negotiations with the government to resolve the dispute amicably," said Ness. "Amicable to us means we can discuss extending social development programs and environmental monitoring to assure and answer any concerns of villagers, but we didn't pollute Buyat Bay or cause any harm to health, and that is non-negotiable on our part."

The criminal case

NMR has also been charged criminally. Ness was indicted in the criminal case as well, but the indictment didn't note whether his actions or inactions led to pollution at the bay, a company attorney said earlier this year. Even though the civil lawsuit alleged the same crimes as the criminal case, the civil case has no bearing on the ongoing criminal trial.

Ness, who began working in Indonesia in 1979, hasn't been jailed in connection with the case. The maximum penalty for the offense is 10 years in prison and a $68,000 fine, according to media reports. Five other NMR employees were jailed for more than a month in connection with the case. They were later released.

Ness and NMR's criminal trial began in August. The prosecution is still presenting its case. The villagers couldn't describe their illnesses, Ness said. He added that the doctor who filed the original complaint with police noted laboratory tests and complete medical examinations weren't conducted on those villagers.

The defense expects to present its side of the case in late February or early March, Ness said. He expects the trial could extend into summer. In Indonesia, trials are usually held two days a week. Ness' trial is held one day a week as it is being held at the Governor's Office Complex, when the governor isn't working. The trial was moved there for security reasons.

Ness' family remains supportive of him. "...I am blessed with just about as supportive a family as a man could ask for," said Ness. "My son who goes to school in Washington, D.C., has been knocking on the doors of the Senate, House of Representatives and the State Department in an effort to ensure a level playing field in the legal process. The senators from Minnesota have been actively watching the case."

His wife, Nova, has traveled six to eight hours round-trip each week to attend Ness' trial. Ness couldn't ask for a stronger supporter, he said.

"Of course, it has been hard on my wife and children as it is the unknowns that make them concerned," added Ness. "However, they are all confident that I have not done anything wrong and in the end truth will prevail."

Comstock submits resignation letter

the vacancy occurs. The special primary or special election may be held on the same day as a regular primary or regular election but the special election shall be held not less than 14 days after the special primary. The person elected at the special election shall take office immediately after receipt of the certificate of election and upon filing the bond and taking the oath of office and shall serve the remainder of the unexpired term."

Pennington County Auditor Ken Olson said all regular election laws will apply as applicable. He said the time period reserved for filing candidacy, which is two weeks for regular elections, has not yet been determined. Olson said the special primary and special election will likely be held at each of the fourth district's regular polling sites, the National Guard Armory and the Engelstad Park shelter.

Comstock was elected to the position of fourth district county commissioner by voters in 1992. He has been re-elected four times, serving Pennington County since January 1993. Comstock's current term expires Dec. 31, 2006.

Local Guard returns home for holidays

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

There won't be any empty chairs this Christmas at local National Guard families' celebrations. Their loved ones have been training stateside for a 2006 deployment to Iraq, but they returned Thursday to celebrate the holidays with their families.

"They won't be home for Christmas next year, so it's nice they're able to be home for one," said Cassie Wilson whose husband, Nick, is among the deployed soldiers.

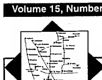
After Spc. Nick Wilson arrived at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls, the Newfolden resident and his wife planned to do something that might seem mundane to other local residents. "We're going to my bowling league," said Cassie Wilson, who noted she couldn't sleep the night before her husband got home.

Approximately 45 soldiers from Company B Detachment, 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion in Thief River Falls returned home Thursday for the holidays. Some returned by bus and others by plane. The National Guard members are on what is expected to be an 18-month deployment, their unit's second deployment in the past two years. Last time, the unit spent about seven months in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Some other members of the unit were deployed at that time in Kosovo.

For the latest deployment, the unit left Thief River Falls on Oct. 4. It has been training in Camp Shelby, Miss., since that time. After the 10-day holiday break, training will resume in Mississippi. It is expected the unit will leave for Iraq sometime next spring after training is completed.

In the meantime, the Guard members will spend time with their families and friends. For some, like Spc. Gibby Troutvet of Thief River Falls, that means snowmobiling and ice fishing.

For Spc. Nick Woinarowicz, that means spending time with his wife, Amanda. The Newfolden residents were married in July. Once she found out her husband was coming home for 10 days, Amanda Woinarowicz took those days off of work. Her husband noted he had "no set plans" about what he was doing while he was home. According to his wife, he will be able to enjoy a home that is cleaner than it has been in the past.



Even though the soldiers were training in the U.S. and the soldiers were able to contact their families, their family members still suffered from anxiety. Some, like Amanda Woinarowicz, Cassie Wilson and two other Guard wives, gathered together to talk once a week.

For most of the families, there were more than empty chairs at their

City OKs levy

Warren - Meeting Thursday in a brief wrap-up session for the Truth in Taxation process, the Warren City Council approved setting the city property tax levy increase for 2006 at 4 percent. This will be a $10,000 increase in the city tax levy for next year, to $260,000.

Last Tuesday, the council held the city Truth in Taxation hearing, at which no member of the public appeared, followed by a regular council meeting. At that meeting, a 2006 budget was approved, with expected revenues exceeding planned expenses by $291,960. Revenues and transfers for next year citywide total $5,598,910 while expenditures are pegged at $5,306,950.

For the city general fund, receipts of $782,970 are budgeted. To this is added funds transferred from the city electric and gas utilities, which are planned to be $143,000, giving a total of revenues and transfers of $925,970.

General fund expenditures are budgeted at $716,520 for next year, leaving a balance of $209,450. Capital projects totaling $144,000 are budgeted to be funded out of the general fund, leaving an increase in the balance for this fund of $65,450 by the end of 2006. - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 21, 2005

Three times the fun for TerWee triplets

Kittson County - It was a baby boom, so to speak, for Justin and Alaina TerWee.

On Oct. 14, they counted not just 10 little fingers and toes, but 30 of each, three pairs of eyes and three heads of hair.

The miniature baby boom is good for Kittson County's dwindling population, which needs a few sets of triplets every once in a while to fill the schools and neighborhoods.

When Alaina was eight weeks into her pregnancy, she went in for a routine exam, and the doctor noticed she was quite a bit larger than her last appointment. An ultrasound showed multiple sacs – three to be exact.

"It took me half an hour to reach Justin on the phone, and all the way home from my doctor's appointment, I called people on my cell phone," Alaina remembered.

She quit her job at a hair salon June 1 and moved to Grand Forks, N.D., Labor Day weekend. From then on, she was on strict bed rest. She went into the hospital Oct. 10 due to preeclampsia and delivered the babies Oct. 14.

Simon weighed 4 pounds, 2 ounces; Elsa weighed 3 pounds, 14 ounces; and Oliver weighed 2 pounds, 11 ounces.

Simon and Elsa were released from the newborn intensive care unit at 1-month-old. Oliver came home a week later. - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 21, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Victor Matson is 101 years and counting...

Fosston - Victor Matson celebrated his 101st birthday Dec. 8 with his friends at Prairie Pines Community in Fosston. He and his wife, Clara, who will turn 100 in June and who lives with him at Prairie, are just as perky as ever.

"We are thankful the Lord has kept us able so far, and he will guide us the rest of the way with mercy and care. He is in charge of everything, and if we continue to trust in him, he will be there for us," they both agreed. - submitted article to The Thirteen Towns of Fosston, Dec. 20, 2005

Finalists named for 9th District judge seat

Gov. Tim Pawlenty announced Thursday that he has accepted the recommendations of the Commission on Judicial Selection (CJS) for two trial court bench vacancies in the Ninth Judicial District.

The finalists for the two positions are Michael L. Jorgenson of Thief River Falls, Philip K. Miller of Williams, Jeffrey S. Remick of Crookston, Alan G. Rogalla of Thief River Falls and Tamara L. Yon of Crookston.

The first bench vacancy occurred with the Nov. 7 retirement of the Honorable Dennis J. Murphy. Murphy, who was chambered in Thief River Falls, was succeeded by the Honorable Kurt Marben, who was chambered in Crookston. The second vacancy will occur with the Jan. 31 retirement of the Honorable John M. Roue. The Supreme Court certified the chambers of both of these positions for the city of Crookston.

Jorgenson is an attorney and president of the Charlson and Jorgenson law firm in Thief River Falls. He has been president of the firm since 2000. Jorgenson was an attorney and partner with the law firm's predecessor, Charlson, Marben and Jorgenson from 1990 to 2000, and an associate attorney with that firm's predecessor, Charlson and Marben from 1987 to 1990. Jorgenson earned his juris doctorate degree cum laude from the University of Minnesota Law School in 1987, and his bachelor of arts degree from North Dakota State University in Fargo in 1984.

Miller is the Lake of the Woods County attorney in Baudette, a position he has held since December 1997. He was an assistant Lake of the Woods County attorney from September through November 1997.

Wrapping Up Christmas

Members of the Lincoln High School Student Senate donated and wrapped Christmas gifts Tuesday for Christmas for Pennington County, an annual program that provides gifts to less fortunate kids in the county. This year, 345 kids received gifts through the program, which is sponsored by the Pennington County Sheriff's Department. The gifts were wrapped in the basement of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center in Thief River Falls.

Making Christmas a little brighter

by April Schelnoha

Armed with money from their piggy bank late Monday afternoon, Aaron and Daniel Hustad walked into the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center (LEC) in Thief River Falls. For most kids, money practically burns holes in their pockets before it is spent on toys or other items. In the boys' case, the money was being spent on something else – Christmas gifts for less fortunate kids.

"We're going to do it every year," said 6-year-old Daniel, a Thief River Falls resident.

Daniel and his 8-year-old brother Aaron donated a total of $30 to Christmas for Pennington County (CPC), an annual countywide program that distributes Christmas gifts to children who might not otherwise receive them. Through the program, ornaments are placed on angel trees at several Thief River Falls businesses. This year, 345 kids received gifts. Their Christmas was made brighter with donations from people like Aaron and Daniel, who were among many who donated money, gifts, wrapping paper and/or time to CPC.

The boys had seen a CPC tree at Kmart, and their dad, Jim, recently read about the program in The Times.

"I just asked the boys if that was something they'd be interested in contributing to," Jim said.

Once they heard about the program, the boys were ready to help. It was a moment for them to "pay it forward," meaning Jim and the boys did a good deed for someone else because someone did a good deed for them. For Christmas this year, the family received an anonymous donation from someone at Trinity

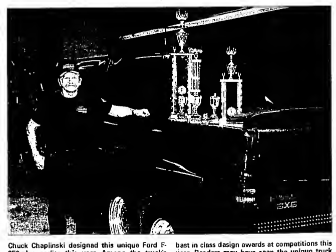
TB found in deer harvested in Roseau County

State officials announced Wednesday that a deer harvested in Roseau County during the 2005 hunting season is presumptive positive for bovine tuberculosis (TB). Confirmatory tests will be completed over the next few weeks. The Minnesota Board of Animal Health (BAH) is preparing to increase surveillance and testing in surrounding cattle operations should TB be confirmed in the deer.

BAH is working with other state and federal agencies to develop a coordinated response plan. BAH's portion of the plan will include:

- Enhancement of statewide surveillance and testing;
- Recertifying Minnesota veterinarians to conduct bovine TB testing;
- Providing information on bovine TB to the public; and
- Expediting the establishment of the National Animal Identification System in Minnesota.



"If TB is confirmed in free ranging deer it's going to take additional work to eradicate bovine TB from the state," said Dr. Bill Hartmann, Minnesota BAH executive director and state veterinarian. "The cattle industry is vital to the livelihood of our state, so we're committed to making sure it stays and the disease goes."

To date, 43 herds have been quarantined as a result of the state's bovine TB investigation. Thirty-six of these operations have been removed from quarantine as testing showed no infection in the herd. Three quarantined herds are in the process of being tested.

BAH, along with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is

How many reindeer are under the hood?

Chuck Chaplinski designed this unique Ford F-350-plus earlier this year. Among the truck's many features is its six by six 10-wheel drive capability, which led to best engineering and best in class design awards at competitions this year. Readers may have seen the unique truck during this year's Goose Fest Parade.

Creating a 10-wheel truck

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Chuck Chaplinski, Middle River, gained national recognition in 1999, when he built his first double dually (10-wheel) six-by-six truck. Chaplinski's truck was made from a stock Ford F-350 Quad Cab diesel, but there was nothing stock about the end result, which won awards for engineering and was featured in Motor Trend's "Truck Trend" magazine. Later, in 2003 and again this year, Chaplinski took a stock F-350 and customized it into a unique 10-wheel truck.

Chaplinski calls his unique creation an F-350-plus, because of its many unique features. Those unique additions start with the F-350-plus logo, which was cut from stainless steel. Other upgrades include a Banks Power System that boosted the truck's horsepower from 325 to 450; a hydraulic powered truck box that can be raised and lowered for maintenance purposes; and running boards that double as part of the vehicle's 75-gallon fuel tank.

Chaplinski also designed and fabricated the rear frame and truck box. He customized many of the truck's interior features, which include a built in torque meter, a load scale, which takes a weight reading from the truck's hitch and displays it in the vehicles cab; and a multi-use television set, that along with typical television capabilities, can be connected to infrared cameras that monitor the vehicles performance.

The truck uses stock tires that are accented with free-floating Ford emblems. Even the truck's box is equipped with some specialty features like an air compressor that powers the truck's air suspension, a fifth wheel for towing and an additional fuel tank.

Most of today's recipes will taste really good at a New Year party - or one of those get-togethers that are held between Christmas and the New Year. Enjoy.

This delicious dish can be a great appetizer, served with a beverage, or make a brunch special:

BROCCOLI QUICHE

15 ounce package ready pie crusts
1 teaspoon flour
Filling:
4 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup half and half
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon thyme
9 ounce package frozen cut broccoli, thawed and well drained
3/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese
3/4 cup shredded Monterey jack cheese

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Prepare pie crust according to package directions for filled one-crust pie. Refrigerate remaining dough.

For filling, combine eggs, half and half, onion, salt and set aside. Layer broccoli and cheeses in pie crust lined pan. Pour egg mixture over and bake at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes and cut into wedges to serve. Serves 6-8.

Nutritional Info: One/eighth of the quiche has 420 calories, 12 g protein, 28 g carb, 29 g fat, 660 mg sodium, 195 mg potassium.

Here's one delicious dip for your next little party:

SHRIMP CURRY DIP

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
10 ounce can condensed cream of shrimp soup
3/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup frozen tiny shrimp, thawed and drained (or one 4 1/2 ounce shrimp, canned and drained)
1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder

In medium skillet, melt butter. Sauté onion, then stir in remaining ingredients. Heat through. Refrigerate several hours to blend flavors. Before serving, heat through but do not boil. Serve hot with assorted crackers or breads. Makes 3 cups.

Have this one on hand for unexpected guests or for a snack while watching TV:

CHEESE AND BACON LOG

8 ounce package cream cheese, room temperature
8 ounces (2 cups) shredded cheddar cheese
12 slices bacon, cooked crisp and crumbled
1/4 cup chopped nuts

In large bowl, combine cream cheese and cheddar. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed until blended. Reserve 1/4 cup bacon bits for coating and stir in remaining bacon. Cover and chill mixture 1 hour or until firm.

Combine reserved bacon and nuts. Spread evenly on sheet of waxed paper.

Form cheese mixture into log and roll in bacon mixture. Cover and chill several hours to blend flavors. Serve with crackers or thinly sliced breads.

A tasty drink for the whole family:

SPICED PUNCH

6 ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
6 ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
6 ounce can frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
10 cups water
6 whole cloves
2 cinnamon sticks

In 4 quart saucepan, combine all ingredients. Simmer over low heat 30 minutes. Remove cloves and cinnamon and serve hot. Makes 24 1/2 cup servings.

I have a lot of cashews, and I think I will try this one this year - peanuts would be good, too:

CASHEW CARAMEL BARS

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped salted cashews (or peanuts)

Topping

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/3 cup chopped salted cashews (or peanuts)
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons half and half

Heat oven to 350 degrees and grease 9 inch square pan.

In large bowl, combine sugar, 1/2 cup brown sugar and eggs, mixing well. Stir in flour, baking powder, salt and 1/2 cup cashews. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until light golden brown.

To make topping, in small saucepan, melt butter. Remove from heat and add remaining topping ingredients, mixing well. Spread hot bars with topping and broil about 12 inches away from heat for 1-2 minutes until bubbly and golden. Cool and then cut. Makes 24 bars.

Cut these bars small for a tasty bite of sweetness after snacking:

TOFFEE AND FUDGE BARS

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 (1.05 ounce) chocolate-covered toffee candy bars, coarsely crushed (or 2 cups toffee bits)
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

In large bowl, combine butter, sugar, egg and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add flour, cocoa, baking powder, soda and salt to butter mixture. Blend at low speed until dough forms, about 1 minute. Dough will be stiff. Pour in half of the crushed toffee bars and nuts. Pat into ungreased 9 inch square pan and sprinkle with remaining candy. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 minutes until center is set. Cool completely before cutting. Makes 25 bars.

Roseau hosts Christmas bird count

The 17th Annual Roseau Christmas Bird Count has been scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 31. This local count is part of the 106th Audubon Society Annual Christmas Bird Count, which covers the western hemisphere from Alaska to Brazil.

The Roseau Christmas Bird Count will begin at 7 a.m. with an organizational meeting at the Roseau Diner, located at Highway 11 West. The area to be surveyed is a 15-mile diameter circle (approximately 177 square miles) centered on Highway 310, just north of the Roseau County Fairgrounds. This area's geographic and vegetative diversity provides habitat for many bird species.

Interested persons are invited to drive, walk or ski within the Christmas Bird Count area, report local birding "hot spots," or make observations in their own yards and neighborhoods. Participants do not need to be "expert birders" to be part of this important record of bird populations and migratory patterns, which is an indicator of our environment's health.

Birders will regroup at the Roseau Diner for lunch and to warm up. At sunset, birders are invited to the Betty and Bud Johnson home, two miles north of Roseau, for a potluck supper and to tally the day's count.

Anyone seeing birds within the Christmas bird count area on Dec. 31, or anytime with the count week (Dec. 28 through Jan. 3), is asked to call the Johnson home at 463-2181, to report their observations.

Other area Christmas bird counts are scheduled at Crookston; Warren; Grand Forks, N.D.; Baudette; and Beltrami Island between Dec. 14 and Jan. 5. For more information, call the Johnsons.

Local students featured in COMPAS publication

Community Programs in the Arts (COMPAS) is proud to announce the publication of its 28th Annual Writers & Artists in the Schools' anthology of student writing "My Mind Can See in the Night" continues the series' tradition of bringing to the fore some of the most remarkable poems, short stories, memoirs, plays and songs written by students from schools throughout Minnesota.

Area students whose work is included in the publication are Logan England of Tri County, and Melanie Dial, Vanessa Garcia and Brittney Skoien of Roseau High School.

Edited by Sara Fox (with illustrations by Marie Olofsdotter), "My Mind Can See in the Night," features fresh, exciting work from each of the nearly 100 Minnesota schools to host a COMPAS writer-in-residence during the 2004-05 school year.

Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

"It was quite shocking to me actually. I wasn't expecting anything this year, and I don't have any family in the area," said Jim, who grew up in this area. Along with his sons, he moved to Thief River Falls from Seattle in January.

In their effort to "pay it forward," the boys allowed their dad to empty their piggy bank. They usually save the money they get from their dad as well as the money they've found, Jim said. Sometimes they use their money on toys, Daniel said. Or at a water park, Aaron said. Based on their ages and the denominations of the bills in the piggy bank, Aaron donated $20 to CPC and Daniel donated $10.

They may not be earning allowances yet, but this wasn't Aaron and Daniel's first venture into charity work. With their cousins, they operated a lemonade stand in Seattle to raise money for tsunami victims.

Their tradition of giving continues with their donations to CPC. Their donations surprised Wendy Mattson, who coordinates the program for the Pennington County Sheriff's Department. "All the years, I've never had anything like that happen," said Wendy, who has been coordinating the program for more than 15 years.

When Wendy heard about the donation, she was organizing and wrapping some of the Christmas gifts in the LEC basement or, as Wendy calls it, Santa's workshop. Deciding she had to meet the kids, she went upstairs to personally thank them. Wendy and co-worker Maria Srnsky, both teary-eyed, accepted the donations from the boys. Then Wendy and Maria took the boys, with their father in tow, downstairs to see how the money would be used.

The Challenger Elementary School students and their dad were surprised by the number of toys for kids served by the program. "I think it was cool," said Daniel, who noted he saw "a thousand toys" in the LEC basement.

"I was surprised," said Jim. "That was incredible."

And many people would probably say that Aaron and Daniel's actions were incredible.

Thief River Falls residents Aaron (left) and Daniel Hustad made Christmas a little brighter for less fortunate kids Monday. Aaron, 8, and Daniel, 6, donated the contents of their piggy bank – $30 – to Christmas for Pennington County. The annual countywide program provides Christmas gifts to less fortunate kids. The brothers plan to give to the program every year.

Dear Communities,

The benefit that was held for Daryl Johnson at The Wheel in Middle River, and was sponsored by the Northcountry Horsemen Saddle Club. Our heartfelt thank you goes out to everyone who organized and participated in the event. We are still overwhelmed by the tremendous response of time, effort, well wishes and money that came from the hearts of friends and the communities.

We wish to thank everyone.

Sign-up underway for Direct and Countercyclical Program

Applications are now being accepted for the 2006 Direct and Countercyclical Program (DCP). The Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds agricultural producers that DCP sign-up is annually required. Historically, a high percentage of Kittson County farms participate in the program, according to that county's FSA office.

Producers participating in DCP qualify to receive payments based on historical crop bases and yields established for each farm, and agree to comply with terms and conditions of the program contract. Kelly Turgeon, Kittson County FSA director, reported that approximately 11 percent of the farms in Kittson County have already signed up.

Kittson County producers who have not yet signed up for 2006 DCP can call the county office at (218) 843-2692, extension 2 to schedule an appointment. Program participants are reminded that FSA must receive copies of 2006 land leases or a cash rent documentation form signed by cash rental landlords prior to contract approval. Landlords who share rent are required to sign the annual DCP contract.

Program participants have the option of requesting a 50 percent advance on the DCP contract's direct payment. If an advance is selected, then the second half of the payment is issued in October. Individuals not electing the advance payment will receive the full 2006 payment in October.

The DCP contains provisions that, in times of depressed commodity markets, USDA issues additional payments titled countercyclical payments. The countercyclical payment is intended to partially offset farm income reductions in times of low market prices. When producers sign-up for DCP, they will be asked if they wish to receive countercyclical advance payments if applicable. Should markets rebound, and the advance countercyclical option was elected and payments were taken, should markets rebound, the advance countercyclical payment would have to be refunded to USDA.

National Guard sponsors essay contest

Students who will be high school juniors or seniors by August 2006 are eligible to participate in the National Guard's Youth Rendezvous Essay Contest. Ten students from each state and territory will be involved in this once-in-a-lifetime experience, and earn an all-expenses-paid trip to North Dakota Aug. 13-18.

Essays should address the following question: "In your opinion, what military value most describes the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery journey and why?" Military values are outlined on the Rendezvous Web site (www.lcyouthrendezvous.com). The essays must be a minimum of 1,000 words, but not more than 1,500 words. Essays can be submitted by mail to Lewis and Clark Rendezvous, P.D. Box 5511, Bismarck, ND 58506, or online via the aforementioned Web site.

The 540 winners will then participate in a weeklong immersion into history in the Bismarck, N.D., area. Through multiple activities and events, selected students will follow the Lewis and Clark trail, experience American Indian culture of yesterday and discover military history first-hand.

NRCS announces EQIP sign-up period

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has announced that $25 million is available to help agricultural producers apply needed conservation practices on land throughout Minnesota. William Hunt, state conservationist for NRCS in Minnesota, announced the sign-up dates for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), which will be held at all USDA Service Centers in Minnesota.

The EQIP sign-up period in Minnesota began Dec. 15. Applications will be scored and ranked on a locally prioritized statewide environmental ranking worksheet. Sign-up for EQIP concludes Jan. 31.

EQIP assists farmers in solving environmental problems. Producers will receive up to a 50 percent cost-share while certified limited resource farmers may receive up to 90 percent to implement conservation practices.

EQIP is a competitive program with the most cost-effective and environmentally beneficial programs selected for funding. To apply for funding, landowners should visit the NRCS offices at the USDA Service Centers for their counties.

"Our focus with EQIP is to help producers with conservation on working agricultural land," said Hunt. "Implementing conservation practices on privately owned working land, which is 70 percent of the land base in this country, is the most effective thing we can do to protect our water quality and the health of our soil."

EQIP also supports abundant wildlife habitat, and productive grasslands and woodlands.

For more information on conservation practices and/or the statewide and county EQIP sign-up, contact the NRCS at the Pennington County USDA Service Center, 201 Sherwood Ave. S., Thief River Falls, or visit the Minnesota NRCS Web site (www.mn.nrcs.usda.gov).

It has been the tradition at The Times and Northern Watch every Christmas to offer a passage from scripture describing the birth of Christ. This year, we take the text of the birth of Christ from The New Oxford Annotated Bible with the Apocrypha

Luke 2; 1-20

In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment, when Quirin'i-us was governor of Syria. And all went to be enrolled, each to his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child. And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered. And she gave birth to her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling cloths, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. And the angel of the Lord appeared to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom he is pleased!"

When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go over to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us." And they went with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they saw it they made known the saying which had been told them concerning this child; and all who heard it wondered at what the shepherds told them. But Mary kept all these things, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

The Night Before Christmas

by Clement Moore

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house not a creature was stirring,
not event a mouse.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, in hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.
The children were nestled all snug in the beds,
while visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads
And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap, had just settled down for a long winter's nap,

When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow gave a luster of mid-day to objects below, when, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
but a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,
with a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St Nick.

More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
and he whistled and shouted, and called them by name,
"Now Dasher, now Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! On, Cupid! On, Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall,
Now, dash away, dash away, dash away all!"

As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
so up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
with a sleigh full of toys - and St. Nicholas too.

And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
the prancing and pawing of each little hoof.

As I drew in my head, and was turning around, down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,
and his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
and he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.

His eyes - how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow, and the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
and the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly, that shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, and I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
and filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk.
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
and giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh,
to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down on a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim,
ere he drove out of the sight,

"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

Put Christ in your Christmas

To the Editor:
'Twas the day after Christmas

'Twas the day after XMAS
And all through the house
There was nobody stirring
No one was about.

They're in bed with a headache
They were out most the night
When the liquor flowed freely
There'd been a big fight

All the ribbons and paper
Still litter the floor.
And the torn tattered Santa suit
Lays by the door.

For the Christ in their Christmas
Was replaced by an X.
When festivities ended
There was nothing much left

'Twas the day after Christmas
In a home down the street
Was a new kind of pleasure
Abiding and sweet.

There are bright eyed wee children.
The parents are gay,
They put Christ in their Christmas
And bid him to stay.

Then each day after Christmas
How happy they feel.
Their dear savior is with them
He's living and real.

For the Christ in their Christmas
Would not fade away
But give peace and contentment
Day after day

Seek and listen to the Word of the Lord

To the Editor:

Amos 8:11-12. Behold, the days come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord. And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North even to the East, they shall run to and fro to seek the Word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

This year it seems these verses are coming to past, with the squelching of the true meaning of Christmas. A newscaster told of one school where children were to sing other words, such as "cold night," to the tune of "Silent Night."

On the television I saw a group in choir robes singing to the tune of "O Holy Night," the words "they knelt down and put puzzles together and other things."

It's sad to hear the Christ of Christmas so denounced. The one who came as a baby and went to suffer on the cross for our sins, if we accept it.

Another sad thing is a store in our town that would not let the Salvation ringers be in where it was warm, so they had to move to SuperOne. My late husband, who served in the armed forces during World War II, said the Salvation Army did the most good.

Jesus said in Matthew 25:40, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Blessed Christmas

A soldier's greeting from Iraq

Donald Larson of Thief River Falls stopped by the office of The Times/Northern Watch on Monday, Dec. 12, and shared with us a Christmas letter he received from his son, Chief Warrant Officer Dan O. Larson, who is serving in Iraq. It puts an interesting spin on Christmas greetings.

Holiday Greetings,

I hope this letter finds you well and enjoying the Holidays. This year has quite a different feel as it relates to Holiday spirit for us. Here is how my guys and I see it:

• Reindeer are much friendlier and better at pulling a sleigh than camels;

• Santa Claus is really going to get hot over here with that hat and heavy clothes he wears;

• We have no place to put the presents - we challenge anyone to find a tree over here.

• There are no chimneys, so how is he going to get into the tent we are in;

• Most of us are no good at shopping, so having no malls, we now have an excuse;

• Sledding down the hill is boring because the sled won't move on the sand,

• We need a bigger power generator if we want to run the Christmas lights;

• We all agree that no matter how hard the mess hall tries, they will never be able to make a Holiday meal like our mothers or wives.

We are doing our best to keep spirits up during the Holidays. So far, we have found the best way is to do what we do each day, which is to continue flying missions and staying as busy as possible. This keeps us from thinking about what we're missing back home.

Chief Warrant Officer Dan O. Larson is the son of Donald Larson and JoAnn Larson of Thief River Falls. He grew up east of Holt and attended school in Newfolden. He has been in the military for 23 years. His current assignment is in Iraq, though he is in charge of fixed-wing aircraft for the Alaska National Guard. He can be reached at CW4 Dan O. Larson, E Co. 207th Aviation, APO AE 09855.

Residents should continue to work for access to WMAs

To the Editor:

It has been four years since I got my dander up and wrote a Letter to the Editor regarding the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) restrictions on travel on ditch dumps and other trails in Wildlife Management Areas (WMA's) in Kittson County. Four years later, it appears that we are at the same place we were then, almost.

There have been some changes:

• On State Ditch 85, the "NO ATV" signs had been removed

• New staff are working in the regional office in Bemidji

• Meetings involving many important officials and local residents have been held.

• There have been many teleconferences.

At the last meeting, it was suggested by the DNR that the townships adopt a Memorandum of Understanding. This agreement would identify a certain trail, road or township road as a trail for use. However, DNR has the last say.

So, who's in control?

Several of us attended a meeting in Roseau regarding an ordinance that the Roseau County attorney has drawn up. This ordinance would allow certain county roads and county state aid highways to be traveled on by ATV's. It is their feeling that for safety purposes, and because of the condition of the road ditches, that it is safer to ride on the edge of the road than in the ditch, and that it'll eliminate damage to the ditches. Beltrami County also has adopted a similar ordinance. Lake of the Woods County is also considering action. The Kittson County Board of Commissioners has approved a resolution requesting the DNR to remove all restrictive signs and submitted it to the Commissioner of DNR - they never even got a response or acknowledgement. Is that good government cooperation?

As for our ATV club and the proposed route our Grant in Aid Trail would take, the proposal has been denied. The proposal would have allowed ATV travel on the ditch dump, high and dry, on the Kittson-Roseau County line. Why close it to ATV travel? Because it travels through the WMA? It makes little sense to restrict ATV travel when cars, pickups, tractors, or semis, can be driven through the WMA. Prohibiting ATVs because someone MIGHT be tempted to ride off of the road and out into the wildlife land and disturb some plant is ridiculous. I am not restricted from hauling a firearm in my pickup, or even walking through a WMA with a firearm out of season. Using their reasoning, this had better be prohibited too because I might be inclined to shoot something.

So, what's going to happen? In my opinion, things are going to warm up.

I hear the same comment about 50 times a week - 'DNR has too much power.' I must agree that they do.

How did they get that power? Through actions and passage of laws by the Minnesota State Legislature. I am not talking about our present legislators, they are very aware of our problem and I thank them for the support.

The WMA area in Kittson County is unique from other WMA's in that it is in excess of 70,000 acres. Many WMA's in the state are very small, only a few hundred acres insize. So, what's the difference? If you are on the outside of a WMA of 160 acres, you are never over one-quarter mile from the center. In the Beeches Lake WMA in Kittson County, the closest you can get to the center without walking is three to four miles. How many people would walk four miles through brush, trees, and difficult terrain to get to the center? I pity the poor soul who has the bad luck to shoot a deer way back there. There are trails - and there have been for 100 years - but we can no longer use them.

During this upcoming election year, voters throughout the northern part of the state should discuss these issues with candidates. See what their stand is and convince them of what stand they should take. Don't sit back and let someone else do it, it won't get done.

I have heard the statement that DNR has eased up and travel by ATV's is now allowed. That is in the Beltrami Island State Forest area only and has absolutely no effect on WMA lands in Kittson County. It took a meeting of a couple thousand people in Warroad to convince the DNR that trails in the Beltrami Forest should remain open to travel by vehicles. Maybe we need to try the same tactics in Kittson County.

Sean Sorteberg of Thief River Falls raced to keep defensive pressure on Bagley guard Brodie Camp in first half boys high school basketball action Tuesday. The Prowlers beat the Flyers 64-51.

Prowlers beat Flyers 64-51

Chris McLean didn't want any of his players talking to Ryan Winkelman during Thief River Falls' Tuesday boys high school basketball game against Bagley. The 6-1 junior guard wasn't being ostracized. He was in a zone, and McLean, the Prowlers' coach, was taking no chances.

In baseball, it's considered bad luck if you talk about a no-hitter in progress. And McLean was using the same thought process when he saw Winkelman nail three 3-pointers in a 3 1/2 minute first half stretch that fueled a 64-51 Thief River Falls home court win.

Winkelman finished with four treys a game-high 19 points as the Prowlers improved to 2-1.

"He (Winkelman) had a good night," confirmed McLean. "I told our kids on the bench not to say anything to him. He was on."

Thief River Falls led from start to finish. Four free throws by Alex Yaggie in the first 1:22 was a preview of things to come as the Prowlers turned 31 free throw opportunities into 22 points.

Winkelman's first 3-pointer made it 7-2. Tyler Jensen scored from underneath, then Winkelman hit back-to-back shots from behind the arch for a 15-4 gap with just 6:08 elapsed.

Thief River Falls carried a 37-28 lead into intermission.

Bagley's Luke Knutson opened the second half with a fast break layup and a free throw to slice the difference to 37-31, but a Winkelman 3-pointer ignited an 18-2 Thief River Falls run that put the game away.

After Knutson's bucket in the first 37 seconds of the second half, the Flyers went ten minutes without a field goal as the score shot to 55-33 following an Adam Rodahl drive with 8:40 remaining.

Yaggie finished with 16 points for the Prowlers, who were 19-for-49 from the field (39 percent), had a 34-30 rebound edge and topped the turnover charts 22-17.

Brandon Coyle and Andrew Lundell led the Flyers with 10-point games. Bagley was 19-for-62 from the floor (31 percent) and 12-for-24 at the line.

"Our defense did the job," said McLean. "I was really pleased with how well we blocked out, and how unselfish we were on offense."

The Prowlers played again without starting point guard Jeremy Sich, sidelined by an ankle injury, and the Flyers wound up with a hole in their backcourt when Brodie Camp left the game after suffering a similar fate.

"When No. 12 (Camp) went down, that obviously helped us," acknowledged McLean. "That's not the way you want to win, but an ankle sprain is an ankle sprain. And maybe that balanced things out since we don't have our little guy (Sich), either."

Panthers rally to defeat TRF girls by 55-50

Park Rapids Area standout Janessa Wolff scored about half as many points as she did in an earlier meeting against Thief River Falls, but the 6-3 junior still finished with 23 and the host Panthers rallied to beat the Prowlers a second time, 55-50, in Tuesday night girls high school basketball.

Down 30-22 at the half, the Panthers didn't overtake the upset-minded Prowlers until the final two minutes of the game.

Wolff had a monster 42-point, 12-rebound contest in the Panthers' 61-47 Dec. 3 win at Thief River Falls. Averaging 27 points and 17 rebounds per game, she had just seven points at halftime and was limited to nine rebounds for the game.

However, the 19 fewer points Wolff got in the rematch was the exact amount scored by Lauren Knuttila – who had just three in the first meeting.

"Our girls worked extremely hard at making sure Janessa Wolff didn't have the game she had against us the first time we played," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We did a great job on her. Heather Keogh and Amanda Hoard did a heck of a job making Janessa work hard for every point she got.

Basketball, hockey holiday events set

■ TRF Russ Smith, REA Classics

Thief River Falls boys basketball and boys hockey teams will fill the week between Christmas and New Year's with plenty of home town action.

On the basketball front, the 23rd annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic will be played at Lincoln High School Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 27, 28 and 29.

Hockey will be featured at the Ralph Engelstad Arena, where the 2005 REA Classic will be staged Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 28, 29 and 30.

The Russ Smith field will include Thief River Falls, Red Lake, Red Lake Falls, Waubun, Kittson Central, Marshall County Central, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and Tri-County.

Varsity basketball games will be played in the LHS main gym, with corresponding junior varsity match-ups taking place in the auxiliary gym.

The nine REA Classic varsity hockey games will match Section 8A Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston against Virginia/Mt. Iron-Buhl and Hermantown from Section 7A and Forest Lake out of Section 7AA.

Minus Virginia/Mt. Iron-Buhl, a five-team junior varsity hockey schedule will feature two games each day at the adjoining Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Russ Smith Holiday Classic

■ Quarterfinals Tuesday Dec. 27 - (Upper Bracket) Red Lake vs. Red Lake Falls, 2:15 p.m.; Waubun vs. Kittson Central, 4 p.m.; (Lower Bracket) Marshall County Central vs. East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, 6 p.m.; Tri County vs. Thief River Falls, 7:45 p.m.

■ Semifinals Wednesday, Dec. 28 - consolation round 2:15 and 4 p.m.; championship round 6 and 7:45 p.m.

■ Finals Thursday Dec. 29 - seventh place, 2:15 p.m.; consolation, 4 p.m.; third place, 6 p.m.; championship, 7:45 p.m.

■ Junior varsity portion of the tournament is not a bracket format. Junior varsity match-ups will duplicate the varsity draw each day, with games at 12:15 p.m., 2 p.m., 4 p.m. and 5:45 p.m.

Boys high school hockey...

TRF wins at Warroad, 3-2

Wins at Warroad have been few and far between for the Thief River Falls boys high school hockey team in recent years. But the Prowlers got one Tuesday when they beat the defending Class A state champions on their home ice, 3-2.

Thief River Falls had three one-goal leads on the night, with the game-winner coming on a shot by Michael Forney at 15:09 of the third period – only 69 seconds after Warroad had tied it for the second time.

"It was a well-played, hard-fought game," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "We did what we needed to do to take a win out of there."

For the Prowlers, it was just their third win at Warroad over the past 16 seasons, and their first victory over their keenest rival since the 2001-02 campaign. Thief River Falls went 0-3 in the series each winter over the past three years, with post-season wins tacked onto regular season sweeps for the three-time defending Section 8A champions.

Thief River Falls' first lead in the latest match-up came when Robby Philipp broke a scoreless tie with a goal at 2:47 of the second period.

Warroad tied on a goal by Bryce Ravndalen at 6:51, but the Prowlers went into the locker room with a 2-1 edge when Michael Benedict scored at 16:56.

Zach Larson created another tie at the 14-minute mark of the third period, only to have Forney answer quickly.

"When we had to have a goal at the end, we stepped it up a notch," said Bergland, whose team improved to 6-2.

Shots-on-goal were even, with Thief River Falls goalie Brady McIntyre making 21 saves and Warroad netminder Tyler Potts stopping 20 shots.

Scoring

First period - no scoring
Second period - TRF, Robby Philipp (Matt Nordhagen, Michael Forney), 2:47; Warroad, Bryce Ravndalen (Zach Larson, Bobby Anicabal), 6:51; TRF, Michael Benedict (Philipp, Nordhagen), 16:56.
Third period - Warroad, Larson (Ravndalen), 14:00; TRF, Forney (Philipp, Nordhagen), 15:09.
Goalie saves - TRF, Brady McIntyre 11-6-1-21; Warroad, Tyler Potts 8-6-6-20

Free throws wrap up win for Nordics

Clutch free throw shooting down the stretch clinched a 53-48 Marshall County Central win over Warroad Tuesday in boys high school basketball at Newfolden.

The Nordics trailed 23-21 at halftime. They were 9-for-11 at the line for the night, and made six straight at the end with the game on the line.

Meanwhile, 4-for-11 foul shooting sealed Warroad's fate.

Disappointed in the Nordics work ethic during a 68-40 loss at Roseau in their previous start, Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen liked what he saw this time. "I was really happy with how hard the kids competed," he said. "We out-worked them."

Kyle Klasen scored 25 points and Evan Maki had 18 for the Nordics, who evened their record at 2-2. Ben Boroos netted 20 points and Josh Laser contributed 14 for Warroad.

Marshall County Central won despite shooting only 38 percent from the field (17/45) and losing the rebound battle 34-14. The rebound spread was established in the first half when Warroad had a dominating 25-5 advantage.

The teams split 35 turnovers: 18 for visitors; 17 for the Nordics.

Thief River Falls girls win

Thief River Falls girls led 36-12 at halftime and went on to beat Park Rapids Area 57-20 Tuesday in ninth grade basketball.

Krista Moyer scored 13 points and Beth Tvedt had 11 for the Prowlers.

Bagley center Brendon Coyle blocked this shot by Thief River Falls' Andrew BleckLance during Tuesday's basketball game in the Lincoln High School gym.

Grygla-Gatzke is a winner over RLCC

Tomas Loberg and Tim Polansky both recorded double-doubles Tuesday to lead Grygla-Gatzke past visiting Red Lake County Central 83-56 in boys high school basketball.

Loberg scored 27 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Polansky netted 11 points and handed out 12 assists as the Eagles improved to 5-1.

Grygla-Gatzke, up 43-21 at halftime, put together a 65 percent 32-for-49 shooting performance and a 17-for-23 free throw night. Behind the 6-7 Loberg, the Eagles out-rebounded the Mustangs 31-13.

"We did a nice job on the boards," mentioned Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "We pretty much limited them to one shot, and on offense, we did much better job in attacking the basket."

By game's end, five Eagles were in double figures, with Geoffrey Satre chipping in 16 points, while Brady Olson and Anthony Gast both had 10.

Red Lake County Central was led by Joe Goulet with 22 points, Kyle Vettleson 13 and Andrew Vettleson 12.

The 2-5 Mustangs shot 43 percent from the floor (22/51) and had a quiet 4-for-5 free throw game. They topped the turnover charts 24-23.

"We struggled in the first half," said Red Lake County Central coach Randy Huie. "We played a nice second half, we just put ourselves in too big of a hole in the first half."

Pirates handle Prowlers, 7-1

Road trouble followed Thief River Falls to Crookston Tuesday, where the Prowlers lost a 7-1 girls high school hockey decision to the Pirates.

In their last four bus trips, the 6-7 Prowlers have been out-scored by a combined 33-3 in losses at Roseau (10-1), Warroad (7-0), Moorhead (9-1) and Crookston.

The Pirates followed a scoreless first period with a goal by Marlee Wheelhouse just 1:32 into the second period. They put it on ice by scoring three times in less than two minutes late in the period for a 4-0 cushion at the second horn.

Wheelhouse and Danielle Persson both had a pair of goals for the winners.

Thief River Falls didn't get on the board until Kaley Holen scored at 16 minutes of the third period.

Scoring

First period - no scoring
Second period - Crookston, Marlee Wheelhouse (Danielle Persson), 1:32, Crookston, Wheelhouse (Lexi Wangen, Persson), 12:50, Crookston, Persson (Wheelhouse, Wangen), 13:10, Crookston, Janae Coauette (Laura Carlson, Wangen), 14:46.

RLCC girls win by 56

Red Lake County Central trio of Brittany Gustafson (24), Faith Kruchowski (20) and Courtney Halvorson (19) combined for 63 points to carry the Mustangs to an 86-30 Monday girls high school basketball victory over Fertile-Beltrami at Plummer.

The Mustangs had a 42-19 halftime cushion and out-scored the Falcons 44-11 in the second half as they completed the 2005 portion of their 2005-06 season season with a 6-2 record.

"We played well defensively," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "We worked pretty hard."

The Red Lake County Central defense helped force 30 Fertile-Beltrami turnovers, even though the Falcons called off their press after just 15 minutes.

Red Lake County Central shot 45 percent from the field (35/78), went 7-for-13 at the free throw line and finished with a 43-27 rebound advantage. The Mustangs were charged with 17 turnovers.

Andrea Rice scored 10 points to lead the Falcons, who shot 23 percent from the floor (12/52) and had a 4-for-11 free throw night.

TRF defeats Bagley JV

Four Thief River Falls scorers hit double figures in a 75-50 boys junior varsity high school basketball win over Bagley Tuesday.

Zach Sorenson finished with 17 points, Lee Peterson 15, Jacob Stuckey 14 and Andrew Rook 10 for the Prowlers, who led 47-19 at halftime.

Fast start by Rams leads to a 67-37 win against Goodridge

Roseau jumped out to a 20-2 lead at the start and rolled to a 67-37 boys high school basketball home court win over Goodridge Tuesday.

The Huskies regrouped and outscored the Rams 23-20 over the final 10 minutes of the half, but still trailed 40-25 at the break, and they could muster just an additional 12 second half points.

"It seemed like nothing was going to go our way at the beginning," admitted Goodridge coach Eric Mickelson, whose team heads into the holiday break with an 0-6 record. "We did come back, though, and actually put together a sustained stretch for maybe the first time this year."

Jeremy Bosch scored 15 points and Adam Gumeringer had 10 for the Rams. Nick Mickelson netted a game-high 17 points for the Huskies, but he was their only double figure scorer.

Roseau padded its lead with a 17-for-26 night at the free throw line, where Goodridge was 5-for-9. The Huskies were charged with 23 of the game's 35 turnovers.

Panthers' comeback beats Prowlers

Unfortunately, Lauren Knuttila picked up the slack."

Shawna Rogalla scored 15 points, Becca Larson 10 and Jessica Gustafson 9 to lead the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls shot better from the field, but Park Rapids Area compensated with a big night at the free throw line. The Prowlers were 21-for-65 from the floor (32 percent) and 4-for-9 at the line. The Panthers went 16-for-63 in field goals (25 percent) and a productive 20-for-26 on foul shots.

The Panthers finished with just a 38-35 edge on the boards. Keogh complemented her defensive effort with a 10-rebound game.

Thief River Falls fell to 0-8 with the loss.

Wolverines lose another close one, 53-51 to RLF

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke watched a five-point lead turn into a 53-51 loss in the final two minutes of a Monday girls high school basketball game at Red Lake Falls.

The Eagles, who were ahead 26-19 at halftime, tied it on a basket by Lee Zutz, forced a quick turnover, and won it on a bucket by Cassie Columbus with eight seconds left.

It was the third time the 1-7 Wolverines have lost by five or fewer points this winter.

Zutz was limited to a pair of first half free throws, but scored 15 seconds half points. Kayla Knott added 12 points to the Eagles' offense.

Brittney Forsberg had three 3-pointers in the first half and finished with 13 points to lead a balanced Goodridge/Grygla-Grygla offense. Sara Rindahl, Alisha Verhout and Justyn Larson scored 10 points each for the Guy Finstrom-coached Wolverines.

Piano students of Marcia M. Knuttila, Thief River Falls, passed various levels of the Minnesota Music Teachers Association (MMTA) music theory exams at Concordia College, Moorhead, on Dec. 3. Chantal Wilson (left) passed the level three keyboard music theory exam. Then, along with Brienna Drevlow (right), and below, from left, LeeAnn Szato, Kartar Trontvet, and Karmon Trontvet, passed level four.

Area piano students pass theory exams

Nine piano students of Marcia M. Knuttila, Thief River Falls, passed various levels of the Minnesota Music Teachers Association (MMTA) music theory exams held at Concordia College, Moorhead, on Dec. 3.

Passing the level one keyboard music theory exam were: Aaron Fagerstrom, third grade son of Wendy and Jeff Fagerstrom, Thief River Falls, Nicholas Wilson, fifth grade son of Dawn and Ward Wilson, Greenbush; Sam Brule, sixth grade son of Janeen and Tim Brule, Crookston; and Wendy Fagerstrom, adult piano student, Thief River Falls.

Passing the level three keyboard music theory exams was: Chantal Wilson, ninth grade daughter of Dawn and Ward Wilson, Greenbush. Chantal has already passed levels one and two of the keyboard music theory exams.

Passing the level four keyboard music theory exam were: Brianna Drevlow, sixth grade daughter of Jodi and Joe Drevlow, Thief River Falls; LeeAnn Szeto, seventh grade daughter of Shirley and Bert Szeto, Thief River Falls; Karter Trontvet, seventh grade son of Karmon and Rick Trontvet, Thief River Falls; Chantal Wilson, ninth grade daughter of Dawn and Ward Wilson, Greenbush; and Karmon Trontvet, adult piano student, Thief River Falls.

These five piano students have already passed levels one, two, and three of the keyboard music theory exams.

All MMTA keyboard music theory exams test theory written skills in the major pentachords, minor pentachords and scale modes, aural listening skills using various rhythm patterns, melodic phrases and cadences, and also keyboard performance skills in transposing, utilizing figured bass, major and minor chord inversions, secondary dominants and modulations.

offering free bovine testing to any cattle operation located within 15 miles of a TB-infected herd. Producers located within this testing radius should contact their local veterinarians or BAH to discuss having their entire herd tested for bovine TB. The state will pay for all veterinary fees.

The state of Minnesota has been involved in TB eradication programs since 1917, with the last known case in 1971. Bovine TB caused by the bacteria Mycobacterium bovis is a respiratory disease of cattle. It is a chronic, slowly progressive disease that does not spread easily. Infected animals may be capable of transmitting an infection to other animals even if they appear healthy. In a cooperative eradication campaign by the livestock industry and animal health officials, the U.S. has all but eliminated bovine TB.

For more information on TB, investigation updates and the agency, visit the BAH Web site at www.bah.state.mn.us.

Local National Guard families held "welcome home" signs and balloons Thursday night as they waited for the soldiers to get off of a bus at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. The National Guard members, who belong to Company B Detachment 2-136th Mechanized Infantry Battalion, are home for the holidays and will leave again for training Jan. 2. After their training is completed in Mississippi, they will head to Iraq.

homes. "It doesn't seem like home without him," said Warroad resident Angie Smith about her son Luke. However, it will probably feel like home when Luke Smith is able to celebrate Christmas and his sister's birthday with the family.

Luke Smith and some of his fellow soldiers rode a bus back to Thief River Falls. Others arrived by plane. They had to pay for their transportation to this area. Bravo Company Family Readiness Group (FRG) conducted fundraisers to help cover the soldiers' transportation home. About $6,000 was raised, said Julie Bohlue, FRG representative.

The Guard members who rode a bus back to Thief River Falls left Mississippi at about 5 p.m. Wednesday. Along the way, other Guard members were dropped off. While en route to Thief River Falls, their bus went into a ditch after Crookston-area Guard members were dropped off at the National Guard Armory in Crookston. The local members arrived in Thief River Falls after 6:30 p.m. Thursday – about an hour later than they had planned.

To the families, it seemed like it was taking forever for their relatives to make it to Thief River Falls. While waiting, family members tried to occupy their time – whether it be going back to work, driving around the city to look at holiday lights or talking to the soldiers on cell phones to determine the bus' location. At one point, a soldier told his wife the bus was near St. Hilaire. She told other families that news while they waited in the Armory, and the father of one soldier looked at the clock. When some family members raced into the Armory to tell the others the bus was driving down the street, one woman remarked that a trip from St. Hilaire never seemed to take that long in the past.

But the waiting was worth it in the end.

Creating a 10-wheel truck

Chaplinski said.

"This is my sixth project like this," Chaplinski said, noting that he never sells his custom trucks without first returning them to stock. Chaplinski will either sell the stock truck, or use it as a trade in for the next project. He also uses many of the upgrade parts for his next project.

Chaplinski began customizing Ford trucks in 1983, at the age of 41.

"I was disappointed that you couldn't buy anything on the go without somebody else having the same thing," Chaplinski said.

The 1983 model is believed to be the first twin screw tandem drive pickup truck built in the U.S. Chaplinski's 1983 model and later, his 1985 model, gained national attention when they were featured in "Overdrive" magazine.

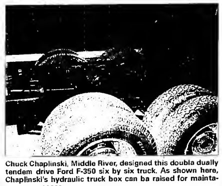
Chaplinski began his current trend in 19_0 and he has since engineered and produced a custom upgrade with each major design or engineering change that Ford makes to its F-350 model. All of Chaplinski's modified trucks are customized F-350 diesels.

Starting with the 1990 model and continuing with the 1991 model, Chaplinski would take a stock F-350 and customize it to his liking. Then, with each major design change, Chaplinski would return the customized truck to its stock form and use many of the upgraded parts to improve the new truck. Since 1990, Chaplinski has built six custom trucks in 1990, 1991, 1996, 1999, 2003 and 2005.

Restoring a truck to its stock condition takes about 120 man hours or 10 days, according to Chaplinski. Some parts will be salvaged for use in customizing a new truck, which takes about 30 days.

Though he's come up with some pretty unique designs during his many years of customization, Chaplinski said, he's never sought a patent for anything he's engineered while customizing his trucks.

"We have a few patents in the business here (Chaplin Inc.) and they never pay out," Chaplinski said. "It's a great way to get rid of money, unless you have something that's off the wall unique."



Something unique is what Chaplinski produced in 1999. That year he took a stock F-350 and produced a six-by-six, that like the current model, featured a double dually tandem drive. The 1999 model received national recognition by Motor Trend Magazine's "Truck Trend," and was awarded "Best Engineered," in the East Nationals Truck Show in Atlanta, Ga.

Much like his 1999 and 2003 models, Chaplinski's 2005 Ford F-350-plus has been recognized for its innovative engineering. The truck earned "Best in Class" and "Best Engineering" awards in the Sweet Temptationz Spring Bash in Lawton, Okla. More than 900 trucks were entered in the competition. Later, he won the Media, Best in Class and President's awards at the Power Fest National Rally's Show and Shine Contest in Indianapolis, Ind. and the Indy Fokisd Rally's Best in Show for 2005.

Though it would be considered breathtaking by most truck enthusiasts, Chaplinski is quick to state that his truck is intended for work. The truck itself weighs 12,400 pounds and coupled with the 40-foot R.V. weighs 34,280.

"We use that truck to pull our R.V. when we go south," Chaplinski said. "It's a work horse. We use it to work."

Trucks like Chaplinski's can be a bit expensive for both the novice and experienced enthusiast. Even for Chaplinski, who has access to a garage and fabrication supplies, a customization project can cost twice a vehicle's stock sticker price.

Chuck Chaplinski, Middle River, designed this double dually tandem drive Ford F-350 six by six truck. As shown here, Chaplinski's hydraulic truck box can be raised for maintenance purposes.

Finalists named for 9th District judge seat

an assistant Redwood County attorney from 1996 to 1997, and an assistant St. Paul city attorney from 1991 to 1996. He was also a Second Judicial District law clerk for the Honorable Margaret Marrinan in 1991, and a certified student attorney with the Ramsey County attorney's office from 1988 to 1991. Miller earned his juris doctorate degree from William Mitchell College of Law in St. Paul in 1990, and his bachelor of arts degree from St. Cloud State University in 1986.

Remick is an attorney and partner with the Odland, Fitzgerald, Reynolds and Remick law firm in Crookston. He has been a partner with the law firm since 1995, and an associate attorney with the firm's predecessor, Odland, Fitzgerald and Reynolds, from 1990 to 1994. He was also an associate attorney with the Reed and Pond law firm in Mound from 1989 to 1990. Remick earned his juris doctorate degree from the University of Minnesota Law School in 1989, and his bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude from Concordia College in Moorhead in 1985.

Rugalla is the assistant Pennington County attorney and chief prosecutor in that county attorney's office, a position he has held since 1999. He was an assistant Pennington County attorney as well as a private practice attorney with the Olin Law Office in Thief River Falls from 1990 to 1999, and an assistant Grand Forks, N.D., city attorney as well as a private practice attorney with the Nelson, Kalash, Mulenaar Law Office in Grand Forks from 1988 to 1990. Rugalla earned his juris doctorate degree (1988), and his bachelor of science degree cum laude (1985) from the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks.

Yon is an attorney and partner with the Johannson, Rust, Yon, Stock and Rasmussen law firm in Crookston, a position she has held since 1999. She was an associate attorney with the firm from 1994 to 1999. Yon has also been a Chapter Seven trustee – based in Crookston – with the United States Department of Justice since 2003, and an adjunct professor with the University of Minnesota in Crookston since 1999. Yon earned her juris doctorate from the University of North Dakota Law School in Grand Forks in 1994, and her bachelor of arts degree from Concordia College in Moorhead in 1991.

The CJS screens judicial candidates and makes recommendations to the governor for district court vacancies that occur during the term of a judge. The commission consists of 13 members: nine at-large members and four members from the judicial district. The commission members include attorneys and non-attorneys appointed by the governor and the Minnesota Supreme Court. The commission received 12 applications for these two judicial vacancies.

Mikayla Adolphson, 9, made sure there was enough tape on packages before they were wrapped Monday for Christmas for Pennington County. The annual program provides Christmas gifts to less fortunate kids who might not otherwise receive them. This year, 345 kids received gifts through the program. Adolphson joined Thief River Falls Women of Today members, including her mom, Julie, and other volunteers in wrapping the gifts in the basement of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center in Thief River Falls. Volunteers donate gifts, money and wrapping paper to the program as well. The program is sponsored by the Pennington County Sheriff's Department.

1-story, single-family home with double garage constructed in 1964. There are 2 bedrooms and 1 bath on the main floor. The house is 26x40 feet with a 22x30 foot attached garage.
TERMS OF SALE
10% of bid price issued in the form of a check will secure the bid and balance of winning bid to be paid by January 23, 2006. House must be moved by February 28, 2006, unless negotiated otherwise with the county. The county of Red Lake reserves the right to demolish this structure at the purchaser's expense if this structure is not moved within the time period specified.
Sealed bids, including the 10% deposit of full bid price, must be received by Robert Schmitz, Red Lake County Auditor, P.O. Box 367, Red Lake Falls, MN, prior to 10:00 a.m. on December 27, 2005. For more information, contact Robert Schmitz at 218-253-2598.

County lowers levy due to appropriation from Mar-Kit Landfill

Hallock - Kittson County commissioners lowered the property tax levy 1.5 percent at the Dec. 20 meeting.

The previously proposed tax levy of $2,295,554 was lowered by $30,000, or 1.5 percent, as a result of an appropriation from the Mar-Kit Landfill.

According to Mar-Kit Manager Dale Nelson, Landfill Board members decided to make a one-time appropriation to the owner counties this year. Mar-Kit is owned by Marshall and Kittson counties. Each county received $50,000. - Kittson County Enterprise, Dec. 28, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

County OKs conditional use permit for trail

Warren - In a meeting busy with three public hearings Dec. 20, the Marshall County Board of Commissioners took action in response to hearings on a Tamarac River crossing needed for a proposed bike trail at the Marshall County Park and on election equipment, but held off on any action related to the hearing on use of the old courtroom at the county courthouse.

The Board authorized issuing a conditional use permit to the Marshall County Highway Department for the construction of the river crossing at the park, which is located near Florian.

In granting the conditional use permit for construction of the crossing, located in Section 18 of Wright Township, the board attached several conditions to the permit. - Warren Sheaf, Dec. 28, 2005

RLF schools begin to plan for possible flu pandemic

Red Lake Falls - Like people and organizations all over the country, the administration and school board of the Red Lake Falls schools have begun to discuss what can be done to prepare for the possible bird flu pandemic.

At the regular December school board meeting, the district administration discussed the issues relating to the flu and what preparations can be done to protect the students and staff.

No decisions were made, but it was agreed this topic will be addressed again at the January board meeting.

Some topics that will be developed and discussed are:

• Setting a policy about restricting attendance for students who come to school sick.

• Developing a curriculum for students to be taught facts of germ control, such as hand-washing, covering coughs, not sharing food or drinks with anyone, and other topics.

• Having alcohol wipes available to kill germs.

• Doing a schoolwide survey of students and staff to determine whether they have access to the Internet, which may allow some teaching at home if school has to be closed for periods of time.

• Setting some criteria for when school would be closed if illness began to hit the schools. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, Dec. 28, 2005

TRF Prowlers face Team USA in scrimmage

A unique match-up will take place at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls Friday, Jan. 6, when the 2006 United States Olympic Women's Hockey Team will scrimmage the Thief River Falls boys high school squad.

Ice time for the event, which will be open to the public free of charge, is booked from 6:45 to 9 p.m.

Following a lengthy selection process, the 20-member Team USA roster was announced during a public event Dec. 27 at the Mall of America in Bloomington.

The 20th Olympic Winter Games will be held Feb. 10-26 in Torino, Italy.

Meet the family. What do you do during holiday vacation? This Thief River Falls family discovered that making snowmen is one answer to that question. Jordan Kostrzewski, 7, and Kempsie Amundgaard, 13, along with Kim Kostrzewski (not pictured) made a snowman representing everyone in their family - from Ryleigh Lindahl, 1, and Jordan and Kempsie, to Kim and Carl. The family lives on Cherry Drive, Thief River Falls.

County Election

Thief River Falls residents living in precinct 3B, 4A and 4B will have an opportunity to choose a replacement for recently departed Commissioner Arden "Bud" Comstock during a special election Feb. 28. Pictured is a map of Pennington County's fourth commissioner district. Residents of Precinct 3B will vote at the National Guard Armory. Precincts 4A and 4B will hold their polling at the Engelsted Park Shelter. (Map courtesy of Pennington County Auditor's office)

Marvin Windows distributes $50 million to employees

Marvin Windows and Doors, a manufacturer of made-to-order wood and clad wood windows and doors, held its 49th annual profit-sharing meeting Dec. 23. During the meeting, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Jake Marvin announced a profit-sharing of $50,298,662 to be distributed among 3,573 employees based at the company's Warroad, Grafton, N.D.; and Baker, Ore., facilities.

The profit-sharing was significantly higher than recent years because, in addition to an excellent financial performance in 2005, the company received proceeds this year from a settlement with PPG Industries of Pittsburgh, Pa., following a 10-year legal battle. Marvin and company President Susan Marvin told employees that their increased profit-sharing contribution this year helps make up for years when rewards were lower due to the costs related to the lawsuit and failure of PPG's wood preservative.

Susan Marvin said 2005 financial results were excellent because "we continued to take advantage of a strong national housing market by meeting the needs of the customer through new products and options along with consistent high quality and service. We look forward to carrying this positive momentum into 2006 and building on this record year."

State auditor releases 2004 "Big Book of Cities" report

State Auditor Pat Anderson released an annual report Dec. 21 titled Minnesota City Finances, which covers revenues, expenditures and debt of Minnesota cities for the year ended Dec. 31, 2004.

"In spite of aid cuts, both revenues and fund balances increased over 2003," said Anderson. "Property tax collections continue to rise, but the increase appears to be consistent with the historical average, meaning that overall, there has not been a spike in property taxes as a result of aid cuts. Cities as a whole appear to be in good fiscal shape."

Revenues, expenditures and debt

The report shows that city revenues statewide increased to $4 billion in 2004, which is an increase of 4.2 percent over 2003. Total expenditures also increased to $4.78 billion in 2004, which is an increase of 3 percent over 2003. This represents a 2.8 percent increase for large cities with populations over 2,500 and an increase of 4.7 percent for small cities with populations under 2,500.

Total expenditures of the governmental funds for all cities totaled $4.78 billion in 2004. This represented an increase of 3 percent over 2003 and reflects an increase of 2.8 percent among large cities and 4.7 percent among small cities.

Overall long-term debt for cities is $8.12 billion, which is an increase of 4.9 percent over the previous year. On a per-capita basis, cities under 2,500 in population carry more debt than cities over 2,500 (2,344 per capita to $1,917 per capita). Debt went up 10.4 percent for smaller cities and 4.2 percent for larger cities.

Unreserved fund balances

(Unreserved fund balances refer to funds that are not legally encumbered. This means if the funds were unreserved, they would be available for use by the city.)

Cities maintain cash reserves for several reasons. Cities should have relatively large fund balances at the end of the year because they must rely on them to meet expenditures during the first five months of the next fiscal year until they receive the first property tax and state aid payments. Additional reasons include contingency funds for unforeseen needs and setting aside resources for future capital investments.

"Interestingly, cities have managed to maintain unreserved fund balance growth at the same time increasing current expenditures, even as local government aid has decreased," Anderson said.

Anderson has concerns about the financial health of cities maintaining a fund balance below 20 percent of total current expenditures. These cities may not have enough reserves to carry them through financial downturns or unexpected contingencies.

The auditor also has concerns about cities that maintain fund

Special election set in Pennington Co.

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Pennington County commissioners approved a resolution Wednesday, that selected Feb. 28 as the date of a special election for the purpose of electing a fourth district county commissioner. The fourth district commissioner will serve the precincts of 4A, 4B and 3B in the city of Thief River Falls.

Fourth district residents will choose a commissioner to serve the remaining year of a four year term that will expire Jan. 1, 2007. The first three years were served by Arden "Bud" Comstock, who announced his resignation (via letter) to the board Dec. 13, effective Dec. 31, 2005.

Filing for the fourth district election will begin at 8 a.m. Jan. 9, and conclude at 5 p.m. Jan. 23. Candidates wishing to file for fourth district county commissioner must file at the Pennington County Auditor's Office, 101 Main Ave. N., Thief River Falls, MN 56701. The filing fee to declare candidacy is $50. All candidates must meet residency requirements.

County Auditor Ken Olson said ballots will be ordered once filing is complete Jan. 23. Absentee ballots will be mailed later that week. If more than two candidates file for the special election, a primary will be held Feb. 14. The fourth district special election will be held Feb. 28.

According to Minnesota Statute 375.101, "The person elected at the special election shall take office immediately after receipt of the certificate of election and upon filing the bond and taking the oath of office and shall serve the remainder of the unexpired term."

Who can vote?

Pennington County's fourth commissioner district includes all Thief River Falls residents living in Ward 4 and residents of Ward 3, residing in Precinct 3B. Polling places for both the special primary and special election include the Engelstad Park shelter for precincts 4A and 4B, and the National Guard Armory for residents voting in precinct 3B.

Precinct 4A includes Thief River Falls residents whose primary residence is located south of the Red Lake River, west of Merriam Ave and north of Hughes Street.

Precinct 4B borders Precinct 4A, south of Hughes Street. East boundaries include Crocker Ave. and Tindolph Ave. (south of Greenwood Street). The precinct's south boundary is Greenwood Street and the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Its west

RiverView begins construction

Construction begins on clinic at RLF Park Place Mall

Construction is underway at the RiverView Clinic in the Park Place Mall in Red Lake Falls. Although an official groundbreaking ceremony took place Dec. 22, work actually began about a week prior to that time.

RiverView Health in Crookston began building a new clinic adjacent to its rehabilitation clinic, which has been located in the city-owned mall for the past three years. In its rehab clinic, RiverView Health currently offers physical, occupational and speech therapy and also operates Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls.

The new family clinic is designed to accommodate two part-time providers; a medical doctor and a mid-level provider (nurse practitioner or physician assistant). The clinic will be open five days a week, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with both of the providers also spending part of the time in RiverView Health's Crookston clinic. The new Red Lake Falls clinic will have lab and x-ray services, as well as small procedure

LOSE WEIGHT & START THE YEAR

Dear Patient and Friend,
We start each year with goals of health, happiness, and success. The most important of these is health, for without it there is no happiness. Success in life means nothing unless you have your health!!!
My New Year's resolution this year is to have ALL my patients, their families, and the people of Northern Minnesota start the year as healthy as possible. We are offering a Free Weight Loss Lecture to all of our patients and the people of Northwestern MN. This program is our most sought after presentation. This lecture gives the audience not only a complete cause of weight gain and weight loss, but also natural sources to help them look and feel their best!! Fad diets, calorie counting, body wraps, diet pills and surgeries... why is it that most of these techniques for losing weight and feeling better don't work, and if they do work, they don't work permanently. Research has shown that exhibition rates, hormones and digestion are the keys to effective permanent weight loss. Join me to learn the how's and why's to permanent weight loss.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Have a safe and happy new year this weekend and invite friends to your house to enjoy some games and good eating. Here are some ideas for what to serve.

This is a wonderful, dense bread that is just right for topping with favorite cheese or meat spreads or serving with dips. I like it with cream cheese and olives or a cheese spread:

RYE BEER BREAD
2 cups rye flour
1 1/2 cups (1 can) room temperature beer
2 (.25 ounce) packages active dry yeast
2 tablespoons white sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
3 cups bread flour
1 tablespoon caraway seed (optional)
1 tablespoon cornmeal

Combine rye flour, beer and yeast in large bowl. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and set out overnight. Do not refrigerate.

The next day, add sugar, salt, shortening and egg and beat with mixer until smooth. Stir in caraway seeds, if wanted. Add enough white bread flour to make a soft dough.

Knead on lightly floured surface until smooth (10 minutes). Place in greased bowl and turn once to grease the surface of the dough. Let rise in warm place for 1 hour, until doubled.

Punch down dough and divide in half. Shape into 3 or 4 round or oblong loaves and place on greased baking sheets sprinkled with cornmeal. Make slashes in top of loaves. Let rise 30 minutes.

Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool on racks.

Make a little soup to go with that special loaf of bread - this one is really tasty. You can thin it with some beer, too, if you like:

CREAMY CHEDDAR SOUP
1 small onion, diced (I use dried minced onion to taste)
2 large pimentos, diced (or 1 tablespoon of chopped pimento from a jar)
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups chicken stock
1 1/2 cups cream (I use evaporated milk)
3/4 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1/2 cup green onions
Salt and pepper
Dash of cayenne pepper, as desired
Few drops Worcestershire sauce

In saucepan, sauté onion and pimento in butter for 5 to 7 minutes. Blend in flour. Add stock and cream and cook thick. Add cheese and stir to melt. Add 1/4 cup of the green onions, salt and pepper to taste, as well as cayenne and Worcestershire. Top with remaining green onions, croutons, bread cubes or popcorn, as desired.

Another tasty dish to serve this weekend is chili. This one has less sugar, salt and fat than some, but is really delicious. Remember to start this early, because it takes about 6 hours of mixing and cooking:

WHITE CHILI
2 pounds dried Great Northern beans.
1 1/2 cups diced onion
1 tablespoon oil
1 tablespoon oregano
2 teaspoons cumin
1 1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
4 1/2 quarts chicken broth
2 garlic cloves, minced
8 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cubed
2 (4 ounces each) cans chopped green chilies

Place beans in saucepan, cover and bring to a boil. Boil 2 minutes, then remove from heat. Soak for 1 hour, then drain and rinse.

In Dutch oven or soup pot, sauté onion in oil until tender. Combine seasonings and add half to kettle. Sauté 1 minute. Add beans, broth and garlic and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 2 hours.

Coat chicken with remaining seasoning mixture and place in 10x15 inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until juices run clear. Add to beans and stir in chilies. Simmer 1 1/2 to 2 hours more.

Each recipe serves 20 people with 1 cup servings. Diabetic Exchange for 1 cup (made with fat free, reduced sodium broth) is 2 lean meat, 1 starch. Nutritional info for 1 cup is 169 calories, 365 mg sodium, 29 mg chol, 17 gm carb, 18 gm protein and 3 gm fat.

One more treat to serve guests this weekend - they'll love this one:

MEXICAN FIESTA DIP
1 pound lean ground turkey
1 envelope reduced sodium taco seasoning
2/3 cup water
1 can fat free refried beans
1 1/2 cup shredded lettuce
1 (16 ounce) jar salsa
1 cup shredded reduced fat cheddar cheese
4 canned jalapenos, sliced
1 cup reduced fat sour cream
1/3 cup sliced ripe olives
1 package (13 1/2 ounces) baked tortilla chips

In nonstick skillet coated with nonstick spray, cook turkey until no longer pink. Drain, if necessary. Stir in taco seasoning and water and cook and stir 2-4 minutes or until most of the liquid has evaporated.

Spread refried beans on 12-inch serving platter. Top with turkey, lettuce, salsa, cheese, jalapenos, sour cream and olives. Serve with chips. Recipe serves 12.

Nutritional Info: Each serving contains 282 calories, 8 g fat, 41 mg chol, 936 mg sodium, 39 g carb, 5 g fiber, 15 g protein. Diabetic exchange is 2 1/2 starch and 1 1/2 lean meat.

What's for dessert? Make this easy, old-fashioned favorite:

LAZY DAISY CAKE
4 eggs
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Frosting
1 1/2 cups packed brown sugar
3/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup half and half
2 cups flake coconut

In a mixing bowl, beat eggs, sugar and vanilla until thick, about 4 minutes. Combine flour, baking powder and salt and add to egg mixture and beat just until combined.

In saucepan, bring milk and butter to a boil, stirring constantly. Add to batter and beat until combined. Pour into greased 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 340 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until cakes tests done.

Combine frosting ingredients and spread over warm cake. Broil until lightly browned, 3-4 minutes.

Specialty grain market workshop offered in January

Growers and others interested in learning more about the emergency specialty, identity preserved (IP) grain industry, are invited to attend a free workshop. The workshop will offer grower-oriented information about opportunities and resources. Growers will learn how the market works, specific market demands that drive it and how to obtain access to the market.

The workshops are scheduled for Jan. 11 at the East Grand Forks American Legion, Jan. 2 at the Bigwood Conference Center, Fergus Falls, and Jan. 19 at the Willmar Holiday Inn.

The workshop will run from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and includes a lunch. The workshops are being coordinated by the Midwest Shippers' Association, a nonprofit cooperative association that was established to promote and facilitate marketing of specialty, IP grain from the Upper Midwest.

Advance registration is encouraged. To register, contact the Midwest Shippers' Association (MSA) at 612-252-1453, e-mail at info@mnshippers.org or register online at the MSA Web site www.mnshippers.org.

Coronary Health Improvement Project offered in Thief River Falls

CHIP (Coronary Health Improvement Project) is making its debut in Thief River Falls; for the first time ever, CHIP will now be available locally.

The Thief River Falls Chapter of CHIP has announced that the Coronary Health Improvement Project will begin Jan. 8. Free information sessions and pre-registration will be held at Big Kmart in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, Jan. 3 from 2 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. and Thursday, Jan. 5 from 6 to 8 p.m.

CHIP is a video-based lifestyle improvement program that can dramatically reduce health risks associated with heart disease, hypertension, diabetes, and obesity. CHIP Director Marilyne Sayler, RN, MS, and a team of volunteers, including local health professionals Dr. Jerome Bray and Dr. Ben Sayler, will be facilitating the four-week program.

The speaker for the series is Dr. Hans Diehl, a renowned heart researcher and dynamic motivator. As a post-doctoral scholar at the School of Public Health of the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), Calif., he contributed to the establishment of the UCLA Center for Health Enhancement. He holds a doctorate in health science with emphasis on lifestyle medicine, and a master's degree in public health nutrition from Loma Linda University.

Diehl is a world-class speaker. His message is that people don't have to die of Western killer diseases. His Coronary Health Improvement Project has been conducted in numerous countries on five continents. He is much in demand as a stimulating, dynamic, and entertaining speaker.

CHIP attendees will participate in a scientifically-sound program which includes a heart screen, where blood will be analyzed by Northwest Medical Center for serum cholesterol, triglycerides, sugar and other important parameters. There will be lifestyle evaluations and personalized counseling before the lecture series and at the end of the 30 days, so comparisons can be made. All this information will, with the participant's consent, be shared with the personal physician, who may need to make medication changes as a result of improvement in health parameters. Exercise and food will be part of the CHIP experience, too. Participants will also be able to sample heart-healthy foods during the seminar and at the concluding graduation banquet. But CHIP does not end there. Monthly alumni meetings will be held to give support and to keep graduates on track and up to date.

Pre-registration by 8 p.m. Jan. 5 is required. For further information, call Marilyne Sayler at home at 681-1776 or by cell phone at 689-3269.

The motto of CHIP is: "Healthy by Choice—Not by Chance!"

Lost on the road while traveling to grandma's house?

As the holiday travel season approaches, government officials and a few lesser known organizations are encouraging motorists to get some sleep before they drive.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that about 56,000 crashes are caused by drowsy driving annually. Two-thirds of drowsy-driving crashes involve people under the age of 30.

Victims of Irresponsible Drowsy Drivers (www.voidd.com) is one organization trying to bring the issue of drowsy driving and its impact to the forefront of public policy. "Driver fatigue doesn't get as much attention as drunken driving, but it can be just as deadly." Dr. Alan Pack, University of Pennsylvania Medical Center, Pa VOIDD argues that it's everyone's responsibility to be alert, awake, non-drugged and non-intoxicated when behind the wheel of a vehicle.

Certainly, the national statistics indicate that it is a problem – perhaps even more so during the holidays when more people are on the road. Minnesota Crash Facts, a statistical presentation of crash facts in Minnesota, doesn't list accidents caused by drowsy driving. It does keep track of accidents caused by driver inattention/distraction - 94 fatal crashes (100 dead and 12,585 injured), 8,642 injury crashes, and 15,556 crashes involving property damage in 2004. It's perceivable that drowsy driving could be a contributing factor in many other accidents, accidents that are listed in the report.

In our busy, harried lives, drowsy driving may be even more of a problem than alcohol. In 2003, Minnesota Department of Public Safety, Office of Traffic Safety stated that "Drowsy driving is impaired driving, and can be fully as hazardous as alcohol-impaired driving. Drowsy driving behavior occurs at all hours of the day, not just night. It is dangerous not just to the driver but to everyone on the road."

"When you're sleepy, your brain starts to shut down. But even before you actually nod off, performance slips. Trying harder to stay awake may not help. Your thinking slows, you miss signals and risk-taking behavior increases. At 60 mph, if you close your eyes for only one second, you've traveled 88 feet. Even worse, sleepy drivers judgment is impaired," says Dr. Mark Rosekind, a fatigue specialist at NASA's Ames Research Center at Moffett Field, Calif.

The writing is on the wall - emphasizing the dangers of drowsy driving will probably result in legislative proposals designed to protect "all" motorists. In the meantime, perhaps its best to recognize our limitations and get some rest before we drive on our roads.

One more second added to the year

It's that time of year when we give thought to resolutions - lose weight, eat more healthful foods, save money, reduce stress, get a better job, etc. One year a friend resolved to spend his time more wisely.

How many times have you told yourself that there's not enough time in a day to do everything you need to do. What if we did have extra time?

It was announced just recently that scientists will add a "leap second" on New Year's Eve to adjust the atomic clock. (The adjustment needs to be made to keep up with changes in the Earth's rotation.) Instead of at midnight, the adjustment will occur at one second before 7 p.m. Eastern Time on New Year's Eve.

So, what should or could we do with that extra second? A columnist for the Poynter Institute polled his family about how to use an extra leap second. He said his wife suggested that he could kiss her; his daughter said she'd light a candle hoping for a peaceful 2006 (she's 12); and his son said the family could pet the dog.

Interesting. I'll bet there are lots of things we could do in a second. One Times employee said she'd either tell her husband and children how much she loves them; or light a candle for all the troops. Another said she'd already used up more time thinking about it.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively: letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Annie's Project to help women hone their farm business skills

A program titled Annie's Project will get underway the week of Jan. 23, 2006 at Grand Forks, Fargo, Jamestown, Minot, Grafton in North Dakota, and Thief River Falls and Fergus Falls in Minnesota. The objective of the curriculum is to empower farm women to be better business partners for farm management and decision-making.

The six-session program is designed for farm women, with comprehensive information on key farm management topics such as:

• How bankers make loan decisions
• Tracking expenses and income
• Mastering spreadsheets
• Land rental agreements
• Retirement, farm transfer, and estate planning
• Grain marketing
• Insurance needs, including crop insurance, and
• Personnel management

More information about the North Dakota and Minnesota Annie's Project can be found online at www.smallgrains.org or by calling Tara Gillespie at 218-284-0234 or 1-800-242-6118. There is a $50 registration fee and space is limited. Please register by Jan. 11.

This program is made possible by cooperation from the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers, University of Minnesota Extension Service, Northland Community and Technical College Farm Business Management, North Dakota State University Extension Service, North Dakota Farm Business Management, North Dakota Grain Growers Association, U.S. Durum Growers Association.

Annie's Project is funded through a Risk Management Agency Outreach Partnership. The program has already been held or planned in other parts of the country.

NW Community Action accepting applications for energy assistance

Applications for the 2006 Energy Assistance Program are being taken by Northwest Community Action. Anyone who feels they may be eligible should either write to Northwest Community Action, Inc., P.O. Box 67, Badger, MN 56714, or phone 218-528-3258 or 1-800-568-5329 and an application will be mailed. Individuals may apply once during the program year, Oct. 1, 2005-May 31, 2006.

Fuel assistance eligibility is based upon household income and household size. Assets are no longer counted for this program. Both homeowners and renters may be eligible. Households who live in subsidized housing, but pay either heat or electric costs may also qualify for fuel assistance. Subsidized housing residents who have both heat and electric costs included in their rent do not qualify for energy assistance.

The eligibility guidelines for three months gross income are household of one, $4,987, two, $6,522; three, $8,056; four, $9,591; five, $11,126, and six, $12,660. Applicants are responsible for paying heating and electric bills until hearing from Northwest Community Action.

Northwest Community Action serves households located in Kittson, Lake of the Woods, East Marshall and Roseau counties. Home visits are available for homebound applicants, upon request. Households requesting assistance in completing the application are encouraged to set up an appointment.

Also, Eldor Ondahl of Warren will be celebrating his 96th birthday that night. All in attendance are [illegible]

Embassy to hold annual meeting

The Embassy Community Center, Fosston, will hold its annual meeting on Thursday, Jan. 5, at 5 p.m., at the Senior Center Auditorium.

There will be the usual election of officers. Also there will be a short report from all leaders and their respective clubs from the past years. This is always a special time - lots of information to share. Each report is to be only three minutes each. There will be a time of potluck refreshments. All Embassy members are invited to attend and be informed. [illegible]

Starting Jan. 1, no dialing and driving for new teen drivers

The sounds of ring tones will be "answered" by Minnesota State Patrol troopers starting Jan. 1 if drivers with learning permits or provisional licenses are caught dialing and driving. Roughly 400,000 drivers with learning permits or provisional licenses – a majority of whom are teens – will face the new law and its potential fine of up to $100 plus court costs in the new year.

The law was passed by the Minnesota Legislature in July 2005.

Cell phone use is one of the biggest distractions for motorists. In 2003, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration cited cell phone use as a factor in 2,600 traffic deaths. In Minnesota, it is conservatively estimated that at least 14,000 motorists are on the phone and behind the wheel at any given time.

"Driving is a multi-tasking activity so all other distractions need to be limited," said Capt. Dick Wittenberg. "When you combine cell phone use and other distractions to driving, it's a recipe for a crash."

Those in violation of the law – which is categorized as a moving violation – will face delays in obtaining a non-provisional license. In Minnesota, permit holders under the age of 18 must maintain a driving record free of any moving violations for six months to be eligible for provisional driving privileges. If the requirements and limitations for provisional driving requirements are met, drivers can secure their non-provisional licenses at the age of 18.

The Minnesota State Patrol advises that although this law applies to mostly new teen drivers, all motorists should make efforts to curb cell phone use and other driving distractions.

"You may be an experienced driver, but that doesn't make it safe to drive distracted," said Wittenberg. "Take your ears off the phone, put your hands on the wheel and your mind on the road."

Eleven states and Washington, D.C., restrict cell phone use among novice drivers, and some states and municipalities ban hand-held cell phone use for all drivers.

Minneapolis man sentenced for assault of TRF man

A Minneapolis man was sentenced Dec. 22 in Hennepin County District Court for his role in the assault of a Thief River Falls man.

Ryan Michael Goth, 22, was sentenced for felony third degree assault. He was sentenced to one year and one day in jail stayed for five years, according to Hennepin County District Court officials. Goth was also ordered to serve work-house time of 180 days. He was placed on supervised probation for five years.

Another man, John Wade Arthurs, 21, Spring Lake Park, has also been charged with a felony offense of assault. His next court date is Feb. 1, 2006.

The criminal complaint alleges Arthurs and Goth punched Brady Anderson, 23, Thief River Falls, in the face May 1 in Minneapolis. After Goth punched Anderson, Anderson hit the back of his head on cement. Anderson was later found on the sidewalk. He returned home from the hospital at the end of July.

The incident allegedly occurred after a bouncer escorted Anderson out of Lonetree Bar along South Hennepin Avenue in Minneapolis. Arthurs allegedly told police that Anderson badmouthed the bouncer. "Arthurs told Anderson the bouncer was a friend of his," the complaint stated. "He also told Anderson that he should leave the area before he did something to him."

Arthurs went back into the bar and later went back outside. Anderson was still outside the bar. Arthurs told police Anderson said he was waiting for friends. Arthurs then allegedly punched Anderson in the face. Goth also punched Anderson in the face, causing Anderson to fall backwards and hit the back of his head on cement.

The criminal complaint stated that Anderson suffered facial fractures, brain hemorrhaging and brain swelling. Anderson also had a bone fracture that extended into the base of his skull. He underwent a craniotomy, meaning a bone flap was removed from his skull to reduce pressure on his brain.

Two local men face drug charges

Two local men have been charged as a result of an ongoing investigation into the death of a Middle River man. However, a final autopsy report is pending on Daniel E. Syverson, 43, who was found dead Dec. 11.

Andrew Lee Dirks, 29, and Delroy Lee Johnson, 47, both of Middle River, have both been charged with a felony offense of fifth degree controlled substance crime – possession, according to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department. Dirks also faces two counts of felony fifth degree controlled substance crime – sale. Both men are scheduled for court appearances Jan. 3.

During the ongoing Syverson death investigation, the sheriff's department determined Dirks and Johnson allegedly possessed the prescription drug Xanax, Marshall County Sheriff Herb Maurstad said. Dirks also allegedly sold the drug.

Syverson was found dead in an idling pickup truck inside Riverside Body Shop, Maurstad said. He stated that deputies investigating the incident noted the presence of carbon monoxide when they were investigating the death. A preliminary autopsy conducted in Grand Forks, N.D., indicated that Syverson had died of carbon monoxide poisoning, and also that his system contained an amount of Xanax – not a lethal amount, but enough to raise concerns. During the investigation, Dirks allegedly admitted that he provided Syverson and Johnson with Xanax. Maurstad emphasized that the death is still being investigated and that he had not received the final autopsy report.

Syverson was employed at the Riverside Body Shop, which Johnson owns. The sheriff's department was dispatched to the scene at 9:44 a.m. Dec. 11.

Sheriff reminds anglers to not litter

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby is reminding anglers to not litter on the Red Lake River. The sheriff's department has received many complaints about littering on the river, and Hruby noted litter laws will be strictly enforced.

Area students receive MSU degrees

Minnesota State University, Mankato (MSUM) graduated 1,645 students during fall/summer commencement exercises Dec. 17 at the Taylor Center on the MSUM campus.

Among the graduates was David M. Truscinski of Greenbush, who received a bachelor of science degree in nursing; and, Maureen K. Fredrickson of Warren, who received an associate of arts degree in liberal studies.

Red Lake, Kittson Central post impressive numbers

Big offensive games were turned in by Red Lake and Kittson Central to open the 23rd annual Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament in Thief River Falls.

Together, the two teams scored 199 points in the Tuesday afternoon quarterfinals as Red Lake beat Red Lake Falls 100-60 and Kittson Central defeated Waubun 90-68.

Eleven 3-pointers from seven different players were part of the Red Lake offense in the tournament opener. Dallas Crowe led the blitz with 26 points, while Buster Graves had 16, Josh Neadeau 14, Lyle Benais 11 and Tom Barrett 10.

A 33-point game by Pat Leines represented over half of the Red Lake Falls offense. Jeff Weiss had 12 for the Eagles, who trailed 60-25 at halftime.

In Austin Bogestad and Joel Schwenzfeier, Kittson Central has one of the top scoring combinations in the area. The duo didn't disappoint in Game 2 as Bogestad netted 27 and Schwenzfeier had 22 against Waubun.

Josh Hauert and Jeremy Hauert also reached double figures for the winners with 11 and 10 points,

Tri-County center Spencer Johnson (40) stretched in attempt to pull a rebound away from Thief River Falls guard Alex Yaggie (14) during Tuesday's Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament game in the Lincoln gym.

Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic quarterfinals...

Nordics, Prowlers advance

Marshall County Central held off East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 54-51 and Thief River Falls pulled away from Tri-County 66-48 in the Tuesday evening quarterfinal session of the 2005 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament hosted by the Prowlers.

Nick Haven scored 21 points and grabbed 17 rebounds to lead the Nordics, whose edge over the Eagles came in the form of a 43-19 rebound advantage.

Marshall County Central, after a 7-0 start, led most of the way, but could never put the game away. The Nordics were up 25-23 at halftime and enjoyed a 45-35 advantage following a Kyle Klasen rebound basket with 4:57 remaining.

But the game was far from over. The lead changed hands four times in the final 78 seconds and a potential game-winning 3-pointer by the Eagles' Alex Kuznia rattled around the rim before bouncing away with just two seconds left.

"With a young team, you expect games like that," offered Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "It's a situation where you would like to build on a lead down the stretch, but instead you let the other team back in it. But it was still a great win for our kids."

The Eagles went ahead for the first time in the second half, 49-48, on a steal and fast break lay-up by Ben Pribula with 1:18 to play.

Two Andy Brons free throws put the Nordics back in front 50-49 with 1:10 on the clock.

Isaac Allmaras ran head-first into lane traffic and tossed up a shot that found its mark with 40 seconds showing, putting Sacred Heart ahead again, 51-50.

Brons tied it on a free throw, and when he missed his second attempt, Haven was there for the rebound and put-back for a 53-51 Marshall County Central edge with 33.7 seconds remaining.

The Eagles missed a field goal; the Nordics missed two free throws; and Kuznia's in-and-out trey all preceded a game-ending free throw by Joey Peterson.

"They're a better team than we are," said Rantanen, "but our kids battled. Nick Haven did a great job on the boards. Andy Brons made some key free throws at the end, and (as the Nordics' point guard) I thought he did a good job handling their press."

Klasen add a big boost to the Marshall County Central offense with 18 points. Kuznia and Allmaras had 15-point games for Sacred Heart.

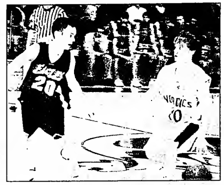
The Nordics were 19-for-46 from the field (41 percent); the Eagles went 17-for-48 (35 percent). Neither side did a great job at the free throw line, where Marshall County Central was 15-for-29 and Sacred Heart had a 14-for-23 night. The two teams combined on 46 turnovers – 25 by the Nordics and 21 for the Eagles.

Thief River Falls was a little slow out of the gate, but the larger school with the bigger players and the deeper bench prevailed against Tri-County in the tournament's Day 1 finale.

The Wildcats got off to an 8-0 head start, with the Prowlers going nearly four minutes before getting on the board with a 3-pointer by Ryan Winkelman.

Tri-County still had that eight-point edge when J.R. Christinson made two free throws with 8:12 remaining in the first half.

Thief River Falls pulled even, 25-25, on a basket in traffic by Tyler Jensen with 4:18 left and went ahead for the first time on a Kyle Lunke free throw with 3:53 to play.



The Prowlers finished the half with an 8-0 run in the final 1:21 to lead 38-29 at intermission as Jeremy Sich knocked down a 3-pointer, Jensen completed a 3-point play and Sich scored again with 21 seconds to go.

Thief River Falls put it away with a nearly seven-minute 15-0 second half run that began with a Sean Sorteberg mid-range jumper and ended on a Chase Haviland fast break lay-up that made it 60-41 with 10:38 remaining.

"I thought Tri-County played very well, but our press finally started to wear them down in the second half," explained Thief River Falls coach Chris McLean. "They just don't have as deep of a bench as we have, and it started to show."

Coming off injuries, Sich and Jensen weren't in the starting lineup, but they still led the Prowlers in scoring with 19 and 11 points, respectively. Lunke chipped in with 10. Christinson scored 15 and Spencer Johnson had 10 for the Wildcats.

Thief River Falls shot 57 percent from the field (25/44) and had an 11-for-19 free throw game. Tri-County shot 38 percent from the floor (18/47) and went 12-for-21 at the line. The Prowlers finished with a 30-27 rebound edge. There were plenty of turnovers to go around, with the Wildcats topping the charts 29-23.

Marshall County Central guard Andy Brons brought the ball across the time line against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart defender Jeff Scheving during the Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament. The Nordics won the Tuesday quarterfinal game 54-51.

Perham wins swim dual against Prowlers 108-62

There are only four home meets on the 2005-06 Thief River Falls boys high school swim team schedule. And three of them are consecutively.

The Prowlers hosted Bemidji Dec. 13 and entertained Perham Dec. 20. Their third straight Tuesday home dual will be Jan. 3 vs. Detroit Lakes. Meet time at the Franklin Middle School pool is 5 p.m.

Strong individual efforts didn't add up to team success as Thief River Falls lost their latest start, against the Yellowjackets, 108-62.

Senior Cole Bylander won a pair of races for the Prowlers with top swims in the 200-yard individual medley and 500 freestyle.

Sophomore Brian Kays added a victory in the 100 butterfly, and freshman Cody Reese had second place finishes in the 50 and 100 freestyle.

"Several swimmers had terrific swims," reported Thief River Falls coach Lacy Knott. "Cole dropped over 10 seconds in the 500; Cody had his best times in the 50 and 100, and Brian dropped time in the 100 fly. Several of the young swimmers did very well, too."

The loss dropped the Prowlers' dual record to 0-2.

After facing the Lakers, the Prowlers' fourth and final home meet will be a Jan. 24 match-up with Park Rapids Area.

Perham out-pointed Thief River Falls 53-33 in junior varsity competition.

TRF holds on for REA Classic win

■ Prowlers edge Forest Lake 5-3

A 4-0 Thief River Falls first period lead withstood a third period Forest Lake challenge as the Prowlers held off the Rangers 5-3 in Wednesday opening round action during the 2005 Ralph Engelstad Arena Boys Holiday Hockey Classic.

The six-team, three-day, round-robin schedule started with a 3-2 Virginia/Mountain Iron-Buhl win over Crookston and a 2-1 Hermantown victory over East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls scoring started when Tyler Holen was able to spin around and slip a 10-foot power play ice-hugger under Forest Lake goalie Nathan Burns at 8:57.

Sustained Thief River Falls pressure and a Forest Lake defense that collapsed on the Prowlers' Michael Forney left Cody Bottem with an uncontested shot at Burns and he beat the netminder at 12:14 for a 2-0 lead.

Thief River Falls went 2-for-2 on the power play when Robby Philipp had a wide open net to shoot at on a rebound off Burns' pads at 14:03.

Best-looking goal of the game was scored at 16:45 when Lucas Genereux cleanly won a face-off to the right of the Forest Lake net, with the puck going directly to the slot, where Holen fired a quick one-timer for the 4-0 cushion.

A 5-on-3 Forest Lake power play ended with Jake Kogler slamming the puck into the net at 14:47 of the second period.

Thief River Falls answered just 1:36 later when Bottem steered home a centering pass from Philipp just after the Prowlers killed the second portion of that two-man penalty.

Forest Lake made it interesting by scoring twice during the same shorthanded situation early in the third period.

Kenny Rivet made it 5-2 at 3:12 and Blake Woodward's breakaway goal came at 3:43.

Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland was less-than-thrilled with the Prowlers' performance. "We were asleep at the wheel," he said. "We just didn't play well. All the games today were like that. I don't know if it's the fact that everyone is coming off a Christmas break, or what, but it was sloppy hockey all the way around."

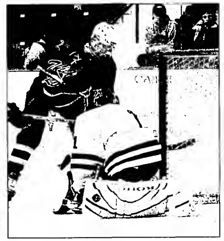
The Prowlers out-shot the Rangers 28-13.

"It wasn't pretty, but an ugly win is still better than a beautiful loss," offered Bergland.

Crookston tried to erase a 3-0 Virginia/Mountain Iron-Buhl lead with a pair of third period goals, but the rally was cut short by the horn ending Game 1.

Drew LeBlanc scored the tie-breaker with just 20 seconds remaining in the Hermantown victory over East Grand Forks.

Virginia/Mt. Iron-Buhl vs. Crookston



First period - V/MI-B, Cody McNamee (Austin Grueser, Aaron Barandun), 8:30; V/MI-B, McNamee (Grueser), 13:52.
Second period - V/MI-B, Mark McGillivary (Corey Andrews), 15:56.
Third period - Crookston, Tommy Staehkne (Jared Quanrud), 14; Crookston, Brett Lien (Kirby Johnson, Brett Bozyk), 0:25.
Goalie saves - V/MI-B, Logan Hocho 6-6-3-15; Crookston, Justin Brule 8-8-8-24.

Hermantown vs. EGF

First period - no scoring
Second period - EGF, Michael Palmiscno (Max Wagner, David Thompson), 5:42; Hermantown, Drew LeBlanc (Chad Huttel, Ryan Hill), 10:37.
Third period - Hermantown, LeBlanc (Joe Krause), 16:40.
Goalie saves - Hermantown, Nathan Hardy 6-8-5-19; EGF, Kane Aubol 7-8-12-27.

TRF vs. Forest Lake

First period - TRF, Drew Kjono (Lucas Genereux), 8:57; TRF, Cody Bottom (Michael Forney, Corey Horien), 12:14; TRF, Robby Philipp (Jordan Swanson, Forney), 14:03; TRF, Holen (Genereux), 10:45.
Second period - FL, Jake Kogler (Blake Woodward), 14:47; TRF, Bottom (Philipp), 16:23.
Third period - FL, Kenny Rivet (Woodward), 3:12; FL, Woodward, 3:43.
Goalie saves - FL, Nathan Burns 6-5-12-23; TRF, Brady McIntyre 2-4-4-10.

Corey Horien of the Prowlers tried to get the puck past Rangers goalie Nathan Burris in the third period of Wednesday's Thief River Falls vs. Forest Lake Ralph Engelstad Arena Boys Holiday Hockey Classic game.

Wolfpack, Prowlers in Russ Smith final

Kittson Central's offense and the Thief River Falls defense produced semifinal wins Wednesday in the 2005 Northwest Russ Smith Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Wolfpack out-scored Red Lake 93-83 and the host Prowlers stopped Marshall County Central 61-53 to set up a Thursday title game match-up.

In the Day 2 afternoon consolation semifinals, Tri-County beat East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 56-42 and Waubun edged Red Lake Falls 66-65.

Kittson Central and Red Lake put 176 points on the scoreboard in a game that featured five players with 20 or more points, two 30-point scorers and 14 baskets from 3-point land.

The Wolfpack led 53-39 at halftime and had a 20-point second half spread before Red Lake stormed back to make a game of it.

Kittson Central was led by Ernie Ayala with 32 points, Joel Schwenzfeier 26 and Austin Bogestad 23. The Red Lake offense featured Tom Barrett with 31 points, Guy Stately 21 and Buster Graves 12.

Red Lake knocked down nine 3-pointers; Kittson Central hit five. Kittson Central went to the free throw line 32 times, making 20 of them. Red Lake was 12-for-20 on foul shots.

A late-game Marshall County Central rally fell short in the championship round semifinal doubleheader nightcap. Thief River Falls, ahead 29-23 at intermission, had a 10-point cushion midway through the second half before the Nordics' comeback narrowed the gap to just 53-50 with two minutes left.

"It was a defensive game on both sides," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "Both teams played extremely hard. "We have a lot of respect for coach (Chris) McLean and his program. His teams always work hard. But I thought our kids matched their level of intensity. They never gave up. They kept battling."

Four Prowlers were double figure scorers, with Jeremy Sich netting 17, Kyle Lunke 14, Alex Yaggie 13 and Sean Sorteberg 12. Kyle Klasen led the Nordics with a game-high 19, while Evan Maki and Nick Haven contributed 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Rantanen also gave special recognition to the efforts of Andy Brons and Casey Wagner, whose hard work on both ends of the court sparked the gutsy performance by the underdog Nordics.

At the free throw line, Thief River Falls was 19-for-30; Marshall County Central went 13-for-19.

In Wednesday's first game, Tri-County shattered a 23-23 halftime time by out-scoring East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 33-19 after the break. The Wildcats were led by J.R. Christinson with 16 points, Spencer Johnson 12 and Kyle Anderson 10. The Eagles' Isaac Allmaras and Alex Kuznia produced 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Randy Hagen scored 22 points, while Ben Zima and Brian Lundon both netted 10 in the Waubun win over Red Lake Falls. The Eagles, who trailed 43-36 at the half, had just three players in the scoring column: Pat Leines with 36 points, Jeff Weiss 20 and Mike Halvorson 9.

Salvation Army notes changes to tax laws

Down $600,000 in donations from the same period last year, The Salvation Army is placing a large amount of hope in an unlikely source - the IRS. Recent changes allow taxpayers to deduct charitable donations of up to 100 percent of their adjusted gross income for a limited amount of time. Previously, the maximum amount of cash contributions deductible in any one year was 50 percent of adjusted gross income.

"Many have chosen to divert their annual charitable donations to disaster relief efforts this year," said Major Paul Fleeman, Twin Cities Salvation Army Commander. "This new legislation means that taxpayers can gain significant tax benefits while impacting lives here in the greater Twin Cities area through The Salvation Army."

With giving down 13 percent, The Salvation Army is on a crusade to share the good news of the limited-time-only tax breaks.

"Giving is down this year in half of our Minnesota and North Dakota locations," said Fleeman. "We're counting on these limited time tax breaks to contribute to a spike in contributions."

According to trust and estate attorney, James Lamm, with Rider Bennett in Minneapolis, here's an example of how the tax rules have changed: A taxpayer whose adjusted gross income for 2005 is $250,000 has already made charitable contributions of $50,000 prior to August 28. The taxpayer can make additional deductible charitable contributions of up to $200,000 in 2005. This would reduce there income-tax liability to zero.

Here are some of the highlights of the recent changes:

• Individual contributions - unrestricted or restricted - may be made to any qualified public charity whether or not the charity is engaged in Katrina relief.

• Gifts must be outright gifts of cash made on or after August 28 through Dec. 31, 2005.

• Cash gifts will not be subject to the tax reduction rule that reduces itemized deductions by 3 percent of the amount by which adjusted gross income exceeds $145,950.

• A contribution to a private foundation, a supporting organization or a donor advised fund would not qualify for the higher limit.

• Corporate deductions (normally limited to 10 percent of taxable income) are deductible up to 100 percent.

These changes also create gift opportunities with qualified IRA and retirement plans. Because of the increase in the deduction limit, taxpayers over age 59 and one-half have a special opportunity for the rest of 2005 to withdraw funds from their qualified retirement plans and IRAs and make additional contributions to charities.

Such withdrawals will be added to adjusted gross income and will be fully deductible, thereby eliminating any tax on the withdrawal. Clearly this plan would appeal only to those who have sufficient assets to meet their personal needs.

This plan is not without potential pitfalls. The increase in adjusted gross income - because of the withdrawals - could adversely affect the available deduction for medical and casualty losses and for personal exemption.

And while the charitable deduction for the contributed withdrawals is not subject to the 3 percent reduction rule for itemized deductions, the increase in adjusted gross income could result in the reduction of other itemized deductions and personal exemptions.

"We're hoping both individuals and corporations alike with step up their giving in light of these changes. The community desperately needs it and the recent tax laws should ease the burden," said Fleeman.

MN producers may be reaching pay limitation

Minnesota Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John Monson stated recently that Minnesota farmers in 2005 produced a record crop of corn and soybeans. Due to the record yields and low market prices, Loan Deficiency Payments (LDPs) have increased causing many producers to reach the payment limitation of $75,000 for LDPs. Producers reviewing their operation structure need to consider the following information.

For an individual or entity to be considered a separate person, the individual or entity must: have a separate and distinct interest in the land or crop involved, exercise separate responsibility for this interest, and maintain funds or accounts separate from that of any other individual or entity for this interest.

Spouses may be considered as separate persons for payment limitation purposes if they request to be separate by the April 1 status date, and they meet the requirements to be considered separate persons.

Business practices and activities that may adversely affect the ability of an individual or entity to meet requirements to be considered a separate person include:

• common bank and loan accounts for multiple farming operations

• cross collateralization - the same assets, such as growing crops, program payments, crop and crop insurance proceeds, are pledged by multiple producers as security for a loan or multiple loans

• use of accounting ledgers rather than actual bank and supplier accounts

• farm operating loans are guaranteed or secured by assets of other farming operations, individuals, and entities.

The status of an individual or entity on April 1 of the applicable crop, program, or fiscal year is the basis on which FSA person determinations are made for the applicable crop, program, or fiscal year.

Payment limitations, other than LDPs, include Direct and Counter Cyclical Payment $40,000 for direct payments and $65,000 for counter-cyclical payments, CRP is $50,000, EQIP is $450,000 total (FY 2002 through FY 2007), and the Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program is $100,000.

RiverView begins construction of clinic and cast rooms.

"We are very excited to begin offering family medical services in Red Lake Falls," said Debra Boardman, RiverView Health president/CEO. "We have been serving the Red Lake Falls area for many years through our ownership of Hillcrest and more recently, our rehab center, but this is a new commitment for us. We hope it will be a big benefit to the area."

Construction of the clinic is expected to cost approximately $300,000, with the financing coming from the city of Red Lake Falls Economic Development Community Development Committee.

The architectural firm selected for the design of the clinic project is EAPC Architects Engineers of Grand Forks, N.D., and the general contractor is Rom Building Systems of Thief River Falls. The timetable for the completion of construction is approximately three months, with the opening of the new clinic scheduled for late February or early March. The new space being constructed is approximately 3,000 square feet, about two-thirds the space previously being used for the RiverView Rehab Clinic. RiverView is currently recruiting both the mid-level provider and the medical doctor to staff the Red Lake Falls clinic.

New liposuction procedure offered at Dakota Clinic, TRF

Dr. Denise McSherry is now performing Tumescent Liposuction, a new procedure that removes unwanted fat deposits from the body totally under local anesthesia. Dr. Denise McSherry is specially trained and certified for this type of surgery.

Dr. Denise McSherry

"The procedure is unique to other types of cosmetic/plastic surgeries in that it is done with anesthesia and on an outpatient basis, in a clinical setting," explains McSherry. "this provides the patient with a very quick recovery time. It is also low risk in that no heavy sedation or general anesthesia is used. Patients can return to work or school in as little as 48 hours post procedure with minimal postoperative pain.

The procedure, which was recently highlighted on national network television, has received praise from many patients. "We are delighted at the results," says McSherry. "A patient can accomplish more attractive body contours that were difficult to accomplish with diet and exercise."

The procedure gets rid of unwanted localized deposits of fat cells from the body with a small instrument called a cannula connected to a vacuum machine, superficially under the skin.

McSherry is an OB-Gyn specially trained in advanced cosmetic body sculpting procedures. She is the only doctor that performs this procedure in the Dakota Clinic and the area.

Persons interested in this procedure should contact Dakota Clinic at 1-800-550-4109. Dr. McSherry offers a confidential free consultation with each procedure.

Sysourath and Brandt graduate from basic

Air Force Airmen Jerry L. Sysourath and Andy L. Brandt have graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Sysourath is the son of Mee Sysourath of Warroad. Brandt is the son of Tim Brandt and Joy Brandt, both of Warroad. Both airmen are 2005 graduates of Warroad High School.

During the six weeks of training, the airmen studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

Volunteers have contributed countless hours to the Guided Reading Library at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls. Pictured in that library, the volunteers include (from left) Merlo Paulson, Jane Oberg and Deone Cerny. They help arrange books and put away books teachers and students have used, among other activities.

State auditor releases 2004 "Big Book of Cities" report balances far exceeding what is needed to carry them through financial downturns. Among the 259 small cities that use a modified accrual basis of accounting, 123 (47.4 percent) had an unreserved fund balance greater than 100 percent of total current expenditures. Among the 209 large cities, 42 cities (20.1 percent) had an unreserved fund balance greater than 100 percent of total current expenditures.

City finances in the northwest region

Cities in the northwest economic development region generated $1,172 in total revenues per capita in 2004, the second highest in the state. This region includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. Statewide, cities raised $965 per capita in total revenues. The region also received $665 per capita in intergovernmental revenues, which is the highest in the state.

Cities in the region spent $770 on total current expenditures in 2004, also the second highest in the state. Statewide, cities spent $609 per capita on total current expenditures. The region also had the highest in total capital outlays in the state at $746 per capita.

"Generally speaking, cities in northwestern Minnesota are in pretty good shape financially," Anderson said.

Together, cities in the region held an amount equal to 51 percent of total current expenditures in an unreserved fund balance, which is an increase from 47.8 percent in 2003. This amount is slightly above the acceptable range set by the State Auditor's Office.

Fisher, Badger and Warren all had fund balances below 20 percent of their total current expenditures, according to the State Auditor's Office. Mentor, Alvarado, Kennedy, Hallock, Oslo, Climax and Karlstad all had fund balances that were over 100 percent of their total current expenditures.

"Citizens in cities with either very high or very low fund balances should press their city council members and city staff about their city's fund balance policy," said Anderson. "A very low fund balance could make it difficult for the city to cash-flow expenditures in the case of an emergency or fiscal downturn. A very high fund balance raises questions about why the city is holding so much money in reserve."

boundary is the Red Lake River.

Precinct 3B's boundaries include First Street on the north, Arnold Ave. and Oakland Park Road on the west. It borders portions of Precinct 4B at the Red Lake River (north of Greenwood Street), Greenwood Street and the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Charges against Red Lake Falls man suspended

Philip Weiland

Charges filed against a Red Lake Falls man have been suspended in Red Lake County District Court. The charges may be suspended for up to three years.

Philip Michael Weiland, 57, is hospitalized at the Minnesota Security Hospital at St. Peter. After a Rule 20 evaluation and commitment hearing, Weiland was found incompetent and mentally endangered, Red Lake County Attorney Dan Geller said.

The charges against Weiland included first degree attempted murder, second degree assault, fleeing in a motor vehicle, domestic assault by strangulation, domestic assault and interference with a 911 call. However, the charges have now been suspended. Weiland's case will be reviewed periodically to determine whether he is mentally competent to face the charges, according to Geller. Currently, the charges can be suspended for up to three years; however, Geller noted he is able to ask the court to continue that suspension for another three years.

The charges against Weiland stemmed from a Sept. 13 report of a domestic disturbance at Weiland's home involving Weiland and a family member. Upon responding, a Red Lake County deputy sheriff interviewed the alleged victim and witnesses. At that time, Weiland allegedly drove past the residence. Deputy Kevin Brevik then pursued Weiland for approximately 12 miles on various county roads as Weiland attempted to elude him. Brevik parked his squad car along 140th Street Southwest, which is the Red Lake/Pennington County line. Weiland then allegedly made a U-turn and crashed into Brevik's squad car. The squad car was totalled, and Weiland then fled in his totalled pickup truck, which was later found near the intersection of 140th Street Southwest and 240th Avenue Southwest in Polk County. Weiland had fled on foot.

Weiland was found a week later at his home in Dorothy, according to the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department. Deputies had searched his home prior to finding him there Sept. 20. They also searched other places as well.
